"One In A Hundred" Homecoming, October 9

English Test "New Deal" Is Announced

by Betty Staser

A sword of Damocles that has hung over the heads of Evansville College juniors for the last 15 years has been removed. Faculty members have come up with a substitute for the English proficiency test that promises to be efficient and effective as well as painless.

In place of the old method of testing during final exams, students will be judged for English ability on the strength of a single impromptu paper taken during the first term of the junior year from a regular course, preferably from a major field. This could be an essay exam or any exercise written in class which would furnish a comprehensive illustration of the student's knowledge and use of English.

After a paper has been selected it will be read by five members of the faculty who have been chosen to make up a standing committee on English proficiency. Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English department, is chairman of this committee. Other members are Dr. Wade D. David, professor of history; Dr. D. W. Dunham, professor of biology; Mr. Edward Susat, professor of engineering; and Miss Agnes Tompkins, associate professor of secretarial science.

If the paper is considered satisfactory by the committee, the student's English will be approved for graduation. If it fails to pass requirements, the student will be notified to appear for a writing test at a specified time and place. Persons who flunk the written examination will be required to take an additional course in English.

This new system is designed to be fair and accurate as well as quick and efficient without sacrificing the high standard of English proficiency demanded for graduation from Evansville College. Decision to change to this plan of testing came not only from the English department but from the faculty as a whole. Faculty members believe that conditions of the new method will be more conducive to good writing, that a student could be expected to do a better job in a regular class than during finals when his thinking power is stretched pretty thin.

Late News Breaks

Wesley Shepherd, band director, has asked that all students who play musical instruments and are not in the band to please come over to the music building and help out. The band is at low tide as of this issue and an increase in personnel is urgently needed.

The faculty meeting originally scheduled for October 1 has been reset for October 8 at 7:30 p.m.

James Morlock, dean of men, who is the current president of the Indiana Academy of Social Science, is attending the academy's silver anniversary meeting at Indiana State teachers college today. Dr. Morlock will preside over the first business session this afternoon. Several members of the faculty also have planned to attend.

All students have been urged to sit in the special student section which will be reserved for them at the next home game. The reserved seats will be located in section G, in the first sixteen rows.

Queen Joyce and King James ruled at the opening dance of the E. C. social season. With approximately 600 people attending, the Icebreaker dance was the first event on the college social calendar and was sponsored by the SGA.

Elected queen of the dance by the freshman class was Joyce Reed, freshman, who is working toward a bachelor's degree in music education, Miss Reed is a petite brunette who plays flute in the college band and orchestra and would some day like to teach aspiring high school musicians. She matriculated to E.C. from Bosse high school.

Jim Casper, also a freshman was the king. He is a pre-med student and although he doesn't play a musical instrument he does enjoy an earful of it playing the radio. Mr. Casper also comes to E.C. from Memorial high school.

Parade, Mums, Bonfire, Feature 1954 Contennial Homecoming

by Ken Curtin

Centennial Homecoming, one of the most outstanding events of the centennial celebration, will be next Friday and Saturday, October 8 and 9.

Jack Combs has announced a full weekend of activities for the event. The observance begins Friday morning with the judging of the campus displays, followed that afternoon by the Revlon Bowl football game, which pits the Chi O's-Beta Sigs against the AOP's and Phi Mu's.

Friday evening plans will include a huge bonfire and pep rally. "This year," stated Mr. Combs, "refreshments will be served after the bonfire on the tennis courts, cider and doughnuts, soft cider that is."

Saturday morning the huge parade will form at 11:45 p.m. and move to Reitz Bowl for the judging of floats and the football game with Valparaiso. The college marching band will meet the parade units at Eighth and Main and mareh down Main street.

The float judging is divided into two divisions; the fraternities plus INCA and IRC club and the sorority division. There will be a total of nine floats in the parade, plus the band and Old Time Auto Club. The campus displays are divided into three divisions, fraternity, sorority and mixed divisions with a total of fifteen displays entered in the judging.

That night the Homecoming dance will be held with dancing to the music of Art Engel's orchestra, from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Armory.

Mums are the official flower of the Homecoming game and dance, and they can be purchased from any member of the Union Finance committee, or at the table in the Wooden Indian. The cost will be a very moderate 75 cents.

Fraternities have scheduled open house for alumni at the chapter houses Saturday morning. Philos and Phi Zeta's will be 10 to 12, while Acacian's plan a 9-11 a.m. opening.

Gamma Deltas Elect Franz New President

Wednesday afternoon, September 22, members of Gamma Delta, freshman women's sorority, were guests at a party in the Great Hall of the McCurdy Alumni Memorial Union. The Women's Council and the Union Board co-sponsored the affair.

Freshmen attending the party were divided into five sections representing the various local high schools from which they were graduated. Each group presented a skit. Miss Shirley Orth, past president, was in charge of this entertainment.

Later, mixer-type games were played to enable everyone to get acquainted. Then refreshments were served.

Following the program an election of officers was held. Chosen to executive positions were Jo Ann Franz, president; Lois Sommers, vice-president; Greta Shaw, secretary; and Marlene Weber, treasurer. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, is faculty sponsor of the sorority.

Gamma Delta will meet every Monday at 10 a.m. in the club room in the Union building. To the various meetings each sorority on campus will send a representative to explain the purpose and activities of her organization.

SGA President Bill Steier Attends National Congress

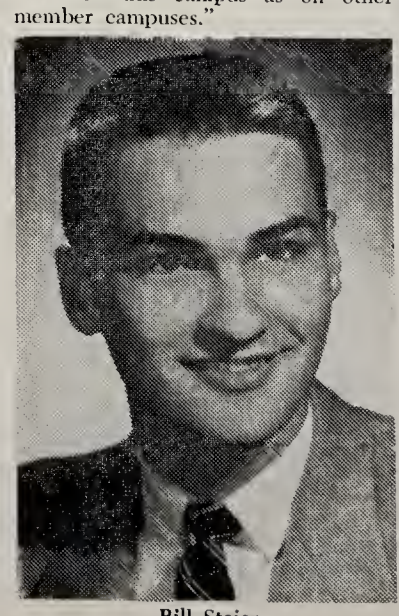
With student leaders from more than 250 colleges and universities, Bill Steier, president of the Evansville College Student Government association, attended the Seventh Annual National Student Congress, August 22-31.

President Steier went to the Congress as an observer to study the workings of the organization as a basis for possible membership in the Congress for Evansville College. The Congress represents over 300 colleges and universities across the continent, who meet each year as a group to help solve and study campus government problems.

A special phase of the Congress was the conference for student body presidents only, during the three days prior to the National Student Congress. Here the Conference is a concentrated workshop, with a number of outside speakers and resource personnel, on subjects of particular concern to student body presidents.

The theme of this year's Congress was "The Responsibilities of Freedom." And in the words of the organization, "students in American colleges and universities have been favored with unique opportunities. In a world blighted with suppression, fear and poverty, it is essential that those who enjoy free institutions commit themselves to earnest consideration of the responsibilities on the campus, in the nation and throughout the world, which like it or not, they must assume. It is vital that those in positions of leadership on college campuses join with their counterparts from across the country in searching out the true nature of these responsibilities."

Bill has promised a full report to the students concerning membership in this dedicated organization. In his words, "I feel that Evansville College should take advantage of this opportunity of becoming a member of the Congress. I have witnessed the workings of this body and feel certain that such a move on the part of this school would greatly enhance even better qualities of student government on this campus as on other member campuses."



Bill Steier

In Memoriam

Memorial services will be held next Tuesday, Oct. 5 in the College chapel at 10 a.m. for 2nd. Lt. John T. Moss, former E. C. athlete and past president of the Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity, Services will be open

New Knothole Gang To Boost Spirit

Something new has been added to help boost the spirit at the College football games. With the inauguration of a knothole gang, which was formulated under the direction of Dr. F. Woody Werking, language professor, and Rolland Eckels, athletic director, it is hoped that the guests will help cheer the Aces and in so doing get others attending into that home team spirit.

All eighth grade students will be presented with a printed tag which will admit them to all the Aces home games with the exception of Homecoming and the Indiana State game. A special guest from each school will act as sponsor and together with the children will sit in the southeast corner section of Reitz Bowl.

Proficiency Test Dropped!

At long last there is one less test to take when finals roll around each quarter as they invaribly do.

The dreaded English Proficiency test has been dropped from the rolls of "requirements before graduation."

As a result different and varied opinions from the student body indicate either a strong distaste or a decided approval of the "New Deal."

Decidely there are distinct advantages and disadvantages to be said for and against the new order of things.

Some students naturally question the requirement as impractical. "What good is it to know what constitutes a predicate nominative or a dangling participle? Why should an engineering student have to take courses in composition?" This of course is a very narrow outlook which everyone, after due consideration, will regard as impractical.

One of the most important aspects of your college training is your ability to speak and write properly your own language. Without a proper background in English your are lost. Nothing counts as much as the individual's ability to put across his ideas with precision and self confidence.

When a student graduates from a college or university without even a mediocre knowledge of the components of the very language he speaks, he is both a discredit to himself and to the institution which trained him. So actually any type of test or criteria which the faculty deems necessary is beneficial to the student.

New Faces

New faces crowd the classroom each year. Not only new students but also new faculty members are among the newcomers. A large freshman class has monopolized the 100 courses and already made the high school to college transition with some notable success.

It is a big jump and some find it hard to get accustomed to the new way in which things are done. In high school the instructor was always handy to make sure that your assignments were in on time and that in general you kept yourself in line. In college it's quite different, as you undoubtedly have already discovered.

In college you're on your own. Your time is your own. There is no one to continually hammer at you until you do what you are told. College might seem a little more impersonal but actually it isn't. It's simplicity that here you're considered men and women. Your instructors won't repeatedly ask whether you are ding your work, they simply take for granted that you're in college to learn and have sense enough to do so.

Take a little simple advice and just do your best and grades won't offer any problem whatsoever. Remember no instructor is so busy he can't iron out problems for his students, so don't be hesitant about asking for individual help. After all, that's what the instructor's office hours are for.

A National Trend?

The Democrats are off to a rip roaring start. In Maine after twenty years of Republican administrative monopoly, the voters decided that "Maine needs a change," the very campaign slogan that governor elect Edmund Muskie used to overthrow the Republicans.

Maine, a solid Republican state, finally decided to go democratic. Could this be a national trend? Will the '56 elections put the Democrats back in power? If there is any truth in the old saying that "as Maine goes so goes the nation," the Republican elephant will be out in the cold again for another few years at least.

The junior senator from Wisconsin is experiencing a somewhat depressing political blow. In McCarthy's home state of Wisconsin, McCarthy supporters lost out and the Democrats ran up their biggest primary vote in the state's history.

Whatever the out come, whether it be Republican or Democratic, the choice lies with the people. The people have the final voice. But there is one detail that the voters neglect to consider when they swarm to the polls. How can a Republican president accomplish anything with a Democratic majority in Congress or vice versa? The gripes of the voters are just what the party heads capitalize on. The people will vote their distaste for the party in power if the pre-election campaign promises are not fulfilled. What can a Democratic president do to fulfill a campaign promise like "a chicken in every pot" when the opposition party holds the majority in Congress and blocks every move of platform duties?

Commenting on the inter-party strife which the Republicans are experiencing as are the Democrats, Speaker of the House Joe Martin, on the first leg of a national pre-election tour, told party backers that "it would ill serve Republicans of any stripe to turn Dwight Eisenhower over to a Democratic Congress." Whatever your party affiliation, be a part of the great election scene and vote.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Same spot, same page. Year two. Same two readers.

This is going to be one of those rambling type columns. Just haven't had time to look into the news. Besides that, I don't disagree with much that is happening. I am disappointed that the Censure Committee has postponed calling the Senate back to eat "Uncle Joe" out until November 8.

Television has started a lot of discussion — about morals, juvenile deliquents and the plunging neckline. But one thing is for sure — it has raised the standard of living down home in Kentucky. The people down yonder, across the border, found that in order to view the Picture Machine they would have to install electricity. After making the final installment payment, they have started buying luxuries such as refrigerators, washing machines and stoves. Will wonders never cease? Maybe they can figure out a way to use them to convert their corn from a solid to a liquid.

Figures never lie — but liars figure; it is a known fact that people who work days and sleep nights have more accidents than those who works nights and sleep days. Moral: go to college, sleep days, don't be a statistic.

It has also been found that there are more new faces and figures on college campuses in the fall than any other time of the year.

Down with the new French look. It's depressing.

Enrollment Tops '53 Figure by 29

Each year Evansville College seems to grow a little. This year's enrollment figures indicate a decided increase in the number of students attending both day school and the Evening College.

Enrollment figures for 1954 show that 998 students are attending classes in the day school, a fair sized increase over last year's enrollment figure; 300 are freshmen and approximately 98 students studying nursing are not even included in the 998 figure. Fifty-five of the students taking courses in nursing are from St. Mary's and the other 43 are connected with Deaconess Hospital.

Registration for the Evening College has decreased only slightly. This year 923 people are taking courses in the evening; while in 1953 a total of 962 people crowded the classrooms for evening instruction.

Graduate students enrolled in the Evening College, through the cooperation of Indiana University, number 154. Also 148 students of the 923 figure are AIB students (American Institute of Banking).

The ROTC has also increased in size. This year 224 Cadets are enrolled in the Basic and Advanced courses, an increase over last year's figure.

EC Placement Bureau Has Jobs for Students

Need a part time job? The Placement Bureau of Evansville College is again open and anxious to assist you in obtaining work.

Quite a number of students in the past have been placed in good positions ,and, as the records indicate, they have shown their willingness to co-operate by giving satisfaction to their employers. Not only do such instances serve as a credit to Evansville College students, but it is also gratifying to the Placment Bureau to know that EC students conduct themselves in a manner worthy of praise not only in the classroom but also on the job. The success of a student on a job not only enhances his own reputation but also that of Evansville College and the Placement Bureau.

If you find the need for extra money urgent, contact the Placement Bureau and see what they can do for you.

The Placement Bureau would be pleased if you would tell your friends of this student service which it is offering and if you learn of any part time jobs that are open, they would appreciate your contacting them.

New Course Added In Evening College

An additional course, Teaching In Nursing, has been added to the first semester schedule of the Center for Advanced Study at Evansville College, Director Marvin Hartig of the Evening College has announced.

The class will meet on Tuesday from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. for 17 weeks.

Mrs. Opal Gilbert assistant professor, Department of Nursing Education, Indiana University will instruct the course. Four semester hours of credit, to be recorded at Indiana University, will be given.

The course will include principles and methods of teaching, objectives of teaching, inventory of the teaching situation and the learner, importanee of philosophy of education, lesson and unit of planning, clinical teaching, evaluation to teaching, and qualifications of teachers. The class may be taken for undergraduate credit also.

Programs of Worship Offered in EC Chapel

Academic education is only a part of your college training. Of no lesser importance and probably of greater benefit to you is the religious aspect of your life.

Evansville College provides you, the student, with a devotional exercise each Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. Spiritual guidance is offered to you through this program of worship. The program is entirely non-denominational; it makes no difference to what faith you belong or what church you attend, you're still welcome.

The Chapel is located in the Fine Arts building ,where you registered for fall enrollment. The entire program is under the guidanee of Dr. Culver.

Each Wednesday's program is both varied and interesting and you are missing out on something really important if you don't attend.

SGA News

by Bill Steier

This is the first chance I have had to thank everybody who helped me in the election last spring and also for me to say that the other officers and I thoroughly intend to do the very best job that we possibly can.

The Student Faculty Federation Committees have all been appointed and are in action. Several of the committees have been active over the summer, especially the Social Life and Athletics Committees. The Social Life Committee planned the Icebreaker Dance and the Athletics Committee has intramurals rolling and has supervised two pep assemblies. I am sure all the committees will do a fine job this year and a lot can be expected of them.

We hope this year to give more students a voice in student government and to better publicize the workings and structure of student government here on campus. This summer at the National Student Association Congress I found that Evansville College is ahead of many of the other campuses in the country in student government and that most of the students at Evansville don't realize how fortunate we are. So this year through the Crescent and the other campus publications we are going to better show what student government is and what it is doing.

Also we are planning some type of student senate in which the students here on campus will all have a representative voice. We hope to have this in effect in a week or two and hope that all the students will take an active interest.

Thank You...

To the Editor:

I have heard from a reliable source that the Evansville College marching band will take part in the Homecoming parade next Saturday. If that is so I feel that I speak for the entire student body when I offer a thank you for such a service to the college.

The size of the college band being what it is I feel certain that the maneuver will be no easy task. However for them to undertake the project in the spirit of Homecoming they certainly deserve a lot of thanks.

A very pleased student

*Editors note: Confirmation of the above rumor has been received and the band will march in the homecoming parade. They will meet the parade units at Eighth and Main and march down Main Street. We also wish to express our appreciation for this very fine gesture.

Long Presents Challenge to Freshman; Educational Opportunities Also Listed

"The complex world you are living in challenges you to become better educated," Acting President Dean Long of Evansville College, told the student body at its opening convocation.

After giving them an official welcome, Mr. Long pointed out to members of the freshman class that they are starting college as the second century of education starts at Evansville College.

"You are living in a more dangerous world, a divided world, and you need all the wisdom you can acquire to face the constant dangers," he said. It is a far different world from that faced by the students who attended Moores Hill College when it was founded he continued.

"There is unlimited opportunity to become educated at Evansville College. The required courses, your study of the humanities and your college activities all have their purposes," he added.

The students were advised to use all the advantages of their college training by developing personality and character while acquiring skill and knowledge.

"Develop understanding," Mr. Long urged, "for you are not fully educated unless you are understanding. Experience brings understanding, and then comes wisdom. Follow the golden rule and attain spiritual growth along with your education," he concluded.

The convocation, which was held September 21, was attnded by the freshmen class. The college faculty attended the meeting in academic regalia with Prof. Virgil C. Bailey as marshall of the processional. Prof. Ralph Waterman played the prelude and the postlude music. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens read the scripture and Dr. James E. Morlock gave the prayer. Mrs. Margaret Shepard led the college hymn.

Werking Airs New French Radio Show

"Say It In French," a new radio program, will be conducted over station WJPS each Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. by Dr. Woody Werking, head of the Evansville College modern language department.

The broadcasts are divided into two parts. Half of the time will be devoted to French language recordings, "Spoken French" by Henry Holt & Co. The remainder of the program will feature French songs, interviews with natives of France, teachers of French and others who have lived in France.

On each broadcast a French placename, a French surname or a common expression of French origin will be a subject of comment. French, long considerd valuable socially and diplomatically, can become an enriching factor in the communications experiences of everyone, according to Dr. Werking.

WEVC to Air Aces Games

Radio WEVC-FM will carry the entire season of Evansville College home football games over the network with four games left on the home tilt card.

The Evansville-Butler game initiated the program last Saturday, and the next scheduled broadcast is slated for Oct. 2, when the Aces meet the Indiana State Sycamores.

Remaining contests on the station's broadcasting card are the Homecoming game when the Aces play Valparaiso on Oct. 9; Ball State, Nov. 6; and the Western Kentucky tilt one week later.

WEVC-FM will go on the air ten minutes before game time and present a complete coverage of the contest. James Dunn is serving as announcer and Henry Perincko is his assistant.

Phi Mu Alpha Is Cited at Meeting; Music Fraternity Judged Best in State

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of Evansville was honored as the outstanding chapter in Indiana (Province 4) at it's National Convention in July.

The organization is the Men's Professional Musie Fraternity, and the award for the outstanding chapter was presented in Cincinnati. The Charles E. Lutton Award was presented to the Epsilon Upsilon, Evansville's Chapter, although it is the youngest in the state.

Other chapters in Indiana include DePauw, Indiana university, Butler university (Arthur Jordan)), Indiana State Teachers college, and Ball State Teachers college.

Accepting the award were three of Epsilon Upsilon's members; John Koehler, Richard Carl, and Duane Pemberton, who attended for the local chapter .

Notable among the outstanding acts turned in by Epsilon Upsilon in winning the award were the holding of the state convention in 1954, the publishing of a tri-monthly newsletter called Alumnotes, and maintaining a high standard of musical and personal ethics and playing ability. The excellence of co-operation between the fraternity and the music department faculty was also cited .

Phi Mu Alpha was established at Evansville College in January of 1951. Prominent among those who obtained a chapter at the Evansville institution were Dr. George Dasch, Nick Cannici, and Wesley Shepard.

Willian Affolder Will Head Industrial Relations Center

William Affolder, professor of management, has been named head of the Industrial Relations Center at Evansville College. The Evansville College chapter of this organization is one of twenty-four similar organizations on college campuses throughout the Mid-West.

Discussion skill and group process, economic understanding, leadership and human relations, group and individual communications and pre-retirement planning and preparation are some of the areas that this program will cover.

In each area, the center will provide discussion leader guides, visual aids, participant booklets, management worksheets, self-training procedures and evaluation devices.

For complete details on the services available through the Industrial Relations Center, contact Professor Affolder.

Seventy Girls Listed On Panhellenic Roll

Pan Hellanic Association chapter roll has 70 girls, all upperclassmen. The representatives for the sororities have decided on alternate Tuesdays at 12:45 p.m. for their meetings.

It was decided to give out Rush booklets to freshman girls on Activities Day at the Pan Hellanic table.

Campus displays for Homecoming were disapproved so far as the sororities are concerned. They are putting all their attention on their floats. But if the individual sorority decides to have a dispay it may.

Further discussion about rush will be continued at the next meeting.

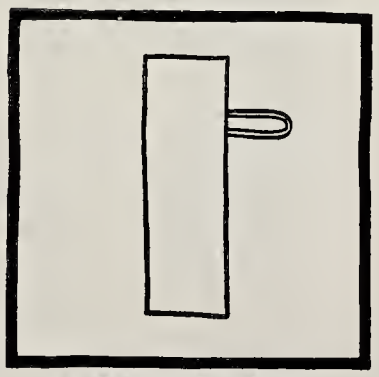
Got a Lucky Droodle in your noodle?

SEND IT IN AND MAKE $25



MAN PLAYING TROMBONE IN TELEPHONE BOOTH

SHIP ARRIVING TOO LATE TO SAVE DROWNING WITCH

Want to pick up $25? Make up a Lucky Droodle and send it in. It's easy.

If you want to find out just how easy it is, ask Roger Price, creator of Droodles. "Very!" Price says. Better yet, do a Droodle yourself, like the ones shown here.

Droodle anything you like. And send in as many as you want. If we select yours, we'll pay $25 for the right to use it, together with your name, in our advertising. We're going to print plenty—and lots that we don't print will earn $25 awards.

Draw your Droodles any size, on any piece of paper, and send them with your descriptive titles to Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y. Be sure your name, address, college and class are included.

While you're droodling, light up a Lucky —the cigarette that tastes better because it's made of fine tobacco . . . and "It's Toasted" to taste better.

WEVC will Reserve More Hi-Fi Records

Evansville College FM radio station WEVC is among a small selected group of radio stations which will receive approximately 100 new classical RCA Victor Microgroove recordings at less than one-tenth cost, according to station officials.

This will be the second year that RCA has made its latest Hi-Fi classical records available to WEVC. The offer was repeated this year because the local college station met the requirements of Victor's standard of high fidelity reproduction and programming of its music. This was accomplished by replacing the phonograph pickups with new high fidelity reproduction heads and publishing a music schedule.

This addition brings to over 300 the number of classical albums available to WEVC. These recordings can be heard on Concert Hall at 3 p.m. weekdays and 2 p.m. on Saturday, and on the Evening Concert at 6:20 p.m. weekdays and 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

Mr. Harold, a business administration snion, is WEVC station manager for his second year. Mr. Pemberton, a music education junior and drum major of the Evansville College band, has just started his third year as music director. Ollin J. Drennan, assistant professor of physics at the college, is faculty station director.

It's 91.5 on your FM dial for the best music listening.

Girl Scout Director To Loan Art Exhibit

The art exhibit in the Student Union building has been very graciously loaned to Miss Florence Keve by Mrs. Mary Kennedy, director of Girl Scouts here in Evansville for one year. She is a graduate of Pratt Institute of School Illustration in Brooklyn, her professional name is Mary Patton Kennedy.

She recently made a trip to Panama, while there she had the opportunity to paint with water colors. She also collected native jewelry and costumes which will be on display.

All arrangements were made by Miss Keve and any expenses were taken care of by the Fine Arts Committee of Student-Faculty Federation.

These exhibits will be changed every three weeks. For the future Miss Keve has arranged a display of Japanese prints which will be for sale to students.

Centennial Postcards To Be Given Away

The college is making available to the students free of charge the Centennial postcards. There are three different pictures of the campus; the Administration building, the Engineering-Science building, and the McCurdy Alumni Memorial Union.

Anyone wishing some of the postcards may get them in the College Book Store or the Student Union building.

They will also be available to the Alumni on October 9 at the Homecoming Dance.

"TO BE MY OWN SELF, AT MY VERY BEST, ALL THE TIME."

This motto represents Miniwanca, the American Youth Foundation Camp in Michigan. Everything in existence on the 300 acres of wooded territory lying along the beaches and dunes of Lake Michigan seems to echo this challenge .

To gain a clearer knowledge of the meeting of this challenge, one must know a bit about Miniwanca.

Started in 1913 at Lake Geneva with some forty-odd campers, Miniwanca has expanded until it has almost outgrown its present campsite with a capacity of more than 700.

The basis for Miniwanca is found in Luke 2:52—"And Jesus grew in wisdom, in stature and in favor with God and man." At Miniwanca, we called it "Four-fold Living," stressing the physical, the social, the mental, and the religious phases of life.

Our purpose then, if we accept this challenge, is to become a well-rounded person, not over-emphasizing any one phase, at the same time not omitting any phase or phases.

Is this not the desire of each one of us? Do we not strive to be our best selves in any situation, whether it be on the football field, in the classroom, at a tea, or in church?

"To Be My Own Self, at My Very Best, All Time." I Dare You to accept this challenge!

Aces to Meet Indiana State Tomorrow

Local Prep Squads Start Basketball Drills this Week

With the World Series in full swing and football season also holding the fancy of local sports fans, few have noticed that basketballs are once again whistling through the drapes throughout Hoosierland.

Prep hardwood teams will officially open their practice sessions Monday, Oct. 4. That is designated by the Indiana High School Athletic Association for the practice debuts.

In Evansville, city coaches are casting worried glances in the direction of Lincoln, where Coach Art Taylor will have a wealth of lettermen returning to his 1954-55 squad. Bosse, too, will be deep in experience, as will the Reitz Panthers. Central, a perenial Evansville power, will again be a threat, rounding out a typical crop of outstanding teams in this area.

Rivals to Seek First ICC Win

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the Aces will go against Coach Mark Dean's Indiana State Sycamores in an ICC contest at Reitz bowl. In last year's meeting between the two schools the Sycamores were victorious by a 31-13 margin.

Both teams sport a 1-1 record to date for the season. State won its opener against Eastern Illinois State but lost to ICC foe Valparaiso. The Aces also opened their season with a win, against DePauw, but lost to Butler in a conference tilt.

Two all-conference linemen, Jack Griffith and Robert Masulovich, plus fourteen other letter winners are back at state this year, but if the Aces play the brand of ball that they have shown at times that they are capable of pplaying, they can avenge last year's setback.

Coach Beck and the team realize that this game is a must if they want to stay in the conference race. Butler, who is currently leading the ICC, will face a non-conference foe this week but will then play three consecutive conference tilts, and any team in this well balanced conference is capable of upsetting the highly rated Bulldogs.

Probable starting lineups for the game are, for Indiana State, ends, Jack Griffith and Ray Sandlin; tackles, Charles Patton and Donald Patz; guards, Robert Masulovich and Richard Comer; and center Tony Milazzo. In the backfield the Sycamores have David Brines at quarterback, Marvin Hougland and Gleen Tyler at halfbacks and Walter LeBeague at fullback. For Evansville College the lineup will be the same as for the first two games with the exception of end Don Henry who was injured in the Butler game. Beck plans to use either Byron Brenton or Bill Mattingly in Henry's place with Ron Whitaker at the other wing post. Ted Niemeier and Bill Huff will be the tackles and Franny Will and Chuck House will fill the guard positions. Bob Scott will be the center. The Aces backfield will be either J. O. Jackson or Dick Sinclair at quarterback, Ken Lutterbach and Bill Parish at halfbacks and Dick Matthews at fullback.

If hard work wins football games, the Evansville College 1954 record will be greatly improved over their 3-7 mark of last year. The percentage of blackeyes, bruises and sore muscles seems to diminish each week which indicates that the team is rounding into shape under the watchful eyes of a coaching staff that believes in conditioning.

For years the students of this institution have been crying their eyes out because they say the team lacks spirit. Last Saturday night they had a chance to watch (for the first time in years) a team that wants to play and win football games, and the attendance was pretty good. The spirit was at its usual low ebb, but that could be attributed to a "you have to show me spirit," prevalent on this campus. This can be overlooked slightly for the first game, but the booing of a coach's decision to send a ballplayer into the game, especially your own coach, is bad judgment as well as bad taste.

A coach with as many years experience as Paul Beck should not have to answer to any group of grandstand quarterbacks for his actions on the field, and there is nothing like a good booing to help the new quarterback keep a clear head in a tight situation. Tomorrow night the Aces go against a good Indiana State team at Reitz Bowl, let's back 'em not boo 'em. If the student body would work one-tenth as hard as the team tomorrow night, we would shake down the stands.

Coaches Beck, Page, Ogg Assume Gridiron Duties

By Larry Sanders

Three new coaches have taken over the reins of Evansville College's 1954 football edition with Paul Beck being named head mentor and Forrest Page and Charlie Ogg acting as his assistants.

Mr. Beck takes over the duties left him by Don Ping who has obtained a leave of absence to campaign for sheriff. During Ping's reign, Mr. Beck served as assistant. In addition to his gridiron duties as football coach, he assists Arad McCutchan as basketball coach and heads the golf team.

He came to the college in 1946 after serving in the Navy. He graduated from Indiana State Teachers College. Mr. Beck had successful seasons at Oblong and Harvey, Illinois high schools.

Forrest Page entered the collegiate coaching ranks this year after accepting the position of assistant football coach. He graduated from Evansville College in 1948.

At Noblesville, Indiana he compiled a record of 42 wins and 14 losses as head coach over a five year span. Mr. Page attended the University of Mississippi for two years before entering the Navy. He returned to assume his studies at Evansville where he soon blossomed into stardom.

Number three man on the Aces' coaching staff is Charlie Ogg, a graduate of this school in 1952. He began his college football career as a guard, but he was later moved to a wing position. At either post Mr. Ogg excelled and he won four letters in the gridiron sport. In 1945 he graduated from Reitz High School, where, in his senior year, he was named All-City. His previous coaching experience was gained at Oblong, Illinois where he and Ed Wessel coached the team to three victories and five losses.

Activities Day Sees Attractive Displays

by Nancy Lai

The energy put forth by many campus organizations on their Activities Day displays was well rewarded last Tuesday. From nine 'til three, the Great Hall was the scene of much activity as freshmen and upper classmen inspected the attractive displays.

Activities Day has been held annually for three years. Some of the purposes are to promote interest in the different organizations on campus and to acquaint new students with each club and their main interests.

A congenial atmosphere was obtained with the help of the Union Board Dance Committee and the Social Committee, who provided music and cookies for the occasion.

Among the displays that attracted much attention was the Women's Athletic Association's miniature volley ball court, with each member represented by a pipe-cleaner figure cleverly arranged in game formation.

For students inclined toward more serious pursuits, the International Relations Club arranged an interesting table with educational material on such organizations as the U. N.

Evansville College theatre lent the project a dramatic note with costumed players reliving the roles they portrayed in last year's production of "Elizabeth the Queen."

Represented in the activities were religious, professional and Union Board Organizations. Each and all did credit to their respective organizations with attractive displays too numerous to mention here.

Included in the organizations with displays were: Student Christian Association, Kapppa Chi, Newman Club, Methodist Student Movement, Panhellenic Council, Pre-med Club, Beta Alpha Kappa, Sigma Alpha Iota, Alpha Phi Mu, Phi Mu Alpha, WEVC, Electronics Club, Engineering Club and Inca, Publications (LinC and Crescent), Student Government Association and the newly-formed Chess Club.

M.S.M. Officers Elected in May

New officers for the Methodist Student movement were installed at an annual dinner last May. They are: Marilyn Bartlett, president; Bill Corpening, vice-president; Larry Campbell, secretary; Neil Norrick, treasurer; Martha Powell, State M.S.M. vice-president; Guy Andress, Jr., associate director; and Norma Robertson, executive secretary. Dr. Morlock is the faculty advisor.

The M.S.M. is open to all students and meets every Sunday evening at the Methodist Temple for a program of fellowship, faith, food and fun.

Prize Winning Play Will Be Presented

The title Thespians is being dropped by the college dramatic organization. Under the direction of Robert D. Heater, assistant professor of speech and drama who joined the faculty this quarter, it will henceforth be known as the Evansville College theater.

Plays for the coming season have been selected by Mr. Heater with an eye on capturing large audiences.

On Thursday, November 11, the curtain will go up on the first theater production, Mary Chase's Pulitzer Prize winner, "Harvey." Three performances will be given.

"Harvey" is a subtly written comedy dealing with the escapades of the pixilated but gentle Mr. Elwood P. Dowd and his bosom companion, Harvey, a six foot three inch rabbit. Complications arise when Elwood introduces his friend to the folks around town.

Then his sister becomes alarmed because she fears her brother's peculiar behavior will ruin her chances of snaring a husband for her ungainly, aging daughter. The plotting to have Elwood confined to a sanatarium unwinds into a very funny but poignant story.

"Harvey" is much more than just a good comedy. Mrs. Chase's protrayal of the elusive philosophical rabbit and his soft-spoken confidant, Mr. Dowd, provides a wise observation of human relations.

Parts for the Evansville College production of "Harvey" have not yet been cast. Readings will begin on Monday, October 4.

Subcommittee To Screen Prospects for Presidency

Samuel Orr has been named chairman of a subcommittee to screen prospects for the presidency of Evansville College, according to Ralph Olmsted, business manager of the school. Other members of his committee are A. A. Brentano, Dallas L. Browning, F. Bayard Culley and L. B. Finke.

Working with the subcommittee are a screening committee of three faculty members, elected by the staff and appointed by Acting President Dean Long, and six alumni.

Included are Daniel Boughner, Wade David and D. W. Dunham, faculty; Joseph Theby, John E. McCutchan, Mary Dannettell and Bob Schaad, alumni.

The trustee subcommittee will do the actual selecting and narrowing down of the prospects. The name or names of their recommendations will then be given to the trustee-executive board, and the final decision will be made by the complete Board of Trustees.

More than 40 names have been submitted for the presidency to date. Inquiries have been made at several leading universities and at the Education Association for further suggestions for possible candidates for the office.

A definite date has not been set for the apppointment, but the announcement will be made "sometime after January 1, but perhaps as late as June," according to Mr. Olmsted.

Dean Long, vice-president of the college, is currently serving as acting president.

SGA Officers Appoint Committee Chairmen

Student Government association officers this week announced the chairmen to serve on S.G.A. committees for the school year. Each chairman will select five student members to work on his committee. Acting President Dean Long has appointed three faculty members to serve on each committee in cooperation with the student members.

Chairmen and faculty members serving on the S.G.A. committees include: Publications, Jim Schreiber, student, chairman; Daniel Boughner, Freda Martin, Gordon Stien, faculty; Social, Joan Bosse, student, chairman; Lucile Jones, Wesley Shepard, Corian Stambaugh, faculty; Athletics, Jerry Neiswanger, student, chairman; V. C. Bailey, Evan Bruner, Doris Kirk, faculty.

Fine Arts, Marilyn Bartlett, student, chairman, Wahnita DeLong, Harris Erickson, Norman Heim, faculty; Welfare, Dorothy Bagget, student, chairman, D. W. Dunham, Orville Jaebker, Arad McCutchan, faculty; Religious Life, Dave Lawson, student, chairman, Mearl P. Culver, C. W. Robertson, Agnes Tompkins, faculty.

Core Committees Fill Vacancies

A few changes have been made in the personnel of the Union Board Core committees. Vacancies made by non-returning students appointed last year will be filled by Shirley Orth, Harolyn Brown, Bill Huff, Gene Hollander, Joan Bosse and Joan Luckett.

Vice-chairmen vacancies in the House, Games and Social committees will be taken over by Jack Miller, Ken Dennis and Marge Hassee, respectively.

Last Wednesday, members met at a Union Board workshop to discuss and plan activities for the '54-'55 school year. New members were instructed in their various duties.

Centennial Homecoming Festivities Begin Today

Students Pick Cheerleaders At Try-Outs

For the first time, the student body selected its yell leaders, at a pep assembly last Friday, presided over by the SGA in the Student Union building. Previously the leaders were selected by a student-faculty committee.

Chosen from twelve hopefuls were Neely Moman, Carolyn Conaway, Marilyn Bartlett, Doug Barthlow, Sam Laubscher and Bryant "Buddy" Watkins. The candidates were presented during the ten o'clock session and each was given a chance to try out first by himself, then in groups of three.

Those selected are practically the same as last year, Mr. Watkins, sophomore, being the only new member in the group. He came to Evansville College via Bosse high school.

Miss Moman, a sophomore, is a Kentucky gal, with a year's experience as yell leader. Miss Conaway, another sophomore, is a Bosse graduate. She, also, has a year's experience. Miss Bartlett, junior, is also a Bosse graduate and has led yells at EC for the past two years.

Mr. Barthlow, sophomore, is a Central graduate. He has had a year's experience and also led yells at Central. Mr. Laubscher, senior, was graduated from Reitz high school. He has had two years' experience.

Others who tried out were Barbara Corson, Mary Ann Simrell, Greta Shaw, June Harris, Frank Powers and Eldon Katter. Misses Corson, Simrell and Shaw, all freshmen, are June graduates of Bosse high school. Miss Harris is a sophomore from Henderson, Kentucky. Mr. Powers, sophomore, is from Boonville, and Mr. Katter, freshman, eame to Evansville from Stendall, Ind.

Voting was open to all students from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m last Friday in the entrance of the Student Union building.

Displays, Float Vie For Prizes

Opening with the pep assembly this morning at ten o'clock, the Homecoming festivities will continue throughout the day and conclude tomorrow night with a dance.

On tap for this afternoon is the annual Revlon Bowl tilt, with the four sororities paired for the fracas which will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Bonfire Tonight

Tonight the bonfire will be lighted and a pep session will follow, with refreshments to cap the evening. Tomorrow is the parade and, with the addition of another unit by the Welborn Baptist student nurses, the number of floats has been increased to a total of ten.

For the first time in many years the Evansville College marching band will march in the parade. The Old Time Auto Club has promised to also be on hand for the march and will be guests of the college at the game.

Queen Crowning at Half-Time

Half-time entertainment will see the crowning of the Homecoming Queen for 1954, plus the awards for the best float in the parade. Tom Lukens, student, will M.C. the continuity.

Jack Combs, Homecoming chairman, has urged that all students be sure and get a MUM for the game and dance as it will be the official flower for the Homecoming festivities. They cost 75 cents and can be purchased from any member of the Union Finance committee.

The strange sights which greeted students this morning as they came to school were the various campus displays put up by the various organizations. They will be judged and the winners announced at the bonfire this evening.

Schear's photography department will take senior pictures for use in the 1955 LinC under the same type contract as last year, Jim Schreiber, LinC editor, announced this week.

Under the agreement, no charge is made for the sittings, and seniors desiring extra prints may obtain tbem at a discount.

Sittings will be arranged from October 11 through October 20. Seniors are asked to sign up for appointments and pick up appointment cards starting today. The schedule, posted outside the LinC office, 0-140, is as follows:

Monday through Thursday..... 2:45-4:45 p.m. 4:30-8:15 p.m.

Friday ..... 2:45-4:00 p.m.

Saturday 10:45-4:45

Special arrangements may be made for sittings in the morning.

Four poses will be taken of each senior, and proofs will be sent out so that he may choose the pose to be used in the LinC. Proofs should be returned within five days.

If the senior does not pick up his proofs, the studio will choose the pose to be used.

When arranging for their sittings, seniors may pick up their senior-activities blank at the same time and place. These are to be filled out and returned to the LinC office as soon as completed.

Mr. Schreiber urges all seniors to make their appointments as soon as possible.

Late News Breaks

LATE NEWS FLASH — Princess Hopekaw, the Wooden Indian of the Union Building, mysteriously disappeared sometime during the night of October 5. The culprits not only took the Princess but also made off with the glass class in which she stood. A ransom note was left for Doris Kirk, Union director. It demanded an Evansville College victory in the Homecoming game tomorrow in return for the Princess. Take care villians that thou dost not harm a hair on her head, for the avenging retaliation of the student body is not to be denied. (Besides it costs a lot of money to get her repaired.)

Casting for the first production of the Evansville College Theater, Harvey, has been completed. In the title role of Elwood, The rather inebriated seer of Harvey, the giant pooka rabbit, will be Carroll Rickard. The feminine leads of Veta, Elwood's flighty sister and Myrtle Mae, his innocent niece, will be handled by Carolyn Kohl and Margie Warren, respectively. Others in the cast are Gwendolyn Williams, Barbara Moore, Jane Chanley, Sue Chenowith, Gary Harmon, Tom Lukens, Hal Burckhart, Doug Barthlow and Ken Curtin. See next issue of The Crescent for complete details.

Beta Sigma Omicron, Gamma Delta parties, will be held Tuesday and Thursday, October 12 and 14 respectively. Invitations will be in the student mailbox opposite the business office, in the Administration building.

Men's Rush Week Starts Monday With List Signing

Rushing activities have been announced by the Inter-Fraternity council. Rush week has been set for October 18-22. All men eligible to pledge a fraternity are to sign the eligibility list October 11-13, Monday through Wednesday, at a table in front of the Wooden Indian in the Union building. The table will be manned from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each of these days.

Each fraternity will man the table one of the three days: Monday, Pi Epsilon Phi; Tuesday, Phi Zeta, and Wednesday, Acacia. From this list Dr. James Morlock, dean of men, will prepare the final eligibility list and return a copy to each of the fraternities by Thursday afternon, October 14.

Parties for prospective members will be held the following week. Monday, October 18, Pi Epsilon Phi; Tuesday, October 19, Phi Zeta; Wednesday, October 20, Acacia.

After these social gatherings each of the fraternities will then prepare bids for prospects they wish to invite into membership. These bids will be given to Dr. Morlock, who will then, in turn, hand them out at the pledge assembly scheduled for Friday, October 22, at 10 a.m. in the auditorium.

Only men who have completed one quarter at EC, carried at least twelve hours in that quarter and finished the quarter with a "C" average, are eligible.

The Inter-Fraternity council also discussed plans for a fall Men's Round-up, somewhat similar to the one held in the spring. The program would be one of an athletic nature sponsored by the fraternities.

EC's Little Symphony Is Revived This Year

Evansville College's Little Symphony, which was discontinued three years ago, has resumed this year under the baton of Norman Heim of the music department faculty.

The 25-piece chamber-orchestra, consisting of both music majors and non-music majors, is planning a busy schedule for this school year. Besides two concerts to be given in March and May, the orchestra is planning to accompany a few senior and junior music majors in their recitals throughout the year.

The Little Symphony rehearses twice a week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Interested students who wish to participate in the organization are asked to contact Mr. Heim, through the music department, for auditions. This is recognized as a regular music course and credit will be given to all student members.

Kettlehut Is Named Ring Representative For EC Campus

Bob Kettlehut, who has been named campus representative for the L. G. Balfour Co., is presently taking orders for class rings for all students. Underclassmen and seniors may all order their rings now if they know the date of their graduation and the degree they will receive.

The rings come in three styles and colors. They require a deposit of five dollars upon order with the balance due upon receipt of the ring.

Cost of the ring this year is approximately $29.95 plus the usual ten percent federal tax. Mr. Kettlehut has requested that all students who want to get rings please contact him immediately as the orders do take some time to be filled. In his words, "I can think of no better Christmas gift for a college boy or girl than a class ring."

Freedom of the Press

When you read the funnies this morning or maybe even the front page, chances are you didn't realize that this is National Newspaper Week. That probably doesn't mean anything to you even yet because, who doesn't have a week, or at least a day dedicated to them. There is even a National Mother-in-law Week. However this week deserves a little thought.

Newspapers are one of the prime media of expression, trying to bring the reader an unbiased account of what has happened. The fight to print what is true or what conflicts with the ideals or practices of governments has repeatedly led to fines and imprisonment.

Maybe you think the fight has been won. If you do, you're far from being right. The war, and it actually is a war, of words and the right to use words still goes on.

Newspapers are constantly forced to fight for the freedom of self expression.

Benjamin Harris published the first newspaper in America in 1690 and guess what happened. It lasted for one edition only. Old Benjamin published simultaneously his first and last newspaper.

Why? Because Mr. Harris made two very costly errors. The first: he forgot to secure a license. The second: he complained of the use of Indians as allies of the English in their fight against the French. The treatment which the Indians gave their French captives sickened the rugged Mr. Harris. The result: four days after his paper came off the press, it was banned by the Colonial government, who had orders from the Crown not to allow such goings-on.

What did Mr. Harris do? He still continued printing but this time his labors took the form of a school primer filled with sound, moral advice.

Years later, brothers James and Ben Franklin published the New England Courant with the same result, only this time elder brother Jim had a month in jail in which to repent his mischievous doings.

One principle gathered momentum through these early years. The American people demanded an unbiased review of the news. Today they are getting it.

Fire Prevention Week

The great Chicago fire of 1871 occurred on October 9 of that year when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked the lantern, or so the story goes. That historic date is still observed as an anniversary for each year on almost the same day, Fire Prevention Week makes its debut.

Actually the plan originated in the Middle West where communities conducted annual "clean-up" campaigns. As a result of such activity, there were fewer fires and people began referring to their "clean-up" day as Fire Prevention Day. Nine years later the first Presidential Fire Prevention Week proclamation was issued. This year's annual observance is the week of October 3-9.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has reported that estimated fire losses for the first six months of this year amounted to a staggering $455,999,000, an increase of 5.5 per cent over the $432,-081,000 figure for the corresponding period last year.

As explained by the National Board, the increase is the result of: 1—mounting production; 2—greater values exposed to fire; 3—the growing incidence of big industrial fires which in one case last July easily tipped the fire loss scale and sent the '53 total of losses to $864,863,000 — $50 million or 6.1 per cent above those for 1952.

Regardless of these things, today's fire losses, high as they are, could be much worse were it not for advances in modern fire prevention safety measures and improved methods of fire fighting.

Follow the advice on the first prevention posters: "Fire Safety is YOUR job too."

Newest Instructor In ROTC Received Bars Via Ranks

A new name is on the roster of ROTC faculty this year, Lt. Loren Langefeld. Lt. Langefeld came to Evansville College this quarter fresh from an academic instructor's course at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. Prior to that, he taught at the University of Wyoming.

Lt. Langefeld was born in Oak Park, Ill., where he lived until his college days. After a year at Northwestern he switched to the University of Denver and received his BS in business administration there. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Lt. Langefeld

During the good old days of 1941, when a buck private received 21 dollars a month for his services, Lt. Langefeld joined the infantry as a private. Later, he moved to the Air Force. He worked his way up through the ranks, and after OCS in San Antonio, Tex., was commissioned in 1944.

The lieutenant's wartime work as an instructor took him to every part of the United States except New England.

In 1946 he left the Air Force and went into the life insurance in Denver. He was recalled to active service in 1951. Since then, he has served in Korea and Japan.

At Evansville College, Lt. Langefeld's official title is "assistant professor of air science and tactics." He teaches courses in leadership and management.

He likes all kinds of sports, especially bowling and baseball. And he is one of those rare men who like to putter around the house and in the garden.

Job Interviews Set for Seniors

Each year a number of companies throughout the United States send representatives to Evansville College to interview seniors who may be qualified to fill positions they have to offer.

On Wednesday, October 13, persons acting for the Maryland Naval Ordnance will be at the college to talk with seniors about their fitness to step into potential openings in their organization. They are especially interested in engineering, business and liberal arts majors, but all seniors are welcome to come in for interviews and applications.

Anyone who wants to try for a job must sign up ahead of time at the Placement Bureau. Interviews with the company personnel will take from 20 to 30 minutes.

At the present time Maryland Naval Ordnance employs persons who were graduated from Evansville College in former years. Some of these graduates have come back to the school to search for possible employees.

Dr. Walker believes that there is value in coming in to be interviewed even if a student feels he will not be chosen for a job. The experience will afford him a lesson in the correct method of applying for a position, for after he has been interviewed several times in college a student should know the proper attitude to assume toward a prospective employer.

Seniors may pick up Placement bureau credentials at that office anytime before or during their last quarter in school.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Clark Reed, Dee Jay on an early a.m. program at WJR, Detroit, read a column the other night written by a music critic for one of the Detroit sheets.

The critic really ripped into some of the current "pop" music and performers thereof. He said, in part, that the persons singing such stuff as "SShhh Boom" (I can't spell) were trying to cover up their lack of talent by using some gimmick. He really tore up the stuff and them.

. . . many of the critics, not necessarily of music only, are maladjusted hopefuls. I'll take music critics for an example. Now these jokers wanted, at some time or another, to play a horn, smoke marijuana and have affairs with a multitude of women. They yearned for fan clubs and nite clubs. Alas, finally an honest music teacher told the parents the truth. "This kid ain't never going to be a bopster. Bury his head in an ant hill."

Well, the folks around the homefires decided not to take this with a down-beat. "Charlie, if you can't make with the notes then give them that can H---."

Charlie started working as a janitor for a newspaper. One night the music critic failed to come in — he was sleeping off a jag. The Ed said, "Charlie, you are well enough acquainted with the dirt around here, so, you take over."

The BIRTH OF A CRITIC.

The President's Round Table, composed of the presidents of most of the campus roganizations and the S.G.A. officers, has planned its first meeting for October 20.

The meeting will be a dinner affair with a discussion of campus problems and criticisms to follow. The idea behind the meeting is to give all the students on campus a voice in student affairs. In the present proposed structure for the council, it will be mandatory for the S.C.A. officers to bring any proposals passed before the Administrative Board for action or approval. The round table is planning to meet once a month and hopes to come up with some solutions for campus problems or to find out why these situations cannot be improved.

The Publicity Committee of the Student Faculty Federation has plans for devoting the middle two pages of one issue of the Crescent to Student Covernment and the Student Faculty Federation. They intend to use pictures of the various S.F.F. committees and stories explaining the functions and duties of the committees. There will be a breakdown on the government system on our campus to show where and how much the students' voice counts. The issue should do a lot to give some much needed publicity to these committees and to help the students understand how things function on our campus.

Varied, Interesting Programs Top List of Cultural Events

A variety of programs, including concerts, foreign films and similar events have been listed on the cultural calendar issued bi-monthly by the Evansville Museum of Arts and Sciences.

Thursday, October 14, the Musicians Club will present Robert Casadesus, pianist, at the Coliseum at 8:15 p.m. Admission for this program will be by student ticket.

October 17 is the date for the shownig of the German film, "Affair Blum," at the Museum of Arts and Science. The film will be shown twice, at 2:30 and 8 p.m., with admission free to members.

The Philharmonie Orchestra, with Vera Francischi, pianist, will present a program at the Coliseum October 25 at 8:15 p.m. Similar programs by this group will be given throughout the winter as in previous years. Student tickets range in price from $4 to $9.

At 8:15 on October 26 the Foreign Film Club will present another picture, this time in French, entitled "La Ronde." Student tickets for this film are $3.

"Sinbad the Sailor," presented by the Children's Theater, Inc., will be enacted on October 31 at 3 p.m. in the auditorium of Bosse high school. Student admission for this program is $2.

The Central high school auditorium is the site of the Central high junior class play, entitled "Follow the Dream," written by Florence Ryerson. This play will be presented November 4 and 5 at 8 p.m. Admission for students is 35 and 50 cents.

Carolyn Lockwood Presented Beta Sigma Omicron Award

The highest honor a Beta Sigma Omicron member can receive has been awarded to an Evansville College junior, Miss Carolyn Lockwood. She has been singled out for the Bernardin Award, a national recognition which goes to only two members of the sorority throughout the United States each year.

The award, endowed by Maud Haines Hernardin, is given for character, scholarship, leadership and devotion to Christian beliefs.

Local chapters of Beta Sigma Omicron may submit as many applicants for the award as they wish. Official entry blanks are filled out by the sorority, not the person being entered, and sent in to be judged.

Badge of this great honor is a diamond pin which Miss Lockwood will be able to keep until next year when she must pass it on to another outstanding Beta Sig.

Miss Lockwood, a 1952 Bosse graduate, is majoring in history and studying literature for her minor. She has been on the dean's list four times.

At the present time she is president of Beta Sigma Omicron, secretary of the Student Government association and dance committee chairman for the Union Management board.

In the past she has been president of Alpha Phi Mu, vice-president of the Student Christian association and chairman of the Fine Arts committee of the Student-Faculty federation.

Miss Lockwood is active in church work at St. Lucas Evangelical and Reformed Church. And with all her other duties she also finds time to act as secretary to Dr. Culver.

Carolyn Lockwood

When asked about her plans for the future Miss Lockwod declared that she doesn't know what she will do after graduation. It is quite evident, however, that with her tremendous capacity for leadership and work she will have no trouble getting into a field she likes.

Contest Is Planned For College Poets

All college students are invited to enter the National Poetry Association annual poetry contest. The winners of this contest will have their work published in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

The rules of this contest are rather simple. All manuscripts must be typed or written in ink on one side of the paper. Student's name, home address, name of college and college address must appear on each manuscript.

This is the twelfth annual college poetry contest held by the national association. During the past years more than a hundred thousand manuscripts have been submitted and about four thousand of these have been accepted for publication in the Anthology.

Students may submit as many manuscripts as they desire. There are no specific requirements concerning the theme or the content of the poems. However, for reasons of space limitation, shorter works are preferred.

The closing date for submission of manuscripts is November 5. All manuscripts should be addressed to National Poetry association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 34, California.

Pre, Re, Inter

By Bob Kettlehut

This column will be written each week by guest columnists of the Student Christian Association. This week's writer is Bob Kettlehut, president of Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity and vice-president of the junior class.

Tomorrow Evansville College will celebrate another Homecoming Day — a day filled from morning until night with activities which have been in the planning for months. It takes a lot of time and effort to have a successful Homecoming, and many times we as students and faculty fail to remember the real meaning, the real value behind such a celebration. With all this work there is an idea of fellowship and good times planned for everyone.

It is a marvelous thing for us that we can never have too many friends nor too many days of renewing old acquaintances. Our lives should be lived in service and brotherhood to others; for what would we be without those around us, and what would our lives be without others to whom we can give help.

There is a very old and familiar story about the geography of Palestine. Out of the cool fresh mountain streams flows the Jordan River. In its journey through Palestine it flows into the Sea of Galilee on whose banks are all types of fresh vegetation and wild life. This is the lake, filled with fresh fish, that was so familiar to Jesus. Everywhere around it is life in all its abundance. Out of Galilee the Jordan flows and again it enters another body of water, but from these waters there is no outlet. For this reason the waters are dead, no vegetation grows around the banks and over all the water there is a thick mist. Because of this it retains the same name it had in biblical times, the Dead Sea.

From a stream of fresh, life-giving water to a sea of death,— all because the Sea of Galilee not only receives something but also gives something back, while the Dead Sea receives but never gives.

So it is with our Homecoming celebrations. If we not only receive but also give of our time and talents, we will enjoy ourselves more and in so doing provide a service to others and to our college. Whether we build a float, a campus display, help plan the activities, go to the dance, cheer at the football game, or play in the game; let's all give all we can to make this the most successful Homecoming Evansville College ever had.

Faculty Dames to Meet

The Faculty Dames Club will hold their second meeting of the year with the topic "Evening in Paris" to be presented with music and slides by F. Woody Werking and his wife Mrs. Werking.

Mrs. Werking, who is hostess for the meeting, said that the officers this year are Mrs. Ralph Olmsted, president; Mrs. Werking, vice president; Mrs. Harvey E. Donley, secretary, and Mrs. Ollin J. Drennon, treasurer.

Union Enters Picture Display

The Union has had its picture taken for a display. A project of the Association of College Unions, this display includes one 11 x 14 picture of the outside of the union buildings and two 5 x 7 interior shots of union buildings of each of its members.

Every college and university having a student union building on its campus is a member of the association.

Miss Kirk has had pictures of the front of the Student-Union building, the Woden Indian, and the Lounge taken for this display.

This exhibit is loaned to colleges and universities in the process of building a new union building to help them with ideas.

Four years ago Evansville College borrowed this exhibit for ideas of how to plan and what to include in the building.

Edgar Whiting, chairman of this picture display, is associated with Corncll at Willard Straight Hall.

Faculty Group Plans to Attend Science Meet

Next Friday, October 15, three members of the faculty will go to Purdue university to attend a meeting of the Indiana Academy of Science. They are: Norman Long, head of the chemistry department; V. W. Maves, associate professor of psychology; and Andrew Sherockman, professor of chemistry. Dr. Alvin Strickler, professor emeritus, will also be in Lafayette for the meeting.

Scientists from throughout the state will attend the convention to discuss problems and methods of improving science.

Dr. Maves is program chairman for the psychology division of the Indiana Academy of Science. One of a committee of three selected to plan a program for the gathering, he will preside at the division meetings.

On Saturday Dr. Long and Dr. Sherockman will go to Muncie to a gathering of the Indiana Chemical society at Ball State college.

New College Sign To Be Completed In Two Weeks

An imposing new sign is being built to replace the old nameplate that stood in front of the campus. It will be finished in about two weeks.

The sign is being constructed of Indiana limestone. Facing the Lincoln Avenue side, it will have a stone seat, on the back of which will be printed the name of the college in black enamel letters.

The area directly behind this new nameplate will be paved with flagstones.

The sign is being given to the school by the firm that is building it, the Thorp Construction Company.

Museum Courses Start October 11

October 11 marks the opening of classes for adults which are sponsored by Evansville's public museum. The course continues through the winter until January 22, when preparations for the spring classes will be made.

Five sections have been organized in the adult group for the winter months. First of these classes is the portrait and figure section. Painting classes will also be offered along with home decorating courses. Similar subjects will also be studied.

A natural history division will contain three separate age groups. They are the junior nature club, intermediate nature club, and the senior club.

Committee of Three To Run Department

Evansville College's department of business will be under the administration of a new faculty committee with Prof. Claude H. Slusher acting as chairman and Professors Lawrence Anderson and James A. Julian will assist him.

Acting President Dean Long announced that the committee will begin its duties this quarter, and it will continue to function while Mr. Long, head of the department of business and economics, is acting president of the college.

Prof. Slusher was elected chairman of the group by the staff members of the department, and he will serve as a liason with the college administration and other groups.

Philharmonic Group Opens October 25

Evansville's Philharmonic Concert season opens October 25 with many of the great names in music scheduled to appear, announced F. Woody Werking, professor of modern language at Evansville College.

Vera Francheschi will be the featured pianist at the opening program, and Eva Likova, a soprano from the New York Civic Opera, will be featured December 6. On January 31 Arthur Rubenstein, world-famous pianist, will be featured, and Raya Garbousova will play the cello in an appearance on February 28. She is considered by many to be the world's greatest woman cellist. The April 4 date is still open.

Adult reserved tickets for the five concerts are $9; unreserved $6; student reserved $5; and unreserved student tickets $4. No single admission tickets will be sold. Tickets are available in Prof. Werking's office, 0-102, or at his home, phone 6-4108. The Philharmonic office is in the Coliseum building.

NACA Gives File To College Library

The local chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants has presents the Evansville College library with a file of N A C A Bulletins for the years 1946-1954. Acting President Dean Long has expressed his thanks to Clifford Marx, president of the chaper, and the chapter for their fine gift.

These bulletins will be very useful for the accounting majors, for they show the technical side of accounting and many other useful articles the students may receive valuable information from.

Painting Course Offered Adults

A new daytime class for adult painters has been scheduled at Evansville College, Marvin Hartig, director of the Evening College, has announced. The class will meet Friday mornings from 9:45 to 11:45 o'clock in the fine arts building.

Miss Florence Keve, head of the art department, will instruct the course in oil, watercolor, tempera and other desired media. The new class was formed at the request of individuals who could not attend evening painting classes.

'53 Yearbooks Available In LinC Office 0-140

Evansville College's 1953 LinCs can be picked up in the LinC office, 0-140, announced the yearbook business manager Jerry Gray. Any student who had an activity ticket for three quarters last year is entitled to one. There are now about 100 copies left in the office.

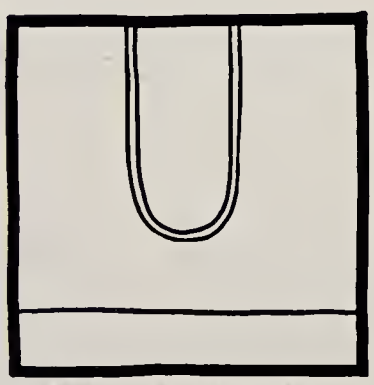
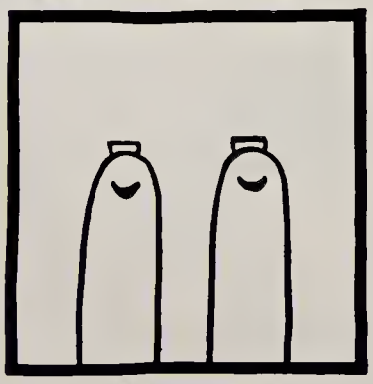
Got a Lucky Droodle in your noodle?

SEND IT IN AND MAKE $25



FIREPOLE FOR FALSE ALARMS



MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMAN IN TURKEY ACCOMPANIED BY VERY UGLY FRIEND

Want to pick up $25? Make up a Lucky Droodle and send it in. It's easy.

If you want to find out just how easy it is, ask Roger Price, creator of Droodles. "Very!" Price says. Better yet, do a Droodle yourself, like the ones shown here.

Droodle anything you like. And send in as many as you want. If we select yours, we'll pay $25 for the right to use it, together with your name, in our advertising. We're going to print plenty—and lots that we don't print will earn $25 awards.

Draw your Droodles any size, on any piece of paper, and send them with your descriptive titles to Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y. Be sure your name, address, college and class are included.

While you're droodling, light up a Lucky —the cigarette that tastes better because it's made of fine tobacco . . . and "It's Toasted" to taste better.

LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN IN COLLEGES!

Newest, biggest survey of smokers in colleges from coast to coast, based on 34,440 actual student interviews, shows that students prefer Luckies to all other brands. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better.

Homecoming festivities will get off to a flying start this afternoon when the powder puff counterparts of the Purple Aces take the field to do battle in the annual Revlon Rose Bowl game. Spirit seems high for this fall classic, and both camps report they are in top shape for the game that shows more shape than any other played on the campus throughout the year.

The defending champions, the Chi Omega-Beta Sigma Omicron squad, will be without their two stars of last year, Mary Trurman Wessel and Mary Jean Lockwood, who piloted the team to a 12-0 win over the Alpha Omicron Pi-Phi Mu team. Both teams have been working faithfully to perfect their timing in secret sessions that are so secret that an observer wouldn't know what they were playing.

With Mary Lou Taylor, Reba Hardison and Phyllis Bunge leading the Phi Mu-AOPi team, Aces High will have to give them a slight nod over their opponents, although Shirley Orth and Connie Miller will make a victory hard to grasp.

Purple Aces Score Team Victory

Although the crowd was larger than any since the Refrigerator Bowl game of last year, the Aces might just as well have played before empty stands for all the appreciation they received from the "fans." Evansville viewers have not seen the Aces play football of that caliber for many years and as a team effort, it was one of the college's greatest victories. Every man played excellent football, which at times bordered on brilliancy. It must be a great feeling for a coach to know that any man he puts in the game is going in to win. As Captain Bob Scott stated, "It was one of my greatest thrills to sit on the sidelines and watch those guys play like they did." It was a team victory that should be accredited to the whole team and not to any individual stars.

Last week I picked the Aces in what I said would be a close game and I was surprised; this week Aces High says the same thing, and here's hoping that I'm surprised again.

Aces Meet Valparaiso In Homeconing Tilt

By Al Dunning

Evansville College's spirited Aces, fresh from a robust 41-6 victory over Indiana State last Saturday, will tangle with Valparaiso's Crusaders in the EC Homecoming tilt tomorrow afternoon at Reitz Bowl.

Valpo, the current pace-setters in the Indiana Collegiate Conference, will bring a slate of two victories and one defeat to Evansville, both wins coming in conference competition. Evansville, too, is sporting a 2-1 record, but the Aces' lone setback came at the hands of Butler, a conference foe.

Aces' Defense Best

The Crusaders, boasting a fast line and a power-running backfield, have scored 64 points in three games while holding their opponents to 45. Evansville, under the tutelage of Coach Paul Beck, has rolled up a total of 85 points while limiting the opposition to a scanty 34 — the best defensive record in the ICC.

Valparaiso spurted into the conference lead Saturday by smacking St. Joseph's, 38-18.

The Aces flashed brilliant form in turning back a favored Indiana State eleven by the lopsided 41-6 count Saturday, as the Beckmen blocked and tackled with a savage fury usually accredited to Big Ten and other "big school" conferences.

Aces Roll in Second Half

With a "supermarket" crowd of some 9000 fans looking on, the Aces cut loose with a second-half blitz that left the Terre Haute team dazed on the ropes, after the State crew had grabbed an early 6-0 advantage in the first quarter of play.

The Aces pulled even at the outset of the second stanza when Ken "Animal" Lutterbach, the ex-Memorial line-buster, scooted over tackle for the initial EC touchdown from 18 yards out. Minutes later, Captain Bob "Golden Toe" Scott alertly snatched a State pass out of the air and galloped 28 yards untouched, handing the Purple and White a 12-6 margin. Scott booted the extra point attempt out of sight, but between the uprights, to make the count 13-6.

Reserves Score Twice

In the fourth round, State, in a desperate effort to come back, took to the air. Richie Thompson, a reserve and half of the dynamic brother duo, picked off a stray State aerial midway through the period, and six plays later the shifty Richie was standing up in the Indiana State end zone with touchdown No. 5.

The Aces still were not finished. With only seconds to go, the Evansville line swarmed all over a Sycamore punter, blocking the kick and sending the ball dribbling into the State end zone. Bob Drone, reserve guard, blanketed the ball for the touchdown, and the crowd went home beaming.

Coeds to Meet in Grid Tilt

It's difficult for a coed football player to know just how to tackle a dummy, much less another lady player; so George Baxter, Purple Ace gridster, is giving Revlon Rose Bowl team members a few pointers. Dana Jo Erhardt, Phi Mu, is demonstrating the lesson to Jo Anne Frohbieter, Beta Sigma Omicron; Joan Bosse, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Connie Miller, Chi Omega. The Evansville College coeds are practicing for their annual Revlon Rose Bowl tilt this afternoon, one of the Centennial Homecoming events at EC.

By Jak Williams

Three is the magic number for the Chi O's-Beta Sig football team. It has been three years since the AOPi's-Phi Mu gridders have been able to fashion a victory. This afternoon's game is the sixth renewal of this annual bowl game. In the previous five contests each team has been victorious twice, with the 1952 classic ending in a scoreless tie.

Both teams expect to go into the contest at full strength, with the AOPi-Phi Mu team a six point favorite to break the three year jinx.

Only Two Veterans Back

Chi O's-Beta Sig coaches Byron Brenton and Archie Griggs, have two veterans back from last year's starting lineup. The rest of the starting squad is made up of last spring's pledges.

Bill Baumeyer and Willie Angermeier, AOPi's-Phi Mu coaches, have their squad well conditioned and feel assured of victory. Five of last year's team members are back on the AOPi-Phi Mu team.

Both teams will use variations of a split T and single wing attack.

Starting Lineups

Probable starting lineups for the game are: for the Chi O's-Beta Sigs, ends, Carolyn Conaway and Carol Lockwood; tackles, Dell Patterson and Marilyn Bartlett; guards, Carol Schellhase and Phyllis Campbell, and center Joanne Bailey. In the backfield they will have Sara Rupp at quarterback, Anita Aders and Margie Hasse at halfbacks and Shirley Orth at fullback.

For the AOPi's-Phi Mu team the probable starting lineup is: ends, Marilyn Randolph and Carol White; tackles, Lois Ryan and Harolyn Brown; guards, Gail Still and Phyllis Hachmeister, and center Reba Hardison. Quarterbacking the team will be Pat Moore; halfbacks will be Phyllis Bunge, Joan Hamel and Mary Lou Taylor, fullback.

The staff of the CRESCENT wishes the best of good luck to both teams.

Intra-Mural Sports Start

A wider, more inclusive intra-mural program has been established for the students this year. A plan has been worked out wherein team trophies will be given for tag football, basketball and softball, with a large traveling trophy being given to the intramural champion.

Tag football got under way last Monday. There is a seven team league: Phi Zetas, SCA, Freshmen, Willy's Wonders, Bill's Boys, Acacia and Philos. An eight game schedule has been set up.

All games will be played on the two new fields set up on the college haseball fields, for the purpose of enlarging the intramural program and to increase student interest. Games will be played every Monday and Wednesday at 3:45.

This is the first time in several years that intra-mural football has been played at Evansville College. If it is a success perhaps next year the students will have even better facilities to use and a wider intra-mural program.

National Football Scene Viewed

Starting this week the Crescent sports staff will feature this column where it will make its predictions of college football games of local and national interest.

First in the ICC. Evansville will make its Homecoming a success with a victory over Valparaiso. Butler will maul Ball State. St. Joseph will win in a thriller over Indiana State.

In the Middlewest, Ohio State will continue to deflate Illinois hopes. Minnesota will stomp Northwestern. Purdue will stay undefeated against Duke. Michigan State will win its first game of the year against Indiana. Iowa will take conference foe, Michigan. Notre Dame will bounce back against Pittsburg.

AFROTC Reviews Four Years at EC

This year heralds the start of the fourth year of the AFROTC unit at Evansville College. The unit began its operations on September 11, 1951, under the command of Lt. Col. Donald E. Cluxton with a staff of four officers, five airmen and an initial enrollment of 197 cadets in the basic and advanced program.

Both freshmen and sophomores were permitted to take four years of AFROTC training — freshmen by taking four years in sequence and sophomores by doubling up on some of the courses in their junior year. Cadets completing the course were commissioned second lieutenants and served in the flight operations option, administration, aircraft maintenance, engineering or similar technical fields.

During the winter quarter a campus chapter of the Arnold Air society was formed. The rifle team worked for perfection at the range in the armory, and a drum and bugle corps was organized.

Col. Brantner Is New CO

With the start of the fall quarter of 1952, Lt. Col. James A. Brantner assumed command of the unit. During this quarter an AFROTC band, which performed at several of the basketball games, was organized.

During the winter quarter the cadet corps changed its official designation from group to wing, and a military drill team, which performed at military reviews and ceremonies, was formed. The campus chapter of the Arnold Air society added new members to its expanding organization, and the year's social activities were climaxed with the Military Ball.

At the start of the fall quarter of 1953 a new curriculum, designed to prepare cadets to serve as commissioned officers, was introduced into the AFROTC program. Military reviews, drill and the annual Military Ball highlighted the remainder of the year for the AFROTC. In a fall review Dr. Lincoln B. Hale presented the Evansville College AFROTC flag to the cadet corps.

Qualifications

The fall quarter of the AFROTC program at Evansville College opened this year with a total enrollment of 224 cadets in the basic and advanced program. For you who have not been introduced to the AFROTC program, AFROTC is a four year college course designed to develop men into leaders, introduce college men to the Air Force and eventually lead them to a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force. To join the corps a man must be a regularly enrolled student of the college, a United States citizen and physically and mentally qualified. AFROTC is an academic course for which students receive college credits.

Subjects in the AFROTC curriculum include leadership, drill and exercise of command, psychology and personnel management, aerodynamics and propulsion, weather and navigation, air operations, Air Force management, career development and other related subjects.

Campus Physician To Be Available During New Hours

James L. Watson, school doctor, will be available in his campus office between 10 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Monday through Friday on all class days. He is located in the Office building, room 158.

Both the doctor and Della Hester, school nurse, are on campus for the benefit of all students and faculty members. In an emergency, the nurse may be contacted through the telephone operator in the Administration building or through the Student Personnel office.

For students with minor illnesses, the center will provide whatever medical care is needed. Out of town students who do not have the facilities of a regular family doctor in Evansville will find the services of the campus doctor especially useful.

Although the campus medical center will take care of accidents or illnesses that happen on campus, it is not liable for other medical expenses should the patient need hospitalization, service of a specialist or other special care.

Students unable to meet their own expenses may appeal to the Welfare Committee for financial aid. The committee will investigate the circumstances and in emergencies, will pay needy students' bills through the Welfare fund.

Phi Mu Alpha Plans Banquet

The active and alumni members of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity, will celebrate their Founders Day with a banquet on Sunday, October 10, at 6 p.m. in the Homestead.

The guest speaker will be Claude B. Smith, director of instrumental music in Evansville's public schools. Mr. Smith will speak on "Making Music a Force of Significance in the Lives of Children." According to the speaker, this informal talk will be based on reminiscences from his long years in the field of music education.

An attendance of approximately 40 active and alumni members is expected at the banquet. It can be either stag or date.

Dead Line Is Extended For Essay Contest

Students interested in international affairs now have until December 15 to submit essays in the Foreign Service Journal Prize Essay Contest, it was announced.

The essays, to be written on "The Organization of American Representation Abroad," may win for a student up to $1,000 or a full fellowship, amounting to $1,750, at The School of Advanced International Studies of the Johns Hopkins University in Washington.

Full details of the contest may be obtained by writing to the Foreign Service Journal, Contest Committee, 1908 G Street, N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

Sigma Alpha Iota Presents Musicale Monday Evening

Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity for women, presented its first musicale of the school year Monday evening. It was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Shepard, co-heads of the music department.

The program included the works of such contemporary composers as Jean Sibelius, Burrill Phillips and Mani Zucca.

Short commentaries on the composers and their works were given by Betty Letsinger preceding each number. The soloists in the musicale were Shirley Witte, pianist; Marilyn Grayson, flutist; Doris Roth, pianist; and Betty Letsinger, vocalist.

Present at the musicale were active members and patronesses of the sorority. Refreshments were served following the music program.

IRC To Present Mexican Program

The International Relations Club will present a program on Mexico this morning at 10 a.m. in the Club Room of the Union building.

The speaker will be Margaret Scott, an IRC member who attended the trip to Mexico sponsored by Evansville College this summer. Color slides taken of the trip will be shown.

This is the first in a series of talks and movies the club plans to sponsor this year. All students are invited to attend.

Gamma Delta Parties Set

The various social sororities on campus decided on a fall program for entertaining members of Camma Delta at the last meeting of Panhellenic.

Ever since Camma Delta has existed it has been the custom of sororities to give a series of parties for the freshmen women who belong to that organization. This year these parties will all be held in the month of October, rather than being stretched out until the Christmas season, as they formerly were.

Although some of the sororities are undecided as to whether they want to divide the Gamma Delta list and give two parties or to entertain all members at once, four affairs have been definitely planned. They are Beta Sigma Omicron, October 12; AOPi, October 18; Chi Omega, October 25; and Phi Mu, October 28.

Invitations for the parties will be in the student mailboxes near the Business Office.

Merrill, Denton Will Speak At Convocation

D. Bailey Merrill, Republican representative from the eighth district of Indiana, and his Democratic opponent in the November election, Winfield K. Denton, will speak in the auditorium next Tuesday, October 19, at 10 a.m. They will discuss election issues.

Dr. Wade David, professor of history, will act as moderator for the discussion and will introduce the speakers.

Mr. Merrill, who is a member of the Banking and Currency committee in the House of Representatives, is serving his first term in Congress. He was a practicing attorney in Evansville before his election to the legislature in 1952.

Born in Hymera, Ind., in 1912, Mr. Merrill was graduated from the Indiana university School of Law. He joined the Army in 1942 as a private and rose to the rank of captain by the end of World War II.

Mr. Denton was born in Evansville in 1893. He was graduated from DePauw and Harvard universities. Since 1922 he has practiced law in Evansville.

Mr. Denton served as prosecuting attorney of Vanderburgh county for two terms and was elected to the Indiana General Assembly three times. From 1948 to 1952 he was a member of the House of Representatives, where he served on the Appropriations and Judiciary committees.

Four Freshmen Appear Before Packed Great Hall Audience

The Four Freshmen, a combo rated tops both vocally and instrumentally, made their appearance on campus last night. Two 45-minute programs were presented in the Great Hall of the Union building.

A dance in the patio, with music by Danny Stiles' combo, from 8:45 to 10:30, was open to holders of tickets for the performances.

The Four Freshman, Ross and Don Barbour, Ken Errair and Bob Flanigan, first met at the Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music in Indianapolis in 1948. The four Indiana boys discovered that they had mutual tastes and a happy blend of voices and decided to try to apply their talents commercially.

The foursome is noted for its versatility. Ross, the drummer, doubles in trumpet. His brother, Don, the guitar man, splits vocal solos with Ken, who handles trumpet, bass and French horn. Bob plays both bass and trombone. The group has an exclusive recording contract with Capitol Records and recently completed their first motion picture.

Nursing Council Discusses Changes In First Meeting of Year on Campus

Dr. Genevieve Bixler, consultant for the Evansville College-Baptist Hospital School of Nursing, attended the Nursing Advisory Council's first meeting of the year Monday afternoon on the college campus.

Dr. Bixler, an educational and research consultant who headed the team making the Indiana Nursing Survey, is serving as consultant during the initial years of the nursing program at Evansville College.

A review of the development of the School of Nursing during its first year was given by Miss Mildred Boeke, director of the program. She reported appointment of additional members to the nursing faculty this year, some with college academic rank.

During the session the council discussed proposed curriculum changes and the stepping up of enrollment in the four-year degree nursing program.

Council members attending were Miss Hazel Altman, consultant nurse, Tuberculosis Nursing, State Board of Health, Indianapolis; Miss Thelma Jordan, Division of Hospitals, State Board of Health, Indianapolis; Miss Mabel McCracken, Educational Director, St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing, Evansville, all representing nursing; Dr. Mel Welborn, medical profession; and Miss Ena Long, Bosse high school, general education; Miss Natalie Land, nurse-teacher, Reitz high school, representing Welborn Hospital Alumnae association; Mrs. Madeline Kinney, director of nurses, Welborn Hospital, representing Welborn Hospital Nursing Service; Dr. Edgar M. McKown and Miss Virginia Weigel, Evansville College; Nolan Lackey, Welborn administrative intern, Dr. Bixler and Miss Boeke.

The group has scheduled its next meeting for early January, 1955.

Class Officers Elected By Student Vote Today

Students will go to the polls today to elect their class officers. SGA watchers will be at the ballot boxes from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Union building. All students are being urged to vote as these candidates will be the leaders of their class for the ensuing year.

Running for president of the senior class on the Philo slate will be Jack Combs, former editor of The Crescent. The Phi Zetas have nominated Wendell Long, present president of the fraternity. Sam Laubscher, college cheerleader, has been nominated by the Acacia fraternity. Other candidates nominated are John Miller, Philo, and Bob Hawkins, Phi Zeta, vice-president; Betty Norries, Phi Mu and Myra Kasey, ChiO, secretary; Carol White, AOPi and Nancy Jo Land, Beta Sig.

Aspirants for junior class offices are president, Sam Hancock, Philo; John Conaway, Phi Zeta and John Happel, Acacia; vice-president, Jack Miller, Philo and Jerry Gray, Phi Zeta; secretary, Reba Hardison, Phi Mu and Sally Reece, ChiO; treasurer, Joan Bosse, AOPi and Marilyn Bartlett, Beta Sig.

Sophomore hopefuls will be Doug Barthlow, Philo; Buddy Watkins, Phi Zeta and Jerry Daubenspeck, Acacia, president; Bill Mattingly, Philo and Don Hillyard, INCA, vice-president; Mary Lou Born, AOPi and Anita Aders, ChiO, secretary; Mary Lou Taylor, Phi Mu and Joanne Bailey, Beta Sig, treasurer.

Ballots will be counted and the results announced this afternoon.

'Harvey' Cast Is Announced

By Jane Chanley

"We intend to give the audience a thoroughly entertaining evening," stated Robert Heater, dramatics instructor, about "Harvey," the forthcoming College Theater's production.

"Harvey," which will be presented November 11, 12 and 13 in the auditorium, ran four years on Broadway. It has also proved to be the most popular comedy in the twentieth century American Theater according to Mr. Heater.

In the leading role of the "Pookaseeing" Elwood P. Dowd will be Carroll Rickard, senior. Mr. Rickard appeared in last year's college productions of "The Bat" and "Elizabeth, the Queen."

Carolyn Kohl, freshman, will portray the part of Elwood's sister, Veta Louise Simmons, a fussy, society-minded woman. While at Bosse, Miss Kohl had leading roles in both "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and "The Importance of Being Ernest." She is also an active member of the Community Players.

Margie Warren, a freshman student nurse, will play the part of Veta's daughter, Myrtle Mae. She is cast as a homely girl, who is perpetually humiliated by her uncle and pushed forth in search of a man by her mother. Miss Warren was both an actress and student director at Mount Vernon, Ill., high school.

In the role of Dr. Chumley, famed psychiatrist and owner of Chumley's Rest Sanitarium is Ken Curtin, senior. The only previous experience on the stage for Mr. Curtin is playing his accordion. Portraying Dr. Chumley's assistant, Dr. Sanderson, is Tom Lukens, sophomore. Mr. Lukens, while at Bosse, appeared in "A Murder Has Been Arranged" and "Brigadoon." He was a member of the cast of the college production, 'Heaven Can Wait," and he is also an active member of the Community Players. Jane Chanley, freshman, portrays the part of Ruth Kelly, head nurse at Chumley's Rest. Miss Chanley, a Bosse graduate, has had no previous experience in dramatics.

Hal Burckhartt, junior, will be in the role of fussy little Judge Gaffney, a family friend of Elwood and his sister. Mr. Burckhartt, an active member of the EC campus the following Monday. The day started with a huge victory assembly and wound up with a massive horn-honking, vociferously-cheering parade, downtown. Students are planning a huge cheering section to go to Louisville en masse, to add fuel to the flame of victory now burning so bright. Many thanks are in order for Jack Combs, his committee, and all the others who were responsible for the planning of this, our Centennial Homecoming.

Four Week Grades, Oct. 20

Four-week grades for new students will be turned in by instructors next Friday. On October 20 the various advisors will have these grades in their offices, and students may pick them up after that time.

New students may learn how they are doing in their studies early in the quarter so they can iron out difficulties. All first quarter freshmen should see their advisors about their grades after Wednesday.

peared in Bosse's production of "Arsenic and Old Lace." Mrs. Chauvenet, another close friend of Elwood's, will be portrayed by Barbara Moore, junior. Miss Moore has appeared in the college's "Macbeth" and "Eager Heart."

Susan Chenoweth, junior, will act the part of Dr. Chumley's talkative wife, Betty. Miss Chenoweth has appeared in every dramatic production but one since she entered college. Playing the sanitarium's strong man will be Gary Harmon, freshman. Mr. Harmon, a member of the Thespian Society at Reitz, had a leading role in "Lost Horizons." In the role of Lofgren, the cab driver, is Doug Barthlow, sophomore. Mr. Barthlow had a part in the college's "Elizabeth, the Queen."

With student enthusiasm at a fever pitch the 1954 Centennial Homecoming was one of the finest in many years. The floats reflected the spirit with each one showing a great deal of hard work and energy. Winning the men's float division and permanent possession of the traveling trophy was Pi Epsilon Phi. Beta Sigma Omicron captured top honors in the sorority division. The campus display awards went to Kappa Chi, in the mixed judging, and the Ivy Leaf Club in the sorority group. Fraternity competition was taken by the Phi Zetas. This also gave them permanent possession of the trophy for campus displays. At the half-time ceremonies Rosemary Mohr, pictured on page 6, was crowned queen of the Homecoming activities by Byron Benton. Her attendants were Phyllis Bunge, Loretta Beldon, Margaret Broadhead and Lois Ryon. The team cooperated with a victory over Valparaiso, which brought about one of the greatest displays of stu-

A Suggestion

Grammar is something pretty hard to swallow. It's tough and it requires concentration, and who has time for that! So, what happens? Simply this — grammar is like a rotten apple, something distasteful, that leaves a foul taste in the mouth; hence it's quickly disposed of, shunned like an overdue bill and, in circles of polite conversation, never mentioned.

That's all very well; indeed it's downright pleasing to know that you're through with it, that is, as far as high school is concerned. But, and this is an awfully big "but," what if you're confronted with the necessity of taking a language in college? Gad, what a horrible thought!

If you were a "normal" student in high school and had only an indifferent attitude toward grammar, the thought of having to learn the grammar, the vocabulary, the rults and the exceptions of another language is appalling, to say the least.

Imagine yourself sitting in a classroom listening to the instructor lecturing about the construction of a sentence in German, French or Spanish when you don't even know what constitutes a simple sentence in your own language.

The situation is pathetic. There are two course of action left open to the thoughtful student.

Either he can admit his ignorance and try to relearn the components of the English language on his own or he can keep this choice bit of info under his hat and make a valient effort at "appearing" to understand what's going on.

Neither attitude is a sure fire method of passing. However, there is one solution. The faculty should see the necessity of giving more required courses in grammar. A brief smattering of grammar is the only thing available in the composition courses. Of course, the college freshman is expected to know quite a bit of grammar, but if the ugly truth were known, it would be a safe wager that most don't know one part of speech from another. Therefore, why not offer more courses in grammar, especially for those who must take a language.

Thanks For The Memory

Whether you vote Republican, Democratic, Whig, Tory or Vegetarian, you'll have to agree on the fact that the action which the Administration has taken concerning the dire labor situation in Evansville is worthy of praise.

The Office of Defense Mobilization has announced that E-town has been placed on the preferred list for new defense contracts. Evansville is one of six Indiana cities to be placed on this list. The others include Ft. Wayne, Muncie, South Bend, Michigan City and La Porte.

The bureau's new policy of encouraging defense operations in areas of labor surplus, by allowing quick tax write-offs on plant construction, became effective Oct. 1.

There is no doubt at all that Evansville is hard hit by lack of employment. A quick glance at the unemployment bureau will prove to the most skeptical that Evansville needs something and in a hurry!

Those lines at the unemployment bureau are filled by men and women who work in our factories and who are sorely hit by lack of employment. Twenty seven dollars per week doesn't stretch so far when grocery bills, the rent and a million other items rear their ugly heads every week.

Maybe you don't think our home town situation is precarious. It certainly is. Every downtown merchant, every neighborhood shop and even "Dandy Dade," have felt the tightening of purse strings without even mentioning the hardest hit, the workers themselves. So hats off to Washington for finally getting around to a job which needed attention long ago.

Heater, Logan Join English Faculty For Speech, Drama

New faces seen around the "English channel" these days belong to Dr. Virgil Logan and Mr. Robert Heater, the two men who have taken over speech education at Evansville College.

Dr. Logan Born in Indiana

Although he spent most of his early life in Michigan, Dr. Logan was born in Rochester, Ind. Before his recent return to the Hoosier state he taught at Union college in Lincoln, Neb.

Dr. Logan has degrees from three academic institutions: Western Michigan College of Education, the University of Alabama and the University of Wisconsin. While he was at Wisconsin working on his doctor's degree, his wife was studying for a Ph.D. at the same university. The couple did their research work in Mexico in 1949 and 1951.

A man of great versatility, Dr. Logan has held positions in high schools and colleges and has worked with theater groups. He once taught in a two-room log cabin in the Tennessee mountains, where he weaned the people away from reading the Sears Roebuck catalogue by passing around the "New York Times."

Mr. Heater and Mr. Logan

For five years he was with the War Department as civilian personnel. When the Army learned he was a speech expert, in true army style, he was placed in charge of a laundry at Percy Jones Hospital in Battle Creek, Mich. In that capacity he supervised prisoners of war.

Dr. Logan loves travel and music. He plays the piano and does some composing.

Mr. Heater Acted in Movie

Mr. Heater was born in Fort Dodge, Iowa. He attended Kemper Military Academy, was graduated from Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and received an M.A. in drama from Northwestern University.

The new speech instructor has been interested in drama since he was 12. When he was in high school, he directed community theater groups in the small towns around his home.

In 1942 Mr. Heater entered the Army where he did special service work in the theater. While on leave in 1945, he appeared in a Universal International film but was never seen by the theater-going public. "Mine is the face on the cutting room floor," he explained.

After he left the service, Mr. Heater remained in California for a while; then he went back to Iowa to study at Drake University. He was in radio for a year. Later he taught and directed junior college theater in Joplin, Mo.

Mr. Heater is married and has two children, a girl, Diana Lee, and a boy, Stanton Arthur, who bears the manly nickname, "Hoot."

At Evansville College, Mr. Heater is in charge of the theater group. Both he and Dr. Logan are working to bring about better speech and drama education in the school, they said.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

In Punchbowl Crater, near Honolulu, can be seen hundreds of white crosses. Beneath these crosses lie the bodies of fallen heroes. They were killed throughout the Pacific. Many of them died on then unheard of, now forgotten, islands.

The inscription on one of these crosses reads, "At this spot the 77th Infantry Division lost a buddy, ERNIE PYLE, 18 April, 1945." It was on the island of Ie Shima, however that Ernie was downed after four years of front-line reporting, by a sniper's bullet.

A frail, cold-natured, whiskey-loving person, Ernie was the GI's best friend. They thought more of him than of any other person. He wasn't interested in the big things that happened during WW II. His interest was centered in the every day, mud-slogging, grimy, stinky, hungry "doughboy." For officers he had respect — but little column space. He realized that the little fellow, the infantryman, was the guy who won wars.

He recognized the importance of the Air Force and the Navy but they were secondary. It took the "gravel cruncher" to do the fighting.

Ernie did more than any other war correspondent to make the American people realize the horror of war. He reported without fanfare the hardships faced by the fighting men. He reported accurately — he lived with them and he knew.

He hated war with its waste of machinery, money and above all else, the waste of human life.

There is hardly enough space here to do Ernie Pyle justice. General Eisenhower said, upon hearing of Ernie's death, "The GI's in Europe — and that means all of us here — have lost one of our best and most understanding friends." Bill Maudlin put it this way: "The only difference between Ernie's death and the death of any other good guy is that the other guy is mourned by his company. Ernie is mourned by the Army."

Last weekend Indiana University dedicated a new journalism building to a person who did not finish college.

Ernie Pyle will be remembered forever by those who visit the I.U. campus.

This summer before I went to the National Student Association Congress in Ames, Iowa, I knew very little about NSA and what it was doing. But while I was attending the Congress, I became very enthusiastic about NSA and I hope Evansville College can see fit to become a member.

NSA is a confederation of student bodies through democratic student governments. Thus the whole student body is a part of NSA. A member school is not bound by any policies or suggestions of the Association and NSA does not tell member schools what they can or cannot do.

The Association is divided into regional districts. Evansville College would fall in the Ohio-Indiana region which presently has about ten schools. NSA holds regional assemblies and a national congress once a year.

Through NSA I think Evansville could become more a part of the greater college community of the whole country, and the students and faculty here on campus would have a better chance to meet and benefit from students and faculty from other campuses. Students at Evansville College are in a rut; they never travel to other campuses to meet other students and don't benefit from experiences that other colleges are having. NSA can do a lot to alleviate this situation.

Evansville would be allowed one voting delegate at the national congress if our enrollment is considered under one thousand. The national dues for Evansville College would be $25.00 a year which would be more than repaid with the added prestige that NSA can give E.C.

Foreign Student Applications Deadline Set November 1

November 1, 1954, is the closing date of the competitions for United States Government educational grants for graduate study abroad. Less than one month remains in which to apply for awards under the Fulbright and Buenos Aires Convention Programs for the 1955-56 academic year.

Scholarship application blanks are available at the Institute or in the offices of Fulbright advisers on college and university campuses. A brochure describing the overseas study awards may be obtained from the Institute.

The programs under the Fulbright act and the Buenos Aires Convention for the Promotion of Inter-American Cultural Relations are part of the international educational exchange activities of the Department of State. They will give approximately 1000 American citizens the chance to study abroad during the 1955-56 academic year. Since the establishment of the Fulbright Program in 1947, 3600 American students have gone abroad under its auspices, and over 900 have accepted grants for the current academic year.

Eligibility requirements for these foreign study fellowships are: (1) United States citizenship, (2) a college degree or its equivalent at the time the award is to be taken up, (3) knowledge of the language of the country sufficient to carry on the proposed study, and (4) good health.

Guest columnist this week is Norma Jean Roberts, former president of MSM and Women's Council.

Festivities for the Evansville College centennial year are near an end. We are now responsible for the successful start of the second hundred.

Will we succeed? The college's success will depend largely upon us — the students.

What does college mean to you — to me?

College is the source of higher learning. College is a "frat" or sorority. College is a draft evasion. College is what you make it. College is another way to "sponge off" the old folks.

So often we hear college defined in one of these figurative ways.

Something more significant is that college is a heritage. We may not have realized the existence of this heritage or wanted the responsibility, but upon entering college it was "dumped" in our laps. This heritage can be cared for in one of two ways — better living for all or complete chaos. It is within our reach to make this heritage valuable or to make the value worthless.

Board Adds Two Members

Dr. Orville Jaebker and Prof. Ralph Coleman have been named to serve three year terms on the Athletic Board of Control.

Dr. Jaebker replaces Acting President Dean Long, who, in this present position, becomes member ex-officio. Mr. Coleman succeeds himself.

They will serve with Dr. Leland Moon, Dr. Norman Long, Prof. V. C. Bailey and Prof. William Affolder. All members are elected by the faculty.

Curtis' Story Published

A by-line article by Miss Kay Curtis on her activities as Evansville College Student Union social director was published by the Christian Science Monitor in its youth section on Monday, October 4.

In the article, "Life in a Social Whirl," Miss Curtis comments on the varied duties of her job and the general functions of the EC Union. She joined the Union staff in the fall of 1953.

ALUMNI, FACULTY COMMITTEE

An omission was made in the first issue of The Crescent on the story of the committees appointed to select the future president of Evansville College.

The following names have been added to the committees chosen to assist the trustee committee in the screening of candidates for the presidency: Guthrie May, chairman; Mrs. Evelyn D. Ingle, alumni committee; Professor Lucile Jones and Dr. James Morlock, faculty committee.

German Assistantships Offered Graduate Students - Teachers

Opportunities to teach English in the secondary schools of Germany are open to American graduate students or teachers under the Educational Exchange program conducted by the Department of State.

Under this program American students will serve as assistants to teachers of English and will be assigned to posts in German cities. Those chosen will have an opportunity to gain teaching experience and at the same time to study or do research in German universities.

Requirements for the assistantship awards are United States citizenship; a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the time the award is taken up; working knowledge of the German language and good health.

Persons selected for positions will not teach regular classes but will conduct conversational exercises and sponsor English clubs and workshops on American history and literature.

Successful candidates for the position will be awarded Fulbright grants, payable in German deutschemarks, which will cover travel, tuition, maintenance, books and incidentals for an academic year.

Awards are for the 1955-56 school year. The closing date for application is November 1, 1954.

Graduate students now enrolled in colleges or universities should consult the Fulbright Program Adviser on campus. Other candidates must apply to the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

SCA Elects New Committee Heads

New committee heads have been appointed by the Student Christian association for the current school year. Jim Schreiber, president, has announced the following committee and personnel.

The social committee will be headed by Marilyn Bartlett and Bill Corpening; finance committee, Don Kinney and Harold Byers; service, Pat Gamble; membership, Joanne Bailey, Ron McMasters; program, Phyllis Warnke, Charles Hill; radio, Gil Bumb; athletics, Byron Brenton, Norma J. Robertson; special events, Don Griffith and Dodie Johnson.

Approximately 140 new members were initiated into SCA this quarter and the present officers are Jim Schreiber, president; Phyllis Warnke, vice-president; Loretta Beldon, secretary; Don Kinney, treasurer and Alice Galloway, district representative.

SCA meets every Thursday in the college chapel at 10 o'clock.

Nurses' Training Program Starts Second Year at EC

By Ozinia Snaden and Barbara Boger

Through the combined facilities of Baptist Hospital and Evansville College a girl can earn a bachelor of science degree and prepare herself for the registered nurse examination in just four years.

This program was begun in the fall of 1953 and has been approved by the Indiana State Board of Nurses' Registration and Nursing Education.

A student under the Baptist Hospital-Evansville College nursing program spends most of her time during the first year in college. During the last three years the student's time is divided among the college, the hospital, and other community agencies. College and clinical work is intermixed for an integrated program.

Baptist Hospital is one of the oldest in Evansville. Its original training school for nurses was the first to be organized in the city.

Evansville College has been cooperating with local hospitals by teaching science courses for their nursing students the past several years. It welcomed the opportunity involved in the more direct usage of its facilities and staff in the new collegiate nursing program.

All students admitted to this program, as a result, are awarded a scholarship of $500 since they are provided room, board and laundering of uniforms by the hospital during their first year. During the other three years the student earns at least part of these items during her practice periods. For recreation and social life she may participate in college functions during training.

Applications may be sent to the Director, Baptist Hospital-Evansville College, Evansville. A personal interview will then be arranged.

Mexican Scholarships Again Available in '55

Scholarships for study in Mexico during 1955 will again be offered by the Mexican Government.

Open to graduate and undergraduate students with a knowledge of Spanish, the awards are given through the Mexico-United States Commission on Cultural Cooperation. Awards are for the academic year beginning March 1, 1955. Closing date for applications is November 1, 1955.

Requirements for the Mexican government awards are U.S. citizenship, knowledge of Spanish, a good academic record, a valid project or purpose and good health.

The five undergraduate and eleven graduate scholarships are expected to cover tuition and full maintenance. Applicants should have other funds for incidental expenses and travel costs.

Applicants may write for information to the Institute of International Education which is administering the awards for study in Mexico.

Evansville College Graduate Co-authors Medical Book

Dr. Chester P. Lynxwiler, an Evansville College graduate who is an assistant professor of pediatrics, St. Louis University School of Medicine, is co-author of a book on congenital heart disease scheduled for publication this fall.

The book, "Clinical-Pathological Correlation of Congenital Heart Disease," has been accepted for publication by Williams and Wilkins, Baltimore. There are approximately 200 photographs, drawings, and charts in the book. It is designed to serve as a textbook for medical students and as a reference for pediatricians and general practitioners of medicine.

Walker, McCoy to Attend State Placement Meeting In Capital, October 20

Next Wednesday, October 20, Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, and Mr. G. R. McCoy, will go to Indianapolis to attend a meeting of the Indiana Institutional Teacher Placement association. The conference will include all schools in the state which prepare students for the teaching profession.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss what high schools can do to work with colleges to interest people in teaching as a vocation. School personnel will also talk with administrators about openings for the next academic year.

Dr. Walker, a member of the program committee, is also on a nominating committee to select candidates for next year's officers of the association.

"By attending this meeting we hope to make our placement bureau more effective for potential and former teacher graduates," Dr. Walker stated.

"Halls of Ivy" On T V.

"You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." So reads the cornerstone of knowledge that leads to Ivy College. The radio show "The Halls of Ivy" will now appear on a weekly television program beginning October 19.

Ronald Colman, Academy award winner and star of the show will continue to play the role as Ivy's president, Dr. William Todhunter Hall. Mrs. Ronald Colman will be co-star with her husband, playing his wife in the show. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. on station WEHT.

October 20 Last Day For Senior Pictures

Wednesday, October 20, will be the last day for all seniors to have their pictures taken for the 1954 yearbook. Schear's studios have been taking the pictures at no cost to the student for the sitting. Jim Schreiber, LinC editor, has urged that all seniors who have not yet had their pictures taken to please do so immediately.

Student Federation Date Reset for October 25

The Student-Federation association meeting originally scheduled for last Monday has been reset for October 25. The change was necessitated by the Homecoming victory celebration.

Doubtless, you've guessed that the Droodle at the right is: Careless two-gun cowboy enjoying better-tasting Lucky while waiting in ambush. Lots of other two-gun cowboys—and many millions of no-gun folks—agree that Luckies taste better. Students, for example, prefer Luckies to all other brands, according to the latest, biggest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason is that Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike is the cigarette of fine tobacco . . . and "It's Toasted" to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Where's Evansville College? How many times have you heard that question? At long last the student body is beginning to tell the people of Evansville and surrounding communities where we are from and that we are proud of it. The demonstration by the student body was the first step in the right direction in spite of the opposing feelings of some of the faculty members. If the spirit can come up to the level of the team's performance, no one would have to ask where we are from.

Cardinals Lose Four

This week the Aces go against a team that has lost four games in a row this season. The Louisville Cardinals have been beaten by Murray, Wayne of Detroit, Florida State and Dayton of Ohio, which are all top rate colleges in the secondary ranks. Undoubtedly the Cardinals will be out to put a mark on the credit side of the ledger with a win over the Aces. But Coach Beck's charges have shown no signs of a letdown so Aces High picks the hometowners in one of their hardest games so far.

Possible Little All-American

With everyone on the Ace squad playing good football, it is sometimes hard to single out which players are outstanding. With only half of the season over, however, it seems obvious that the ICC All-Conference team will contain a good number of Evansville players, and among them Aces High predicts that Captain Bob Scott will receive Little All-American honors. Scott has shown great ability and excellent leadership on and off the field, and he obviously has one of the best yards-per-carry averages in the United States. If everything proceeds throughout the remainder of the season as it has thus far, Evansville should add its second All-American to its Hall of Fame.

Cut Out The Rough Stuff

Last Friday afternoon four sororities met in one of the most emotion-packed games ever played on the campus. The game ended with one girl in the hospital and part of the others in mild states of hysteria and tears. Many bad feelings also resulted between the sororities due to the game. This game was set up by the Crescent as a humorous prelude to Homecoming activities six years ago, but since then more and more emphasis has ben placed on winning the annual affair. Naturally everyone likes to win and hates to lose; that is human nature, but if the sororities insist on making a "blood and guts" battle of the game, they are making a farce of the original purpose, and it should be dropped before someone else is seriously injured.

Aces in Intersectional Tilt

Pictured above is Bill Parish, the 1954 Revlon Bowl King. King Bill was crowned at the halftime of the annual bowl tilt by Marilyn Randolph. Bill's speed that he showed in the Aces' games so far this year did him no good as he tried to make his exit from the field. He was kissed by all members of both Revlon Bowl teams.

Tackle Cards In Louisville

By Jak Williams

The Evansville College gridders will try for three wins in a row when they travel to Louisville to play the Cardinals tomorrow night. Three wins in a row is a term that has been obsolete in reference to an E.C. football team since the Gene Logel-Bill Russler era.

Coach Frank Camp's Cardinals are looking for their first win of the season. They have lost to Murray, Wayne university of Detroit, Florida State and Dayton. Their most impressive game so far this season was against Wayne. Louisville held the highly touted Tigers to a two touchdown victory.

Aces' Record 3-1

The Aces' record now stands at three wins and a single loss. Valparaiso was the latest foe to fall before the well balanced Aces' attack. "A team victory" was the way the coaching staff described the Valparaiso win. The Aces' passing and ground attacks worked with precision. Defensively the bone crushing line stopped the Crusaders' ground attack cold but the Aces' porous pass defense left much to be desired .

Aces Move Up in ICC

Ball State gave the Aces an assist in the ICC race by downing the Butler Bulldogs last Saturday. The Purple and White can now at least share the ICC crown by beating their two remaining conference foes. After the Louisville game Evansville will play St. Joseph and on November 6 they will face the current ICC leaders, Ball State. At the present time there are five teams that have a mathematical chance to cop the title. In ICC games this week Ball State meets Indiana State, Butler tangles with St. Joseph and DePauw plays Valparaiso.

ICC STANDINGS

Ball State	2	0
Evansville	3	1
St. Joseph	2	1
Valparaiso	2	1

Indiana State	0	3

Sport Staff Views National Football

The sports staff of the Crescent got off to a good start in its predictions of football games by picking 17 wins and a tie out of 20 games. Here are our predictions of this week's games.

In the ICC. Evansville will make it three in a row with a win over non-conference foe Louisville. Ball State will stay undefeated against Indiana State. Butler will bounce back against St. Joseph. Valparaiso will beat DePauw. Other games in the Midwest will see Minnesota beat Illinois. Indiana to stop Missouri. Ohio State over Iowa in a game that could decide the Big Ten. Top-ranked Oklahoma over Kansas. Michigan over Northwestern. Notre Dame will continue to roll against Michigan State. Wisconsin will top Purdue.

In the East Syracuse will take Boston. Princeton will stop Brown. Colgate will beat Dartmouth, that is if Dartmouth has enough players to play after last week's trouncing by Army. Yale will beat their Ivy League foe, Cornell. Navy will stop Pittsburgh.

In the South Alabama will bounce back against Tennessee. Georgia Tech will stomp Auburn. Duke will stay undefeated against Army. Florida will hand Kentucky their third loss of the season. Georgia will beat Vanderbilt. Western Kentucky will stop Northwestern Louisiana.

Student, Faculty Start Fall Bowling League

Bowling competition started yesterday at Franklin Lanes. This is the second year for this student-faculty league.

The individual cost for bowling will be $1.25, the same as last year. A portion of this sum will be used for a banquet and individual awards.

Sara Rupp, chairman of the bowling committee, said that anyone interested in bowling in this league should contact her.

Coed Grid Tilt Decided by Safety In First Half

By Al Dunning

The AOPi-Phi Mus, with their hard-charging, makeup-smearing line throwing a terrific monkey wrench into the highly touted ChiO-Beta Sig ground attack, avenged last year's 12-0 setback last Friday by spanking the ChiO-Beta Sigs 2-0 in the sixth renewal of the annual Revlon Rose Bowl classic.

Late in the first period, an AOPi-Phi Mu march sputted out on the ChiO-Beta Sig five yard line, but on first play of the second quarter, Harolyn Brown crashed through the ChiO-Beta Sig line to tag Sara Rupp in the defending champs' end zone for a safety and the only score of the game.

The winners were denied a touchdown in the third period, when Phyllis Bunge, whose explosive running featured the AOPi-Phi Mu attack, shook loose for an 80-yard run only to have the TD nullified when the officials claimed she had been tagged on her own 20-yard line.

Bill Parish, regular halfback for Coach Paul Beck's Aces, was crowned king of the Revlon Bowl in a rather impressive halftime ceremony. Parish was escorted onto the field by Marilyn Randolph, and, seconds later, the speedy ex-Central star was soundly kissed by all members of the Revlon Bowl teams .

One casualty was recorded during the heated battle, with Shirley Orth, captain of the ChiO-Beta Sig eleven, hospitalized with a possible brain concussion. She was improving in Deaconess hospital Monday.

The victory was the third for the AOPi-Phi Mus, who now hold a 3-2 edge in games won. The 1952 fray resulted in a scoreless deadlock. The game is an annual highlight of EC's Homecoming festivities.

Intra - Mural Sports Off to Slow Start

Play got under way last Monday in the intra-mural football league. Interest in this intra-mural program is not has high as had been hoped and if the interest does not increase there is a possibility that the program will be dropped, said Jerry Neiswanger. One team has already dropped out of the league and now there are only six teams participating.

In the only official game played so far this season the Philos defeated SCA 19-12. All the other games have been decided by the forfeit route.

One mishap has marred the intra-mural play. Randy Wilkinson, lineman for the Phi Zeta team, suffered a broken arm in one of the team's practice games.

Speakers Chosen For Vesper Series

Speakers for the Vesper Series at Evansville College for the 1954-55 season have been announced. The first speaker will appear on October 31 with subsequent speakers to appear on November 14, January 16, February 13, March 27 and April 24.

Conducting the series this year is a group of men from different fields of work, but all have one characteristic in common. Each, in his own way, is an outstanding leader in Christian education. Included are an editor, two professors, a college president, a concert artist and a church administrator.

The editor of the Christian Advocate, Dr. T. Otto Nall, will be the first speaker. The others in order of appearance are Dr. Carroll Wise, Dr. Halford E. Luccock, Dr. Charles S. Johnson, Mr. Hobart Hitchell and Dr. Harry O. Kisner.

Vesper services are held in the Great Hall of the Union building at 4 p.m. on the Sunday afternoons listed above. The Evansville College Vesper Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Shepard, will sing at each of the six services. Following each service, those attending will have the opportunity to meet the speaker informally at a reception held in the Union lounge.

String Quartet Will Appear Monday Night

The Alabama String Quartet will make its second appearance on the Evansville College campus on Monday, October 18 at 8:15 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Union building. The quartet first appeared on the Fine Arts Series presented here last season.

The Quartet, organized on the campus of the University of Alabama in 1944, consists of four faculty members. They are: Ottokar Cadek, first violin; Jerrie Cadek, second violin; Margaret Christy, violincello, and Henry Barrett, viola.

Included in Monday evening's concert will be "Pavanne and Chaconne" by Purcell; "Quartet in C Major, Opus 76, No. 3" by Haydn; "Quartet Opus 11" by Barber and 'Quartet in C Minor, Opus 10" by Debussy.

The Quartet will hold a String Workshop for interested college and high school students from 3:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. in the Great Hall Tuesday. The music department can be contacted for further information.

Both the workshop and the concert Monday evening are free and open to the public. A reception will be held in the Union lounge following the evening performance.

Program of Study in Churchmanship Will be Offered To EC Students

Evansville College students will have the opportunity to study churchmanship along with their other work. A program of study, designed to equip the layman to assume leadership in his home church, has been approved by the faculty.

This new plan of study involves the successful completion of six of the following seven courses: Old and New Testament (Bible 201 and Bible 202); Understanding Christianity (Bible 152); Church Music and Worship (to be organized by the Music department); General Psychology (Psychology 121); Educational Psychology (Psychology 252); Religions Education (Religious Education 222); and Community Organization (Sociology 272).

After the student receives the necessary credits in the above courses, he will be permittd to take a field work or laboratory course to improve his efficiency. These may include the Christian Vocations Conference, Worshops held under the auspices of the Evansville Council of Churches, Weekday or Vacation Church School, Leadership Training Institutes, Summer Camp Conferences, and active participation in the lay program of the local church. This field work will be done under the supervision of a faculty member of the department of philosophy and religion, who will be responsible for the evaluation.

Upon the satisfactory completion of the program, the student will receive a Certificate of Churchmanship at the Commencement exercises when he is graduated.

'Fire Magic' To Be Convo Presentation

When Dr. Llewellyn Heard says, "Watch my smoke!" he really means it. Dr. Heard, who is a research chemist for Standard Oil, will present a demonstration, called "Fire Magic," in the auditorium at 10 a.m. next Tuesday.

Master of Spectaculars

The scientist will give a brief history of the development of fire as he performs his feats of wizardry through chemistry. The exhibition, which includes smoke, fire and minor explosions, is done in such detail that it takes an hour to set up the equipment for it.

Dr. Heard has traveled throughout the country performing his experiments to illustrate the processes that take place in industry through science. He has done exhaustive research in combustion.

Back by Popular Demand

Two years ago, Dr. Heard performed his experiments at Evansville College, at the high schools and before local clubs. He was reeently on television in Chicago and has a repeat performance coming up. His return demonstrations are scheduled because of popular demand.

A graduate of Johns Hopkins university and a former professor at the University of Georgia, Dr. Heard has acquired the faculty for adapting himself to his audience. He puts on a slightly different show for different types of viewers. Aceording to press reviews of his exhibition, Dr. Heard has all the qualities of a professional showman. He captivates and holds his audience with his skillful demonstration of the magic of fire.

Dad's Day Set November 13

Plans have been announced for the annual Dad's Day celebration. The day will be Saturday,November 13, which is the date of the Western Kentucky game.

The schedule calls for all of the dads to plan to attend the game which starts at 1:30 p.m. The Dad of the Year award will be made during halftime ceremonies. Following the game a cabaret dinner is planned with all the trimmings. There will be cigarette girls in the traditional costume, mustachioed waiters from the ranks of the faculty and the awarding of other various awards.

The dinner will be held this year in the cafeteria, rather than the Great Hall, due to a schedule conflict. It will begin at 5:30 p.m. and finish in time for everyone to walk over to the auditorium to view the Evansville College Theater's production of "Harvey." More information will be forthcoming in following issues of The Crescent.

WP-WF DATE SET

Instructors will issue W/P and W/F grades to students who drop a course after October 30. W/P (withdrew, passing) grades are not counted on a final average, but W/F (withdrew failing) grades are.

Since dropping a course involves time and red tape, students who plan to withdraw from a class should take care of the matter as early as possible. He should not wait until the last day to drop.

Long Is Chosen President By His Senior Classmates

In the class elections held last Friday, October 15, in the Union building, Wendell Long, Phi Zeta, was eleeted senior class president by his classmates. In the junior top spot will be Sam Hancock, Philo, and the sophomore prexy will be Doug Barthlow, Philo. Frosh class officers who were elected at an earlier date are James Barney, Jr., president; Wilma Kamman, vice-president; Nancy Altheide, treasurer; and Harold Cox, secretary.

Hawkins Veep

Bob Hawkins, Phi Zeta, was elected vice-president of the seniors, Myra Kasey, Chi Omega, received the secretarial post; and Nancy Jo Land, Beta Sigma Omicron, copped the treasurer's position. The junior class race ended with Jack Miller, Philo, in the vice-presideney; Sally Reece, Chi Omega, secretary; and Joan Bosse, Alpha Omicron Pi, treasurer.

Other sophomore officers are Bill Mattingly, Philo, vice-president; Anita Aders, Chi Omega, secretary; and Joanne Bailey, Beta Sigma Omicron, treasurer.

Long Frat Prexy

Mr. Long, a management major, is president of his fraternity and also of the Arnold Air Society. He is also a major in the ROTC. Junior class president Sam Hancock is secretary of his fraternity and an accounting major. He plays halfback for Boom-Boom and the Purple Aces. Leading should be no new experience for sophomore prexy, Doug Barthlow, history major. He has been a cheerleader for the past two years. James Barney, Jr., freshman president, hails from Memorial high school.

Late News Breaks

The Gamma Delta party planned by the Phi Mu sorority will be held this Thursday, October 28, at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's E. & R. Church. The theme for the party will be patterned on Halloween. Transportation to and from the party will be provided by sorority members.

A party has been planned for tonight by Coaehes Bill Baumeyer and Willie Angermeier in honor of the winning Phi Mu-AOPi Revlon Bowl football team. This party will be at the home of Phyllis Bunge and planned entertainment will include the showing of the Homecoming movies.

Two Phi Mu pledges will be initiated into the sorority Sunday, Oetober 24, at 2:30 p.m. They are Sandra Egli and Jane Pattie. The sorority sisters have planned a dinner at the home of Elizabeth Inkenbrandt for the new members after the initiation.

LATE NEWS FLASH — It has been announced that M. L. Goldwire, from Washington, Georgia, has aecepted the position as director of public relations here at Evansville College. Mr. Goldwire will assume his new duties next Monday. More and complete details will appear at a later date.

DAVID SPEAKS AT CONVENTION

Yesterday afternoon Dr. Wade David of Evansville College spoke before the Indiana State Teachers Association at its annual meeting at Central High School in Evansville. The tpoic of his speech was "These Exeiting Days."

Instructor Returns

Mrs. Jane Olmsted, English instructor, has returned to her teaching duties after a recent illness.

Mrs. Olmsted has been ill since October 5 when she suffered an acute attack of asthma. She was in the hospital from October 5 to the 13. She has been at home since then convalescing.

New IFC Officers List Eger Prexy

Officers for the coming year have been elected by the Inter-Fraternity Council. Serving as president will be John Eger, Philo. Dave Luckett, Acacia, will handle the secretarial duties.

This group is the governing body for the social fraternities on the campus. They also plan and sell tickets to the annual Men's Roundup.

Each fraternity sends two delegates to the meeting and together with Dr. James Morlock, dean of men, form the governing body of the organization.

Four From College Attend IU Meeting

Two faculty members and two students attended the Alpha Chi Sigma meeting held at Indiana University last Monday, October 18.

The professional chemical fraternity held a rush smoker and Jack Miller and Royce Gipson went to the meeting as prospective members. The Epsilon chapter of ASC, located at I.U., has an affiliation with Evansville College in which chemistry students here may apply for membership in the fraternity, as did Mr. Miller and Mr. Gipson.

Union Plans Sock Hop For Tonight

By Carroll Rickard

In keeping with Dior's de-emphasized bust line the Union dance committee has de-emphasized its Sweater Hops and will open the Friday night dance series with a Sock Hop. This stag and drag hop will take place tonight, Friday, October 22, in the Patio from 9 to 12. Masterminding this real crazy jitterbug jamboree are Carolyn Lockwood, chairman of the Union dance committee, and Dell Patterson, chairman of the Sock Hop.

Dance With Danny

Danny Stiles and his combo, featuring Roger Pemberton, will furnish the music and prizes will be given for the loudest and most unusual socks. So if your maid forgot to darn your hose don't worry. Protrude that first digit far enough and Tom Lukens, the quick-quipping intermission M.C., might award you the booby prize.

Participants in this gala occasion will leave their shoes at the check room and promenade around the Patio in their sexiest argyles. This can be practical as well as enjoyable. How often have you gals been floating dreamily across a ball room floor when laughing boy suddenly missed a beat and a size 12 brogan bounced off your instep? A pair of nylons were shot to — oops, pardon me, and your tempers to boot which is probably what you gave laughing boy. Your problems are solved. Tonight you can play footsies with your favorite football player and not have to worry about busted tibiae and fibulae. Besides the argyles will save having to clean the Patio floor the following morning.

Different Themes Chosen

Devoting their time and talents toward rendering these hops a real gone success are the following chairmen and their committees: Decorations — Marilyn Tate; Publicity — Phyllis Campbell; Chaperones — Mary Lou Heilman, and Tickets — Sally Reece.

This year, beginning with tonight's Sock Hop, each dance will have a different theme. The logic behind this being that after a time Sweater Hops might become out-moded or monotonous. Why not? Look at Dior and France.

Rushees Will Sign Bids In Rush Assembly Today

An assembly will be held this morning for the forty-three men eligible to pledge a social fraternity. The registration list which the men signed last week was checked by the dean's office for eligibility. After all corrections had been made a copy of the list was handed to each of the fraternities, who then decided which of the men they wished to pledge.

Each bid was then placed in an envelope for presentation to the prospective rushee. Upon receipt of the sealed envelope the person then took the bid of the fraternity to which he wished to affiliate, signed it and returned it to Dr. James Morlock, dean of men. He then became a full-fledged pledge.

Parties for the prospective members were held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The Philos led off the party parade with a rush dinner at the K.C. hall and a smoker which followed at the Mayfair Club. Rushees were then given a party on Tuesday, by the Phi Zeta fraternity at the fraternity home with late evening entertainment at the Westhaven Gun Club. Acacia prospects met at the fraternity house at 7 o'clock and from there went to the home of Mr. Ed Ortmeyer for the remainder of the entertainment last Wednesday night.

Actives from each of the fraternities will be seen eagerly awaiting pledges at the side doors of the auditorium. They will welcome the men and pin their fraternity ribbon on each of the pledges they receive. The men will then move around the campus for the traditional fellowship circles and fraternity songs. Hell week plans for each of the fraternities will be announced at a later date.

Class Cutting

The practice of cutting classes has become so widespread that it is almost impossible to find perfect attendance in any class for even one day. This is a situation which must be remedied for YOUR own good.

Some of you might take the attitude that since you are paying for your education you have the right to cut class now and then. But that's just the point. Since you are paying for it, you ought to want to get the most for your money. Why throw it away? Because that is exactly what you are doing every time you miss a class.

Any instructor will let a few absences go by without too much notice. But when the situation gets bad, the instructor usually resorts to the only course left open, lowering the student's grade. Instructors usually permit one cut for teach hour of credit. That should be enough for anyone.

Another thing, every student on campus is here, presumably, to acquire an education. Maybe that's taking something for granted, but it is the general assumption. How can you learn anything if you attend class only occasionally?

Again, if learning comes hard, something in the way of knowledge might rub off on you if you attend class regularly. Also, you give the instructor the idea that you're trying, that is if he sees you in class every day.

It's a general assumption that underclassmen are more guilty of class cutting than others. That, of course, isn't true. Quite a number of upperclassmen are also guilty. For them, there is absolutely no excuse; they ought to know better.

The high school to college transition is difficult. In fact it is so difficult that many students can't quite make it. On campus the student is his own boss. This sometimes goes to his head, and cutting classes is one way of expressing his "independence."

The "devil may care" attitude is fine for novels and movies, but it doesn't go in college. A sincere effort is the thing that counts. So if you're one who consistently cuts classes, don't feel sorry for yourself when you receive your grades. Just make a resolution not to cut class, at least not so often.

"Bird Dog" Wilson

Secretary of Defense Wilson really "put his foot in it" when he delivered his now-famous "'bird and kennel dog" speech. Mr. Wilson is a Republican. Naturally many Democrats jumped at the thought of dealing their political adversaries a blow when Mr. Wilson made such "inept remarks," as he himself called them; hence all the publicity.

Mr. Wilson said those remarks were lifted from his speech out of context, and, therefore, they sounded a lot worse than they really were. Whether or not Mr. Wilson meant what he said, his words are extremely biting to those in Evansville who are out of work, offending many since our town is one of the hardest hit by lack of employment.

Some members of Congress immediately called for Mr. Wilson's resignation. Quite a few of these were Republicans. Party alignment is usually pretty strong around election time so when something a person in Mr. Wilson's position says offends members of his own party, it must be pretty bad.

Mr. Wilson has probably lost more votes for his party by a few "inept remarks" than he will ever know.

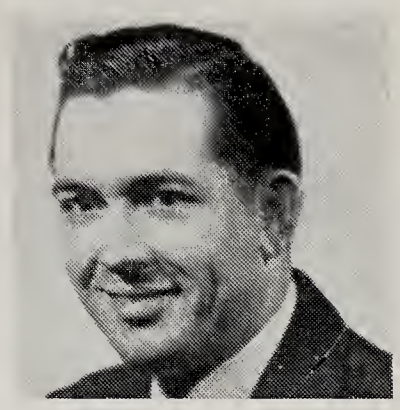
Iowa Native Joins History Staff at EC

Members of the history department teaching staff have a new colleague this fall. He is Professor Edward B. Richards.



Mr. Richards

Mr. Richards was born in Fort Madison, Iowa. Except for a sojourn in the Army, he has spent his entire life in the Hawkeye state. In 1948 he received a B.A. from Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls. After college he taught high school for three years.

Last year Mr. Richards acquired an M.A. from the University of Iowa. Right now, he is working on a Ph.D.

During World War II, Mr Richards made the grand tour of Europe that was so fashionable at the time. Serving in the Army as a combat messenger, he saw action in Britain, France, Belgium, Germany and Luxemberg.

The new history professor has had experience in many kinds of jobs. Before the war he drove a taxi, worked for the Santa Fe Railroad and was a salesman. In 1945 he went back to school to prepare himself for the teaching profession.

Mr. Richards is married and has a daughter, Becky, who is four.

His hobbies are chess, books, music and swimming. He likes sports, but prefers to be a spectator rather than a participant.

At Evansville College, Mr. Richards teaches courses in history and political science.

Arnold Air Society Fete Future Members

Fourteen prospective members attended a party held at Kokies on October 13. The party was sponsored by the Donald H. Wright Squadron, the local unit of the Arnold Air Society.

The Arnold Air Society, founded in 1947, received its name from General H. H. "Hap" Arnold, a distinguished World War I pilot and Chief of the Air Corps in World War II.

During the past seven years since its founding, the society has expanded to include 149 squadrons and is one of the nation's fastest growing collegiate organizations.

The Donald H. Wright Squadron was started at Evansville College in April 1952 with 13 charter members. Its best known campus activity has been the annual sponsorship of the Military Ball.

Membership of the society is restricted to advanced students in AFROTC.

Dad's Day for 1954 has been tentatively planned for November 13, the day of the Western Kentucky game. John Conaway will head the joint student-faculty planning committee with Mrs. Walter Kuenzli as faculty chairman. Other students who will serve on the committee are Rosemary Mohr, Kenny Davis, Margie Hassee, Wilma Kamman and Liz Romaine. The other faculty members are Mr. Ralph Coleman, Mr. Richard Robinson, Miss Florence Keve, and Miss Louise Moberly.

Since the Great Hall will be taken up with a high school prom that night, the banquet will be held in the cafeteria and will be over in time for all those attending to see the play, "Harvey." In the past years Dad's Day has been a big success, and I know it will continue to be one this year.

Student-Faculty Meeting

The meeting of the Student Faculty Federation Committee, which was planned for the Monday after Homecoming, has been rescheduled for Monday, October 25. The meeting was postponed because of the victory assembly and the resulting small celebration. The idea behind the meeting is to give the committee members an idea of their responsibilities and duties and to get ready for the dinner meeting which will follow in the first part of November. In the first part of the program, all of the committees will meet together in a mass meeting and then for the second part, they will break up into separate committee meetings.

Religious Emphasis Week To Begin November 14

Annual Religious Emphasas Week will be observed by Evansville College students from Sunday, November 14, through Wednesday, November 17, announced Gilbert Bumb, student committee chairman.

Opening the Religious Emphasis period on campus will be a Vespers service at 4 p.m. on November 14. At this meeting Dr. Carroll Wise will be guest speaker. Dr. Wise, who is a professor at the Garrett Biblical institution in Evanston, Illinois, is a specialist in religious counseling This service will be open to the public.

Continuing through Wednesday, November 17, group meetings, class discussions, and individual conferences will be held. Dr. Wise will remain at the college to participate in these various activities.

The different meetings will begin at 10 a.m. and continue throughout the day. Meetings will be held in the Student Union Building and in the Chapel. Among these meetings which will cover many phases of religious life on and off the college campus will be discussions and lectures on personal religious life, the Christian's attitude toward peace and war, and marriage counseling.

The public in invited to the Vespers service to be held in the chapel and they may also participate in the campus activities headed by Dr. Culver and Dr. Wise.

Student Faculty Groups Named

Committees of the Student-Faculty Federation have been released with nine members named on each committee.

The athletic committee is headed by Jerry Neiswanger. Prof. V. C. Bailey assists Jerry. Others are Frank Healy, John Happell, Shirley Orth, John Conaway, Joe Paulin, Major Evan Bruner and Miss Doris Kirk.

Handling the fine arts committee is Marilyn Bartlett with Prof. Wahnita DeLong as vice-chairman. Others are: Bob Porro, Connie Miller, Carol Schoolfield, Don Griffith, Shirley Dauble, Prof. Harris Erickson and Norman Heim, music instructor.

Jim Scheiber heads the publications committee. Prof. Daniel Boughner is vice-chairman. Doug Barthlow, Ken Curtin, Ron Alley, Karen Spong, Prof. Freda Martin and Prof. Gordon Stien complete the list.

Religious life committee chairman is David Lawson. Helping are Bob Kettlehut, Rosemary Mohr, Gil Bumb, Charles Hill, Joan Hamel, Professors Mearl P. Culver, vice-chairman, C. W. Robertson, and Agnes Tompkins.

Joan Bosse heads the social life committee. She's assisted by Lois Ryon, Jack Miller, Archie Griggs, Reba Hardison, Paul Bingham, Professors Lueille Jones, vice-chairman, Wesley Shepard and Corian Stambaugh.

Welfare chairman is Dorothy Baggett and Prof. D. W. Dunbar is vice-chairman. Other members are Dana Jo Erhardt, Julia Gentry, Charlie Chapman, Faye Forster, Carol Kerr, Prof. Orville Jaebker, and Prof. Arad McCutchan .

Phi Mu's Entertain Mothers at Dinner

At Tuesday's dinner the district president, Miss Alma Southard, and the alumni council, Mrs. June Becker, Mrs. Betty Crook, Miss Martha Wessner, Miss Virginia Weigel, and Mrs. Dorothy Hess, were guests of honor.

Gail Still, toast-mistress and chairman of the dinner, introduced the guest speaker, Reba Hardison, who told of her experiences at Phi Mu National Convention this summer at Pasadena, California.

The sorority plans to have dinner meetings once a month for their mothers and to have guest speakers with information which will be helpful to the sorority.

Phi Mu sorority members gave a formal dinner for their mothers Tuesday evening in the cafeteria of the Union Building. The dinner was given so that parents of the sorority members could know each other as well as the members know each other. To further this idea, the group has planned a club for the mothers, and they will have get-togethers once a month when the sorority has one of its meetings.

Events Listed By Panhellanic

Several activities were planned at the last meeting of Panhellenic.

Chi Omega sorority announced that it would have two parties for Gamma Delta rather than one. These affairs will take place on October 25 and 26.

On November 25, a round table discussion, open to members and representatives from alumni groups, will be held at an evening meeting. A plan for rush will be the topic of the evening.

Panhellenic Council is made up of two members from each of the four national women's fraternities on campus. It is their privilege to regulate winter and spring rush, the size of fraternity chapters on campus and other matters of interest to sororities.

Since it is the aim of Panhellenic to make fraternity life a constructive thing, the council will strive to prepare a rush which will be in the best interests of the college. Later in the season rush booklets will be passed out to the pledges.

At the last meeting, Myra Kasey was named chairman of a committee to order a banner for Panhellenic. Lois Ryon was placed in charge of planning a pledge dance.

Officers of Panhellenic are Reba Hardison, Phi Mu, president; Marilyn Bartlett, Beta Sigma Omicron, treasurer; and Carolyn Ruschmeier, AOPi, secretary.

Student Union Hall Costly; But Students' Fee Help

There has been some controversy on the campus this year about the Union fees which are paid in the tuition fund. To clear up this subject the student must look into the matter more carefully.

Besides paying for his food alone, the student must realize that there are other expenses to be taken care of. The cook who prepares the food, the people who serve it, and the many others who take part in this operation must be paid.

The Student Union funds for the 1952-53 school year totaled $13,663.07. But the cost for the three custodians' and matrons' salaries, custodial supplies (soap, wax, mops, paper towels, toilet tissues, light bulbs, etc.), and insurance totaled $13,686.21. This means that the Student Union funds did not cover $23.14 of the total union expenses.

Added expenses for maintenance, repairs, equipment, staff and check room salaries, depreciation, social programs, office supplies, and miscellaneous repairs are not covered by the student fees.

Gamma Delta Party Given by AOPi's

The APOi's entertained Gamma Deltas at a party in the Union Monday evening. Invited to the party were freshman girls, members of the Gamma Delta sorority.

Invitations in the shape of a tepee set the theme. Decorations consisted of Indian tomahawks, tom-toms and head-dresses; corn shocks and pumpkins completed the work.

Getting acquainted is the idea for these parties; so to entertain their guests mixer games were played and a skit was put on by the AOPi members.

Following the skit, refreshments were served.

Committee chairmen for the party were Mary Lou Born, general chairman; Lois Ryon, decorations; Joan Hamel, entertainment, and Harolyn Brown, refreshments.

Union Committees Boast Increase

An increase has been shown in the number of students who have signed up for the Union Committee this year. Last year only 72 students were on the committees, but this year 123 have signed up for work according to Miss Doris Kirk, Student Union Director.

The purpose of the committees is to strive for further progress in the Union building activities.

Views

Guest columnist this week is Dr. W. D. David, head of the history department.

If I may hazard an opinion as to what constitutes an ideal service of worship, I should point out four elements which, to me, tend to create an atmosphere conducive to worship:

1. The element of beauty — as in good music and appropriate pageantry.
2. An attitude of reverence — compounded of dignity and humility in the presence of deity.
3. A certain degree of participation by the worshipper also with dignity, restraint, and reverence.
4. Instruction — exposition of and meditation on the eternal verities and the abiding human values that abound in the Book of Books.

I believe all of this has its mighty appeal to the young as well as to the old, to the heart as well as to the intellect.

And I believe that all of these elements were present, in varying degrees, in the Vesper Services on our campus during the past years. Let us hope that more of our college community (students and faculty) will avail themselves of the opportunities this year.

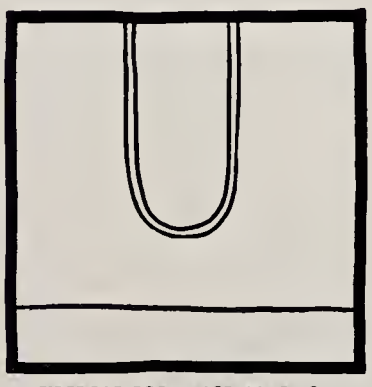
Got a Lucky Droodle in your noodle?

SEND IT IN AND MAKE $25



FIREPOLE FOR FALSE ALARMS

MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMAN IN TURKEY ACCOMPANIED BY VERY UGLY FRIEND

Want to pick up $25? Make up a Lucky Droodle and send it in. It's easy.

If you want to find out just how easy it is, ask Roger Price, creator of Droodles. "Very!" Price says. Better yet, do a Droodle yourself, like the ones shown here.

Droodle anything you like. And send in as many as you want. If we select yours, we'll pay $25 for the right to use it, together with your name, in our advertising. We're going to print plenty—and lots that we don't print will earn $25 awards.

Draw your Droodles any size, on any piece of paper, and send them with your descriptive titles to Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y. Be sure your name, address, college and class are included.

While you're droodling, light up a Lucky —the cigarette that tastes better because it's made of fine tobacco . . . and "It's Toasted" to taste better.

Aces Invade St. Joe; Seeking Fourth Victory

By Larry Sanders

Continuing their rambling ways, Evansville's Aces will be on the road again tomorrow when they invade Collegeville to battle the St. Joseph Pumas in an important ICC contest.

Coach Paul Beck's charges, who are currently deadlocked for the top position in the conference, must win the game to stay in the thick of the race for the championship. Evansville will be the favorite in the game and will be striving to make a comeback after last week's fight when they lost to the Louisville Cardinals after starting the game as a three touchdown choice to win.

Cards Hand Aces Second Loss, 26-6

Louisville ruined Evansville's debut to "big time" college football as the Cardinals downed the Aces, 26-6, at Louisville last Saturday. This win continues the Cardinals' mastery over the Aces; Louisville has won 10 of the 11 meetings of the two schools.

Louisville lost no time in starting to fashion its first win in two years. The Cardinals' defense stopped the Aces on the Louisville 31 yard line the first time Evansville tried to move. On the first offensive play for the Falls City men, Bill Layne sprinted 69 yards for a Louisville touchdown. Layne's TD was the only score of the first half. George Cain started the Cards moving in the second half when he broke loose on a 47 yard run and left the heretofore hapless Louisville fans elated.

Bob Scott gave the Aces their only score of the game when he blocked a Louisville punt on the Cardinals' 40 yard line. Bob scooped up the ball on the 30 and rambled unmolested into the end zone. Scott now leads all centers in scoring for a 11 seeondary colleges throughout the nation. Besides his TD in the Louisville game Bob has scored two other touchdowns and added seven extra points for a total of 25 points.

John Unitas passed to Leonard Lyles for 45 yards and the third Louisville touchdown. Bill Layne concluded the Cardinals' scoring when he rambled 85 yards for the fourth score.

Comparing the common opponents of both squads the Aces look very good. St. Joseph has dropped two contests to crews which found the Aces too hard to handle. The Pumas have been very cooperative with the Purple and White in recent years when Evansville College football was at a very low ebb. Last year one of the Aces' three wins was an exhilarating decision over the Pumas at Reitz Bowl. The preceding year saw the Evansville erew drop the Northerners for one of their two victories.

St. Joseph's Coach, Bob Jauron, is in his first year as head mentor. Last year the Pumas failed to win a conference contest and they have three returning regulars from that crew. The northern squad numbers about 38 men with many of them freshmen who will fill the starting roles at Center, tackle and quarterback.

Merle Effing, Puma end, will go against the Aces in the contest tomorrow. Effing is a graduate of Mater Dei high school here in Evansville and held an end berth on the All-City team. John Donnelly, who was chosen the most valuable player on the '52 Puma squad, heads the veterans along with Pete Fenlon. Clayton Klien, fullback, will give the Aces plenty to handle tomorrow with his powerful running.

Volleyball Tournament Scheduled By WAA

The Women's Athletic Association has planned an intramural volleyball tournament for the sororities, independents, nurses and freshman girls. Each is to make up a team from its members for the tournament.

In charge of this is Dolores Martin. Her co-workers are Phyllis Bunge, Phi Mu; Mary Lou Bain, Independents; Bonnie Schlegel, freshmen; Lois Ryon, AOPi; Jane Dreher, nurses; Sara Rupp, Chi Omega. Beta Sigma Omicron was not represented.

Dates Are Announced For Ping Pong Tourney

According to John Slyker, chairman of the games committee of the Union, the annual ping pong tournament will get underway November 1.

The tournament will be divided into three groups; men's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles. The tournament as in the past years will be a single elimination affair. First rounds will consist of best 2 out of 3 games. Quarter-finals and semi-finals will be best 3 of 5, and the finals will be best 4 our of 7.

Winners of last year's tourney were Ralph Willis, men's singles; Jim Zeig and George Dockery, men's doubles, and Patricia Moore and Jack Combs in the mixed doubles.

A list will be posted in the game room for those interested in the tourney to sign. A list of the rules to govern this year's play will also be posted.

Aces to Begin Cage Drills November 1

Coach Arad McCutchan's 1954-55 edition of the Evansville College basketball Aces will officially open practice sessions Monday, Nov. 1, in preparation for the traditional Thanksgiving tussle with Oakland City Nov. 25.

Bolstered by a crop of eight seasoned performers returning from last year's squad, the Aces apparently have the material to go this season. Returnees from the 1953-54 aggregation, which broke even for the season with 12 wins and as many setbacks, include Bob Walker, Bob Wessel, Roscoe Bivin, John Harrawood, Frank Healy, Gene Wilm, John Wessel and Kenny Herrenbruck.

Jim Smallins, who set an all-time scoring record at Lincoln high school, figures to be a main cog in the Aces' gear this year, also. Smallins was hampered by an injury last season, seeing only limited action.

Coach McCutchan will also have an outstanding collection of freshman prospects reporting for the team's opening drills. Two-thirds of the renowned "Clayton Canyon" of Central high school fame will bear the Purple and White this winter, with Jerry and Joe Clayton enrolled in EC.

Jerry, the six foot, six inch scoring wizard, was the big gun for the midtown Bruins last season, pacing Coach Walter Riggs' advisees to the city, SIAC, sectional and regional championships before the high-flying Central crew was eliminated in the semi-finals at Bloomington.

The Aces made their Thanksgiving debut a roaring success last year when they barbecued the Oakland City five 95-58. In a second meeting, the Evansville crew nipped the Acorns 93-85.

Two returning All-Indiana Collegiate Conference performers will add color to this year's deck of Aces. Coach McCutehan was selected "Coach of the Year" in the ICC last season, and Bob Wessel was named to the All-Conference team in his first year of collegiate competition.

All Evansville home games will again be played in the National Guard Armory, and the starting times will be 8:30 p.m.

Champs, Newcomers Take Lead in Bowling League

A team of newcomers and last year's bowling champions jumped into an early lead in the student-faculty bowling league last week. The "Yankees," captained by the league's leading bowler, Tom Marshall, are the newcomers who are challenging the Philos for this year's supremacy.

The league consists of ten teams, and they bowl each Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Franklin Lanes. Each team must have at least two of its members present at the designated starting time or they will have to forfeit their games.

THE STORE

The recession is over, let's beat St. Joe. After being keyed up for four straight conference tilts, the Aces experiencd what can be classified as a normal letdown against a non-conference opponent last week at Louisville and came home limping from a 26-6 loss, only to find themselves in a tie for the conference lead. The Indiana State Sycamores proved a friend in need when they dumped the high-flying Cardinals of Ball State from their number one perch.

Title Shot

By beating St. Joseph and Ball State, Coach Paul Beck's Aces have a good chance to win the conference title outright. At the present time two other teams, Butler and Valparaiso, have identical records with Evansville in conference play. One of these teams will drop out of the race when they play each other October 30. This game will close the ICC season for Butler due to their five game conference schedule. They are not scheduled to play DePauw. Valparaiso must also get by Ball State to gain a tie. Two Evansville wins and a loss by Valparaiso, therefore, would give the Aces the conference title.

Barring further injuries the Aces should defeat St. Joseph as handily as they did last year when they turned in a 26-6 victory at Reitz Bowl. Evansville will be without the services of Corky Thompson, Chuck House and Jim Merkley for the game and a few players will also be listed as doubtful for full time action.

Capable Filler

The injury to Thompson will put a crimp in the starting backfield for Coach Beck, but the gap may well be filled by the younger half of the Thompson family, Richie Thompson. Also scheduled to see action in the halfback position are Sam Hancock and Dick Matthews, who have been converted from fullback.

One of the St. Joseph line stalwarts is Merle Effing, formerly an Evansville high school player, who played football for Mater Dei. Effing is a letterman end and he also kicks extra points for the Pumas.

Sport Staff Views National Football

The "experts," Jak Williams, Al Dunning and Larry Sanders were hard hit by major game upsets and saw their near perfect record drop to the mediocre class. Here are our predictions for this week's games.

In the ICC, Evansville will bounce back against St. Joseph. Valparaiso will beat Ball State. Butler will win over Indiana State.

In the Midwest, Illinois will make it win number one against Syracuse. Minnesota will take Big Ten foe Michigan. Purdue will squeeze past Michigan State. Pittsburg will beat Northwestern. Ohio State will crimp Wisconsin's Big Ten hopes. Iowa will win over Indiana. Top ranked Oklahoma will stomp Kansas State.

In the South, Alabama will continue to roll over Mississippi State. Mississippi will down Arkansas. Auburn will regain their winning ways against Florida State. Duke will bounce back against North Carolina State. Florida will beat L.S.U. Georgia Tech will hand Kentucky their third straight loss. Maryland will roll over Miami.

In the West, Southern California will nip California. Oregon will beat San Jose State. UCLA will move closer toward a Pacific Coast crown with a win over Oregon State. Washington will stop Stanford.

Other games around the country will see Yale win over Colgate, Army over Columbia, Cornell over Princeton, Harvard over Dartmouth, Navy over Penn, Texas over Rice, Rutgers over Lehigh, S.M.U. over Kansas, Brown over Temple and Penn State over T.C.U.

Six Students Attend Eisenhower Speech

By Kay Curtis

Six Evansville College students journeyed to Indianapolis last Friday night to help Ike celebrate his 64th birthday.

The occasion was President Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech on the farm program, which turned into a real political rally — just like you've always seen in the newsreels. Butler Field House was jammed with 16,000 "I Like Ike"-ers when Don Griffith, Eldon Katter, David Ingle, Don Kinney, JoAnn Frohbieter and I arrived breathless at five minutes before speech time.

Ike's Personality Magnetie

The whole evening was one to tell your grandchildren about — the thrill of seeing the man who is probably the top figure in the world today, as well as one of the greatest names in history. It was worth the long trip (in driving rain all the way home) to see the President of the United States come through the curtains and lift his arms in his characteristic pose, while the television and movie cameras ground away. Ike's magnetic personality was strongly felt even across the many rows of cheering, sign-waving people.

Fairly routine, but well-worded, was the speech itself. It enumerated the accomplishments of the 83rd Congress toward a sound farm program. The clap-happy crowd really roared when the President reiterated that this is the first time in twenty years that there has been no active battle anywhere in the world. He went on to speak of the Democrats as "professionally pessimistic but politically hopeful," and said his heart went out to all those who were unemployed.

Reception Followed Rally

Two little 4-H girls got a real thrill when they were privileged to present Mr. Eisenhower with a huge birthday cake, while the crowd sang, "Happy Birthday, Dear Ike."

At a reception for college Young Republican club members following the rally, Don Griffith was introduced to the gathering, along with the presidents of the Purdue, Indiana university, Earlham, Wabash and Butler groups. The two rooms in the Claypool hotel were packed with young people guzzling cokes and talking politics, and the party broke up with the singing of each college's song.

Don has been the main sparkplug in getting a Young Republican club started on campus, and he'll be happy to talk with anyone interested in joining.

Phi Mu Alpha Presents New Radio Show

The Epsilon Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, men's professional and honorary music fraternity at Evansville College, is sponsoring a half hour classical music program on WEVC every Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

The program is entitled "Netherland Composers," with music recorded in Holland by such orchestras as the Amsterdam and the Hague Symphonies. The series will run until mid-December.

On completion of the Netherland series, Phi Mu Alpha will sponsor another program of classical music, "Orchestras of the World," featuring various orchestras from Europe and other parts of the world. The program will start in mid-December and run until April. It will also be on Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m. but will continue until 8:30 p.m.

WEVC has announced that in order to run "Orchestras of the World," the station will stay on the air an extra half hour each Monday during the series. "Night Session," the usual 8 p.m. program on Monday will be delayed to 8:30 p.m. to accommodate the hour program of classical music.

Business Group Elects Officers

BAK, Beta Alpha Kappa, the business students club, elected its new officers Monday, October 18. They are President Bernie Hartman; Vice President Joe Paulin; Treasurer Edward Marting, and Secretary Shirley Ermert. This club is sometimes referred to as the Business Administration Klub.

Membership has grown from 25 last year to 75 this year. The faculty advisors are Professors Lawrence Anderson, Harvey E. Donley and Richard Robinson.

This club was formed with four objectives in mind: (1) To help underclassmen determine their major field of study. (2) To help the student maintain an outside interest in the field of business. (3) To help the student get information on other business areas outside of school. (4) To assist students in getting a position when in need of a job or when graduated from school.

Downtown business men are scheduled as guest speakers for the future meetings. These speakers will have valuable information to help members prepare for the future and to use now, while at school.

Mademoiselle Contest Open To Undergraduate Coed Writers

Attention all college women! The annual Mademoiselle Magazine College Board contest is now open to all women undergraduates in the United States. The only requirement is that all contestants must be available for work in New York for the month of June, 1955.

Winners will do three regular assignments for Mademoiselle with the possibility of having their work published by the magazine. The top twenty will be guest editors at the Mademoiselle offices in New York City for the month of June, 1955, and will work side by side with the staff editors in planning the magazine. They will help write and illustrate the 1955 August college issue.

Contestants are required to write a 1,500-word criticism of the 1954 August issue of the magazine. The Crescent may be contacted for further information. Entries must be in by November 30.

Joan Bugg Brown, who transferred to Evansville College from Indiana university last year, was a college board representative chosen by Mademoiselle in the 1953 contest.

Vol. XXXVI | Evansville, Indiana | Oct. 29, 1954—No. 5

Dr. Otto Nall to Give First Vesper Talk

Dr. T. Otto Nall will be the speaker for the first program in the 1954-55 Vesper series Sunday, October 31, in the Great Hall of the Union building at 4 p.m. His topic will be "Wanted — A Job."

Following the vesper service, a reception will be held in the Union so that speakers and those attending the vespers may meet informally. The Chapel choir will present special music for the vespers.

Editor of Paper

Dr. Nall has been conneeted with Methodist journalism since 1922. He became managing editor of "The Christian Advoeate" when Methodist unification brought about the merger of seven seetional papers into one official weekly. He was made acting editor of "The Advocate" when Dr. Roy Smith was chosen as publishing agent, and became editor in September, 1948.

Dr. T. Otto Nall

Along with his theological studies at Garrett Biblical Institute (bachelor of divinity degree in 1926, doctor of divinity in 1936) he studied journalism at Northwestern university. For four summers he has taught courses in writing for young ministers at Garrett and Iliff School of Theology. He is preparing a eourse on writing for the Commission on Ministerial Training and a book that will probably be titled "The Minister and His Writings." He often leetures to preachers' meetings on this subjeet.

Holds Honorary Degree

From 1944 to 1948 Dr. Nall was president of the Methodist Press Association and the Interdenominational Associated Church press (1945-47). He was a member of the press at the United Nations conference at San Francisco and the World Conferenee of Christian Youth at Oslo. He has honorary doctor of literature degrees from Adrian college and Union college. His honorary doctor of laws degree came from Illinois Wesleyan university.

Dr. Nall belongs to the Minnesota Conference of the Methodist church, holding the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Hamline university, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1921. He is married and lives in Evanston, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, where his office is located at 740 Rush St.

Curtin Wins Second Place In Contest

Ken Curtin, editor of the Crescent, has been selected by Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, as a winner in its annual recognition of excellence in newspaper writing. His editorial, "Easter 1954," which was published in the Creseent, was awarded second place in the editorial division.

Mr. Curtin, the Evansville College winner, will graduate in June and is majoring in sociology. He is studying journalism for his minor field. He said he would like to do work in public relations after his graduation. He is a member of Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity.

Each year the fraternity conduets a national editorial and news story contest among member colleges and universities in the United States. Awards are given to twelve sudent journalists for work appearing in a college publieation. Results of the competition were announeed by Robert S. Harvey, president of Pi Delta Epsilon and registrar at Wabash college.

First place in the editorial contest went to Morris Pollack for his work "Et Crucifixus," published in the the Technician of Newark College of Engineering, Newark, N. J. In the news story division, Frederic J. Warnecke was awrded first place for his story "4 Lams Bambol," which appeared in the Lehigh university paper in Bethlehem, Pa.

New Goblin Ball Sponsored by PMA To Open Tonight

Tonight the Union patio will be the scene of a Goblin's Ball to be given by Phi Mu Alpha fraternity in celebration of Halloween. Music will be furnished by the thirteen-pieee band of the honorary musie fraternity.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and continue 'til midnight. Tickets can be obtained at the door or from Phi Mu Alpha members. Fifty cents per person will be eharged for the informal danee.

George Holden is serving as chairman on the dance committee with the assistance of Charles Melhiser, Dwayne Scott, William Puckett and Duane Pemberton.

Sororities to Help Distribute Posters

Evansville College sororities are helping the Community Chest in its annual drive this fall, Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, announced this week. At the last meeting of Panhellenic, members agreed to distribute posters advertising this project. They are delivering the posters to merchants who will put them on display starting today, covering the downtown area.

Joan Bosse, a member of AOPi, is in charge of the work. Five girls from each organized group on campus, AOPi, Phi Mu, Beta Sigma Omicron, and Chi Omega; and five from Gamma Delta are taking the posters to the merchants. They plan to complete their work over the weekend. The Community Chest drive begins October 28.

Acting President Dean Long endorsed the project as a worthwhile work. He said it is a spendid opportunity for Evansville College to help 17 agencies at one time.

Journalism Department Purchases New Camera

The journalism department added a news camera to its equipment when a Crown Graphic was purchased this week. A 4x5 model, equipped with flash, it can be used for practically any kind of news coverage.

Purchased with funds earned by The Crescent and The LinC, this camera will be used jointly by the staffs of the newspaper and the annual for their work.

This is the first camera owned by the department. Students previously shared the use of one with the public relations department.

'Beanie Ball' To Be Held November 5

A "Beanie Ball," scheduled for next Friday, November 5, in the patio of the Student Union building, will officially mark the end of the wearing of freshman beanies for this year. This will be the last occasion at which wearing of the "green pods" by freshmen will be mandatory.

This ball, second of the sweater hops, will be a stag affair honoring the freshmen and all new students, according to Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union. It has been arranged to help them get better acquainted with the upperclassmen, she added.

Personal invitations will be given to all freshmen at the convocation on Tuesday.

During intermission a "beanie removal ceremony" will be conducted to emphasize the official ending of "pod peonage."

Carolyn Lockwood and her Union dance committee will again handle all arrangements.

Danny Stiles and his combo will play for dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock. An open affair, tickets will be available at the door. Admission is 50 cents.

New Committee Members Selected at BAK Meeting

B. A. K. selected committee members for the 1954-55 term at its regular meeting last week.

Bernie Hartman was named president, and Richard Robinson, assistant professor of marketing, will serve as faculty advisor.

Other members of the organization selected for the committees were Donald Ewers, chairman, William Ritter and Al Newman, program; Bill Baumeyer, chairman, Carl Salzman, Willie Angermeier and Bill Rauscher, social.

Bob Steikler, chairman, Paul Wargle, Joan Hamel, Glenn Sivia and Myrtle Hunt, membership; Phyllis Bunge, chairman, publicity.

These committees are planning future events and arranging for guest speakers for both dinner meetings and the regular Monday morning, 10 o'clock meetings.

Thirty-Seven Men Pledge Three Social Fraternities

Last Friday morning Doctors James Morlock and Everette Walker presented eligible rushees with their fraternity bids at an assembly in the auditorium. According to a list made available by Dean Morlock out of the 43 bids issued 37 were accepted and signed by rushees.

As in previous years pledges left the assembly hall by the side door where they were met by actives of their pledged fraternity who congratulated them and pinned pledge ribbons on them.

Pledges and actives of each fraternity gathered at different points of the campus where the actives sang fraternity songs to the pledges.

Phi Zeta fraternity led with 27 pledges, Pi Epsilon ran second with seven and Acacia claimed three.

Pledges to Phi Zeta are Jak Williams, Don Crawford, Carroll Rickard, Don Groeninger, Thomas Mullen, Erling Storesund, Tom Lukens, Donald R. Scott, Kenneth Neywick, William Kohlmeyer, Roland G. Reherman, Bob Garnett, Robert Stork.

Donald Kinney, James D. Hartman, William Retter, Ronald R. Alley, Dailey Kinnaird, Jim Clodfelter, Floyd J. Ferrell, Rolland McMaster, Bruce Schuessler, Edward J. Reine.

Rounding out the Zeta pledges are Sam W. Freeman, Jr., Robert Small, Jr., Robert P. Pummer, and Don Deller.

Pi Epsilon Phi's pledges include Dwain R. Mann, Wilford Angermier, Don Baumeyer, Bernard Smith, Paul A. Seib, Paul Wargel, and Ivan Farrell.

Pledging Acacia are James Dunn, Robert M. Owen, and John D. Thomas.

Hell Week for the pledges of Phi Zeta fraternity has been tentively planned for November 7 to 13. Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity has scheduled theirs for November 9 to 16, while Acacia has set theirs for sometime in January.

Who's Who Honors Seventeen Students

Seventeen Evansville College students have been selected as nominees for the Who's Who among students in American universities and colleges. They have been chosen according to specifications laid down by the publication.

Two persons who will be graduated in December of this year were named to the list. They are Suzette Spiegel and Ronald Ray Hamilton.

Seniors and Juniors named

Eleven other seniors were selected. This group includes: Bruce A. Bahn, Gilbert F. Bumb, Robert Hawkins, Samuel R. Laubscher, Lewis Allen Plane, Marilyn Randolph, Norma Jean Robertson, Bob R. Rundell, Robert Norman Scott, William Steier and Rosemarie Wiseman.

Junior nominees are Marilyn Bartlett, Margaret Ann Broadhead, Myra Kasey and William Parish.

These persons were selected on the basis of four qualifications. The factors that were considered in making the choice were: the student's excellence and sincerity in scholarship; his leadership and participation in extracurricular and academic activities; his citizenship and service to the school; and his promise of future usefulness to business and society.

Selected by Nominating Committee

Students were named to the honor by a nominating committee comprised of three faculty members: Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor; Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel; and Dr. James Morlock, dean of men. Each one of them made out a list of potential nominees before the committee met to discuss choices.

In selecting candidates, first to be considered were those students who had captured the attention of all three judges. After that, the persons whose names appeared on two lists were deliberated upon. When each person's qualifications had been weighed thoroughly by members of the committee, they cast their votes for the candidates.

Nominees will be presented with engraved certificates attesting to the honor of being selected as outstanding college students at a dinner next spring.

'Harvey' Rehearsal In Last Weeks Before Production

There will be plenty of backaches, tired feet and numbed brains by the time "Harvey" opens on November 11. This business of rehearsing is a wearying and time-consuming process. Even Harvey has been missed in his usual haunts lately, cast members report.

Professor Robert Heater, director of the play, added that everyone is working hard and cooperating well and that he is satisfied with results. "I'll probably get frantic at the last minute, though," he declared.

The preparation technique that Mr. Heater is using is new to this theater group. Before actual rehearsals began, the cast held two readings, the first to get the gist of the situation and the second to discuss each character for background. In this way players were able to discover motives for actions and make comparisons and contrasts between the characters involved.

Next came the blocking out of the action and movement of the drama; then the business of technique and acting polish was taken up.

Right now, after having thrown away the books, the cast is concentrating on characterization. Acts I and II are beginning to take on a well-oiled appearance, the director feels.

Technicians are needed badly for the production, Mr. Heater said, emphasizing the fact that the Evansville College theater is not a "closed corporation." He added that he would welcome anyone interested in it in any way to join the group.

Anyone who is interested in painting scenery, carpentry work or any of the thousand and one jobs waiting to be done should contact Mr. Heater or his assistant, Jerry Gray. The theater bulletin board in the "English Channel" will be used to post crew notices.

Alpha Omicron Pi's Plan Card Party For November 3

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority will hold a card party and style show at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 3, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Wabash avenue.

Members of the sorority will model for the style show sponsored by the Lois Fashion Shop. The show will feature the newest fall and winter fashions, both formal and informal. The models will be Lois Ryon, Jo Ann Deneke, Jackie King, Joan Bosse, Harolyn Brown, Marilyn Randolph, Carol White, Mary Lou Born and Paula Jones. JoAnn James, an alumni member will act as moderator.

Door and attendance prizes, donated by Evansville's merchants will be given away during the evening. Some of the donors are Moll Bros. Hardware, Libs Candy Store, The Flower Shop, Farrell Jewelers, Crown Pottery, Dubl-R Drive Inn, Mancini Food Store, Whitehead's Vegetable Store, Arthur Murrays Studio, Helene Covert Studio and Blackman's Floral Shop.

The card party and fashion show is open to the public. Admission tickets may be secured by donating ticket chairman, Jackie King. Lois Ryan and JoAnn Deneke are publicity chairmen.

What The Primary Means

Election time is drawing near! Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party. Next Tuesday men and women will swarm to the polls to cast their vote. The two American major political parties are at each other's throats, slinging mud on reputations, running each other into the ground, and in general stirring up dirt.

The result of this verbal knock down, drag out battle is this: people (and that is YOU) almost always come up with the observation that all political leaders are dishonest and tricky. After all if they listen to their own leaders they'll have to agree that the opposition party is made up entirely of gangsters, grafters and misfits. And of course it's the same in the opposing party. The fact that politicians are dishonest and tricky is undoubtedly true in a great many instances. But whose fault is that? It is wholly the fault of the individuals who sententiously condemn and then do nothing about it.

It's both amusing and frustrating to listen to a group of people who simply exude virtue and then damn in unmeasured words that lowly thing called a politician. It's amusing to know that these people are easing their public conscience when they hear their own voices raised in righteous wrath. It's also frustrating to know that this very MISdirection of energies only helps to strengthen the evil so roundly condemned.

Primaries were brought into being so that the members of a political party would have a voice in its management. At the primaries men and women are elected as delegates who in turn assemble in convention to name the men and women who will be nominated for political office. At the same primaries men and women are elected by party offices, and they in turn gather and elect party leaders.

The enrolled Democrats and Republicans in Vanderburg County who have condemned our local administration when it was under both Democratic and Republican rule are too many to count. All of these people live within the county. But they do nothing about it. They have all the excuses that the king in the Gospel received when he sent his servants to invite guests to the wedding feast of his daughter. They virtuously proclaim that they vote at general elections. But that is exactly like locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen. The one and only way that political organizations can be cleaned up is at primary time, not election time. It is of course, pure opinion as to whether the incumbent administration or the party in power is needful of a clean up campaign. If every citizen enrolled in a political party and took an active part in its work it would be very certain that all political parties would nominate men for office who were thoroughly qualified.

But just ask those people who gripe most to do it, and they shy away worse then a nervous horse. None of the hundreds of excuses for political inactivity is either clear or logical. All can be traced to the real reason: plain old-fashioned laziness.

Beating poor candidates at the general election is not the answer to the problem. Bad party leaders have a habit of lasting out defeats in general elections, always knowing that some day the tide will turn and they again will be able to elect their candidates and thus strengthen their evil leadership.

The voter who says, in effect, "Let George do it," need not be too surprised to wake up to find that "George" has.

Everything said so far simply boils down to this: don't neglect to vote next Tuesday, but don't forget that your real voice as a voter lies in the primary, especially on the state and local level.

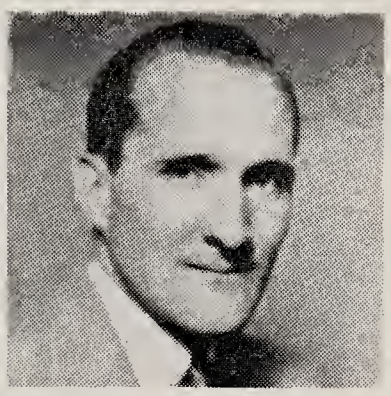
SGA News

By Bill Steier

Last Monday at the meeting of all Student Faculty Federation Committees, Dean McKown brought out the fact that last year several of the SFF committees were very inactive and held very few meetings. As a result of this, three committees were abolished and only six are left in the federation. The impression I received from Monday's meeting was that there is a great deal more enthusiasm in the federation this year, and that more can be expected from the committees. I hope this proves true because the Student-Faculty Federation is something that Evansville College can be proud of and should try to improve as much as possible. Any student or faculty member who has been named to a comittee should feel the responsibility of the position and try to improve the college and make the federation the best possible.

Final plans are being made for the initial meeting of the President's Roundtable for Wednesday, November 3. Letters are being sent out to all organization presidents who are to be members of the roundtable, and a constitution and agenda have been drawn up by the SGA officers for presentation at the meeting. It will be a dinner affair starting at 6 p.m. If a president plans for his organization to be a member and he has received a letter, he must be present at this initial meting or contact one of the SGA officers.

Former Professor In New Position As EC Librarian



Dr. Beverly T. Moss

The college library acquired more than a collection of the latest books this fall; it has a new assistant librarian, Dr. Beverly T. Moss.

Dr. Moss was born south of the Mason-Dixon line in Washington, N. C., where he spent his boyhood and received his early education.

The new librarian has an A.B. from the University of Missouri and a doctor's degree from the University of North Carolina. He has studied for and received not one, but two master's degrees.

During most of his adult life Dr. Moss has taught foreign languages in colleges and universities. His most recent positions were at the University of the South and Morningside college. Before coming to Evansville, he received a degree from the Library of Science school at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Moss and his wife have traveled extensively in the United States and western Europe. For a librarian he has a perfect hobby — reading. His love of books will serve him well he thinks in helping Evansville College students select volumes, whether for research, as supplements to textbooks or simply for reading pleasure.

Applications For Civil Jobs Due November 30

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced the annual examination for Junior Management Assistant for filling positions in various Federal agencies in Washington, D.C., and throughout the country.

Applications for this examination must be filed with the Commsision's Washington office not later than November 30, 1954. Further information and application forms may be obtained from the school placement officer or from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

. . . we don't have anything on the aborigines. Now here we are, way ahead in medicine. In fact we invent new diseases so we can cure them. 'Course that old timer, the common head cold (what's common about it? Kiss and tell) has never been cured yet but who has time to work on a cure for any old common every day run of the mill thing like a cold?

A guy by the name of Ford invented a thing called a motorcar. We can drive thousands of miles every day and only kill a few dozen motorists and pedestrians along the route. We also taint the air with the pungent smell of gasoline, motor oil and diesel fuel but who eares?

We have developed a new smokeless gunpowder that enables us to kill others for miles around. But, what the heck, with taxes and the price of living who wants to live?

We have discovered new ways to go crazy with fancy names. Course part of it could be this fast way of living we have.

Then some boys got together down at Kitty Hawk and flew. It wasn't with mountain dew either. Since then we have been able to cover the world in not too many hours. What would old Chris Columbus have done with that? He might have made America for real. Why, with one of those airplanes we can drop some of those eggs filled with that new smokeless gun powder and kill a few thousand people for those doctors to try some of those new cures on. How can they cure them if they're killed? I'll tell you, that modern science is for real.

As young boys some fellows began splitting stuff. Unlike Abe, who split rails and became president, they wanted to split atoms and kill people. By doing this they could develop a new ailment called radiation burns for those doctors to try out some new cures on. Now they figured out a way to put a lot in a little, transport it in an airplane and kill many. Makes a pretty cloud too.

Now you take those boys in the hoon docks. They kill each other sometimes, but they're uneducated. You see, when they do kill they only kill one or two at a time. If they weren't so dumb they would learn science and kill hundreds at a time. Leave them ignorant.

They don't have doctors to tell them how sick they are. They don't have the stock market to worry about; they don't have to worry about when their next unemployment check will come in; they don't worry about taxes. They have freedom of mind. In fact, they don't go rock happy. Since they do what comes naturally they do have families.

Those poor fellows don't even know that there are other religions, other races. Unfortunately there is no one that they can segregate against or ridicule for the way they believe. They don't go around trying to tell the guy on the island several hundred miles away how to run his business. In fact they let him go his own way.

They don't have union strikes. Some guys tried to organize a Head Hunters Local 813 but they ended up in the soup. Kind of bitter too.

Now I move that we organize a mission to go to those poor ignorant people and educate them. It's really a shame the way they live a peaceful, happy life. They should be told the facts of life so they can have all kinds of disease, especially mental diseases; they should be taught the latest methods of mass annihilation; they should know about prejudices and biases.

Yes sir, I sure feel sorry for those contented, tax-free fellows.

Kappa Chi Initiates Fourteen Members

Fourteen new members were taken into Kappa Chi Fellowship of Christian Service last Friday. The organization is open to students preparing for full-time church vocations.

The initiation ceremony was conducted in the college Chapel by Kappa Chi officers: Gil Bomb, president; Lowell Foster, vice-president; Pat Gable, secretary; Conrad Higdon, treasurer; Don Bassett, marshal; and Dr. Mearl P. Culver, faculty advisor.

The initiates are: Wilbur Bullock, Greta Shaw, Jerry Jones, Harry Buller, June Wedeking, Della Hester, Norman Wallace, Clyde Wake, Hubert Crane, Carl Berkemeier, David Logan, Mary Tevis, George Hagan and Paul Boesche.

Tomorrow evening Kappa Chi members will hold a Halloween party at St. John's E. and R. Church at Buckskin. Don Griffith is in charge of arrangements for the social.

Halloween Theme Used by Phi Mu

Halloween, Halloween was the theme of the Phi Mu-Gamma Delta party last evening at St. John's E. & R. Church. Invitations were in the shape of pumpkins, the name tags were owls and witches and decorations were carried out in Halloween style and tradition.

At this party of fun and fright, along with the members of Gamma Delta, were the alumni of Phi Mu: Mrs. Ralph Becker, Mrs. William Hess, Miss Virginia Weigel, Mrs. Gilbert Eberlin, Mrs. Kenneth Crook, Mrs. Harold Selzer, Miss Doris Finke, Miss Mary Alice Peck, Mrs. James Whelan, and Mrs. Kent Wiseman.

On the committees were refreshments, Betty Oldham, Joan McGraw, and Ruth Smith; entertainment, Dorothy Baggett, Suzette Spiegel, and Reba Hardison; decoration, Dana Jo Erhardt and Phyllis Hachmeister; invitations, Gail Still, Mary Lou Taylor, Elizabeth Inkenbrandt and Pat Moore; transportation, Phyllis Bunge.

College Library Receives Books

More than a hundred books have been added to the College library shelves according to Thomas S. Harding, head librarian. Included are books on philosophy, science, psychology, history and travel.

"Educational Wastelands," by Bestor, and "Development and Scope of Higher Education in the United States," by Hofstader and Hardy have been placed on the faculty reserve shelf in the main reading room.

New selections in philosophy and psychology include 'Psychological Testing," by Anne Anastasi, and "Adolescent," a book of readings, by G. Marian Kinget.

The religious section is augmented with volumes by Harold Henry Rowley, Gustave Gore and Robert Claude Dentan, books on the Bible. Preaching is discussed by Walter Russell Bowie and Frank H. Caldwell.

Applied science has 17 new books, one of which is a TV dictionary, handbook for sponsors. Seven books were added to the Fine Arts section. "Design for Artists and Craftsmen" by Wolchonok, Louis, is one of the books. Language and literature were increased by six books, with "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" by Wouk, Herman, for example. History and travel section received 17 new books, among them "There Is No End," by Tomlinson, William West.

Views

Guest columnist this week is Don Kinney, S.C.A., treasurer, ROTC officer and a Phi Zeta pledge.

How many times have you criticized our local and national governments because they were not doing the things you thought they should? It's quite easy to criticize, but it's a different matter to do something about it. We should all remember that we are the government and it's our duty to elect to office those people who will express and put to use the desires of the public.

We're all proud to say that we are Americans, but I sometimes wonder just how much this means to most of us.

Thousands of men have fought and died to keep the American way of life safe. If men will give their lives for such a cause, then we who are eligible to vote can surely give a few moments of our time to do so.

Know the men and women for whom you will vote. If you were going to lend money to a person, you would probably find out all you could about that person. The same holds true in electing members to our local and national governments. Those people whom we elect will control and spend our tax money. Why not elect capable men and women to do this job. These men and women should be above suspicion, willing to work hard, and should always remember that it is a privilege not a right to work for the Government of the United States.

Let's vote this November 2. It's our duty.

Postdoctoral Research Fellowships Offered

Seven hundred graduate and 130 post-doctoral fellowships for scientific study during the 1955-56 academic year will be awarded to college students by the National Science Foundation through tests based solely on ability.

The fellowships are offered in the mathematical, physical, medical, biological and engineering sciences, including anthropology, psychology (excluding clinical psychology), geography and certain inter-disciplinary fields. Graduate fellowships are available to those who are studying for either masters' or doctoral degrees at the first, intermediate, or terminal year levels. College seniors who will graduate in the 1954-55 year are eligible. Tests will be given on January 27, 1955.

The annual stipends for graduate Fellows are $1400 for the first year, $1600 for the intermediate year, and $1800 for the terminal year. The annual stipend for the post-doctoral Fellows is $3400.

Home Economics Club Is Formed

A new club was organized on campus last Thursday, the Home Economics Club, with Mrs. Lawrence Hess and Miss Corian Stambaugh faculty sponsors. Officers chosen for the club are Nancy Phillips, president; Gail Still, vice-president; June Kissel, secretary; and Elizabeth Winsett, treasurer.

Meetings will be held on Thursdays from now until Christmas for the benefit of those who belong to the freshman sorority. The club is open to Home Economics majors and minors. Those wishing to join should contact one of the sponsors or officers of the club. The next meeting will be Thursday, October 28, in A-404 at 10 a.m.

ROTC Band Reorganized; Scott Named Commander

Dwayne Scott, senior, has been appointed band commander of the newly reorganized AFROTC unit at Evansville College. Scott, a first lieutenant in the organization ,assums the duties of student commander of the band with Norman Heim serving as the faculty advisor.

Dwayne Scott began playing the trumpet about twelve years ago, and he has been a member of the ROTC band since enrolling in Evansville College. The new leader is responsible for the drills, programs, discipline, and music of the musical organization. Now a first lieutenant, Scott will receive his commission in June of 1955. He will also receive a Bachelor of Music Education degree at that time. Music takes up most of the likeable senior's time. Along with his ROTC duties Dwayne plays in the college band, and is a member of the Little Symphony campus group. Acting as leader of the Phi Mu Alpha dance band has also given him some experience in baton waving.

Science Awards Offered To 1955 College Graduates

The Division of Medical Sciences of the National Academy of Sciences is accepting applications for post-doctoral research fellowships for 1955-1956. These awards are designed to offer research experience, not to provide practical experience in the clinical field.

The following programs have been announced: Fellowships in Cancer Research, for United States citizens only; British American Exchange Fellowships in Cancer Research; Fellowships in the Medical Sciences, open to citizens of the United States and Canada; Fellowships in Tuberculosis; and Fellowships in Radiological Research.

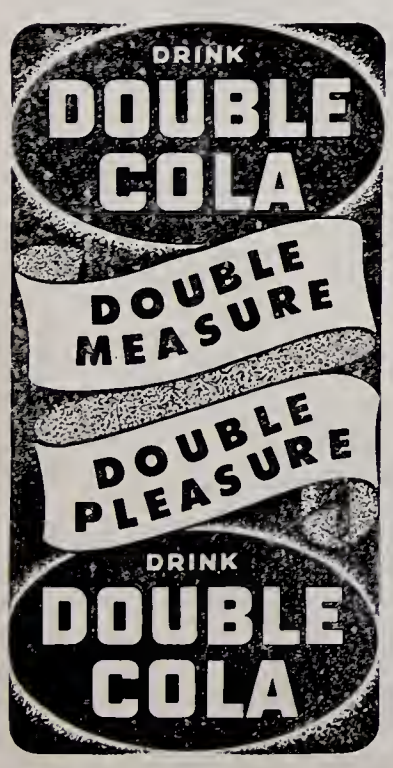
Applications for any of these awards must be postmarked on or before December 10, 1954. Fellowships are awarded in early spring. Complete details and application blanks may be obtained from the Fellowship Office, National Academy of Sciences — National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington 25, D.C.

Civil Defense Plan Includes WEVC

Evansville College's radio station WEVC-FM is a member of the Continental Radio Defense System, Conelrad, and they work as a unit on a national basis to defend our country from air attacks.

The United States is protected from attack by strategic radar stations placed throughout the U.S. and Canada. If there should be an attack on the nation these radar stations would immediately notify all key radio stations in the U.S. WGBF is the key station in the Tri-State area.

WGBF will cut down to 1240 Civil Defense Frequencies. WMLL, the FM station of WGBF will then go off the air. In conjunction with this move WEVC will then go off the network. Thus the network is left clear for WGBF to broadcast Civil Defense instructions.



First Sock Hop Is Successful States Kirk

Loud argyles, sweet music, and dancing were featured at the first Sock Hop in the Union Building last Friday evening with Danny Stiles providing the music, Mary Jane Nendel, Jack Miller, Marilyn Tate, Sue Smallwood, and Maurice Rohleder winning the prizes, and everyone supplying a successful evening.

The Sock Hop, which was the first of the year, was so successful that, "several more will be arranged due to the students' enthusiasm and cooperation," announced Miss Doris Kirk, student union director. Roger Pemberton was the guest musician for the evening.

The floors of the Patio and Wooden Indian were thoroughly cleansed with the flashing and daring argyles of approximately 150 dancers. Everyone who attended had to strip off — his shoes. After the crowd became accustomed to walking around with no shoes and were able to control their equilibrium on the waxed floors, the stag or drag affair settled down to an evening of enjoyment.

MEETING RESCHEDULED

The faculty meeting originally scheduled for November 5 has been moved up to this Friday, October 29. The change of meeting date was made because of faculty members attending the Indiana Academy of Science.

Dr. Coates Attends Church Convocation

Rev. William E. Coates, assistant professor of town and country work at Evansville College, attended the National Convocation of the Church in Town and Country from October 26 to 28 at Salina, Kansas.

Following the Convocation, the Rev. Mr. Coates went to a meeting of Methodist College Professors of Town and Country Work, also held in Salina.

Students in the Rev. Mr. Coates' college class heard three outside speakers during his absence. Albert M. Bishea, Vanderburgh county agent, explained the work of his office on Monday, and Hal Austin, director of training of the Indiana Farm Bureau Co-op Association, outlined the history and program of the bureau on Wednesday. Mr. Austin is from Indianapolis.

Elvis Wathen, president of the local Farmers Union and vice president of the state union, discussed the history, organization and program of the union on Friday.

College smokers from coast to coast prefer Luckies to any other brand. Luckies lead, and by a wide margin, according to the latest, biggest college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike is the cigarette of fine tobacco . . . and "It's Toasted" to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. This explains the Droodle below, which is: Eskimo seminar enjoying Luckies in badly built classroom. Like all real cool people, Eskimos know Luckies taste better. Evansville moved one step closer to at least a share of the ICC crown last Saturday afternoon with their second quarter win over the St. Joseph Pumas. At least the Aces proved one thing to the the Pumas — they will show up for the game at any cost, they may be a little late, they may come by plane, train or taxi, but they will be there. Meanwhile, Valparaiso's Crusaders kept pace with the Aces, registering a 46-21 win over Ball State and they need one more victory over Butler to cop a share of the crown.

Aces' Rally Nips St. Joe in ICC Tilt

Behind three touchdowns at the end of the first half, the Purple Aces made one of the best come-from-behind efforts in E. C. history to beat the St. Joseph's Pumas, 27-20, last Saturday at Rensselaer.

Coach Bob Jauron's freshmen sparked squad opened the contest as if it was going to make a route of the game. Bill Bazil skirted the Ace's end for 80 yards and a six pointer early in the first quarter. Merle Effing, end from Evansville Mater Dei, converted and St. Joe lead 7-0. Tom Agnew tallied the Pumas second T.D. on a ten yard run. Effing's kick was blocked and St. Joe lead 13-0. The hosts completed their scoring when Dan Lyman passed to Bazil for a touchdown and Effing converted.

The Aces started their long climb to the top when Dick Sinclair passed to Bill Parrish. Bob "Golden Toe" Scott converted and the count stood at 20-7.

A St. Joe fumble set up the second EC score with Dick Sinclair going over from the one. Scott's kick was good and the score was, 20-14.

Evansville took the lead in the early minutes of the final period when "Animal" Lutterbach went over from the one and Scott made it three in a row.

Parrish added the clincher late in the final stanza with a seven yard scoring point. This win moved the Aces one step closer to the ICC crown.

Aces Away

Tomorrow the Aces travel to Washington of St. Louis to play their second non-conference game of the season. Washington lost a thriller to Western Michigan last week 7-6 and they are rated as a top-notch secondary school, but barring more injuries and missed buses the Aces should chalk up their fifth victory of the campaign.

A portion of the spotlight will shift from the gridiron to the hardwood Monday afternoon when Coach Arad McCutchan's basketeers will officially open practice sessions at the Armory. McCutchan will have a returning nucleus of eight seasoned performers left over from last year's team that shared the ICC crown with the Butler Bulldogs. Returning from last year's squad are All-ICC choice Bob Wessel, Bob Walker, John Harrawood, Frank Healy, Roscoe Bivin, Gene Wilm, John Wessel and Kenny Herrenbruck.

In addition to these performers, who have proven their ability, the squad will be bolstered by the addition of a fine group of freshman prospects who have made their name in high school ranks. Among these are Jerry and Joe Clayton, and Harold Cox, brother of Clyde Cox.

Visits St. Louis To Meet Bears

By JAK WILLIAMS

Coach Paul Beck will leave with his 33 man traveling squad this afternoon for St. Louis where his Purple Aces will meet the Washington University Bears. The Bears under the guidance of Carl Snavely, former head football coach at the University of North Carolina, have looked impressive in rolling up a 4-1, record this year. Snavely has 17 lettermen back from last year's team that compiled a 7-2 mark.

The Aces should be at full strength for this tilt with halfback "Corky" Thompson recovered from his injury and most of the other injured Aces partly or fully recovered from their bruises. No serious injuries marred the Aces victory over St. Joe last week.

Butler Can Help

Although the Aces will be in St. Louis at least a part of their attention will be in Valparaiso. This is the scene of the Valparaiso and Butler game. This tilt will decide whether the Aces will have have a clear cut chance to cop the ICC crown or if they will have to share with the Crusaders. If Valpo wins they are assured of at least a tie with EC for the title, but if the Bulldogs can come through with a victory Evansville can gain sole possession of the crown by beating Ball State in their ICC finale.

Washington holds a 1-0 advantage in the series winning the only outing of the two clubs last year, 34-13.

Injured Back Returns

Beck's probable lineup for this game will be: ends Dick Martin and Dick Whitaker, tackles Phil Aramowicz and Bill Huff, guards Frank Will and Bill Gabert, center Bob Scott. In the backfield it will be either "Bud" George or Dick Sinclair at quarterback, "Corky" Thompson and Bill Parrish at halfbacks and Kenny Lutterbach at fullback.

Rumors have been heard that the Aces might possibly get a bowl bid if they are able to win the ICC. The Tangerine bowl in Orlando has been the most likely prospect to issue the Purple and White a bid. This bowl venture has been a financial failure for the past two years and the bowl committee feels that a team from this section of the counry might provide a good drawing card. A win over Washington this week would add considerably to the Aces prestige.

Another week of upsets hurt the experts' percentage. Nine games were missed out of the thirty games predicted. The season's totals for this year are 57 right, 17 wrong and 2 ties. Here are our predictions for this week's games.

In the ICC Washington will beat Evansville. Butler will stop Valparaiso. Ball State will keep their ICC hopes alive with a win over St. Joe.

Other games in the midwest will see Cincinnati beat College of the Pacific. Purdue to run over Illinois. Michigan to stay undefeated by taking Indiana. Wisconsin to stay close in the Big Ten race by toppling Iowa. Minnesota will bounce back against Michigan State. Notre Dame will sink Navy. Ohio State will stay undefeated against Northwestern. Top ranked Oklahoma will beat Colorado.

In the East, where upsets have been commonplace all season, Amherst will down Tufts. Army will continue to roll against Virginia. Boston U will bounce back against Bucknell. Brown will beat Lehigh. Colgate, whose tie with Yale last week is the only red mark on their ledger, will down Princeton. Yale will down conference foe Dartmouth. Harvard will go outside the league and down Ohio U.

Down South, surprising Arkansas will stop Texas A&M. Auburn will beat winless Tulane. Florida State will down VMI. Kentucky will beat Villanova. Mississippi will bounce back against LSU. Maryland will come back to defeat South Carolina. Tennessee will beat North Carolina State. Western Kentucky, one of the Aces' future opponents, will beat Georgia.

In the West and Southwest TCU will beat conference foe Baylor. Undefeated UCLA will continue to roll against California. Duke will beat Georgia Tech. Houston will down Wichita. Washington will beat Oregon. Southern California will continue to roll over Oregon State. Rice will beat hapless Vanderbilt. Stanford will down Washington State. Utah will knock off Idaho.

Concert Pianist Recounts Ambitions, Early Studies

by Nancy Lai

Save for the lone figure seated at the piano on the stage, the dimly-lit Coliseum was empty Monday morning when I went for an informal interview with Vera Franceschi.

Since her concert with the Evansville Philharmonic orchestra was to be in the evening, I had expected to hear her practising the Beethoven concerto she was to play that night. I couldn't have been more wrong.

"I'm practising on numbers for my next concert," Miss Franceschi told me. "I never touch the piece I have to do on the day I play because if I should make a mistake now — I may find myself with a mental block this evening."

According to Miss Franceschi, even veterans of the concert stage go through agonies before each performance. In this case it was unnecessary, because that evening she captured the Evansville audience with her brilliant rendition of Beethoven's Piano Concerto No: 3 in C minor.

Childhood Dreams Not Realized

Perhaps everyone has dreams that are not to be realized. One would never suspect that Vera Franceschi had some ambition other than to be a concert pianist., but her childhood dream was to become a ballerina. At the age of three she had taken up dancing, but later, time did not permit her to continue.

At the age of seven, when most children are leading carefree lives and doing nothing much more than devising new methods of entertainment, Miss Franceschi was studying earnestly at the Saint Cecilia Conservatory in Rome and taking ballet lessons on the side in the evenings. She had been taken to Rome by her mother on the advice of Molinari, who was then conductor of the San Francisco symphony. He had listened to her performance at a piano recital a year after she first began taking lessons and became interested in her. It was Molinari who sternly advised Vera Franceschi to choose between the piano and ballet when she was nine years old.

At the age of thirteen she graduated from the music conservatory and made her debut at the La Scala in Milan, Italy. In 1951 she received her doctor of music degree from Saint Cecilia Conservatory, the first American to get this degree.

Experiences Extraordinary

Her eyes twinkled when I asked if she had any interesting experiences to recount.

"Some are very naughty," she laughed, "But—"

The anecdotes she had to tell were amusing in part, such as wearing a brand new formal for a concert appearance on board an ocean liner, and finding out too late that the zipper was slightly loose. Now she fastens her formals with a safety pin before going on stage. Another time, she and her mother lived in their traveling suits for the complete voyage to Europe. Their trunks had been mistakenly locked in the ship's hold.

Some of her other tales are not so amusing. Such experiences as spending the night in an Italian air-raid shelter the night before a concert, or escaping on the last train from Italy through Nazi occupied territory before reaching the port of Lisbon for the boat to New York and safety.

In March Vera Franceschi will return to Europe to do engagements in Spain, France and Italy.

State Meeting For Personnel Body to be Here

The Indiana College Personnel association will hold its sixth annual meeting at Evansville College next Wednesday, November 10. Keynote speaker will be Fred H. Turner, dean of students at the University of Illinois. His address will be entitled, "Trends in Student Personnel Work."

Dean Turner will also speak to the freshmen at their regular convocation on Tuesday at 10 a.m. He has been in educational work since 1922 and has contributed numerous articles to current periodicals and educational, professional and historical journals.

Evansville College faculty taking part in the meeting on Wednesday are those persons active in the personnel area. Included are Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel; Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor; Dr. Mearl Culver, director of religious life; Dr. James Morlock, dean of men; Mr. Gordon Stien, director of the reading clinic; Mr. Gordon Rettke, assistant director of the reading clinic; Miss Doris Kirk, director of the student union; and Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the student union.

Dr. Walker stated that the purpose of the meeting is to discuss problems and successes in student personnel in different academic institutions.

Eighteen colleges in the state of Indiana will be represented at the convention. It will open with registration and a coffee hour in the lounge and lobby of the Union building. At 10 a.m. the general session will begin in the Great Hall. Before Dean Turner speaks, Mr. Ralph Olmsted will welcome delegates to the college.

After the opening session, visitors will take an informal tour of the campus. Then a buffet luncheon will be served in the private dining rooms at noon.

The afternoon session of the meeting will consist of group discussions. Mr. Stien will lead the one on testing and counseling. After a business meeting the convention will adjourn.

On Tuesday afternoon Dean Turner will meet with freshman counselors and other interested faculty in the Union lounge. In the evening a coffee session will be held for out-of-town guests who arrive in Evansville the night before the meeting.

Welfare Council Seeks Thanksgiving Gift List

All organizations on campus planning to give baskets or other gifts to needy families for Thanksgiving are asked to register the number of baskets they are planning to give and the names of the persons to whom they are sending them with the Welfare Council.

The Council, through the Social Service Exchange, provides a clearing house for both individuals and organizations making gifts of any kind at this time to insure the widest possible distribution of these gifts.

In previous years, letters have been sent to each organization requesting this information, but this notice will replace the usual letter this year.

Information should be sent to Mrs. Elaine Watson, care of Social Service Exchange, 208 S.E. First Street.

Harvey, the big white rabbit, may be invisible to other members of the cast of the play of the same name, but Elwod (Carroll Rickard) seems to be enjoying his conversation with his friend. Sharing honors with Harvey when the play opens in the auditorium next Thursday evening will be Carolyn Kohl, Jane Chanley and Gary Harmon, also pictured above. The show will run through Saturday, November 13. Tickets will be available at the door. Student admission is by activity ticket. —Staff Photo

PMA Presents Records to EC

Epsilon Upsilon chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, music fraternity, has announced plans to present Evansville College music library with a gift of $200 worth of records.

The Gift Records Selection committee has just finished making the final selections from recommendations handed in by faculty members of the music department. The purchase will include ensembles, instrumental solos, choral, operatic, band and orchestral recordings.

Each record will be clearly marked with a small, bronze identification tag before being placed in the library in the Music building. They will probably arrive about December 1.

This is part of Epsilon Upsilon chapter's project of working toward the fraternity's national objective, "encouraging loyalty to the Alma Mater."

Members of the Gift Records Selection committee are Gene Agee, Jack Schernekau, William Puckett, Duane Pemberton. John Koehler is president of the local chapter.

Prof. Wesley Shepard will accept the gift on behalf of the College.

Faculty Club Will Sponsor New Recreation Meetings

First in a series of recreational meetings for faculty members will be held in the gymnasium tonight at 7:30 p.m., Dr. C. W. Robertson, president of the Faculty Club, announced this week.

"We're trying to stir up a little activity in the group," Dr. Robertson said, "and hope these will be regular events."

Volley ball for men and badminton for women will be the sports activities, but there will be provisions on the side for the bridge players, too, he added.

Nurses Association Country Fair Aids Scholarship Fund

The Nurses' Alumnae association of the Welborn Baptist hospital will hold a "Country Fair" from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. today at the Agoga Tabernacle.

Proceeds from the fair will go to the scholarship fund for the Evansville College-Baptist Hospital School of Nursing.

A feature of the fair will be a collection of antique china and glass, but like all country fairs, this one will include entertainment and articles for all members of the family.

Lunch and dinner will be served also.

Centennial Dad's Day Plans Are Completed

By Betty Staser

Evansville College's centennial Dad's Day will be held Saturday, November 13. A round of entertainment, designed to make the day a gala occasion, is being prepared by committees comprised of students and faculty members. John Conaway is chairman of the entire project.

Festivities will begin with the Evansville College-Western Kentucky State football game in the Reitz Bowl. Kick-off time is 1:30 p.m. During the half, John Conaway will greet dads; then, football dads will be introduced and Acting President Dean Long will present an award to the "dad of the year."

Following the game a cabaret dinner will be served in the college cafeteria beginning at 5:30 p.m. Dads, with their sons and daughters, will dine on chicken in a candle-lit atmosphere reminiscent of Greenwich Village. Cigarette girls will pass out free cigarettes and chewing gum, and faculty members will serve as waiters.

Special guests at the dinner will be Acting President and Mrs. Long. Students chosen to be cigarette girls are JoAnn Franz, Greta Shaw, Wilma Kamman and DeLoris Hartig.

Entertainment at the dinner will be in the form of a cabaret program. A faculty skit, produced and directed by Arthur Spence, assistant professor of English, will be presented. Music will be furnished by Don Hillyard and his accordion, and a male quartet, entitled the "No Name Four," will render selections in a barbershop vein. As part of the program, the "dad of the year," along with other dads, will be honored.

In the evening, dads will witness the Evansville College theater performance of "Harvey," in a section of the auditorium reserved for them. Tickets for the play are 85 cents and must be purchased by November 10, if a student wants his dad to have a reserved seat.

Dinner tickets are on sale every day at 10 a.m. in the Union office and should be purchased by Friday, November 12. Price is $1.25 per person. A complimentary, tax-free football ticket will be given for each dad purchasing a dinner ticket. If a dad is unable to come to the dinner, he will be admitted to the football game upon identification and payment of a 25 cent tax.

The faculty committee for Dad's Day is made up of: Ralph Coleman, professor of mathematics; Richard Robinson, assistant professor of management; Miss Louise Moberly, assistant publicity director; and Mrs. Walter Kuenzli, assistant to the director of the Student Union.

Sudents Liz Romine and Wilma Kamman are co-chairmen of decorations, while Rosemary Mohr and Margie Hassee are co-chairmen of the ticket committee. Jack Miller is publicity chairman.

Mrs. Kuenzli expressed a desire to see every student take advantage of Dad's Day. She said that a great deal of time and effort have gone into preparing the program, and she feels it will be a successful one if students cooperate.

Gamma Delta's Schedule Tea For Mothers

Gamma Delta, freshman sorority, will honor mothers of its members at a Mother-Daughter tea in the Lounge of the Student-Union building Sunday, November 7, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, dean of women; Shirley Orth, student sponsor, and Jo Franz, president of this year's Gamma Delta, will receive.

Entertainment will be provided by members of Gamma Delta, Joyce Reed, who will play the flute, and Mary Ann Simrell, who will sing solos.

Arrangements were made by Wilma Kamman, chairman of the tea, and her co-chairman, Marlene Weber. Fall will be the theme for the decorations. Refreshments will be punch and cookies.

Officers of Gamma Delta are Miss Franz, president; Lois Sommers, vice president; Miss Weber, treasurer; and Greta Shaw, secretary.

George Dockery is Named ROTC Wing Commander

Appointment of Cadet Major George E. Dockery as wing commander of the 240th AFROTC Cadet Training Wing was announced this week by Lt. Col. James A. Brantner, professor of air science.

Mr. Dockery, a graduate of Reitz high school, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Dockery, 608 Sorenson Avenue. He will graduate in June and will enter pilot training soon after receiving his commission.

Selection criteria for the appointment was based on academic standing, demonstrated leadership ability, both in the AFROTC and in extra-curricular activities, drill performance, initiative and aptitude for military service.

Key officers appointed to assist the wing commander are Kenneth J. Will, deputy commander; Dodson J. Campbell, deputy for operations; Gayle D. Heckel, deputy for materiel; Grant W. Hollis, deputy for personnel; Richard J. Wirth, comptroller; Dick H. Kirkland, wing adjutant, and Thomas D. Scott, band commander.

Flight training group officers include Robert C. Hawkins, who is commander of the group; James D. Hartman, executive officer; Charles M. Calhoun, operations officer; Jack Miller, adjutant, and Van A. DePriest, supply officer.

Air base group officers include Wendell R. Long, commander of the group; Willis J. Pauley, executive officer; Robert G. Payne, operations officer; Floyd J. Farrell, adjutant, and William A. Puckett, supply officer.

The four squadron command positions are assigned to John F. Taylor, William A. Agnew, John M. Massey and Roderick Clutter.

Winter Quarter Registration Will Start Next Monday

Registration for students now on campus will be held during the two weeks of November 8-19 inclusive, according to an announcement by G. W. McCoy, registrar, today.

All students who plan to attend the Winter quarter must see their advisor/counselor and prepare a preliminary registration, he said. The preliminary registration must then be taken to the Registrar's office, where the students will receive enrollment cards.

Persons not now enrolled who plan to attend the Winter quarter will register on December 8.

Union Committees Plan Square Dance

Students on Union committees will be entertained at a "Dude Ranch Party" on Thursday, November 11, in the Great Hall, according to Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Student Union. The affair is scheduled to last from 7:30 until 10:30 p.m. and will feature square dancing. Ray Bauer will call the steps.

Chairmen for the party committees are Sharon Bebout, favors; Barbara Hulvershorn, games; Eldon Katter, posters; Rosemary Mohr, music and caller;

Jim Barney and John Conaway, guests; Don Groeninger, invitations; Bobbie Campbell, food; and Anita Adders and Rosemary Mohr, chuck wagon decorations.

Vocational Rehabilitation

Do you know that the term "Vocational Rehabilitation" means? Did you know that this bureau has its office right here at Evansville College? Probably you have strolled right past this office and never noticed or at least never wondered what it does or what it stands for.

"Vocational Rehabilitation" is a long, heavy term but the process it labels is one of the most creative accomplishments in this modern era of education. The public program for Vocational Rehabilitation as it is known today, is a cooperative program of the state and federal governments, to restore the physically handicapped to lives of usefulness and independence.

Previously society thought it was sufficient to keep a sick or disabled person alive and dependent on the family or some sort of public assistance for his livelihood.

These sick or disabled persons have the same aspirations and goals in life as the physically strong. Prior to 1920 these people were condemned to a living death of partial and in some cases almost total disability.

For these people living or merely existing is not enough. For life to be worth while, it must have a meaning. For a person to merely exist is probably more meaningless and more cruel than death.

In 1920 the U.S. Congress recognized the need of these people and passed legislation which provided limited aid for them. As a state, Indiana recognized its responsibility in this project in 1921 and the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation has been a part of the Department of Public Instruction ever since.

That the need for such a bureau exists is proven in the fact that one of the principal obstacles in the placement of handicapped workers is their lack of training for a job.

That is exactly the purpose of the Vocational Rehabilitation program; to prepare physically the individual to use his remaining abilities and to train him to use these abilities to earn a respectable wage and a corresponding place in society comparable to his more fortunate fellow worker.

There are several students on campus who are receiving aid in the form of paid tuition from this division. These students are handicapped in some way or another which has prevented them from leading normal lives.

This is not a form of charity. The Vocational Rehabilitation Division is not a charitable institution. These people who are receiving benefits might not have been able to attend college otherwise. It is both a just and enterprising bureau of our government.

It is enterprising for this reason: for every tax dollar spent on these people, the governments, both state and federal, receive more than triple the amount spent, in income taxes. It actually costs the taxpayers less to train these people for a job than to continue any other form of aid for their benefit.

Those Green Beanies

The abundance of green hats on campus, symbolizing the green freshman, means one thing for E.C. At least the students are taking an interest in themselves and in their school.

In previous years, the green hat idea didn't go over so well. Most of the students took such an indifferent attitude toward this very mild form of hazing that the whole program went over like a lead balloon. This year the freshman program has found both adherents and resisters among the first year students. Whether as a student, you like it or not, remember that the sense of belonging has no peer. Belonging to something, anything, is most important.

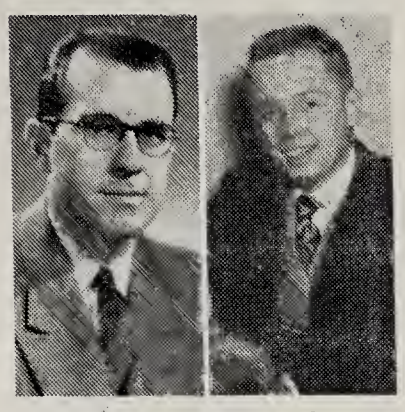
Faculty Adds Two Names To Roster In Business Field



Mr. Hauswald and Mr. Robinson

The business and economics department added two new names to its faculty roster this fall. They are Edward L. Hauswald, assistant professor of economics, and Richard Robinson, assistant professor of management.

Mr. Hauswald came to Evansville College from Indiana university, where he completed his residence work on a Ph.D. while serving as Teaching Fellow and research assistant in the department of economics.

Worked in Cryptography

Professor Hauswald was born and reared in Corydon, Ind. Before World War II, he attended the University of Denver in Colorado, but his education was interrupted for four years for service. His military career in the Air Force tok him to the Mediterranean theatre of operations where he worked as a cryptographer. After the war he returned to the University of Denver, completed work on a B.S. in accounting and received an M.B.A. in business research. He taught business administration in Denver, working at the same time in the Bureau of Business Research.

For two years Mr. Hauswald taught at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and held the position of statistician at the Bureau of Business Research at that university.

Mr. Hauswald is married and has a son, David, who is six. The professor is a member of Delta Sigma Pi and Phi Epsilon Phi. In recent years he has compiled reports, made studies and written articles pertaining to the field of economics.

Mr. Robinson is a navy veteran.

Professor Robinson was born in Chicago but became a Hoosier 13 years later when he moved to Wabash, Ind. He was graduated from high school in Peru, Ind., in 1942.

After two years at Purdue university, Mr. Robinson entered the Navy where he served as a quartermaster striker aboard a submarine in the Pacific area.

When the war ended he returned to Purdue, but transferred to Indiana university later. He obtained a B.S. and B.A. in 1950. At the present time he is working on an M.A.

For about a year Mr. Robinson worked for RCA as a jack-of-all-trades. At that corporation he was in job analysis, was a suggestion system coordinator, superintendent of the activities association, photographer, reporter on the plant paper, disc jockey and public relations man. "I even fried chicken for eight hours once for the company picnic," he declared.

After leaving RCA, Professor Robinson served as executive secretary of the Seymour, Ind., Chamber of Commerce. Then, he was proprietor of the "Book Nook" in Bloomington, the restaurant where Hoagy Carmichael allegedly composed his immortal "Stardust." Mr. Robinson also taught part time at Indiana university and was assistant to a furniture executive.

Although Professor Robinson is not married he is an expert in the field of culinary art. The rumor around campus hints that he is a whiz with the pots and pans.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Wilbur Shaw is dead.

He died in a plane crash October 30 near Decatur, Ind. He was returning from the Chrysler Corporation proving grounds at Chelsea, Mich.

Wilbur Shaw probably did more for BIG CAR RACING than any other man. Aided by Tony Hulman's money, he raised the standards of the annual Indianapolis Classic. Because of him the prize money was raised and stiffer driver's tests introduced. Because of these two things a better brand of drivers race there. More and better cars try to be among the best thirty-three.

Wilbur Shaw knew racing. He was one of the few to ever win three of the 500 mile marathons. He, too, had his share of the heart breaks, the bad breaks. He climbed the ladder from greasy rung to greasy rung.

In 1927 a new name was added to the list of drivers. Shaw came in fourth on that, his first race, at the brick track. Then the Black Sisters perched on his shoulders. A timing gear, oil leaks, steering knuckles and other mechanical difficulties plagued him. With only 43 laps to go in the 1932 race, with him far out in front, a ring gear broke. The pit crew couldn't get him started again.

1933 found him coming in second. Then in '34, as he was overtaking Kelly Petillo, it began raining and the cars had to hold their positions for the last 100 miles.

The coveted honor came to Wilbur Shaw finally in 1937. In '39 he repeated the feat and in '40 he made it a triple. In the year of 1941 Wilbur had only a few laps to go, out in front, when an unbalanced wheel collapsed, spinning the car into the retaining wall. Wilbur was injured only slightly after slamming into the barrier at 117 m.p.h.

After recovering from the wreck, he decided it was time to hang up his helmet. Never again did he stare over the grease splattered windshield of a racer. After that time Wilbur always rode in the lead car, the Pacemaker.

Wilbur Shaw will be mourned in racing circles throughout the nation. He will soon be forgotten by the majority of the race watchers who, I feel, are interested only in seeing bloodshed and battered cars.

Wilbur Shaw was to Big Car Racing what Babe Ruth was to baseball. He (Shaw) didn't build the Indie Oval but he helped to fill it.

The shouting has begun. Election day is gone but not forgotten. There will be charges of vote buying, stuffing the ballot box and other perfectly normal political mancuverings. I don't know what the result will be as I write this. Unfortunately one side only can win. The other side then takes two years to tell us how the country is going to pot with the other party.

Unfortunately most people are too gullible. They believe whatever the candidates of their party say. Have you ever read some of the political malarkey in print? Very rarely will a political speech be printed in its entirety.

Only when we improve the caliber of the voters will we have better men representing us in that all important government. The old line boys are against educating the voters. It will cost them votes. The young men who want to improve government cannot get in because of the omnipotent machines.

Vicious circle. I predict that this country will survive and grow in spite of the politicians.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

In this issue of the Crescent, the two middle pages are devoted to the Student-Faculty Federation committees. Our federation is something that we can be proud of because it is one of the better student-faculty relation programs in the country.

The purpose of the federation is to provide a common meeting ground for the student association and faculty. All matters of mutual interest are attended to through the cooperation of the students and faculty in the Student Faculty Federaion. All disciplinary and administrative matters of the federation rest with the Administrative Board, which is composed of the four SGA officers and the three Deans of the college. The Administrative Board determines the number of federation committees and also determines what matters fall under each committee's jurisdiction.

Biblical-Chemical Display Provided By Sherockman

The Biblical-Chemical display in the case on the first floor of the Engineering building contains chemical elements and rocks commonly used both today and in Biblical times.

Set up under the supervision of Dr. Andrew Sherockman, professor of Chemistry, this display includes references from the Bible, showing where these chemicals are mentioned and explanations of their use today.

Changed regularly, these displays have also featured commercial displays from local industries, the most recent from Kent Plastics.

Publications

By Jim Schreiber

Mr. Schreiber, junior and member of Pi Epsilon Phi, is SCA president, editor of the LinC, a past chairman of the Union Board and secretary of Pi Delta Epsilon.

Today's special edition of the Crescent, publicizing the Student-Faculty Federation has been planned and carried out by the Publications committee.

Meeting every second and fourth Monday at 10 a.m., the committee decides policies for the LinC, Crescent and any other publication proposed by students.

Our committee is responsible for the selection of the editors and business managers of the campus newspaper and yearbook. Selected from applications submittd by interested students, in the past, these positions have not been announced until May Day. This year, the committee proposes to appoint the editors and business managers by the first of the spring quarter. This will enable the appointee to benefit from the knowledge and errors of his predecessor.

This committee also fills by appointment, vacancies occurring during the year in the offices of editor or business manager. Along with this, the committee determines the pay of these posts for the succeeding year.

Welfare

By Dorothy Baggett

Miss Baggett, junior and member of Phi Mu, is secretary of the Women's Council and served as secretary of the 1954 Homecoming. Due to insufficient time, she is being replaced by Bob Porro, senior and independent.

A very small percentage of the student activity fee goes into the Welfare Fund. Any student carrying at least twelve hours who has paid his activity fee, and who is not covered by other insurance, is entitled to the benefits of the Welfare Fund.

The Welfare Fund is used for assistance in paying hospital bills or physicians' fees. Examples of such fees would be brought about through injuries in physical education classes, other accidental injuries, appendectomies or other types of operations. The Welfare Committee does not accept applications for dental bills unless they involve surgery. Money is not granted for drugs, such as penicillin; and applications for aid for acne or other physical defects will not be considered by the Committee.

The maximum sum that the committee will submit on any application is $100. Almost invariably, the committee will honor applications and pay the entire bill for sums less than $100.

The committee has hopeful plans for this year. In addition to its regular duties of granting aid to students and coordinating all campus fund drives, it may buy more new equipment for the Health Center if it is so requested. The committee also plans to find new ways to improve the Welfare system on the college campus.

Athletics

By Jerry Neiswanger

Mr. Neiswanger, junior, is secretary of Phi Zeta, chairman of the Union Board and plays on basketball and baseball teams.

The Athletic committee consists of six students, three faculty members, and one ex officio member. The major duties of this committee can be summarized under four headings: (1) election of cheerleaders (2) pep assemblies, (3) inter-mural activities and (4) awarding of letters to the athletes.

This fall was the first year that the cheerleaders were elected by popular vote. A preliminary tryout was set to limit those trying out to twelve candidates. Last year's cheerleaders were automatically included in the final twelve if they were interested in trying out again. These twelve candidates then tried out in front of the student body, and six cheerleaders were elected.

One member's responsibility is setting up the programs for the pep assemblies for all home games in football and basketball. He assigns programs to the different organizations, and assemblies are scheduled for the day before a game. This is the first year the Athletic committee is in charge of pep assemblies.

This is also the first year that touch football was played in the intramural league. Anyone is eligible. Six teams were set up this fall for the round robin schedule. Trophies are given to the winning teams in football, basketball and softball and this year a traveling trophy will also be given to the winner of the intramural program, the team with the most points; ten points are given for each game.

Awarding of letters is done through the athletic department of the College. This department gives the Athletic committee a list of th potential letter winners. The committee approves this list and awards are made at various banquets.

What cigarette do college students go for? According to the latest, biggest coast-to-coast survey, students prefer Luckies to all other brands. And once again, the No. 1 reason is better taste. Of course Luckies taste better. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Try a pack. Maybe you'll be as fortunate as the student in the Droodle to the right, titled: Lucky smoker . . . faulty cigarette vending machine. Even if you're not, you'll enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Miss Bartlett, junior and member of Beta Sigma Omieron, is a cheerleader, president of MSM, Panhellenie assoeiation treasurer and was reeently eleeted to Who's Who.

The Fine Arts Committee of the Student-Faculty Federation is organized to promote the cultural advancement of every college student. This advancement is encouraged through projects, publicity releases and contributions to the cultural facilities of the college. These contributions include a tape recorder available to all campus organizations, several film strips on architectures, costumes, color, and design for class and organizational use; additional phonograph records for the Eades Music Room and a variety of art exhibits throughout the year.

The members of the Fine Arts Committee are chosen to represent the departments of music, public speech, art and language.

Among the duties of the Fine Arts Committee is the promotion of attendance at scheduled concerts, dramas or other events of an artistic nature, both at the College and in the community. The scheduling of art programs and speech activities is carried out in cooperation with the Administrative Board.

The Fine Arts committee, with the assistance of the instructor in public speech, arranges a schedule of debates and contests, recommends rules of eligibility and participation, and provides for financing such events and insuring attendance. The committee, in cooperation with the instructor in public speech and the College Theater, has supervision of the production of dramatics.

This year, the committee has included in its projects, the publicizing of the World University Fund and Religious Emphasis Week. Also the committee intends to set up a bulletin board for announcements about coming concerts and plays.

During the Christmas season, the Fine Arts Committee takes charge of decorations for the Administration Building. Plans are now under way for the etsablishment of a speech club which will meet at various times throughout the year and will be open to all students taking part in debate, drama and radio. The projects of the Fine Arts Committee are supported by a 10¢ allotment from the Student Activily Fee per full-time students.

Evansville to Meet Ball State in ICC Tilt

Aces Can Share ICC Crown

By Larry Sanders

"Make or break" will be the order of the day for the Evansville Aces when they tackle the Ball State Cardinals tomorrow at Reitz Bowl at 8 p.m. in a contest which holds the ICC championship in its outcome.

The "make or break" situation occurred for the Aces last week when their nearest competitor, Valparaiso, conquered the Butler Bulldogs 34-7. This game was the only chance that the Purple and White had for an undisputed championship should they stop the Cards. However, as the present situation stands the Aces are now in second place needing a victory to tie the Crusaders with identical 5-1 records.

Road Trips Unsuecessful

After some gloomy experiences on the road in their last three outings the Aces will be at full strength when they meet the invading Ball State college crew. Coach George Serdula will bring a squad of 33 here for the contest which will mean a second place tie for the visitors if they win. They are currently in the third place slot in the conference.

Governor "Sonny" Grady heads the parade of seven returning State regulars from last year's edition which posted a five wins, two losses, and one tied record. Grady was the ICC's leading scorer last year as a junior and he is among the leaders in this department again this season.

Fullbacks Fill Hole at Center

Coach Serdula opened the season with only one hole in his forward wall at center and two fullbacks have been tried at that position with good results.

Coach Paul Beek has been preparing his charges for the all-important contest with extensive workouts this week. After their 42-7 drubbing the Aces are up and fighting mad to get back on the road to victory.

The "road" has been gloomy though for the Aces in their last three games. They dropped two of the three and barely squeezed past St. Joseph with a second half comeback.

ICC Finale Tomorrow

COACH PAUL BECK'S Aces, who were held to 37 net yards rushing last week by the powerful Washington of St. Louis Bears, have a chance to cop a share of the ICC title tomorrow by defeating the Cardinals from Ball State.

The Cardinals romped over St. Joseph, 26-6, last week with Ned Schlosser, Sonny Grady and Len Bucskowski handling the scoring chores. Grady, the leading ground gainer in the conference, had runs of 42 and 49 yards to score one touchdown and set up another for the Cards and Schlosser scored two touchdowns in the game played on the State home field.

Evansville will be fighting to keep its head above the .500 per cent mark Saturday night but the local fans will be cheered by the fact that some of the ailing Aces will be back in the line-up. The Aces found themselves outmanned at St. Louis but came through the game with no serious injuries and should be in good shape this week with Corky Thompson and Chuck House returning to action. Dick Matthews has also returned to the Ace camp after being laid up with an attack of bronchitis.

The game between Ball State and Evansville should be rated as a toss up with only Evansville's needing the win for the championship tie establishing them as slight favorites. This game is a must for Coach Beck's crew and they will need the backing of the entire student body Saturday night to bring a share of the trophy home to Evansville, so let's be there.

Western Remains Unbeaten

NEXT WEEK'S OPPONENT, Western Kentucky, remained unbeaten by defeating Louisville University, 27-7, at Bowling Green. The Hilltoppers were paced by the passing of Jerry Nassano and the running of Jimmy Aurs from Evansville Reitz. Aurs seored three touchdowns, one on a pass from Nassano, and Nassano threw for the other TD. On their third scoring drive Nassano passed for 62 of the 66 yards needed for the score, culminating the drive with a 35 yard pass to Aurs in the end zone. The Hilltoppers have scored seven straight victories this season for a new record for the school.

Philo's, Yankees Deadlocked For Bowling League Lead

The Philos maintained their top spot in the student-faculty bowling league. Although the Four Roses lost two out of their three games last week the lead they had built up during the first two weeks of the competition was large enough to withstand the onrushing thrust of the Yankees. The Yankees captured all three of their games and moved up to a tie with the leaders. Five of the eight teams are within easy striking distance of the leader with better than .500 marks.

Bears Hand Aces Third Loss of Season

The Aces stepped out of the league and out of their class when they traveled to St. Louis last week to play the Washington Bears. Carl Snavley's well balaneed crew soundly trounced the Purple and White, 42-7.

The highly touted Bears left little doubt as to the outeome of the game the first time they gained possession of the ball. On sheer power plays the St. Louis men moved 53 yards with Bob Siegel, eighth ranked scorer among small college players, going over from the five-yard stripe. Siegel eonverted and the Bears led, 7-0.

A Lutterbaeh fumble set up the next Washington seore. Don Dunn sprinted the final six yards in the Bruins' fourteen-yard drive. Siegel's kiek was wide and the Bears had clawed out a 13-0 lead as the quarter ended.

Aees' Only Tally

Evansville pieked up its only seore early in the second stanza. A Jaekson to Whitaker pass put the Aces on the Washington five and on fourth down Bill Parrish went over for six. Scott converted and Washington's lead was eut to 13-7.

Washington's next score was set up when Dunn picked off a stray Evansville pass and earried to the Aees' fourteen yard stripe. One play later Siegel was standing in the end zone and the seore stood 19-7. Siegel's kiek was perfeet and it was 20-7.

Siegel Seores His Fourth

The Bears took up where they left off in the first half and started the second half with a 71-yard march elimaxed when Siegel went over from the one for his third TD and Washington's 32 point. Thirty-three to seven was the tally after Siegel kicked.

Bud George, after intercepting a Washington pass, was nailed in his own end zone for a safety and the final two Washington points.

Sport Staff Views National Football

Last week's mark of 26 right, 8 wrong and one tie helped the "'experts" to boost their over-all season record to a respectable 77 per cent. Here are our predictions for this week's games.

In the ICC, Evansville will gain their share of the conference crown by beating Ball State. In the battle for the cellar Indiana State will top DePauw. Butler will move out of the league and out of their class. They will lose to Washington of St. Lousi. Other games in the Midwest will see Michigan beat Illinois.

Indiana will make it two in a row against Miami of Ohio. Purdue will top Iowa. Miehigan State will top Washington State in an interseetional tilt. Wisconsin will bounee back and beat Northwestern in a Big Ten tilt. Ohio State will continue to roll against Pittsburg. Notre Dame will trounee winless Penn.

Down South, Alabama will top conference foe Tulane. Kentueky will beat winless Vanderbilt. Maryland, who has played like "champs" and "chumps" on alternating weeks should have enough to top North Carolina State. Mississippi will run over Memphis State. Surprisingly strong Arkansas will beat eonference foe Rice. SMU will beat eonference foe Texas A&M.

In the East, Army will continue to roll against Yale. Navy will surprise Duke. Princeton will win their first game against Harvard.

On the west coast, California will beat eonference foe Washington. Top-ranked UCLA will beat Oregon. Southern California will keep their conferenee hopes alive with a win over Stanford.

Other games around the nation will see Oklahoma beat Iowa State, West Virginia beat Fordham, and Cincinnati beat Arizona State.

Aces Among Leaders In ICC Statistics

Ken Lutterback, Evansville's power-driving dynamo, tops the ICC in rushing according to statistics released last week. Bill Parish, J. O. Jackson, and end Ron Whitaker are also among the leaders in different departments of the official individual statistics.

Lutterback has amassed 455 net yards gained to lead in the rushing department. This total is a result of carrying the ball 77 times. Bill Parish ranks fourth in this section after carrying the ball 44 times and gaining 244 yards.

J. O. Jackson is sixth among the conference's leading passers with a total of 167 yards gained and two scoring aehievements. Jaekson has hit on 13 of 25 heaves. Gordon Helms of Valparaiso leads this department with 28 eompletions in 52 attempts, 598 yards gained, and nine scoring thrusts.

Helms leads in total offense with 590 yards gained and Lutterbach is 134 yards back in third place. Ron Whitaker, Aces' right end, is fourth in pass receiving with twelve catches good for 120 yards and two touchdowns. Lutterbach is again among the leaders in punting as the fourth man with a 31.8 average in eight times punting.

Evansville's two high seorers are again in the leaders' list. Lutterbach and Parish are ranked third and sixth in scoring. Lutterbach has tallied for five touehdowns and Parish has erashed into the end zone four times.

Freshmen 'Suffer' as Jurors Discipline Beanie 'Violators'

By Larry Sanders

Justice took a holiday last Friday when the first "Kangaroo Court" of the year was held to deal with the straying freshmen who didn't heed to the call of the Beanie.

First year students who were convicted, and there were none acquitted, were dealt with in different and rare forms of justice. For instance, the frosh girls had to wander about the campus during the day in alluring sacks and over-sized shoes. Also, the painted green noses added to their appearance.

Judge of the affair was Jack Combs, senior, and Doug Barthlow was the crooked and merciless prosecuting attorney. (Ask any freshman.) Danny Stiles was chairman of the jury which took its time deliberating on a case—about thirty seconds.

The men of the fated class were subject to the painted noses and a prolonged form of punishment. However, this type of punishment has disappeared by now. Two boys realized lifelong ambitions when they gave each other raw egg shampoos.

The "Greenies," however, proved to be good sports about the entire action. It is expected that those defendants who did not make the scene last week will be summoned to the court room in the second session. Many more are expected to fill the court chamber as a result of the "Salute Day" festivities held on Wednesday.

EC Student Nurses Attend State Meet

Twenty-three Welborn Baptist-Evansville College student nurses attended the convention of the Indiana Association of Student Nurses at Indianapolis last Saturday, October 30. Representatives from all eight state districts were present at the meeting.

In the morning the student nurses were taken on a tour through Fort Benjamin Harrison.

After registration in the afternoon, a business meeting was held. Association members discussed a membership drive, setting their goal at one thousand new members.

Also taken up at the convention were plans for the spring meeting which will be held in Evansville. At this event delegates plan to go through the Mead Johnson plant. They will be guests at a dinner at Evansville College, the Welborn Baptist-Evansville College student nurses acting as hostesses.

On the entertainment program of the business meeting were two Indiana University medical students who performed pantomimes. Guest speaker was Miss Benson, interior decorator for the L. S. Ayers company in Indianapolis.

After dinner and a discussion, the convention adjourned.

ADDRESSES ENGINEERS

Dr. John Kronsbein, head of the engineering department, spoke to members of the Evansville chapter of the American Society of Refrigeration Engineers at their dinner meeting Tuesday evening.

Ami Goffer Called To Home In Israel

Foreign student, Ami Goffer, has returned to Tel Aviv, Israel. Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, stated that Mr. Goffer was called home by the illness of his father who has recently undergone a serious operation. The elder Mr. Goffer is a Tel Aviv businessman.

Ami was a sophomore majoring in history and political science. Several years ago his brother, Akiva, was graduated from Evansville College. Dr. Walker said that it was because of his brother's experience here that Ami came to the United States. He began his education at Roosevelt college in Chicago but later transferred here.

Arnold Air Society Initiates Fourteen Advanced Cadets

Activities for the "mock" initiation of the AFROTC cadets into the Arnold Air Society have ended. With "hell" week ceremonies concluded fourteen cadets have become members of the organization.

Mock initiation included the carrying of "gold" bricks every place they went, the wearing of enlarged shoulder boards, and the executing of facing and marching movements as they moved from one place to another.

In addition, initiates were required to assume the position of attention when approached by upperclassmen and to know the names of the commanding generals of major commands of the Air Force as part of their mock initiation.

The fourteen cadets who will be formally initiated on Friday, November 5, are Cadets John Conaway, Curran Cotton, Jerry Neiswanger, Edward Groeninger, Joe Kirk, Archie Griggs, Bob Small, Royce Gipson, Arthur Kasey, Jack Miller, Jesse Hughes, Floyd Ferrell, Dallas Graham, John Dieg and Ray Happel.

SAI Will Honor Province President At Dinner Tonight

The Beta Epsilon chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, honorary music fraternity for women, will have a dinner and musicale this evening at seven o'clock in the McCurdy Alumni Union.

The dinner is being given to honor the Iota province president, Mrs. Helen May, whose home is in Arlington, Va. Mrs. May is making her annual visits to college chapters in her province.

The musicale, which will be presented in the lounge after the dinner, will include vocal and instrumental numbers. Betty Letsinger will sing, "If You Must Go, Go Quickly" by Ethel Hier.

A string trio composed of Ruth Ann Smith, violin; Elizabeth Smith, cello, and Jean Meyer, piano, will interpret several selections. The program will be concluded with a piano solo by Mary Nell Minto Plane and a violin number, "Improvisation," played by Nancy Lai.

Naval Interviews Set for Thursday

Lieutenant (j.g.) Thomas R. Jervis, a representative from the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Cincinnati, will be in the Student Union Thursday, November 11, at 9 a.m. to interview senior men interested in obtaining commissions as officers in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Lieutenant Jervis will explain the opportunities available in the Navy and the qualifications and procedure for applying for a commission. All interested men are invited.

SORORITY PRESENTS GIFT

Beta Sigma Omicron has presented the large replica of the College seal which was used by the sorority as the theme of its prize-winning float in the Homecoming parade to the Union building.

"The seal will be used in the future to help decorate for some of the Union functions," Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union, said.

The seal is in the college colors, purple and white, and is approximately nine feet in diameter.

Choir Will Sing At Convention In Indianapolis

Evansville College choir has been invited to sing at the annual Indiana Music Educator's association convention at Indianapolis Thursday, November 18. The convention will include Indiana music teachers from all levels of education.

The choir will also make appearances at Greenwood and Spencer Methodist churches before returning to Evansville Friday evening.

Included in the tour repertoire will be both sacred and secular numbers. Among the sacred numbers are "Presentation of Christ in the Temple," by Eccard; "Ave Maria," by Vittoria; "Create in Me, O God," and "Grant Unto Me the Joy of Thy Salvation," by Brahms. "Ballade of the Trees," included in the sacred group, is written by Mrs. Wesley Shepard, choir director and co-head of the Evansville College music department.

Another local composer's work to be sung at Indianapolis is "I Hear a Song," by Richard Hyatt, choir director at Bosse high school. The popular songs from "Brigadoon" by Loewe will be included in the secular numbers.

According to Mr. Marvin Hartig, who is arranging the tour, the choir members will spend Thursday night at Greenwood and will be housed in private homes.

Roulston Appointed Assistant Registrar

Mrs. Dorothe Roulston, secretary in the registrar's office for the past two years, has been advanced to the position of assistant registrar, G. R. McCoy announced this week.

Mrs. Roulston is a graduate of the University of Louisville and Bryant and Stratton Business college, where she taught after she was graduated.

Later she was employed as secretary to the Farm Management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration of Kentucky. The Office was a division of the Department of Agriculture with the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

For the last twelve years Mrs. Roulston, with her husband and two daughters, has lived in Evansville.

Community Chest Drive Next Week For EC Students

Students and faculty at Evansville College are participating in a campus campaign to raise $2,000, the college goal this year for the Community Chest Fund.

Chairman of the drive is Marvin Hartig, faculty, assisted by William Steier, student vice chairman. Committee members from the administration, faculty, students, secretarial and custodial staff are contacting all college personnel for contributions.

The faculty drive for Chest funds will be completed by the end of this week, according to Mr. Hartig. Students will start a week-long drive next Monday, November 15.

As in last year's student drive, each organization on campus will submit a candidate to represent it. The candidates' names will be placed on bottles in the Union building, and from the amount of money collected, a Mr. and Mrs. Red Feather will be chosen.

The winners will be announced at the basketball game on November 25 when they will be presented with trophies. The student campaign is being conducted by the SGA Welfare committee, Bob Porro, chairman.

Dad's Day at EC tomorrow will be something speeial for Fred Hulvershorn, elass of '28, beeause it means he ean attend all the events as the guest of his daughter, Barbara, a freshman. During his student days at Evansville College, while getting a B.S. in business administration, "Dad" Hulvershorn was president of the Phi Zetas, was on the Creseent staff and played baeball. The Dad's Day program is getting their full attention in the pieture.

EC Will Honor Fathers At Dad's DayCelebration

Evansville Collcge has issued an invitation to all "dads" to attend tomorrow's program in their honor and to participate in the festivities of Dad's Day.

The program will start with the football game at Reitz Bowl, where Acting President Dean Long will present the "dad of the year" award. Following the game, a cabaret dinner will be served in the college eafeteria, beginning at 5:30 p.m. The dinner will be in traditional cabaret style, with cigarette girls, mustachioed faculty waiters and appropriate music.

After dinner, all of the dads are invited to attend the Evansville Theater's production of Harvey in the auditorium, where a special section will be reserved for them.

Dinner tickets must be bought today. Price is $1.25 per person. A complimentary, tax-free football ticket will be given for each dad purchasing a dinner ticket.

If a dad is unable to come to the dinner, but wants to attend the game, he will be admitted upon identification and payment of a 25 cent tax.

ART SOCIETY TO INITIATE

Members of Kappa Pi, national art society, will conduct their fall initiation in the Union building Sunday, November 14, at 1:30 p.m.

Initiates are Carolyn Kerr, Nanine Engle, Connie Miller and Dorothy Jones. Fred Eilers will be made an associate member.

National Fraternity Plans Formation Of Local Chapter

Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social college fraternity, is to colonize at Evansville College by invitation and cooperation of the college administration, according to an announcement by Dr. James Morlock, dean of men.

All interested male students are invited to meet in the Auditorium at 10 a.m. Thursday, November 18. Attendance at this initial gathering is not binding on the individual or Sigma Phi Epsilon and is intended as a fact-finding meeting on the part of the student and the fraternity, he said.

A follow-up meeting will be held Friday evening, November 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the Union lounge. Field secretary Bill Davis from the fraternity's national headquarters, will be in charge of all affairs. Assisting him will be Evansville alumni from Sigma Epsilon chapters at Indiana university and Indiana State.

Interested students may contact Dr. Morlock for more information. Rushing material and the fraternity's quarterly magazine are available for inspection.

STUDENT DIRECTORY

The 1954-55 edition of the Evansville College student directory is now at the printers and should be out soon. The booklet contains the name, address and telephone number of each person now enrolled.

Every student is entitled to one directory free. Additional copies will be 15 cents. They will be available in the book store shortly.

WINTER REGISTRATION OPENS

Registration for the winter quarter will continue through next week until November 19. Advisors have office hours posted on their doors, and students may sign these schedules for appointments.

Students not enrolled for the fall quarter will register on December 8.

Dr. C. A. Wise Guest Speaker For Programs

Dr. Carroll A. Wise, professor of pastoral psychology and counseling at the Garrett Biblical institute, will conduct Vesper services in the Great Hall of the McCurdy Alumni Union on Sunday, November 14, at 4 p.m. Subject of his address will be "Accepting the Grace of God."

The Sunday Vesper services will mark the opening of Religious Emphasis Week. Dr. Wise will remain on campus to take part in the event.

Dr. Wise has had experience as a chaplain, counselor, minister and writer. From 1931 to 1943, he was chaplain at the Worcester State hospital in Worcester, Mass. At the same time he worked as counselor at the YMCA and YWCA in the same city. He was also a part-time instructor at Boston university.

In 1942, Dr. Wise became the director of the department of religion and health of the Toledo Council of Churches. Prior to accepting his present position with the Garrett Biblical institute, he was minister of counciling for the Hennepin Avenue Methodist church in Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. Wise is the author of two books published by Harpers, "Religion in Illness and Health" and "Pastoral Counseling: Its Theory and Practiee." He has also written numerous articles which have appeared in scientific and religious publications.

Besides speaking at Religious Emphasis meetings, Dr. Wise will appear in several classes during his stay on campus.

Dr. Wise

Acitivities Include Daily Convocations, Group Conferences

November 14 through 17 will be dedicated to Religious Emphasis on the Evansville College campus. Programs for this event have been arranged by a Religious Emphasis committee of which Gilbert Bumb is chairman.

Activities will begin on Sunday afternoon with Vesper services in the Great Hall of the Union building, with Dr. Carroll A. Wise the guest speaker. At 7:30 in the evening a reception will be held in the Fine Arts building.

Student-Faculty Assemblies

On each of the three week-day mornings set aside for Religious Emphasis, a student-faculty assembly will convene at 10 o'clock in the Great Hall. Dr. Wise will speak at each of these meetings also.

While the assemblies are being held in the Union, students will also gather in Room A303 each morning to listen to Father Donald Walpole, O.S.B. This part of the program is being sponsored by the Newman club. Subject of Father Donald's series of discussions will be "Art and Religion."

On Monday and Tuesday, students and faculty will have luncheon with Dr. Wise in Room B of the cafeteria. During the afternoons, personal interviews and group conferences will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Persons interested in participating in these conferences should make arrangements with Lowell Foster.

Social Clubs to Partieipate

Monday evening at 5:30, members of INCA will dine with Dr. Wise in the cafeteria. A dinner is scheduled for Tuesday at the same time for persons belonging to S.C.A., M.S.M., Kappa Chi and Inter-Varsity. Bob Hawkins and Frank Powers are in charge of the INCA dinner.

Under the supervision of Archie Griggs, Bob Kettlehut and Paul Bingham, fraternities will meet on Monday at 7 p.m. in the clubroom. Rosemary Mohr, Alma Dean Wilson, Sue Chenoweth and Elizabeth Winsett are in charge of the joint meeting of sororities which will take place on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Religious Emphasis activities will end on Wednesday morning with the student-faculty assembly and the Newman club meeting.

EC Newman Club Will Sponsors Father Walpole's Campus Talk

Father Donald Walpole, O.S.B., will appear on the Religious Emphasis program each morning under the sponsorship of the Newman club. Father Donald teaches history of art and art appreciation at St. Meinrad seminary.

After he joined the Benedictine order as a monk in 1938, he was privately tutored in art techniques by Dom Gregory DeWitt, who was living at the abbey and painting murals in the monastery and church. Later, under the guidance of the other artist, Father Donald painted a mural in the abbey chapel.

Father Donald received an M.S.A. from the Art Institute of Chicago, where he studied and practiced in most fields of graphic arts, etching, lithography, engraving in wood and copper, and silk screen printing. In 1952 one of his wood engravings which was exhibited in the Library of Congress received national recognition by being selected as a best print of the year.

Besides lecturing on art in religion, Father Donald will exhibit selections from his work and will project some of his paintings on slides. The Newman club extends an invitation to the public to attend its contribution to Religious Emphasis Week.

ENGLISH PROFICIENCY TEST

Seniors who have not passed the English profieieney test will have one more ehance to take this test during Finals week, December 1, the Faeulty Committee on English Proficieney announced this week.

Time and plaee for the test will be given in the regular examination sehedule.

No student is eligible for graduation until he has passed this test, the eommittee ehairman reminded seniors.

Late News Breaks

The college choir will present a "sneak preview" of its tour program for all students Wednesday, November 17, in the Great Hall of the Union building at 8 p.m. Following the concert a dance will be held in the Patio with music by the Phi Mu Alpha dance band. The Union Finance and House committees are in charge of arrangements for both the concert and the dance.

Sigma Pi Sigma, national physics society, will conduct a field trip to WFIE, local television station.

All students who are interested in physics or electronics are invited to join the tour. Tuesday, November 16, at 7:30 p.m. John Miller or other members of the society will arrange transportation.

Religious Emphasis Week

Next week has been designated as Religious Emphasis Week. Probably that doesn't mean much to you. After all, almost everybody or everything has a week or at least a day dedicated to them. Everybody professes to some religion or some deity. And this is your opportunity to dedicate yourself to the higher moral values that your creed or denomination offers.

Make Religious Emphasis Week last all year and dedicate both yourself and your actions to God and your Church.

Behind The Scenes

It won't be long before the first college play of the season will be presented in our auditorium. There is nothing significant about that; every college and university has on its campus a group of people interested in acting and play production. At this moment there is probably another John Barrymore muffing his lines at some college play rehearsal.

No, there's nothing outstanding about EC putting on a play. The exasperating thing about our plays is this: the same people are usually included in almost every play. This, of course, arouses uncomplimentary comments about the management of the plays.

A lot of people on campus think that these people have first choice on the parts in each play.

Nothing could be further from the truth. The important factor is this: only a handful of students are willing to sacrifice their time and energy in order to turn out a good play. In wartime for every man on the front line, in actual combat, there are about seven men required for miscellaneous duties in the background.

The same holds true in a play production. For each person who has a part there should be several individuals willing to work on the sets, lighting and all the other little jobs that demand attention. The situation is so bad here at EC that these same people who have parts must attend to all of these little jobs themselves. The time that they spend on doing these important little things could be spent on rehearsal which in turn would make for a smoother performance.

A list was posted for those who wanted to help in the forthcoming production. All anyone had to do was sign. Guess how many did? About two or three! Two or three people decided that they could spare enough time to help.

When "Harvey" is finally performed before an audience, the actors will deserve much more credit than they receive for merely repeating their lines. Why? Because every bit of work that went on behind the scenes was done by the same people who had parts in the play.

Here is a situation which must be remedied, and the remedy is simple. When you have a problem, the first thing to do is look around for a solution. Here we have both a problem and a solution. The solution is this: get more students to take an interest in this vital aspect of college training.

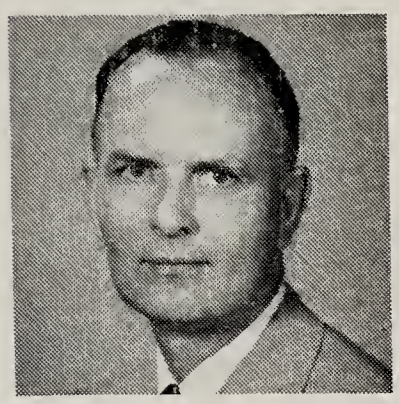
Moores Hill Native Joins Engineering Department Staff

Mr. Harold T. Houston, new instructor in the engineering department, was born in Moores Hill, Ind., the original site of Evansville College. He was educated at the high school which was housed in the same building as the old college. "Some of the teachers taught both high school and college courses," he explained.



Mr. Houston

When he was 16, Mr. Houston spent a summer in Norfolk, Va., working at an army base. Several years later, after his graduation from high school, he traveled to Chicago. In the Windy City, he obtained a position with Western Electric and went to night school to pick up credits toward a degree. In 1929 he was graduated from the University of Chicago.

In 1933 the depression was rampant in the United States so the new instructor returned to Moores Hill. "Those were the days," he reminisced. "I rented a house for six dollars a month."

For the past 20 years Mr. Houston lived in Moores Hill and commuted to Lawrenceburg, Ind., where he was employed as chief industrial engineer at the Schenley company. Last summer that corporation shut down its Indiana plant permanently.

During World War II, Mr. Houston taught training courses at Lawrenceburg in cooperation with Purdue university. At Evansville College he teaches mechanical drawing and machine shop techniques. He is an instructor of engineering.

In his spare time Mr. Houston plays tennis. "Not as much as I used to, though," he said.

While at Moores Hill he participated in church activities and was Sunday school superintendent at the Methodist church.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

I greatly appreciated the enthusiasm and turnout we had for the initial meeting of the President's Roundtable. We had a very profitable meeting and I hope we can look forward to many more. If any organization which was not represented at the first meeting wishes to be a member, they must be approved by a majority of the present roundtable. If these organizations will get in touch with me I will see that they are nominated for membership. There were seven invited organizations who were not represented at the first meeting. It was the responsibility of the president of those organizations to attend or to make provision for their membership on the roundtable. Any president who did not do so has certainly let down those who elected him.

The matter came up in the meeting as to what power the roundtable could have. It was finally agreed that on any resolution going to the Administrative Board, the SGA officers would not be mandated to vote for it on the board. But if this resolution should fail to pass the board, it will be brought up again at the next roundtable meeting. If at this meeting the resolution receives a two-thirds vote of the roundtable, the resolution is returned to the Administrative Board and the SGA officers mandated to vote for it. This in effect would give the power of the Administrative Board to the roundtable because the four SGA officers hold the edge in voting on the board.

This probably would become an amendment to the present SGA constitution and would require a referendum of the student body.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Some of the pollsters were right in '54. Everyone remembers the fateful '48 polls when only Harry forecast the election. But this year the question-answer boys were right. The most conclusive fact is that more people are splitting their tickets and are voting for the men rather than the party.

There are many explanations about why the Demos downed the Repubs. Among the ones I have heard are: The out-of-workers feel that the Republican party is to blame. Whether this is right is highly debatable. Some feel that the tax cut by Congress this year benefitted only 20% of the tax-paying public — stockholders — was unfair. Some felt, in the first place, that this was hardly the year to institute a tax cut. Others felt that the cut (there had to be one to fulfill the '52 campaign pledges) should have benefitted the common people, the 80%. Many of them felt that the Demos were more for the common man and less for the big boys.

The best reason I heard is that every year that it snows on election day the Demos win. Now there could be a very valid reason for this. Political forecasters say that the bigger the vote, the more likely the Repubs are to win. In bad weather fewer people are apt to vote.

Whatever our own personal feelings are about the men that were elected, whatever we feel about the party in power, we should not condemn them from the start. The long range effect is more important than the short range.

Before condemning any party ask yourself the question — why am I a member of my party? I'll give you high odds that the majority will find that they are a member of their party only because their fathers and mothers were members of that party. Very few of us reason out what party is the best for our way of life, our beliefs and our professions.

Some still remember. A woman up in Michigan wanted to send some records to her son's outfit in Korea. She wanted only 400 discs. Someone buzzed the DeeJays about her problem. They began plugging her cause. The Air Force promised to fly them over or her. They could fill some vacant spot on a plane anyway. Soon the gal was covered up with records. At last count she had over 4,000. The Air Force backed down — too big a job. A Congressman is seeing what he can do to get fast delivery.

Most of ROTC Graduates Will Become Pilots

More than 104,000 young men are enrolled in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps this year at 206 colleges and universities across the nation and in Hawaii and Puerto Rico, it was announced recently by Headquarters AFROTC.

The total enrollment consists of 48,470 freshmen, 31,750 sophomores, 9,750 juniors and 14,000 seniors. Air Force officials at AFROTC Headquarters in Montgomery, Ala., predict that approximately 75 per cent of this year's seniors will be qualified for flight training either as pilots or observers. The remaining 25 per cent of the graduation class are scientific or technical specialists majoring in critieal fields.

The AFROTC program graduated some 11,000 last June, and of this number approximately 8,000 were qualified for flight training. The majority of the other graduates received commissions in the Air National Guard of Washington, D.C.

Many changes and improvements have been made in the new generalized curriculum which is being used for the second year course of study here at EC and across the nation.

This curriculum has two general areas of instruction. The first area is that of improving the citizen for living in the "Air Age." The second area is that of providing instruction necessary for developing the leadership capabilities and officer qualities of the advanced corps cadet, qualifying him to assume his role as a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

AFROTC Cadets Take Field Tour

Approximately 100 AFROTC Cadets left today for a field trip to Sewart Air Force Base. The Cadets were transported via three C-119 aircraft from Sewart.

The Cadets took off from Dress Memorial Airport at 8 a.m. this morning and will return later this evening.

The trip will include a tour of the base facilities such as operations, weather and simulated training sections. The trip will be highlighted by an aerial performance by a helicopter and an aerial drop of supplies by C-119's under simulated combat conditions.

SELFRIDGE MUSICAL SPEAKER

Cecil Selfridge, associate professor of voice at Evansville College, appeared before the Morning Musical meeting last Tuesday in the Union Building. At that time, Mr. Selfridge reviewed the program to be presented by Richard Tucker, Metropolitan Opera tenor, Sunday in the Coliseum.

ATTENDS MEETING

Marvin Hartig, director of the Evening College, was in Milwaukee this week, attending the annual meeting of the American Association of University Evening Colleges.

En route to Milwaukee, Mr. Hartig stopped in Chicago to attend a workshop on educational television at the conference of the Adult Education Association.

Background Knowledge Survey Taken on Campus by David

Recently a survey was taken on campus among 192 students now enrolled in history and political science, made under the direction of Dr. Wade David, head of the history department. It was conducted to determine the background knowledge of participating students.

Compiling a list of questions selected from a Regents examination given to high school seniors in New York state, Dr. David formed a questionnaire. The New York tests are given to examine students on their fitness for college entrance.

The first part of the survey contained questions pertaining to political science, while the last was a language quiz. All questions were supplied with multiple-choice answers.

Figures, compiled by history students Ott Hyatt and George Dockery, show the following results.

Tests were taken by 88 freshmen, 46 sophomores, 32 juniors, 23 seniors, two special and one unclassified.

On the political science part of the exam, freshmen made these scores: Perfect, one per cent; Excellent, 25 pr cent; Good, 43 per cent; Passing, 24 per cent; and Failed, 7 per cent.

Sophomores: Excellent, 16 per cent; Good, 47 per cent; Passing, 29 per cent; and Failed, 7 per cent.

Juniors: Excellent, 25 per cent; Good, 63 per cent; and Failed, 13 per cent. No junior made just a passing grade.

Seniors: Excellent, 17 per cent; Good, 39 per eent; Passing, 35 per cent; and Failed, 9 per cent.

Discrepancies in the total percentages resulted because three unclassified students were not figured into the final analysis.

Language tests produced these results. Freshmen: Perfect, 4 per cent; Excellent, 25 per cent; Good, 19 per cent; Passing, 20 per cent; and Failed, 32 per cent.

Sophomores: Perfect, 4 per cent, Excellent, 35 per cent; Good, 15 per cent; Passing, 20 per cent; and Failed, 7 per cent.

Juniors: Perfect, 13 per cent; Excellent, 37 per cent; Good, 9 per cent; Passing, 12 per cent; and Failed, 28 per cent.

Seniors: Perfect, 4 per cent; Excellent, 22 per cent; Good, 22 per cent; passing, 30 per cent; and Failed, 22 per cent.

On the political science questionnaire, only one person, a freshman who had had no courses in political science, made a perfect score. Eleven students had all correct on the language test. Fifteen flunked the first part of the quiz and 56 the second.

Ten persons out of 43 who had studied national government failed in the political science exam; nine out of 36 who had completed a course in state and local government flunked it. At the same time 11 students out of 110 who had had no government courses failed it.

Dr. David said he had not yet studied the survey closely enough to draw any conclusions from it.

Lai - Hobgood Plan Joint Junior Recital

A combined Junior recital will be given Friday, November 12, at 4 p.m. in the Music building of Evansville College. Miss Nancy Lai and Miss Louise Hobgood, both juniors at Evansville College will perform.

Miss Lai, a violin major, will play "Concerto in G Minor," by Max Bruch, " I — Vorspiel . . . II— Adagio, Odor" by Alan Hovaness and "Improvisation" by Dmitri Kabalevsky.

Miss Hobgood, a voice major, soprano, will sing "Although the Ancient Ports" and "O Lovely Eyes" by Berger, "Lied" by Franck, "Carden of Seraglio" by Delius, "Cupid Capive" by LaForge. She will be accompanied by Miss Carol Schoolfield.

'Mozart Aria" will be given by Miss Lai and Miss Hobgood. This is voice with violin obligato.

After the recital a reception will be held in the music department. The recital is open to the public.

Faculty Dames Plan Discussion Meeting

"Hands Across the Sea" is the theme for the Faculty Dames meeting of November 17 at 7:45 in the Club Room of the Student-Union building.

Three of Evansville College's foreign students will be guests for the meeting. They are Heroshi Kise from Okinawa, Dennis Robless from Malaya, and Erling Storsund from Norway. They will carry on an informal discussion of their native homelands, habits and formalities with the faculty wives.

Hostess chairman is Mrs. C. W. Roberson and assisting her will be Mrs. Guy B. Marchant, Mrs. William Affolder, and Mrs. Lawrence Anderson.

Mrs. F. W. Werking will bring the meeting to a close by reading a poem in connection with Thanksgiving and thanks.

Audio-Visual File Available at EC

Prof. F. Woody Werking, a member of the Evansville College Fine Arts committee, has announced that an audio-visual aid file is now available to local clubs and organizational groups.

According to Dr. Werking, off-campus users of this service, while not charged for their use, are requested to contribute the price of a filmstrop or two towards the expansion of this pool.

With these filmstrips are complete texts or subtitles. The films are in color and black and white.

Persons wishing to schedule showings should contact Professor Werking, phone 6-1341.

The guest writer this week is Bob Rundell, vice - president of S.G.A., member of S.C.A., Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia and Alpha Phi Omega.

Monday marks the beginning of a week that should be of great importance and interest to everyone on campus — Religious Emphasis Week.

Through the years that I have been here, these few days have always left their impact on the students. The worship services have always been well attended, as students tend to put off less important things.

It is a good thing that people become concerned about emphasizing religion in their lines. Too often during the busy turmoil that is charaeteristic of college life, we tend to disregard that fact. Perhaps if we should stop long enough to ask ourselves some honest questions, such as: What are the actual goals we are trying to obtain? Will these goals supply us with a well rounded life, physically, spiritually and morally? we may find that something has been left out.

There are two distinct types of people who treat religion in different ways. The first group are those who aecept religion as a part of their everyday lives, who realize the difference it makes when it plays a part and who try to grow in it day by day.

The second group is composed of those who realize the respect the importance of religion, and who would, perhaps, desire to make it more meaningful to them, but have yet to take that first step of accepting it.

If you fit into either of these catcgories, then it may be more worthwhile than you imagine to take a part in the activities of this netx week. For those who have accepted religion, it should deepen and strengthen that faith; for those who are thinking about it but have yet to accept it, you may very well find through the message delivered, or a hymn being sung, or in a discussion group, the beginning of a new era that will change your entire way of thinking and your outlook on life — this is the purpose of Religious Emphasis Week.

Student Christian Retreat To Be Held Next Week

Activities for the annual Student Christian Association Retreat have been outlined for the November 19-21 gathering at Camp Santa Claus. The theme of the retreat will be "Walking With the Master."

Doddie Johnson is the general chairman of the program. Cost of the two day session is $3.50. Religious classes will be held along with devotions by the entire group. Miss Johnson will be assisted by a program committee consisting of Phyllis Warnke, June Wedeking and Jane Chanley. They will work on the program of the weekend meetings and arrange times and places for the different studies.

Dr. and Mrs. V. W. Maves are the sponsors of the retreat and they will supervise the devotions. Mrs. Maves will be assisted by Mrs. Shirley Morgan, wife of a Fort Branch Methodist minister, in handling the cooking chores of the conclave.

Registrations may be made through Barbara Rundell and Marsha Madison. There is no pre-registration fee.

Besides the devotion periods and discussions there will be a contest to boost attendance at the affair. Four teams have been chosen to participate in the competition. The losing group will automatically receive the Saturday dish-washing duties.

High points of the daily activities will be the worship services, discussions and fellowship. The students will eat at the camp and sleep in the dormitories. Those attending are urged by the committee to "bring their Bibles, bedding and an open mind."

Werking Lists Cultural Dates

Cultural events for the weeks of November 11, 18, and 25 have been compiled by Prof. F. Woody Werking for the College Fine Arts committee. Events for the remaining period of November follow in the order in which they will appear.

Sweetheart Dance Planned by Zetas

Arrangements have been made for the annual Phi Zeta fraternity dance, the "Sweetheart Ball," and tickets are now on sale from actives and pledges of the organization.

The dance is scheduled for November 20 at the National Guard Armory. It will began at 9 p.m. and the last song will be played at midnight. Total cost of the tickets is $2.20, and music will be furnished by Glenn Gregory and his orchestra.

The "Sweetheart" will be crowned at the dance with John Conaway bestowing the traditional crown on the winner. The queen will be chosen by a committee of actives who will be appointed later.

Those who wish to vie for the honor will enter the Grand March and then they will be chosen. Sharon Greubel Gilmore reigned as queen last year.

LAST CRESCENT NEXT WEEK

Next week, November 19, is the final issue of the Crescent for the fall quarter. There will be no more publications after this date until the winter quarter begins. The initial issue at this period will be delivered on Friday, December 17. Therefore, it is suggested that all news happenings be turned in at the Crescent office or reported to a staff member concerning events which will come about during this open date.

Student Government Holds Round Table For Campus Laws

Presidents from 28 campus organizations attended the first round table meeting at Evansville College last Wednesday. The affair, a dinner meeting, was held in order to establish better reppresentation in the student government organization.

Bill Steier, president of the Student Government Association, presided over the meeting of the campus presidents. Other matters were also dealt with. A constitution for the round table was drawn up and dates for future meetings and various problems were discussed.

It was decided that the round table meetings will be held every second Wednesday of each month. Thirty-five campus organizations were invited to the first affair. It was decided that membership was established by attending this initial meeting and those organizations which didn't attend can only become members by a majority vote of the presidents.

Letters will be mailed two weeks prior to the December 8 meeting to all the previously invited campus groups. The agenda for the meeting will also be enclosed in the invitation. It is hoped that a speaker from the National Student Association will be on hand for this meeting.

'First Nurses Fair Is Success,' Boeke

"Members of the alumni association, student nurses and friends of the nursing program all worked diligently for months to make the fair a success," stated Prof. Mildred Boeke in summarizing the Nurses' Association Country Fair held at the Agoga Tabernacle last Friday.

Although the size of the crowd was disappointing, their enthusiasm helped make the affair, the first of what is to become an annual activity, a success. The fair had many scenes, from the country store with its fruits and vegetables, to the home-made candy booth set up by the freshman nurses to raise money to fill baskets for the needy on Thanksgiving.

The proceeds of the fair will go toward the $2500 in scholarships offered by the Baptist Hospital to nurses and for two $200 awards to trainees per year in the Evansville College-Baptist Hospital training program.

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

COLLEGE SMOKERS PREFER Luckies—and by a wide margin—according to the largest and latest coast-to-coast college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. The pleasure you'll get from Luckies' better taste is vividly depicted in the Droodle above, titled: Modern artist enjoying Lucky while glancing in mirror. See the ecstatic smile? Ball State Dips Aces in ICC

A three touchdown barrage in the fourth quarter by Ball State blasted the Aces out of the game and out of a chance to share with Valparaiso, the ICC crown. Governor "Sonny" Grady, State's nomination to repeat all - conference honors, rambled through and around the Aces' line for 154 yards on 21 carries for an outstanding 7.3 average. Grady scored the touchdown that erased a 7-6 Evansville halftime lead early in the fourth quarter and after that it was all Ball State.

The first quarter was strictly a punting duel between Ken Lutterbach and Bud Brideweser. Ball State finally got the break it needed when a Lutterbach punt went out of bounds on the State forty-five yard line. On the next play Grady went off tackle to the Aces' 17, with only a nape of the neck tackle by Bill Parrish delaying the inevitable touchdown. Ned Schlosser went to the ten on the following play. Then Lenn Buczkowski split the middle of the EC line for the final ten yards and the first Ball State six points. Bill Huff, who played an outstanding game up front for the Purple and White, blocked Grady's try for point and the first stanza ended with the up-state Cardinals leading 6-0.

A determined Evansville line stopped Ball State when it began to move again late in the second quarter. After stopping the visitors only fifteen yards from another touchdown the Aces moved 85 yards in thirteen plays to tie the game with 33 seconds remaining in the half. Captain Bob Scott calmly added the extra point, and the Aces enjoyed a slim 7-6 advantage as the gun sounded ending the first half.

After an eventless third quarter, that saw the Aces handle the ball only six times, the Ball State men broke loose. A Buczkowski to Grady pass play was good for twenty-three yards and the touchdown. Grady's kick was wide and the Aces were still within easy striking distance, trailing only 12-7. A blocked Lutterbach punt set up the first of two Ball State insurance touchdowns. After taking possession on the ball on the Aces' 29, State moved into the end zone in two plays, Grady added the point and State led, 19-7.

Reserves poured more salt on the Aces' wounds when they rolled twenty yards in six plays to make the final count stand at 25-7 as the gun barked ending the tilt.

Aces Face Once Beaten Western In Final Contest of Grid Campaign

BY JAK WILLIAMS

Smarting from the first loss of their season Western Kentucky will invade Reitz Bowl Saturday afternoon in an attempt to close the season on a winning note. Evansville on the other hand will be trying hard for this one because they need it to finish the year over the .500 mark.

The Aces will have to overcome a four year Western jinx. The last victory the Evansville men fashioned over the Hilltoppers was in 1949 when Gene Logel, Bill Russler and company topped the old rivals by a 20-0 count.

Local Prep Stars at Western

Several local players are on the varsity squad at the Bowling Green school. Jim Aurs, former Reitz star, is the main cog in the Hilltoppers' backfield. Aurs is the leading scorer for Jack Clayton's squad, ranking high for the scoring lead in the tough OVC.

Other players from Evansville are Jackie Johnson from Bosse and Don Niemeier from Mater Dei. Jim Fox, a Bosse star of two years ago was at Western at the beginning of the season, but an injury thwarted Jim's career at the Kentucky school.

Aces at Full Strength

Evansville got through the Ball State game without any serious injuries. Bob Scott, who bruised his shoulder in this game has been practicing all week, and is ready for action again for this finale. This is the first time since early in the season that the Aces will go into a game without one of their starters sidelined by an injury.

Four Seniors Playing Their Last College Game

It will be farewell to college football for four Aces gridders. Captain Bob Scott; stalwart end, Dick Martin; bone-crushing tackle, Ted Niemeier and reserve end, Bob Payne will be lost to Evansville next year due to graduation. Although this is their last college game it might not be the end of their football career. Scott, Martin and Niemeier have had invitations to perform at the Cleveland Browns, pro football team, tryout camps next spring.

Zetas, Philos Play Sunday

Phi Zeta "gridders" will be out to stop a five year jinx against the Philo hopefuls when they meet in the eighteenth annual fraternity bowl at Evansville College practice field Sunday afternoon at 2:00.

Last year's game turned out to be a rout with the Philos winning, 37-0. Not since the Phi Zetas were able to win in 1948 have they managed to cross the Philo goal. Last year's game was noted for its long range scoring runs by Walter Folz and the bull-like thrusts of Don Bernhardt into the Phi Zeta line.

The Phi Zetas' only scoring threat in last year's game was when a blocked Philo punt resulted in possession of the ball for the Zetas on the Philo eighteen yard line. But the Philo line stiffened and stopped the Zetas to preserve their perfect defensive mark.

This year's game could prove to be a different story. Phi Zetas have nearly the same team back from last year, giving them edge in players with bowl experience. The Philos on the other hand, have several players with high school experience and they feel that this experience will go far in helping them fashion their fourteenth win in this traditional series.

With the season rapidly coming to a close the experts are steadily moving toward an 80 per cent average. After opening the season with a near perfect record the experts hit near bottom as upsets reigned supreme over the country.

Here are our predictions for this week's games: In the ICC Western Kentucky will stop Evansville. Wabash will beat DePauw. Other games in the mid-west will see Cincinnati stay undefeated against Wichita. Wisconsin to run over Illinois. Northwestern will win the battle for the cellar against Indiana. Iowa will surprise Minnesota. Michigan will beat Michigan State. Undefeated Oklahoma will stay that way — they will beat Missouri. Notre Dame will continue to roll over North Carolina. Ohio State will keep their record unblemished against Purdue.

In the East Amherst wil close their season with a win over Williams. Army will continue to roll over Penn. Boston College will stop Boston University. Navy will sink Columbia. Yale will stop conference foe Princeton.

In the wild Southwest, SMU will surprise Arkansas. Rice will beat Texas A&M. Texas will upset TCU.

On the west coast, California will stop Oregon State. Rose Bowl bound Southern California will beat Washington.

Aces High

By Jack Combs

EVANSVILLE COLLEGE and Western Kentucky will have one thing in common tomorrow afternoon when they meet for the Dad's Day game at Reitz Bowl; they both lost championship games last week. Western, for the first time last Saturday, had the same trouble Evansville has had for the last three weeks, getting out of its own territory.

The Hilltoppers could muster only enough of an attack to penetrate to Eastern Kentucky's 40 yard stripe in the game that saw the Maroons of Eastern end the Western winning streak at ten games, and run their own season's record to seven victories and one tie.

Meanwhile the Cardinals from Ball State were showing the Aces what they thought of Evansville's defensive record by running up a total of 367 yards gained to 207 for the Aces. The Aces' biggest problems were penalties, fumbles and Governor "Sonny" Grady, who averaged 7.3 yards per carry and a total of 154 yards, which was 22 yards more than the Aces' total rushing averages.

The Aces will face a similar foe tomorrow when the Hilltoppers throw an Evansville boy, Jimmie Aurs, against the Evansville line. Aurs scored three touchdowns in the Tennessee Tech and the Louisville games but was held in check by Eastern last week. The game could be very close if the Aces are playing the football they are capable of, but in a game like last Saturday's, Western will come out the winner. This game will be the Aces' last chance to bring their record over the 500 mark, and a good crowd should be on hand for the Dad's Day game. But let's hope the enthusiasm is better than last week's when game spirit, along with the team's home performance, hit an all time low for the year.

Listening to students' complaints about not being able to sit in the student section all year, the administration finally supplied ushers to keep adults out of this section. The result was empty seats on the 35 yard line and the end section filled with adults who wanted to see the Aces play.

World Traveler And Educator To Address Next Convocation

Dr. S. E. Gerald Priestley, expert on world affairs, will speak at the regular convocation on Tuesday, November 16. Dr. Priestley has met and worked with people in 37 countries on four continents during the past 20 years.

Born in Windsor, England, he has traveled in Turkey, Israel, Greece, Spain, Yugoslavia, Italy and the countries now behind the Iron Curtain. He has seen most of South America and spent a year of research in rural Mexico, living in primitive Indian villages.

Dr. Priestley was educated at New college, University of London. Coming to this country for the first time in 1935 to attend Hartford Theological seminary as a scholarship student, he has been awarded five degrees from colleges and universities in the United States. He has done research at the National University of Mexico and has taught European history at Springfield college in Massachusetts and at New York university.

During World War II, under the auspices of the YMCA, Dr. Priestley addressed more than a million men and women in the United States armed forces before they went to Europe. He has spoken at university convocations and has led seminars in the field of international relations on more than 150 college campuses.

Dr. Priestley has spoken before teachers' conferences, education associations, councils of world affairs, service clubs and women's organizations in 46 states. He has made appearances on radio and television also.

From 1948 to 1953, he served as vice-chairman of the Speaker's Research committee for the United Nations and has participated in many United Nations institutes and workshops.

According to press releases, Dr. Priestley is intensely interested in the fight against illiteracy, disease, hunger and poverty in the underdeveloped areas of the world.

Japanese Prints In Union Are Exhibited For Sale

The collection of Japanese prints exhibited in the Union building are for sale to the public. Twenty per cent of the proceeds will go to the college and will be used to purchase pictures for the Union.

Obtained from the Japanese importer, Kitagawa, the prints are of two types. Some are printed from wood blocks. As many as twenty blocks, each producing a different color, are used for a single picture.

The remainder of the prints are original brush drawings. Many of this latter type are painted entirely in greys and shiny blacks with raised gold. Others are of varied brilliant colors.

Miss Florence Keve, head of the art department, said that 20 prints were sold before they were all hung. She attributes the success of the sale to the similarity of Japanese art with our functional modern architecture, a quality which gives it a place in the decor of local homes.

CENTENNIAL POSTCARDS

There are a few more centennial postcards available in the bookstore and Union. Miss Louise Moberly, assistant public relations director, said that this will be the last time they will be offered.

The postcards contain scenes of the old Moores Hill college and the campus at Evansville as it is today.

'Harvey' To Close With Performance Tomorrow Night

Time's awastin' for the folks who failed to see the first performance of "Harvey" last night. Tonight and tomorrow are the last chances to view the risible antics of Elwood P. Dowd and his whimsical pooka pal.

Professor Robert Heater, director of the play, said he wanted to remind students that the only admission necessary for them to obtain a seat for the comedy is a show of their activities tickets. No seats are reserved; it's a first come first served proposition.

Besides Mr. Heater, the director, the production staff of "Harvey" includes Jerry Grey as technical director and stage manager. Elizabeth Pollack is assistant director, and Jim Schrieber is house manager.

Working as assistants are Tom Cotton, scenery; Marvin Wallace, lighting; Barbara Carson, costumes; Jo Frobeiter, make-up; Gloria Watson, properties; and Selma Douglas, ushers.

As a technical crew member, Marvin Wallace is in charge of scenery. Costumes are supervised by Frank Powers, Barbara Moore, Jane Chanley and Pat Parrish. In the make-up department, Margie Hassee and Carolyn Kohl see that the grease paint is properly applied.

Dinner For Students, Faculty Scheduled For November 17

November 17 at six o'clock the Student-Faculty Federation will have a dinner in the cafeteria of the Student-Union building. Attending the dinner will be committee and faculty members of the Federation.

Acting President Dean Long will address the guests during the dinner.

Each committee chairman will report on the happenings and future plans of his committee. Chairmen are Dorothy Baggett, welfare; Marilyn Bartlett, fine arts; Joan Bosse, social; Dave Lawson, religious life; Jim Schreiber, publications, and Jerry Neiswanger, athletics.

Reservations must be made by members with the chairman of each committee at the next meeting so complete plans can be made for the dinner.

Student Government Association will provide the meal ticket for the student members, and the Administrative Board will provide the faculty with their meal. Approximately 60 people will attend the dinner.

Entertainment will be arranged by Bob Rundell, Bill Steier, and Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college.

Arrangements and menu planning will be supervised by Dr. James Morlock, dean of men.

Decorations will be taken care of by Mrs. Charlotte Stephans, Carolyn Lockwood, and Marilyn Randolph.

Tri-State Seniors To Participate In Engineering Day

Next Saturday, November 18, will be Engineering Day on the campus. Purpose of this event, according to Edward Susat, assistant professor of engineering, is to give high school seniors in the tri-state an idea of what an engineer is and does.

Student guests will tour industrial plants in the city, have lunch in the college cafeteria and view physics, chemistry and engineering exhibits.

Films will be shown, and talks will be given by Dr. John Kronsbein, Mr. William Hartsaw and Mr. Susat, members of the engineering faculty.

The college Engineers club will cooperate in helping to make the day a success by serving as guides for the high school students who attend the meeting.

Pierson Will Speak At Tuesday Convo

Miss Irene Pierson, social director of the Illini Union at the University of Illinois, will be on campus all day Tuesday, November 30, to meet with students, alumni and faculty. In educational circles she is well known throughout the country for her college union work.

Miss Pierson has written a book for college students called "Campus Cues." A cleverly illustrated sort of undergraduate "Bible." It instructs the reader on everything from setting a table properly to attracting the opposite sex.

Miss Pierson will address freshmen at 10 a.m. on Tuesday at their regular convocation. Her subject will be "Good Manners and Why We Need Them."

Following the convocation, Miss Pierson will meet with Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, and alumni social advisors of sororities.

There will be a luncheon at 12 in the private dining room of the cafeteria. Dr. James Morlock, dean of men, and sorority and fraternity faculty sponsors will dine with Miss Pierson.

In the afternoon, a coke party for freshmen will be held in the patio. This will be a social affair, but Miss Pierson will answer any questions that might come up.

A dinner with Union Board members and Core committees will take place at 6 p.m. Miss Pierson will talk on "what is expected of campus leaders."

At 7:30 in the Great Hall, fraternities and sororities will meet with the campus guest. They will hear a discussion on "what is expected of a fraternity member." This will be the last meeting of the day.

Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Student Union, said that students should try to take advantage of this program because, unlike persons on many campuses, they do not receive social training through living in dormitories and sorority and fraternity houses.

Tryouts Scheduled For 'Eagerheart,' Christmas Play

Tryouts for "Eagerheart," traditional Christmas play on campus, will be held November 22 at 7:15 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building. The play is scheduled to be presented on December 12 at 4 p.m. and at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Robert D. Heater, director of dramatics, has announced that all roles will be open in the Christmas play for interested students. Previously members of the cast have retained their parts in "Eagerheart" throughout their stay in college, but this year there will be a complete re-casting, Mr. Heater said. He has decided to do this in order to encourage an all-campus interest and participation in the College Players productions.

Assisting Mr. Heater in the casting are three members of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity. They are Susan Chenoweth, Barbara Moore and Bob Rundell.

The College Players will work in close cooperation as usual with the College choir under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Shepard. A string ensemble from the music department will provide traditional music by Bach preceding the performances.

"Eagerheart" has been presented on campus consecutively for twenty-nine years. As usual, no programs of the show will be printed, no pictures of stage settings and cast members will be taken and no printed recognition will be given cast members.

December 13-14 Dates of Rush Registration

Rush registration dates have been set by Panhellenic Council for Monday and Tuesday, December 13, and 14.

Pledges will sign up in Mrs. Charlotte Stephen's office on the first floor of the Administration building. Her office hours are posted in the waiting room.

Mrs. Stephens said that any girl, freshman or upperclassman, who wants to go through rush must register with her and receive a copy of regulations governing the activity.

Besides deciding on rush registration at the last Panhellenic meeting, the council made plans for its open meeting which will be held November 23, at 7 p.m. in the clubroom. All actives, as well as members of alumni groups, are invited to this affair.

The meeting will feature a panel discussion on the conduct of rush. Mrs. Stephens will be moderator, and one member from each sorority will participate. Audience participation will also be encouraged, Mrs. Stephens said.

During the school year Panhellenic Council features three events for all organized girls on campus. The open meeting is the main fall activity. Next term it will be the pledge dance; in the spring, a dinner.

At the past Panhellenic meeting Lois Ryon announced that the date of the pledge dance has been fixed for Friday, February 18.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Walter Wood, an AOPi alumnus, and Mrs. Pierre, ex-Phi Mu.

Proficiency Test

December 3 at 12:30 o'clock, seniors will have their last chance to take the English proficiency test, the Faculty Committee on English Proficiency announced again this week.

Passing this test is one of the requirements for graduation, the committee chairman again reminded seniors.

Zetas' Sweetheart Dance In Armory Tomorrow

The sixteenth annual all-campus Phi Zeta Sweetheart dance will be held in the National Guard Armory tomorrow night, from 9 to 12 p. m. Glenn Gregory and his orchestra will provide the music.

Open to all students and alumni, admission is $2.50 a couple, tax included, and tickets may be bought from any member of the fraternity. Non-students may be guests.

The dance will be a "no corsage affair," and while formal dress is a "must" for women, it is optional for men.

Part of the 85th anniversary celebration of the Phi Zeta organization, the dance is being supervised by John Conaway, who is vice president of the fraternity.

Wayne Ziliak, chairman of last year's dance, is in charge of publicity and has had the help of sister sororities, Beta Sig and Chi Omega.

Frank Healy is chairman of decorations at the Armory, where traditional sweetheart colors, red and white, will be used. When couples enter the dance, they will walk through a huge heart.

During the grand march at 10 p.m., the Phi Zeta sweetheart and her court will be chosen by five alumni of the fraternity. Names of the judges will not be disclosed until the night of the dance.

Any coed on campus is eligible to become sweetheart and she will reign for one year. The traditional gift is a bouquet of roses.

Tickets for the dance are still on sale and may be purchased at the table outside the Wooden Indian as well as from Phi Zetas.

Students To Have Four Day Recess For Thanksgiving

The Business Office has announced that Thanksgiving recess for Evansville College students will include Thursday, November 25 through Sunday 28. Classes will resume Monday, November 29.

According to Mr. Olmstead, the business offices will close only on Thanksgiving day, Thursday, and be open as usual Friday and Saturday.

The Union building will be closed both Thursday and Friday and no food will be served on those days in the cafeteria. Miss Doris Kirk has announced that the cafeteria will open as usual on Sunday 28.

Following the Thanksgiving recess and the first quarter final examinations, students will have a between semester vacation from December 4 through December 8. Business offices and the Union building will remain open. Meals will be served in the cafeteria as usual. Miss Kirk wishes to emphasize that the cafeteria is open on all days except public holidays and does not close for student recesses.

GAMMA DELTA SPEAKER

Presidents of the four sororities on campus will speak before Gamma Delta members at their weekly meetings, through the month of November.

On November 8, Myra Kasey, president of Chi Omega, gave a talk. Reba Hardison, Phi Mu, spoke on the 15th.

Scheduled for November 22, is a speech by Marilyn Randolph, AOPi president. On the 29th, it will be Carolyn Lockwood of Beta Sigma Omicron who will address Gamma Delta.

Guest Speakers Planned by B.A.K.

"How to be Happy Though on Accountant" will be the topic of Paul Brock, assistant secretary-treasurer of Electronics Research, Inc., when he speaks at the regular meeting of the Business Administration Klub Monday, November 22, at 10 a.m.

Scheduled to speak the following week is John F. Gaither, Evansville C.P.A., whose subject is "Hidden Taxes — the Best Kept Secret in the Country." He will address the club Monday, November 29, at the same hour.

Both meetings will be held in the Great Hall of the Student Union building, and the public is urged to attend.

Both of the guest speakers are appearing through the auspices of the Speakers' committee of Evansville chapter of N.A.C.A., according to an announcement by Bernard Hartman, president of B.A.K.

Catholic Students To Give Breakfast

A Communion Breakfast will be served to all Catholic students of Evansville College after the 9 o'clock Mass as St. Benedict's Church, Sunday, November 21. Sponsored by the Newman club, the breakfast will be held in the clubroom of the church.

Mr. John Carroll, a local attorney, will be the speaker for the breakfast.

Reservations may be made with Chairman Dick Wittgen by phoning 2-9726 or committee members, Joan Hamel, 5-5520, John Thole 3-2477 or Jim Casper 3-8862.

The reservations are to be made by Friday evening, November 19.

Alpha Omicron Pi Actives Schedule Literary Tea

Alpha Omicron Pi, social fraternity, is planning a literary tea for alumnae, mothers of actives, faculty wives and women faculty members for Sunday afternoon, December 5, in the main lounge of the Student Union building.

Mrs. Alma Vaughn, local alumnus, will present the program for the afternoon; while Miss Alma Dean Wilson is general chairman for the tea.

Carol White is handling invitations, Jackie King, refreshments, and Faye Forster, decorations.

NAVAL CADET TEAM

The Naval Aviation Cadet Procurement team from the Naval Air station at St. Louis will be on campus Monday, November 29.

From 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., the team will be at the Student Union to answer questions regarding the Navy's flight program.

Unmarried male citizens between the ages of 18 and 25 who are currently attending college are eligible for this program.

Selective Service Exams Will be Given Thursday

Selective Service College Qualification tests will be given at Evansville College on Thursday, December 9, and again on April 21, 1955. Tests will begin at 9 a.m., but applicants are required to report at 8:30. The tests will last approximately three and one-half hours.

Persons eligible to take the test are Selective Service registrants who intend to request occupational deferment as students. They must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course, leading to a degree, and must not have taken the test previously.

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, suggests that all male students, who are not veterans and are registered with a Selective Service board, take the test. He also advises that new freshmen wait until April for the examination.

Students may obtain application blanks from any Selective Service board or in room A-108 of Evansville College. On the blanks, the examination center and its code number must be designated. The local center is number 313, Evansville College, Evansville, Ind. Applications must be postmarked not later than midnight Tuesday, November 23, 1954.

The bottom half of the application will be returned to the student and will serve as his ticket of admission to the examination center. He will not be permitted to take the test unless he brings this ticket with him on the morning of the examination.

Results of tests will help determine whether or not a student may remain in college rather than be required to take military training at once. Test scores will be sent to local Draft Boards.

Likova To Appear With Philharmonic In Second Concert

The second Evansville Philharmonic concert this season will have Eva Likova, soprano, as guest artist. She will appear in Evansville on December 6.

Miss Likova is with the New York Opera Company. Before coming to the States from Czechslovakia in 1947, she was also actively engaged as a ballet artiste and actress on both stage and motion pictures as well as on the operatic stage.

In her concert with the Evansville orchestra, Eva Likova has chosen well known arias from "Carmen," "La Boheme," and "La Traviata" among her selections. The Philharmonic will play "Symphony No. 1, in C Major" by Beethoven, "Music for a Scene from Shelley" by Barber and "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" from Wagner's "Gotterdamerung."

Among the personnel of the orchestra, fourteen are faculty and student members of Evansville College. Included are William Nation, Maurine Taylor, violin; Elizabeth Smith, cello; Pauline Fehn, flute; Norman Heim, clarinet; Barbara Fehn, harp; faculty members.

IRC Hawaiain Program Given in Union Today

The International Relations Club on campus is sponsoring a talk on Hawaii by Hiroshi Mizoguchi today at 10 a.m. in the Club Room of the Union building. Mr. Mizoguchi is a freshman at Evansville College and has recently arrived from Hawaii to study in the United States. The talk will be open to the public.

The club is planning a Thanksgiving party to be held at the Optimist Club Sunday evening, November 21. It will be open to members and their guests. Mary Elizabeth Scott is serving as chairman on the social committee. Assisting her are Jane Powers, Margaret Scott and Bob Poag.

FACULTY MEETING

A reminder to the faculty that there is a regular faculty meeting Monday, November 29 at 10 a.m. in room E-233.

Late News Breaks

Union board members together with Miss Doris Kirk, Union director, and Kay Curtis, social director, will be in Muncie, Indiana, December 10. They will attend the annual meeting of the Regional Association of College Unions.

MSM, Methodist student organization, will hold a Thanksgiving breakfast, Wednesday, November 24.

The breakfast will be held at 5:45 a.m. in the cafe of the Union building. The cost is 35¢ and tickets may be obtained from Doddie Johnson, Jo Bailey, or Dr. James Morlock, dean of men. Dave Lawson is in charge of arrangements for the meal.

Reminder — All seniors who have not taken the English Proficiency exam should plan to do so during final exam week. One of the requirements for graduation is the passing of this test. (Editor.)

Thanks for Thanksgiving

"We gather together to ask the Lord's blessings," yes, once again the time of year rolls around when we all gather together at the table and give thanks for all that has come to us the past year. Once more the old hymns of thanksgiving and praise will be sung throughout the land, and turkey and cranberries will be the order of the day.

But when you are giving this thanks what are you thinking about? Is it just automatic or have you really thought of just how lucky you are to be able to be at that particular table, enjoying that meal.

Have you thought back over the year and considered the numerous occasions when a little "shove" from a far diviner hand than your own helped to tide you over the rough spots? Do you really feel that the Lord has been kind to you for even allowing you to see the dawn on this auspicious day?

Whether your meal be cold beans or gruel, rice eaten with chopsticks, or turkey consumed from sterling silver, you are still capable of far more spiritual refreshment than many will ever attain.

We have one suggestion which may help you in becoming truly thankful. If you would see the misery of the underfed and hungry, look around you. Look in Korea, China or Europe. Some of these peoples' Thanksgiving dinner will have about the same calorie content as what you probably throw away. Yet they are thankful for even that much. "The Lord is in heaven ,and in the hearts of those who are thankful."

That One Spark of Humanity

Do you ever wonder if you'll amount to anything? Does the thought strike you that you might never make use of your college education, that the monotonous grind of getting up every day and coming to school in order to sit through a few classes is as futile as rain drops on a desert?

Maybe you're one of those individuals who has a goal in life, something specifie to do before death claims you in the final analysis. Or maybe you feel like a mouse in a cage turning a wheel ceaselessly regressing and never progressing.

In every person there is at least a grain of idealism, one tiny spark that often never comes to the surface. Just as the water which we see in the streams is small compared to that which flows underground, so that idealism which comes to the surface in society is small compared to the store which men keep locked inside them. It's this spark of idealism which makes men great or small, magnanimous or little. It's this spark of humanity which makes life bearable, which makes it worth living.

Most of this spark or idealism is realized in unseen actions, the little things in life which mean so much and which outweigh in value a thousand-fold those actions which attract the notice of the world.

Most people always have, lurking in the rear approaches of their minds, the desire and the need to help their fellow man. But always the need to earn a living, to satisify society's claim upon them, has superseded their longing to do something great, something more effective than going to church every Sunday or supporting some similar organization. These people exist in a little world of their own, because in the pursuit of their jobs they are little better than human machines. Some individuals never cease being machines, while others shed their professional life and become real human beings once in a while.

There are some people who say that because of their jobs they never have the opportunity to do anything beneficial for their fellow man. Never does anyone find himself in the position of having no possible opportunity of giving himself as a human being to others. If these people would seize every opportunity of being a man by means of personal action however unpretending, then they too can become a man in the true sense of the word again.

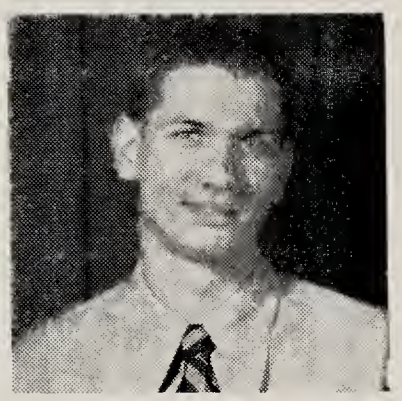
Young 'Agronomist' Is Newest Member of Chemistry Staff

"I'm not really a chemist; I'm an agronomist," declared Roy Schenk, the newest member of the chemistry faculty, when asked about his position at Evansville College.

Dr. Sehenk teaches organic chemistry and assists Andrew Scherockman in the laboratory. In addition to his teaehing, he takes eourses in education in his spare time.

Born in Evansville 24 years ago, Dr. Sehenk and his family moved to Indianapolis when he was five. Six years later the Sehenks returned to southern Indiana to beeome residents of Dale.

After having been graduated from Dale high school, the new instructor attended Purdue and received a B.S. in 1951. This year he was granted a doctor's degree from Cornell. While at the latter university, he did research in the "use of fungicides in the preservation of moist hay and grains."



Mr. Sehenk

Dr. Schenk is married and has two sons and a daughter. He said his favorite pastime is photography.

Dr. Harold Weisblatt who also joined the eollege chemistry faculty this fall, has resigned because of ill health, Dr. Norman Long, head of the department, announeed.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

On behalf of everybody at Evansville College, I would like to eongratulate John Conaway and his eommittee for a very well planned Dad's Day. The Dad's Day affair this year was one of the best since I have been on campus and the reason stems from the fine planning and hard work this year's committee did.

In last week's column I diseussed the ideas and purposes of the newly organized President's Roundtable and how it is to fit into the present set-up here on eampus. I would like to go further into that this week. The campus government here is very advaneed in comparison with most schools beease of our eommunity idea. The students ean meet separately and the faeulty can meet separately, but to make any deeisions which affect both they must meet together and reach a solution whieh will suit both sides. The Administrative Board is where these eommon decisions are made.

The Roundtable therefore acts as the representative of the student body in telling the SGA offieers how the students feel on important issues, but the final deeision on the issue must rest in this common meeting between faeulty and student and not with the faculty alone nor with the students alone.

An idea eoming from the students or the faeulty must be good enough and have enough merits of its own to be agreed upon by both jointly. Therefore power does not rest with either group but with the merits of the idea and the idea's own ability to put itself over.

DUNHAM HEADS COMMITTEE

Dr. D. W. Dunham, head of the biology department, has been named chairman of the national history department at the Evansville Museum of Arts and Sciences.

This group will be instrumental in the formation of a speeial committee to plan for the development of the natural history department of the new museum.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

. . . anything can happen in Washington. Last weekend the majority of people would have said "Uncle Joe" would have reeeived his comeuppance by this time. Now it looks as if he won't even get his wrist slapped.

The Wisconsin "Cheese" says that if the Senate chooses to censure him it will be because of his ferreting out Commies. This has been a standard cry of his whenever anyone had the guts to oppose him. Yet this is far from the reason for the censure movement.

The Howlin' Hunter has had a censure charge brought against him for his methods. He has eondemned a general, who won his ribbons by deeds instead of by political pull like Joe. He refused to honor subpenas issued by another Senate committee; yet anyone refusing to come running at his beck and call is charged with eontempt.

Joe makes his own rules. The ones that apply to those he persecutes are not applicable to him. He has little honor.

Senator Watkins, head of the Censure eommittee, has a reeord beyond reproach. He is one of the most conscientious men in the Upper House; yet Joe has east aspersions about him. The entire Watkins Committee are men of the highest ealiber. These men recommended to the Senate that "Unele Joe" be censured.

In the past week we have seen several compromises offered for Joe's approval. None has suited him. More eompromises are in the offing. It seems that he is sure he ean beat the rap.

Our two senators from Indiana, Capehart and Jenner, oppose eensuring Joe. These two men will not get my vote, if they ehoose to run again, come the next election, Jenner in '58 and I believe Capehart in '56.

As indieated by the results of the Southern Governors' Conference at Boea Raton, La., the South is divided over the public school segregation issue. Eight governors decided to use every proper means available to continue "separate but equal" schools. Aeting Governor Johns of Florida proposed a resolution asking President Eisenhower to call a special session of Congress to consider a segregation amendment — it was rejected.

The eight governors opposing integration were Johns of Florida, Byrnes of South Carolina, Timmerman (governor-elect) of South Carolina, Stanley of Virginia, Kennon of Louisiana, Talmadge of Georgia, Shivers of Texas and Murray of Oklahoma.

The problem of segregation cannot be settled by legislation. Nor ean it be settled in a day or a month or a year. It ean be settled only by the people.

In the South segregation is a way of life. They have had it many years, and they eannot be forced to change in a hurry. Traditions, unlike elothes, are borne internally. The mind must change to effeet a change in traditions.

We in the North think that those in the South are totally wrong, yet we don't know why they think as they do. We have not experieneed the South's problem.

I am opposed to segregation; yet I do realize the South's feelings. We in the North should try to help them solve their problem, not eondemn them for it.

Philos Trip Phi Zetas In Fraternity Skirmish

By Jak Williams

Three quarters elapsed before the Philos showed their offensive punch that has enabled them to maintain a mastery over the Phi Zeta grid squad. Trailing 6-0 going into the final period, Willie Angermeier, Philo quarterback, conneeted on two passes that carried the Blaek and Gold Knights 42 yards to the Phi Zeta one yard stripe.

From the one Angermeier took it over on a quarterback keep play. On the all important extra point, Angermeier completed a pass to Joe Belcher.

Zetas' Early Scoring Bid

The Phi Zetas made the first scoring bid early in the first quarter when they moved to the Philo three. There the Philo line stiffened and suppressed the initial attack. Jim Hartman finally scored the Zetas' lone tally on an eight yard end run midway in the second stanza. Randy Wilkinson's try for extra point was wide and that proved to be the margin of defeat.

Statistics Favor Zetas

The "Big Reds" led the Philos in almost every department except the all-important one. Phi Zeta amassed 135 yards on the ground to the Philos' 28. Due to Angermeier's fourth quarter passes the Philos led in passing 47 yards to 23.

Zetas rolled up six first downs to the Philos four and were penalized 35 yards to the Philos' 45.

Although beaten, 7-6, the Zetas broke their six year jinx of scoreless seasons.

Ping Pong Tourney Ends November 24 Fourteen Remain

Six weeks ago 43 hopefuls started a sudden death elimination ping pong tournament. Out of the original 43 only 12 remain to vie for the crown. Last year's champion, Ralph Willis, is among the 12 remaining competitors. The lineup for the games that will cut the field to six is as follows: DeWeese and Kirk, Darden and Sterns, Willis and Griffin, Farrell and Marshall, Doekery and Swonders and DePriest and Massey.

These matches will consist of best two out of three games; with the next round consisting of best three out of five, and the final round the best four out of seven.

Play in the men's doubles is not moving along as well as the men's singles, but one team, Darden land Dockery, has played enough games to advanee to the semi-finals.

In the mixed doubles Combs and Taylor have moved to the semi-finals in the upper bracket and Willis and Bunge have gained a semi-final berth in the other bracket.

Awards for the tourney will be possession of individual trophies and the names of the winners to be placed on the permanent trophy that stands in the trophy ease in the basement of the Union. Winners will reeeive their awards at the annual All-Campus Christmas party to be held just before the Christmas vacation.

Frosh Bowlers Blitz Into Lead In Tournament

During the past week in the Student-Faculty Bowling League the Four Freshmen staged a bowling blitz to move from third place to the top rung, thus shoving the Philos and the Yankees, who were tied, into third place; while Cochran Cockies moved into the second place slot with an 11-4 record.

The rest of the teams are lagging behind with rather unimpressive records. Coleman's Coalmen, however, are still in contention with a 9-6 win loss record. Other second division competitors are WAA which has posted a 5-10 card, and the Phi Zetas are now in last place with a dismal 3-12 record. The Zetas were running in seventh place but the last place Aeacia crew has dropped from the league. The fraternity squad called it quits with no wins and fifteen losses.

The Four Freshmen are led by Richard Sexon with a 141 average and Don Diekhoff, 140, Allen Stremming 135, and Jerry Schneider 110. George Doekery is tops in the men's avreages with a mark of 168 and Bonnie Sehlegel leads the women with a 146 average.

Eastern Loses Bid For Bowl Contest

Eastern Kentucky, one of the top teams considered for a berth in the Jaycees' sixth annual Refrigerator Bowl, has been dropped from the bowl picture because of a possible probe on the school's use of ineligihle players.

With Eastern out, one of the top contenders now is the University of Toledo, the team that tied Eastern. Toledo is definitely interested in a Bowl appearance if a suitable opponent can he found. If Toledo aeeepts a bid, its opponent may be found among Virginia Tech, Carnegie Tech, Trinity of Texas or Washington of St. Louis.

Other teams getting heavy consideration for a bid are Kent State, Southeastern Louisiana and Abilene Christian, a team that has made one previous bowl appearance.

The game is scheduled for December 5. Purdue's marching band will provide the halftime festivities. Tickets can be obtained by contacting the Jayeees.

ACCORDING TO THE LARGEST and latest coast-to-coast college survey, college smokers prefer Luckies—and by a wide margin. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. Thousands of students appreciate Luckies' better taste almost as much as the pair in the Droodle above, titled: Sweethearts attempting to kiss and enjoy better-tasting Luckies at same time. Luckies taste better for good reasons. First of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, "It's Toasted" to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better—cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Music School Plans Recital By Selfridge

Cecil Selfridge, baritone, will be presented in a faculty recital by the Evansville College department of music Monday evening, November 29, at 8:30 o'clock in the Great Hall of the Union building. He is an associate professor of voice at the college.

Mr. Selfridge's program will consist of some of his favorite arias and songs from the works of Bach, Mozart, Wolf, Verdi, Delius and Ravel. He will be accompanied by Ralph Waterman, associate professor of organ and theory.

The Monday evening program is the second of eight faculty recitals scheduled for this season. A reception will be held in the Union Lounge following the recital.

Mr. Selfridge has studied with Trevisan, Amato, Hubbard and Corado in America and Boccabadati and Labia in Italy. He has toured in opera and concert in the United States and Canada and made oratorio appearances in Chicago and the midwest.

For the past five years he has been director of the choir at St. Mark's Lutheran church in Evansville. Mr. Selfridge is a member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, College of Music Association and the American Musicological Society. As a writer of music, he has contributed several articles to nationally distributed musical periodicals.

His six-part program will open with an aria from "Ach wie fluchtig, ash wie nichtig!" by Bach, followed by "Rivolgete a lui lo sguardo," Mozart.

Four numbers by Wolf will make up the third group. They are "Schlafendes Jesuskind," "Nimmersatte Liebe," "Das Standchen" and "Der Tambour."

"King Philip's Aria" (Don Carlo), Verdi and "Cynara," Delius are included in the next group.

Mr. Selfridge will conclude his program with "Trois Melodies Hebraiques" by Ravel including "Mejerke," "L'Enigme Eternelle" and "Kaddisch."

"Let's see, I get an incomplete in Algebra, a conditional in History and a D in Sociology. Boy, I'm sure glad I didn't flunk anything."

Crescent Previews Scheduled Christmas Week Activities

The Crescent is offering a preview of December activities in today's issue since this is the last time the paper will be published between now and December 17.

First of a series of events will take place on Sunday, December 5, when the AOPi annual literary tea is held in the Union lounge from 3 to 5 p.m.

The annual Christmas decorating party for the Union will be Thursday, December 9. On that date, members of all Union committees will decorate the building and have a party after their chores are completed.

On Friday and Saturday, December 10 and 11, the Union Board will attend the regional Union Conference at Ball State college in Muncie.

"Eager Heart" will be presented by the Evansville College theater on Sunday, December 12. This drama is given every year during the Christmas season and its production has become a tradition on campus.

Scheduled for Monday, December 13, is the Beta Sigma Omicron Founder's Day tea. It will take place in the Union lounge from 3 to 5 p.m.

On Tuesday, December 14, the annual Christmas review will be given under the direction of the music department. Its calendar will be posted in the Union building.

Events for the Yule season will close on Thursday, December 16, with the all-campus Christmas party, which will be held simultaneously in different parts of the Union. Entertainment will be varied throughout the building.

Friday, December 17, will mark the beginning of Christmas vacation. After the day's classes are completed, they will not convene again until Monday, January 3, 1955.

WAVE Officer To Visit Campus December 16

Lieutenant, junior grade, Mary Sue Ebeling, USNR, Wave Procurement Officer from Cincinnati, Ohio, will be at Evansville College Thursday, December 16, to speak with women students about the Wave Officer Candidate Program.

This program leads to a commission as ensign in the U.S. Navel Reserve after a short training period at the U.S. Naval base, Newport, Rhode Island. It is open to college juniors and seniors.

Miss Ebeling can be contacted in the hall of the Union building outside the Wooden Indian.

Plane Senior Piano Recital To Be Given November 23

Mary Nell Minto Plane will present her senior recital Tuesday evening, November 23, at 8:30 o'clock in the Great Hall of the Student Union building. This will be the first of a series of senior recitals to be given throughout the year by members of the Evansville College department of music.

Mrs. Plane, a piano student of Mrs. Alberta Price Williams, is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music fraternity for women, and also a member of the college band. Mrs. Plane will be piano soloist when the band presents its annual concert next spring.

Mrs. Plane will open her program with "Sonata in A," Scarlatti, and "Ballade in G Minor," Chopin. Her second group will include "Intermezzo, Opus 118, No. 2," Brahms, and two Debussy numbers, "The Dance of the Puck" and "The Wind on the Plain."

The recital will be concluded with "Sonetto 123 del Petrarca," Liszt and "La Campanella," Paganini-Liszt.

Club To Sponsor Fruit Cake Sale

Home-made fruit cakes for Christmas gifts and family use may be obtained from the Home Economics club here at Evansville College, it was announced this week.

Prices will vary from $1.50 for a 1½ pound cake and $1.00 per pound for larger cakes. Orders may be placed for any size cake with a member of the club or by telephoning Miss Margie Lampert at 7-0360.

Checker Exhibitionist May Come to Campus

A checkers exhibition is being planned by the Games committee of the Union for the benefit of those interested. Tom Wiswell, the world's champion, who can play twenty games at one time, is being considered.

He will be scheduled for February 1, if enough people are interested. If you are interested, please sign the list provided on the bulletin board near the Games Room.

He will play anyone willing to play against him and will explain the games of checkers and chess to the viewers.

Phi Mu Schedule Dinner Meeting

Mrs. John V. Collins, a Phi Mu alumna, will be guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the fraternity Tuesday, November 23. Her topic is "Manners and Edict of Rush."

Miss Phyllis Bunge will preside as toastmistress at the dinner in the Cafeteria of the Student Union building, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Aces to Open Cage Season Next Week

Aces Close Season With Upset Win

By Jak Williams

Going into the game as a three touchdown underdog the Purple Aces played one of the best games of its season to upset the highly touted Western Kentucky Hilltoppers, 21-13.

Western looked as though the oddsmakers were right by making them an 18 point favorite when they drew first blood as Sparks scored early in the first period. "Tank" Wilson's, former Evansville Bosse prep star, extra point was blocked and the Hilltoppers led, 6-0.

Aces Strike Back

Evansville took the Western kickoff and marched 73 yards in six plays to tie the score with Bill Parrish going over for the last two yards. Bob Scott's kick was perfect and the Aces took a surprising 7-6 lead.

Western, quite shocked by the underdogs' boldness, came striking back with a brilliant combination of running and passing. Coach Jack Clayton's Hilltoppers regained the lead with nine minutes remaining in the half when Chambliss went off tackle for five yards and the second Topper score. Straum converted and the score stood 13-7.

Aces Not To Be Denied

The Aces proved to be opportunists when they got a good break late in the second quarter. A bad pass from center on an attempted punt gave the Aces the ball on the Western five. With only 40 seconds remaining in the first half Lutterbach went over from the six inch line to give the Aces a 13-13 tie. Scott converted, and as the gun sounded ending the first half the Hilltoppers found themselves surprisingly behind by a 14-13 count.

Aces Go With The Breaks

Dame Fortune smiled on Paul Beck's men early in the third stanza when Western drove to the Aces' one yard stripe only to fumble away their scoring chance. The Aces assured their win when they rolled up their third score with only a minute left in the third quarter. Scott's conversion gave the Aces an eight point lead.

This win gives the Aces a 5-4 record for the season, and a win over Western is a very cherished and well deserved gift for Paul Beck in his initial year as head coach.

Featured at the halftime ceremonies was the Dad of the Year presentation. Acting President Dean Long made the presentation speech and the award. This year's Dad of the Year was Paul Mattingly, father of Aces end Bill Mattingly. This award is made annually to the dad selected by team vote, who has done most in connection with the team.

THE FINAL song was a glad song last Saturday as Coach Paul Beck was hoisted atop the broad shoulders of the victorious Purple Ace gridders and carried off the field following their 21-13 win over the previously once beaten Hilltoppers from Western Kentucky. Very few of the spectators, including the experts who made the Aces a three touchdown underdog, expected the Beckmen to turn the tide in such an all-out fashion and win going away. Possibly the only ones who expected the Aces to win the game were the "Dodads" sitting behind the Evansville bench.

The victory enabled the Aces to finish the season with a winning record of five wins and four losses compared to the seven and three record of last year. The difference this year being victories over Indiana State and Western Kentucky, along with the attitude of the team and a better balanced coaching staff.

The game was also the finale for four seniors, captain and center Bob Scott, ends Richard "Dutch" Martin and Bob Payne and tackle Ted Niemeier. Scott and Martin turned in performances that they can remember as a fitting climax to successful football careers. The defensive play of the Aces was the outstanding factor in the game that saw the breaks that have been lacking throughout the season concentrate themselves into 60 minutes of play.

THE PHILOS and Phi Zetas squared off Sunday afternoon in one of the best games played between the two teams in many years. The two evenly matched teams featured hard blocking and tackling that refused to let either team put together many sustained drives. The Philos, who were forced to come from behind to win the game, were led by Willie Angermeier, Bob Kettlehut, Walter Folz, Dale Sauer and Bernie Hartman.

Animal Wins ICC Rushing Crown

Final statistics released by the ICC this week reveal that Kenny "Animal" Lutterbach, Aces' hard-driving sophomore fullback, has won the individual rushing crown. Lutterbach amassed 538 yyards on the ground on 92 carries for a respectable 5.8 per-try average.

Rod Poppe, one of Valparaiso's offensive sparks, finished the year with a brilliant average of 8.5 yards per carry but he carried the ball only 59 times in confcrence competition for a 498 yard total.

All Around Star

Besides leading the conference in rushing, the "Animal" finished third in total offense and fourth in scoring.

Another Ace who finished high among the ICC offensive leaders was J. O. Jackson. Jackson finished fifth among the conference passers with 15 completions out of 27 attempts, good for 176 yards and two touchdowns.

Deuce Tops Ends

Ron "Deuce" Whitaker finished first for number of passes caught with 13. The 13 passes Ron caught were good for 132 yards which placed the Ace wingman fifth in the yardage gained by ends category.

Sport Staff Views National Football

Upsets in the unpredictable midwest keep the experts from a perfect week. The Evansville upset win over Western Kentucky was one miss that we weer happy to see, but Northwestern's loss and Cincinnati's first loss of the season were hard to foretell. One hundred and twenty correct, thirty-two wrong and four ties is now the experts' record. With the season rapidly coming to a close we are still trying to reach the 80 per cent mark.

Here are our predictions for this week's games. In the midwest, Purdue will beat Indiana in the battle for the "Old Oaken Bucket." Ohio State will stay undefeated and assure themselves a Rose Bowl bid by downing Michigan. Wisconsin will surprise Minnesota.

Illinois will beat Northwestern in the battle for the Big Ten cellar. Notre Dame won't have to use fake injuries this year to beat Iowa. Oklahoma will stay undefeated by downing Nebraska.

In the South, Mississippi will run over Mississippi State to win the SEC and get a bowl bid. Georgia Tech will beat Georgia and will also probably get an invitation to a bowl game. Kentucky will squeeze past their traditional rival Tennessee. Miami will beat Alabama, a team that hasn't scored in their last four games.

Auburn will continue to roll against Clemson. Arkansas will bounce back after their first loss of the season to down L.S.U. Vanderbilt will get their second win of the season at the expense of Villanova.

In the Southwest and West where the experts predicted all of the games correctly last week, S.M.U. will continue to roll towards a conference championship by beating Baylor. In the "Game of the Week" U.C.L.A. will edge Rose Bowl-bound Southern California.

Eight Veterans Head '54 Crew

By Larry Sanders

Evansville College's basketball legions will open their eighth season under the tutelage of Arad McCutchan with eight letter winners returning against the Oakland City Oaks in the Armory at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

The entire first team which started the final game of the year during the 1953-54 campaign will be back along with three capable reserves who had a lot to do with the Aces' strong finish. Heading the list of regulars is senior Roscoe Bivin. Bivin, a 6 foot 5 inch center, was one of the Aces' top point producers last year. Another senior, John Wessel, a 6 foot 3 inch performer, may get the call this year as a forward. Gene Wilm is a lightning-like guard who stands only 5 feet 10 inches but makes up for his size with terrific speed and aggressiveness. Bob Walker is a junior regular from last year. He was one of the top scorers in the squad and an injured wrist late in the season weakened his scoring potentialities considerably, but the 6 foot 1 inch forward has fully recovered this year. Frank Healy is the other junior regular.

Two sophomores will return to the squad after great performances last year. They are Bob Wessel and John Harrawood. Wessel stands 6 feet 3 inches. Last year he was named to the ICC's all-conference team. Harrawood, a great playmaker as well as a fine scorer and rebounder, stands 6 feet 2 inches. Ken Herrenbruck, a smooth-running guard who is an all-around player, rounds out the list of lettermen.

The freshman contingent promises to play an important part in the Aces' plans of 1954-55. Also coach McCutchan has a fine crop of reserves coming up. Many of these players are in the running for starting berths and a definite starting team has not yet been named by McCutchan. Clyde Cox, 6 foot 3 inch whiz from Kokomo, is pressing for a starting berth as well as freshman standout Jerry Clayton. Clayton, a 6 foot 7 inch pivotman, who set many records as a high school player, was one of Indiana's top scorers and is slated for a lot of action. Harold Cox is another freshman who is a prolific scorer.

Six More School Days Remain Before Finals

Final examinations for the fall quarter begin Wednesday, December 1, and continue through Friday, December 3. All classes will meet as regularly scheduled up to that date.

Classes are listed on the examination schedule in the same order in which they appear in the regular class schedule — alphabetically by departments. Section numbers are indicated in parentheses immediately following the course number.

Examinations have been set up in such a way that no conflicts should occur except those caused by group examinations. Students having such conflicts should see the instructor of the group examination. Those having work conflicts should see the instructor.

Grades will be reported from the Registrar's office at the earliest possible date. If a report is desired before grades are issued, provide the instructor with self - addressed, stamped post-card before examination.

Students must have met all financial obligations due the college (including library fines) or have made satisfactory arrangements to do so with the Business Manager before they will be permitted to take examinations.

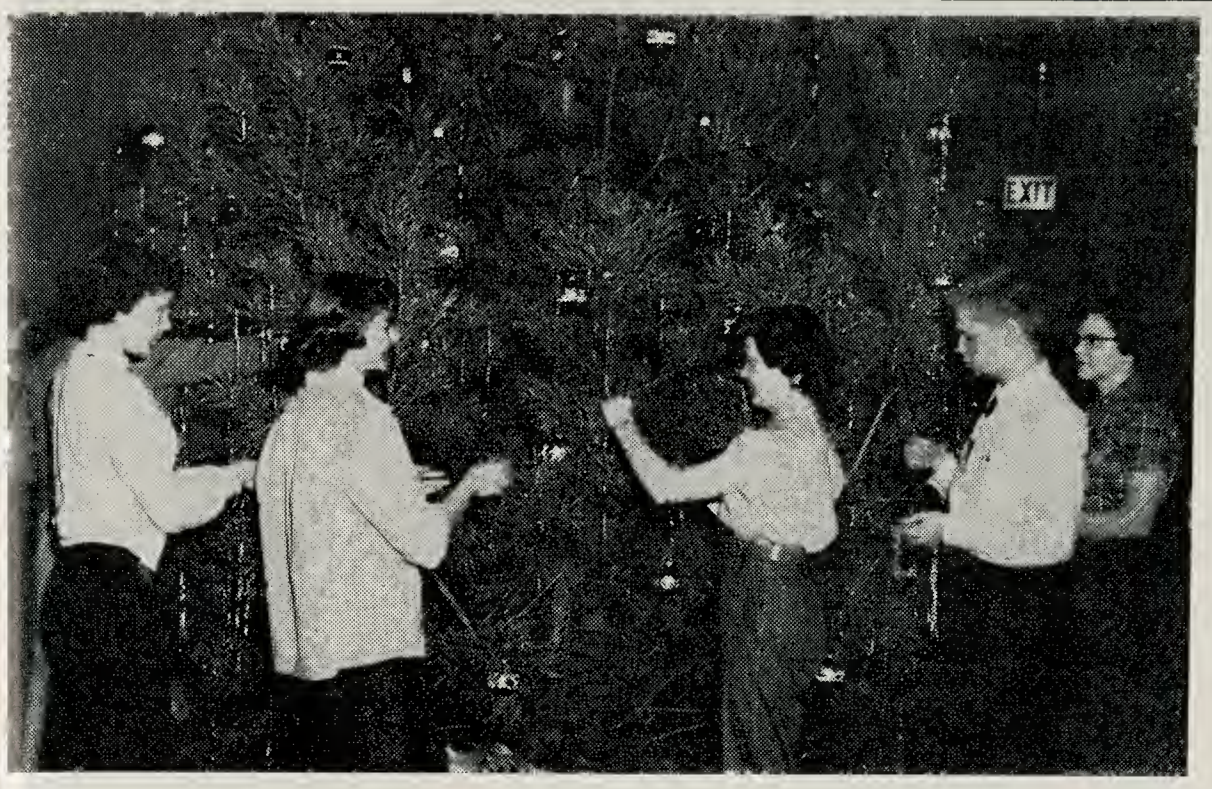
The Evansville CRESCENT

Vol. XXXVI | Evansville, Indiana | Dec. 17, 1954—No. 9



Christmas is in the air, and the campus took on a holiday look last Thursday evening when the Union committees held their annual "decorating party." Jack Miller, chairman of the group, was in charge. Helping were Jerry Newton and Connie Miller, supervising in the patio; Carol Schelhassee and Joan Luckett in the lobby, and Jane Drebcr in the lounge and browsing room. Working on the Christmas tree in the lobby shown above are Carolyn Kohl, Greta Shaw, Shirley Ball, Hal Burekhartt and Mary Lou Heilman. Photo by Jerry Grey

Campus Christmas Party Planned for Tomorrow

By Betty Staser

It's gonna be fun an dit's all free! The entertainment planned by chairman, Chuck Calhoun, and his committee workers for the all-campus Christmas party tomorrow night will make thc Union rafters ring with joy. Santa Claus will be on hand with a pack of presents for everybody. There's no charge for anything; student activity fecs cover expenses.

Everyone on campus is invited to join in on the fun, and faculty and staff members are urged to bring their families. Kay Curtis, social director of the Union, said that there will be no baby-sitter problem, for the kids will enjoy the frolic as much as the grown-ups.

Talent Program

Festivities will begin at 8 p. m. with a talent program in the Great Hall. Included in the show will be piano duets by Carol Schoolfield and Hal Burckhartt, and it's rumored that Tom Lukens will unveil a new comedy act at the party. Along with other features, ping-pong trophies will be awarded to the recent tournament champs.

After 9 o'clock there will be a choice of entertainments. From 9-10 cartoons will be shown in the Great Hall. The committee has selected four for presentation, including one featuring that great star, Woody Woodpecker.

Dancing in Grill

There will be dancing in the grill from 9-11. Thc Phi Mu Alpha dance band, under the direction of Dwayne Scott, will furnish the music. Miss Curtis said the dance would mark the premier of the new lighting system in the "Wooden Indian," a system which will transform the grill into a bona-fide nightclub.

Also on the entertainment list from 9-11 will be billiards and ping-pong. Traditional Yule refreshments will be served in the grill from 9:45-10:15.

The party has been planned by the Union Entertainment committee, with Chuck Calhoun overseeing the affair.

Members of the various committees are:

Program Committee: Elma Vogel, chairman; Greta Shaw, John Conaway, Sara Warren and Jim Barney.

Food Committee: Barbara Hulvershorn and Darlene Schillinger, co-chairmen; John Retter, Sharon Bebout, Robert Richenbaugh, Lloyd Steele, John Bennett and Harold Beyers.

Chaperones: Anita Aders, chairman; and Nancy Altheide.

Favors: Darlene Schillinger.

Decorations: Don Groeninger, chairman; Buddy Watkins and Doyle Ellis.

Movies and other entertainment: Barbara Wiseman, chairman; and Bobbie Campbell.

Publicity: Richard Egerton and Carl Powers, co-chairmen; Eldon Katter, Judy Anderson, Bob Ubelhor, Rosemary Mohr and Jerry Reine.

Santa Claus: Gene Hollander.

Phi Zeta's Ban Use of Paddle At Initiations

Phi Zeta, local social fraternity, has announced the banning of all paddling at future fraternity initiations. In a move headed by fraternity president Wendy Long and Tom Lukens, active, the measure was ayed by the fraternity body in their weekly meeting last Thursday, December 9.

A lot of national attention has been brought to focus on this method of fraternity initiation, due to many numerous injuries reported by those receiving the paddlings. Not only were these paddles wielded by some of the frats on this campus, but all over the nation.

Many national fraternities have outlawed such practices and have set up stern penalties for the usage of such hazing of member chapters. Acacia, the only present national fraternity on our campus is one of those who have done away with the paddle as an instrument of attack.

Lukens, one of the campus supporters of the outlawing of paddles, was recently injured in an accident involving the administering of a paddling. A polio recoveree, the accident resulted in a setback in his recovery.

The paddle will still be a part of the initiation, but only as a symbol of the fraternity and not a "board of education."

WEVC Announces Christmas Program

"A Christmas Day With Music," featuring seven and a half hours of classical music, will be broadcasted by WEVC on December 25. The Evansville College radio station will sign on at 10:30 a.m.

The complete opera, "Boris Godounoff" by Moussorsky will be among the selections which also will include Christmas music by the bands of the United States Marines, Navy and Army, and the U. S. Air Force Orchestra. Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia music fraternity will sponsor their regular program, "Orchestras of the World" and "Sinfonia Showcase."

On Christmas Eve, at 6 p.m. WEVC will broadcast the complete oratorio by Handel, "The Messiah."

The campus radio station officials have announced that WEVC will be open each Sunday afternoon from 1:30 p.m. until 5:30 p.m. beginning Sunday, January 9, 1955. Two classical music programs, "A Concert in High-Fidelity" and the "Orchestras of the World" will be broadcasted each Sunday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Establish EC Colony

Sigma Phi Epsilon, a national social fraternity, has announced the formation of a local colony, Sigma Epsilon, here at EC. With a present nucleus of 18 members the colony plans to affiliate with the national organization in the coming spring quarter.

The local colony held an informal stag party, December 3. During the evening pledges were receivd, initiation ceremonies were performed and the following officers were elected: president, Jim Barney; vice-president, Jim Casper; comptroller, Don Diekhoff; secretary, Ted Keller and historian, J. R. Miller.

Another party has been planned for tomorrow night, December 16, at the home of Ted Keller, 206 S. Weinbach. Any interested men are invited to attend and they will not be obligated in any way.

New Crescent Staff

Three new members have been added to th Crescent staff this quarter. They are: June Wallace, senior; Benita Horton, freshman; and Al Dunning, freshman.

Positions as staff writers on the campus paper are still open and interested students may obtain more information by contacting the Crescent office.

King Enters Queen Race; Lancaster to Name Winner

Jacqueline "Jackie" King has been chosen to represent Evansville College for the role of queen at the second annual All-American City tournament at Owensboro Sport-Center, starting December 27.

Miss King's picture has been sent, along with pictures of the other candidates, to Burt Lancaster, Hollywood actor and producer, who will choose the queen.

Each team playing the tourney has named a candidate for this honor, and the girl chosen will be flown from her home to Owensboro where she will reign for the duration of the tournament.

Competing will be candidates from the universities of Maryland, Mississippi, Rhode Island, Denver and Cincinnati, Texas Tech, Kentucky Wesleyan and Evansville.

Miss King was chosen by the basketball team from a list representing the various women's fraternities on campus. Named by Alpha Omicon Pi, she is a junior and last year was named Evansville College's basketball queen.

Other queen candidates were Pat Harris, Chi Omega; Phyllis Bunge, Phi Mu; Margaret Broadhead, Beta Sigma Omicron; Marilyn Grayson, INCA; Roberta Arnett, Ivey Leaf Club and Lynda Graff, Gamma Delta.

Last year's candidate for the All-American tournament queen was Shirley Gruebel, now Mrs. William Gilmore.

College Enrollment Remains Stationary

Winter quarter registration had totaled 962 last Friday, according to a statement given out by G. R. McCoy, registrar.

With two days to go, Mr. McCoy said that he expetced the number of day students for the Winter quarter to be approximately the same as the Fall quarter enrollment. Registrations for the period, which started last Thursday, were accepted through Monday, December 13.

Enrollment in Evening College classes had totaled 505 last Friday, according to Marvin Hartig, director.

Late News Breaks

Tonight at 7:00 p.m. the MSM and SCA groups will hold a caroling party. Members are to meet at the Union and from there they plan to go to the hospitals in the vicinity. Games and refreshments will be provided for the groups in the Union club room following tbeir return. Shirley Balding is in charge of all the arrangements.

15 Day Vacation Begins Friday 17

When classes end the day after tomorrow, December 17, the 15-day Christmas vacation will begin for Evansville College students. Classes will begin again on Monday, January 3, of the new year, 1955.

Business offices in the school will be open as usual during the vacation, except for the Christmas and New Year weekend. They will be closed all day Christmas Eve and half a day on December 31. from noon on.

The Union, including the cafeteria, will follow the same schedule as the business offices, but it will not be open at all on New Year's Eve.

All offices, classes and the Union will resume their regular schedules on January 3.

Merry Christmas

As the holiday season nears, the Crescent staff takes this opportunity to wish each and everyone of our readers a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We realize that everyone is busy now, shopping and preparing for this blessed yuletide event. We hope that you will put at the head of that list of things to do a prayer of thanks for all the good that has come to you during the past year.

Let's sing those carols and say those thanks as if we really mean them and not as though we are just conforming to the practice of the season.

As the new year approaches, let's not make the kind of resolutions that invariably get broken during the ensuing year; rather, let's strive to make life a little more agreeable for our fellow men by being a little easier to get along with.

We hope that the new year will find you a happier and more contented person, again ready to face the trials and tribulations of your daily living.

May this Christmas hold a special blessing for you all, and may you hold near to your hearts that Christmas of long ago. Remember the true spirit of the holiday and really enjoy it.

In The Mail

Dear Editor,

I would like to make a complaint to an unknown student. The student of whom I am speaking has no respect for student property. He says he likes to study in the Eades Music Room of our Student Union; so he has removed two needles and two cartridges from the record players in the music room.

These cartridges cost $6.00 each, and the needles are likewise expensive. He has been known to state his reason as being, "I can't study with the music playing, and I like to study here." Did he ever stop to think that he is not the only student on Evansville's campus?

Several students have been complaining about the $12.50 activity fee that we must pay. However, people like him come along and tear up things in the Student Union that our money goes to help keep in order.

Not only this, but there are numerous students on our campus who really enjoy listening to the music in the Eades Music Room. This is what this room was designed for — not for studying. The library is for studying.

I would like to make a personal appeal to the guilty party. PLEASE stop your destruction NOW.

Sincerely Yours,
Frank Powers

Miss Moberly Joins College PR Staff

The little gal with the big camera who has been bustling around campus since last fall is Louise Moberly, new assistant director of public relations for the college. She came to Evansville from Waverly, Ohio, where she was on the advertising and editorial staff of a newspaper.

Although she was born in Missouri, Miss Moberly considers herself an Oakie since she spent most of her early life in Ponca City, Oklahoma. She studied journalism at the University of Oklahoma and was graduated from Central State college in Edmond. For three years after her graduation she taught journalism at Central State, doing public relations work for the school at the same time.

In 1954 Miss Moberly joined the WACs. While in service she did cadre work in the United States and overseas, serving 19 months as a first sergeant in England, France and Belgium.

Miss Moberly

After the war she traveled around the country for about a year; then she went to college in Texas. Later she transferred to Ohio university where she received an M.F.A. and a second B.A. She remained in Ohio until she came to Evansville College.

Miss Moberly stated that she enjoys photography, both as part of her job and as a hobby. Another of her spare time interests is making pottery. While at Ohio university she minored in ceramic design.

"Most journalists want to edit a small town newspaper or write a book when they retire," she declared, "but I don't. I want to be a potter."

Until the day of her retirement though, Miss Moberly said she hopes her future will be tied up with college work since she thoroughly enjoys being with students.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

The Progress Committee for this year was selected at the last Student Council Meeting. The ten members were chosen from th fourten top juniors and th fourteen top seniors scholastically. The chairman of the committee will be June Wallace with the other members to be Alta Egli, Margaret Broadhead, Betty Staser, Nancy Lai, Lewis Plane, Richard Wirth, James Smith, Dallas Graham and Gabriel Betit.

The purpose of the committee is to meet together and talk over any gripes they have or they hear about here on campus. The committee then decides who should be notified and tris to get the grip corrected. The committee works by itself and not only finds the gripes but corrects them also. It is a part of the Student Association and not a part of the Student-Faculty Federation. The chairman will sit on the Student Council with the other chairman but the Progress committee will be strictly a student committee. If any student has a gripe about something here on campus he should take it to a member of the Progress Committee who will try to correct it.

Acting President Long Sends Christmas Greetings to All

As we enter the holiday season, I would bring you Christmas greetings and wish for each of you all the joys of the Christmas season!

It is a time when we turn our thoughts to the Christ Child and rejoice as did tho Kings and Shepherds and "Eagerheart" at his birth. In our rejoicing, we should give thanks to God for the countless blessings we have received and for the privilege of living in peaceful America. How fortunate we are to enjoy the freedoms of our democracy, particularly the freedom to worship as we please. We are prone to take our liberties for granted although such freedoms are unknown to half the peoples of the world.

Today our democracy and our Christian way of life are challenged by pagan ideologies geared to subdue us through subversive action or outright force. Hatred, fear, misery and starvation engulf millions of people who are helpless in their lot. We dare not let evil rulers overcome us.

Let us — the administration, faculty and students — leaders and future leaders — assume our full responsibility and each in his own way within the realm of his influence through Christian living and through precept and example, make our full contribution to the preservation of our democracy and to the liberation of those less fortunate. Never before has it been so important for all God-fearing men to unite in Christian living and in prayer to the end that peace and good will shall prevail throughout the world.

FACULTY DAMES ENTERTAIN

Last Friday evening, December 10, the Faculty Club and Faculty Dames entertained with a buffet turkey dinner in the Great Hall of the Union.

Dinner entertainment was provided by Robert Heater ,assistant professor of speech, who gave Christmas readings. After dinner the party adjourned to the Lounge where carols were sung.

Co-chairmen for the affair were Mrs. Don Dunham and Miss Corian Stambaugh. Mrs. Gordon Stein and Miss Florence Keve were also on the committee.

EC Representatives Attend Conference

Last weekend nine representatives from Evansville College attended the regional conference of the Association of College Unions at Ball State in Muncie. Making the trip were Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union; Miss Kay Curtis, social director; and students, Sam Laubscher, chairman of the Union Board, Charles Calhoun, Myra Kasey, Carolyn Lockwood, Jack Miller, John Slyker and Jerry Neiswanger.

Delegates met with representatives of colleges from Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin to discuss and swap ideas on handling campus agencies.

Friday's activities included registration, dinner, a campus tour and a cabaret dance. Dr. John Emens, president of Ball State, was the keynote speaker for the conference.

On Saturday eleven student and staff discussion groups examined the problems and potentialities of student unions. Miss Kirk and Miss Curtis participated in a special discussion for faculty and college staff members associated with unions.

A general session to evaluate the conclusions of the discussion groups and a conference dinner closed the meeting.

GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English department, spoke on "Spiritual Values" at the December meeting of the BB chapter of PEO in the home of Mrs. S. J. Nordhaus.

PROFICIENCY GRADES

English Proficiency grades will not be posted until after Christmas vacation, the Faculty Committee on English Proficiency announced this week.

Views

The guest writer this week is Elizabeth Winsett, member of S.C.A. and Phi Mu, and treasurer of the Home Ee. club.

Christmas for me is the time for finding happiness, not mere pleasure seeking. We keep the joy that proclaims the meaning of Christ's coming and develops Christian attitudes.

Christmas is a family tibe, when we hear and tell the old story about the Christ child, the Three Wise Men and the shepherds. We decorat our homs with candles, stars, holly and lights. As a family we attend church regularly and take part in the activities as the church relives the blessed Christmas experiences through drama, films, scripture, sermon and music.

Christmas is a time for making gifts, not for exchanging presents. We are influenced too much by the high pressure advertising and are caught in the frenzy of having drained our bank account for expensive gifts on the theory that the price tag demonstrates the depth of our love. We should give not only to thsoe who give to us, but give as Jesus gave. He did not give us gold, franknicense or myrrh; instead he gave parables, beatitudes, words that changed or restored our life and a smile that brought us glimpses of heaven. He gave his life for us without thought of repayment.

Fellowship Grants Open to Students

Dr. Harris Erickson, professor of philosophy, has been appointed Liaison Officer to nominate two or three candidates from Evansville College for fellowships to the Danforth Foundation, an educational trust fund in St. Louis.

Applicants must be college senior men or recent graduates who are preparing themselves for college teaching careers and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1955. Qualifications for the fellowships are: outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character.

The maximum annual grant for single Fellows is $1,800; for married Fellows, $2,400. All applications, including recommendations, must be completed by February 15, 1955.

CHI OMEGA OFFICERS

Chi Omega sorority recently elected three new officers to serve for the remainder of the school year. They are Anita Aders, personnel chairman; Denison Crowder, social and civie service chairman; and Margie Hassee, activities chairman.

'Eager Heart' to be Televised On Christmas Eve by WEHT

"Eager Heart," Evansville College's traditional Christmas presentation, will be televised by WEHT at 5:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve. The day, depicting the ancient legend that Christ walks on earth at Christmas, was given in two performances last Sunday through the combined efforts of the college players and the choir.

Although the presentation has been seen at Evansville College since 1926, it has not lost its importance and beauty of bringing the Christmas meaning into campus life.

"Mood lighting" was the only thing introduced by Mr. Robert D. Heater who coached the college players. This means that the areas where the action is taking place were lighted and the other parts of the stage were darkened. Also, more acting and use of expression was apparent over the previous productions.

The cast cannot be named primarily because the production is a religious service. Mrs. Margaret Taylor Shepard directed the choral group. A. M. Buctan is the author of the old English play.

Pi Epsilon Phi Sponsors New Years Eve Party

December 31 is the date of an all campus New Years Eve party, which is to be held at the Show Buggy, located on Outer St. Joe Avenue.

Sponsored by the Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity, the price of the dance will be $2.50 per couple. Tickets can be obtained by seeing either Bob Ketlehut or any Philo active or at the door the night of the dance.

Bunge, Stiles Win Red Feather Title

During the drive in which 11 campus organizations cooperated, votes were sold for one cent apiece, the titles going to representatives of the groups selling the most. Miss Bunge is a member of BAK, Mr. Stiles of Pi Epsilon Phi.

Bob Porro was general chairman of the project which enriched the Community Chest treasury by $245.28.

Climaxing an eleven-day all campus drive for Community Chest funds, Danny Stiles and Phyllis Bunge were named Mr. and Miss Red Feather during half-time at the Thanksgiving day basketball game. They were awarded trophies by Bill Steier, president of SGA.

Rush Meeting

A meeting of all women rushees is scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow, December 16, in the Club Room of the Union building. At the meeting a final briefing on the conduct of rush will be given by Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor.

Rush proper will begin on January 5, with the Phi Mu informal party in the evening.

Joyce Reed Named Phi Zeta Sweetheart

Miss Joyce Reed was chosen the Phi Zeta "Sweetheart" at the annual "Sweetheart Ball" held November 20 at the Armory. One-hundred fifty couples attended the gala affair and Glenn Gregory and his orchestra filled the hall with their music.

Joyce Reed

Miss Reed, a freshman, was chosen by a committee of five during the traditional "Grand March" and she was crowned by John Conaway, vice-president of the host fraternity. The committee which chose the Sweetheart consisted of Jim Cooper, Bob Gerst, Jerry Neiswanger, Lloyd Roessler, and Bob Braustrater. Miss Reed was accompanied by Archie Griggs.

The "Sweetheart" received the Phi Zeta Sweetheart Pin which is presented to the winner of the title each yar. Last year's Sweetheart was Sharon Gruebel Gilmore.

Vaughn Speaks At AOPi Tea

Mrs. D. W. Vaughn was guest speaker at the annual literary tea of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority Sunday, December 5, in the lounge of the Student Union.

Introduced by Dean Wilson, chairman of the tea committee, Mrs. Vaughn read "Amal and the Night Visitors," a contemporary opera written for TV by Jon-Carlos Menotti.

Following a short welcome by Marilyn Randolph, president of the sorority, refreshments were served with Miss Wahnita DeLong and Miss Corian Stambaugh, members of the faculty, serving.

Guests were women members of the faculty, faculty wives, alumna of Castalians and Alpha Omicron Pi and mothers of the actives.

The literary tea custom was started by the Castalians, local sorority, which later affiliated with the national group.

Assisting Miss Wilson on the committee were Faye Forster, Harolyn Brown and Lois Ryon.

IT'S A FACT! College smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest, greatest coast-to-coast college survey. The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Now for the Droodle above, titled: Inept smoke ring blown by ept smoker. He's ept, of course, because he smokes Luckies. Be ept yourself and enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Aces Cop First Two Games; Set Floor Mark Against Tech.

Squad 'Fells' Oaks In Season Opener

Averaging 104 points per game the Purple Aces have rolled over their first two foes.

Oakland City was the first team to run into the well balanced Acc attack. After playing the Evansville squad on even terms for the first ten minutes the Purple and White suddenly caught fire and crushed the Oak's hopes, 100-54, with deadly shooting and deft ball-handling.

Rid of the first game jitters that they showed in the early parts of the Oakland City game and with considerable more finessee, Evansville lost no time in showing their mastery over the supposedly rugged Lawrence Tech five.

Starters Out

With two starters sidelined, because of injuries, the Aces figured to have trouble with the Tech team that was ranked in the top twenty secondary college basketball teams last season. After Jerry Clayton poured in the initial five points for the Aces, they were off running.

Using either the fast break, featuring Frank Healy, are the slowed down deliberate style of play, with the outside shooting of John Harrawood and Bob Walker the Aces swiftly and surely pulled away from befuddled Tech squad.

Over the Century Mark

Late in the fourth frame, after Coach McCutchan had cleared the bench, the Aces found themselves over the century mark for the second consecutive week and within easy striking distance of a new floor record.

With less than ten seconds left on clock and the Aces' score standing at 106 Archie Griggs picked up his fifth personal. The starters had already retired to the dressing room and McCutchan was willing to let the squad finish with four men.

Smallins Scores Record Breaker

Jim Smallins, who had already played an outstanding game, returned to the floor from the dressing room to toss in the record breaking basket. The final score read 108 for the rampaging Aces and 76 for Lawrence Tech.

Following is a roster of the 1954-55 Aces and the points scored in the first two games.

Names in the News

Bob Scott, already selected All-Conference, was further honored November 29 when he was selected the most outstanding lineman in the ICC.

Scott, who was the captain of the squad, is a senior this year.

Ralph Willis captured the annual Union ping pong tourney for the second consecutive year. Willis defeated George Dockery in the finals to end the four week tourney that saw forty-three hopefuls try to dethrone Willis.

In the men's doubles Dockery and David Darden beat the Ralph Willis-Tom Marshall team to capture the crown.

Dockery teamed with Joan Hamel to cop the mixed doubles crown. Jack Combs and Mary Lou Taylor were the runnersup in this division.

Awards will be made to all the winners at the annual all-campus Christmas party.

Emory Bauer, Valparaiso's coach, was selected Football Coach of the year in the ICC. Fellow conference coachs made the choice December 1.

Don Diekhoff, boasting a 143 average, has sparked the Four Freshmen to a one-half game lead over the Cochran Cockries. Other members of the freshman bowling team are Allen tSremming, Jerry Schneider and Richard Sexson.

Don Miller received the Carson award following the Refrigerator Bowl game. Miller quarterbacked the Delaware Blue Hens to a 19-7 win over Kent State of Ohio.

Jerry Clayton, six foot-seven-inch forward for the Aces is leading the point parade with 29 tallies in the first two games.

Otto Graham, leading passer for the Cleveland Browns, has announced that this year will be his last in pro football.

"Experts" Review Football Season

Crazy bounces, pre-season All-Americans that didn't quite materialize and injuries to key players at crucial points of the season played an important part in this past football season.

Seldom a week went by during this past campaign that one of the "football giants" was not surprised by an underdog. With the exception of the few schools that were good, or lucky enough to land a bowl bid all schools have "hung up the pads" for another year.

Outstanding Mark

Despite the fact that many weeks upsets were the rule rather than the exception, the experts of the Crescent finished the season with a 132-35-4 mark, for a 78.7 average.

All-American Selections

Now that the footballs have stopped bouncing, frustrated prognosticators turn their talents to the selection of All-American teams. Here is the Crescent's All-American selection for 1954:

At ends are Ron Beagle, a six foot, 190-pound junior from Navy. Beagle's running mate is Max Boydston, a six foot two, 204-pound senior from Oklahoma. UCLA's great tackle Jack Ellena, a six foot three, 215-pound senior is one choice with Sid Fournet, a six foot one, 225-pounder from LSU the other selection.

Iowa's outstanding junior guard, Calvin Jones, a five foot eleven, 220-pounder, teams with Bud Brooks, a six foot, 210-pound senior from Arkansas, to fill the middle spots of the line. Kurt Burris, a six foot one, 206-pound senior from Oklahoma, is the center choice.

Notre Dame's Ralph Guglielmi, a six foot, 185-pound senior, is the selection for quarterback. Howard Cassady, a five foot eleven, 175-pound junior from Ohio State and Dick Moegle, a six foot, 175-pound senior from Rice, are the halfbacks. Rounding out the team is Wisconsin's great fullback, Alan Ameche, a five foot eleven, 210-pound senior.

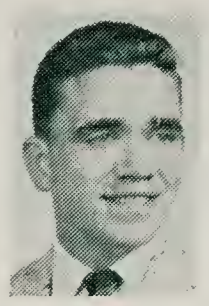
Aces High

By JACK COMBS

CONGRATULATIONS, congratulations and a Merry Christmas. First, congratulations to Coach Arad McCutchan and his Purple Aces on their tremendous showing in their first two games of the season. Some coaches have a problem in finding players to fill the starting positions but so far this sason Mac has had trouble finding positions for all of his players.



At first glance, before the season opened, it looked like the Mentor would have to go with John Harrawood, Bob Walker, Roscoe Bivin, Jerry Clayton and Bob Wessel at the starting slots, and this held true for the first game. Then due to injuries Wessel and Bivin were sidelined and the Aces went on to set a new school record without the two starters. Now people are wondering how the Coach will keep players like Clyde Cox, Jim Smallins and Frank Healy off the starting five. At this rate Athletic Manager Roland Eckels will have to buy plenty of award letters at the end of the season, but judging from the smile he wears while viewing the crowds at the Aces home games this won't be too unpleasant a task.

While on the subject of basketball, the All-American Cities Tournament at Owensboro promises to be one of the biggest and best of the Holiday Tournaments in this part of the country. The Universities of Mississippi, Maryland, Rhode Island, Cincinnati and Denver along with Texas Tech, Kentucky Weselyn and Evansville will battle for the second annual All-American Cities championship at the Sportscenter on December 27, 28, 29 and 30. The University of Maryland won the championship last year.

THE SECOND congratulations is for Bob Scott, who was named to the NAIA All American squad last week. Scotty, who is looking forward to a chance at pro football, was also named the 1954 Football Kiwanis Award winner at their annual banquet last Thursday. Again, congratulations to center and captain Bob Scott on a helluva good job.

THE MERRY CHRISTMAS was something I threw in to fill out the first sentence and I'll say A Happy New Year to fill out my word assignment. See you next year.

Bill Parish Selected Football Captain

Bill Parrish was seleeted, by a unanimous vote, to eaptain the 1955 football squad.

Bill, a six foot one, 180-pound senior, from Evansville Central, will be eompeting in his fourth varsity eampaign.

Next season, rather than one team member serving as eo-eaptain for the entire eampaign a eo-captain will be seleeted before eaeh game.

Bill has been honored this season by being named All-Conference for the second consecutive year. Besides being named All-Conference, he has received honorable mention on several Little All-American teams.

Carrying the ball 84 times for 349 yards, for a 4.1 yard per try average, Bill finished second among the Aces' top ground gainers, trailing only Ken Lutterbach, who was the best in the conference.

Parrish was also listed among team and conference leaders in two other departments. He caught eight passes for 162 yards and scored six touchdowns for 36 points.

Aces on Road Meet DePauw

Evansville was sporting a 2-0 record at press time, but they have played three games since this was written. Two of these were conference tilts.

The Aces are now preparing for another conference game. This one is against DePauw next Saturday at Greencastle. Last year the Purple and White split, with DePauw winning the follow-up, 83-72, at home after dropping the opening game at Greencastle 81-62.

DePauw has a new coach, and only four lettermen to carry the Tigers colors this season. Bob Schrier, 6 foot 2 inch sophomore, is the leading candidate back from last year's five. Schrier set a new scoring record last year when he poured in 321 points.

Tiger's Twig

Also back are a pair of speedy guards, seniors Ron McCammack and Bob Pierce, Dave "Twig" McCracken, son of "Branch" McCracken Indiana University basketball coach, is also back for another campaign at the Greencastle school.

DePauw's height comes from its crop of outstanding freshman candidates. Dave McKeag a 6' 8" rookie from LaGrange Illinois is one of the leading choices for the center slot. Joe Lawler, Ron Fox, Jack Bunnell, and Frank Estes are other outstanding freshmen at DePauw.

Aces at Full Strength

Coach Arad McCutchan will have a full deck of Aces ready for this game. Gene Wilm is now eligible for action after sitting out the first Ace contests becausc he is a co-op student. Also ready for play are Rosco Bivin and Bob Wessel, both out before because of injuries.

Who Will Start

With three more lettermen ready for action "Mac" will have quite a problem deciding whom to start. Jerry Clayton and Clyde Cox have been starting at guards, with either John Wessel or Roscoe Bivin at center and Bob Walker and John Harrawood at the guard spots.

Evansville will conclude its current road trip December 20, when the Aces return to the armory to meet conference foe Valparaiso. At press time the Crusaders had won only one of three starts. After beating Wayne university in the season opener they have lost to Indiana and Purdue.

Evansville Will Play In All-American Tourney

Evansville has been issued an invitation and plans to play in the second annual All-American City tournament. Kentucky Wesleyan of Owensboro will again be the host team for the tourney.

In last year's tourney the Aces won their opener over the University of Tennessee, 107-71, for what was then a new scoring record. In the second round of play they lost to the eventual winners, the University of Maryland, 68-58.

Maryland will be back this year to try to defend its title, also vying for the crown will be University of Mississippi, University of Rhode Island, University of Denver, Cincinnati university, Texas Tech and Kentucky Wesleyan.

Four ROTC Cadets Receive Awards

Cadets George E. Dockery, Robert C. Hawkins, Kenneth J. Will and Wendell R. Long have been designated Distinguished AFROTC studets of the class of 1955, Lt. Col. James A. Brantner, professor of air science, announced this week.

Considered one of the top AFROTC achievements this award is based on high academic grades, demonstrated leadership and aptiude for service in the United States Air Force. Participation in recognized extra-curricular activities counts heavily toward this award, he pointed out.

Wayne C. Ziliak and Jerome R. Goebel, who completed their college work during the Fall quarter, were commissioned second Lieutenants in the United States Air Force. Both received their commissions December 4, through the AFROTC.

Dockery and Will are graduates of Reitz, Ziliak and Goebel, Memorial, and Hawkins and Long from Bosse and Central high schools respectively.

Glee Clubs Planned For Men, Women

Two new music organizations will be added to the campus this quarter, according to an announcement made this week. A Girl's Glee Club and a Men's Glee Club will be organized under the direction of Miss Betty Kanable and Mr. Ralph Waterman, both faculty members of the musie department.

The Glee Clubs are open to all students on campus and will be recognized for half-an-hour class credit. Tentative times have been set up for the rehearsals, but will be subject to change to suit second quarter schedules. Meeting days are now listed as Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11:45 a. m. Mrs. Irene Richards, music department secretary, may be contacted for further information.

It has been three years since Evansville College has had these all-campus Glee Clubs. According to Mrs. Margaret Shepard, co-head of the msuic department, they are being re-established to enable interested students who cannot b members of his college choir to participate in a choral group. Both groups will do semi-popular and serious music and will give publie performances throughout the year.

AAUP Meeting

William Affolder, professor of management, will speak on a "suggestion system for Evansville College" at the AAUP meeting Friday at 10 a. m. in the Club room of the Union building.

Donor List Wanted By Welfare Council

The Vanderburgh County Welfare Council asks that organizations on campus planning to distribute food baskets or gifts to needy families during the holiday season register the names of the persons to whom they are sending them with the Council.

The Council, in cooperation with the Social Service Exchange, acts as a clearing house to insure a fair distribution of the gifts. Experience has shown that there are some families left off all lists while some appear on more than one list.

The Council stresses that it is not attempting to limit the amount of giving or to whom the gift shall be made; is purpose is to inform organizations if another is planning to give to the same family.

Organizations are asked to send the following information to the Social Service Exchange: the name and address of any family to whom they are planning to make a gift, and the number of gifts they wish to distribute in addition to the families they have listed.

Founders Day Tea Celebrated by BSO

The annual Beta Sigma Omicron Founders Day tea was held in the Union Lounge on Monday afternoon, December 13.

Guests at the tea were mothers of actives, members of alumni chapters, faculty wives, and faculty women. Special guest was Mrs. P. Casper Harvey, editor of the "Urn," the sorority's national magazine.

Margaret Ann Broadhead was in charge of the tea. Assisting her as committee chairmen were Joanne Bailey, who supervised invitations, and Carol Schoolfield, who took charge of the program.

Union Staff Party Planned

Cafeteria and grill employees and union custodians will be guests at a Christmas party Thursday evening, December 17, according to Mrs. Georgianna Hill, cafteria staff manager.

The staff members have been divided into three committees in order to plan the party. The decorations committee has erected a Christmas tree as well as table decorations in the cafeteria. An entertainment committee planned the program which will include a short play followed by square dancing, caroling and exchanging gifts. The other committee will be responsible for the refreshments.

Panhellenic Council

Panhellenic Council will have a special meeting tomorrow morning, December 16, at 10 a. m. in Room A-106.

Guidance Day Set For EC Freshmen

Tuesday, January 11, will mark Freshman Guidance Day on the Evansville College campus.

In the morning from 9-12, freshmen wil meet and talk with former high school principals, counselors or teachers. Students will be notified by mail of the time and place of their individual meetings. Interviews will be held in faculty members' offices.

As a foundation for the discussions, evaluation sheets will be prepared by college freshmen teachers. They will be made up on the basis of the following components of the students college life: attendance, attitude, high school preparation, social adjustment and social participation, and grammar.

A luncheon, at which Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel services will preside, is scheduled to take place at noon for the high school personnel and freshmen counselors. Mr. Ralph Olmstead will speak.

For good snapshots at Xmas there's two things to do use good fresh film and flash bulbs too.

CRESCENT

Vol. XXXVI | Evansville, Indiana | Jan. 14, 1955 - No. 10

Dr. Luccock Will Speak Sunday

Dr. Halford E. Luccock, professor emeritus of Yale Divinity School, will be the first vesper speaker of the new year.

"Measuring the Dictionary" will be his subject when he addresses the students and faculty at the college Vespers Sunday afternoon at 4 in the Great Hall of the Student Union.

A social hour in the Union Lounge will follow the service.

Preacher, Teacher and Writer

Dr. Luccock has established a national reputation as a preacher, teacher and writer during the 40 years he has devoted to these three fields. A professor of preaching at Yale university for 25 years, he was named professor emeritus in 1953.

He was graduated from Northwestern university, Columbia university and Union Theological seminary. Ordained to the Methodist ministry, he spent 10 years in pastorates in Brooklyn, N.Y., Hartford and New Haven, Conn.

Early History

Dr. Luccock became a member of the faculty of Drew Theological seminary at Madison, N.J., in 1916. He served as Editorial Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Church from 1918 to 1924.

Author of 21 books, his latest to be published are "Commentary on Mark" in the "Interpreter's Bible" and and Lyman Beecher Lectures on Preaching at Yale university, "Communicating the Gospel." For the past six years Dr. Luccock has conducted a weekly column in the Christian Century under the name of Simeon Stylites. A collection of these letters was published in October 1954 with the title, "Like A Mighty Army."

Three more vesper services are scheduled after Dr. Luccock. On February 13, Dr. Charles Johnson, president of Fisk university, will speak; Mr. Hobart Mitchell will deliver his "Sermon-in-Song" on March 27. Dr. Harry Kisner will close the series on April 24.

Hostesses for the social hour are Mrs. Oran Grafton and Mrs. Philip Reisinger, Evansville College alumnae. Assisting are Marilyn Grayson, Joan McGraw, Doddie Martin, Dorothy Jones, DeLoris Hartig, Betty Oldham and Mary McCreary, students.

Late News Breaks

MILITARY BALL

Tentative plans have been made for the Military Ball, according to Jack Combs, publicity committee chairman. If things go according to plans, Ralph Flanigan will play for the annual affair March 9.

Wendell Long, president of the Arnold Air Society, is in charge of plans, with Combs working on publicity, Bob Hawkins in charge of invitations, Kenneth Will, decorations and George Dockery, ticket committee.

CRESCENT EDITOR

Jak Williams was appointed editor of the Crescent this week by the Publications committee. Williams replaces Ken Curtin, who resigned in December but will continue on the staff as editor of the editorial page.

Bystanders thought they were seeing double when Nancy Lee Chreste posed beside her portrait for this picture. The model is a freshman at Evansville College, and the portrait is one of eight oils by Miss Muriel Thatcher currently on exhibit in the art gallery in the Student Union. The collection will hang through January 23.

Although this exhibit is the first one-man show for the local artist, she has exhibited her work twice at the Evansville Museum of Arts and Sciences in Tri-State shows. She is the sixth artist to have a one-man show in the college gallery.

Miss Thatcher, who switched to oil about four years ago, studied at the California School of Arts and Crafts and the San Francisco School of Fine Arts. She also studied with Faye Hentborne and Jerry Farnsworth, both in Florida.

Deadline for 'Kaper' Entries is Today; 'Fairyland Fantasy' Chosen as Theme

Today is the deadline for entries for Kampus Kapers, although the show will not be presented until February 21 and 22. To be eligible entries must be in the office of Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Student Union, by 5 p.m. today, she said.

"Fairyland Fantasy" is the theme chosen for the fifth annual "Kapers." The first rehearsal for the program, consisting of seven minute skits prepared by various campus organizations, will be January 27. The Union Dance Committee is in charge of arrangements, with Carolyn Lockwood heading the group as general chairman.

Confusion Eliminated

This year only one backdrop will be used throughout the entire show to avoid backstage confusion experienced in previous programs. Another innovation will be the inclusion of persons outside the particular organization, in the various skits. This will mean that fraternities may use women, and sororities may have men in their dramatizations.

The proceeds from the show will be used to purchase some item needed on campus as has been the practice in the past. Last year the funds were used to purchase the television set in the Union, and a portion was used to help buy the letters for the new college sign facing Lincoln avenue. A committee has been chosen to decide how the money will be put to use.

Representatives Chosen

Many organizations have chosen representatives to work with the general chairman. INCA representatives are John Bennett and Selma Douglas; Baptist Nurses' group, Lois Somers and LaNova Cook; Chi Omega, Margie Hassee and Pat Harris; SCA, Doddie Johnson; Alpha Omicron Pi, Lois Ryon;

Phi Zeta, John Slyker and Tom Lukens; Phi Mu, Gail Still; Philos, Jim Jensen; Sigma Epsilon, Jim Barney and Jim Kasper; Beta Sigma Omicron, Joanne Bailey, and International Relations Club, Don Groeninger. Virginia Weigel, the faculty delegate, concludes the list of representatives.

Honored for the eleventh time is Bill Steier, with Alta Egli and Robert Hawkins named for the ninth time. Receiving the honor for the eighth time are Margaret Broadhead and Robert Porro. Seven time winners are Susan Chenoweth, John Miller and Carroll Rickard.

James Schreiber and Betty Staser were named for the sixth time with Harry Craig and Myra Kasey receiving number five.

Ten Get Honors Fourth Time

Ten students have received the honor four times. They are Ann Arnett, Joanne Bailey, Joyce Becker, Barbara Cox, William Greer, Margie Hassee, InChang Kim, Mangatas Pasaribu, John Thole and Carl Walton.

Three-time winners of the award include Hal Burckhartt, Faye Forster, Martin Garrett, Dellas Graham, Marilyn Grayson, Ronald Hamilton, Viola Hocker, Jean Hurst, David Lawson, Janis Pattie, Carol Schellhase, Rosemarie Wiseman and William Wolf.

The eleven two-time winners are Gilbert Bumb, Robert Chappell, James Fulkerson, Charles Hill, Myrtle Hunt, Ott Hyatt, Doddie Johnson, Sarah Moman, Nancy Phillips, Robert Scott and Doris Trobaugh.

First Time Winners

Among those who are receiving the honor for the first time are Donald Allen, Guy Andress, Jr., Paul Boesche, Barbara Boger, Carolyn Bosse, Gayle Burocker, Lois Donham, Thomas Emge, Nanene Engle, Hazel Evans, Lowell Foster, June Harris and Beverly Hortin.

Other first time winners include Barbara Hulvershorn, Paula Jacobs, Theodore Keller, Dick Kirkland, Dorothy Kramer, George Lamb, Jr., Ruth Lathom, Robert Laubscher, William McClintick, Ida McCutchan, James Miller and Jane Powers.

Rushing Activities Start This Week

Smokers, Dances Scheduled; Bid Signing Next Friday

Fraternities

Rushing activities for the four fraternities on campus are now in full swing and will reach a climax next Friday with bid signing. Hopeful fraternity pledges signed the eligibility list last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Informal parties will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Phi Zeta will start the party parade by entertaining on Monday with an informal dinner. Phi Epsilon Pi will have a similar party on Tuesday for their hopefuls. Acacia will fete its prospects on Wednesday.

No date has been announced for the Sigma Epsilon party.

Large Pledge Class

Usually the winter pledge classes are the largest of the year, because it marks the first time that second quarter freshmen are eligible for pledging.

After this week's parties and social gatherings conclude the prospective pledges will make their decision on what, if any, fraternity they wish to pledge.

Bid Signing

Next Friday morning at 10 is the time scheduled for bid signing. Prospective pledges should check the eligibility list, on the dean's bulletin board, before entering the auditorium for the bid-signing assembly.

Those that find their names on the eligibility list and wish to pledge then enter the assembly. Upon entering they will receive sealed bids from the different groups. The prospects will then sign the bid of their choice and give it to the faculty member that is in charge of the assembly.

After signing the bids the men will leave the assembly and join the groups of their choice. They then become a pledge.

Sororities

Sorority Rush, which was launched on campus January 3, will swing into its final week at midnight tonight with the beginning of the silence period. The time was extended from 4 p.m. this afternoon to enable persons involved in Rush to attend the sweater hop this evening.

During silence, conversation between rushees and sorority members is forbidden except at formal rush parties. Rushees as well as actives are bound to observe this rule until the closing day of rush, January 22. Anyone violating it will be brought before Pan-Hellenic council and penalized for the infraction.

Last week a series of informal parties was given by sororities for potential members. Phi Mu entertained on January 5; AOPi, January 6; Chi Omega, January 10; and Beta Sigma Omicron, January 11.

Scheduled for next week are four formal dessert parties: AOPi, January 17; Phi Mu, January 18; Beta Sigma Omicron, January 19; and Chi Omega, January 20. They will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on the designated dates.

On Friday evening, January 21, preferential bid cards will be delivered to rushees by teams composed of one member from each sorority. The rushee must fill out her card, stating the organization to which she would prefer to belong, and return it with the messenger immediately. She may indicate alternate preference also.

When all preferential bids are returned they will be checked by a disinterested off-campus person who will match them with bid lists made up by the sororities. All rushees receiving bids will be notified on Saturday, January 22, between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

This year each sorority may accept nine new members from the freshman class and as many as it wishes from upper classes up to its quota, which remains at 30, including pledges, for each group.

Plans for a pledge dance are being completed by a special committee. It will take place February 18 in the Great Hall of the Union.

'Tartuffe' Tryout Dates Announced

Tryout dates for Moliere's "Tartuffe," E.C. Theater presentation, have been set for Sunday, January 16, and Monday, January 17, according to an announcement by Robert Heater, director. They will be held in the auditorium both dates, from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday and at 10 a.m. Monday, to avoid a conflict with women's rush.

The play will be given March 2, 3, 4 and 5. It is a five act show and is considered by Mr. Heater as one of Molicre's best. A cast of fifteen will be needed to present the play. There ar 11 male parts and four female leads. Mr. Heater has urged that any regularly enrolled student at E.C., who is interested in dramatics, come to the tryouts. "We would like to see a lot of new faces and new blood for this production, which will be the biggest of the current school year," he continued.

"Tartuffe" was written in the late 17th century and is as timely today as then. Moliere, among the top half-dozen playwrights in any compilation, is known as a great satirist and a writer of comedy. The play's title means the imposter and is a takeoff on human gullibility. The situations evolved by such a mixture of satire and gullibility are certain to create humor and smiles. It is one of the few plays in which the main character doesn't even appear until the third act.

The play will be done in period costumes, which are being rented from an Eastern concern.

Sweater Hop Marks Beginning of Silence

Tonight's all-campus sweater hop will mark the "cessation of all intermingling of sorority actives and rushees." The silence period has been deferred until 12 p.m. so that all students may attend the informal dance at 8:30 p.m.

"Cabaret Night" will be the theme followed throughout the evening in both decorations and entertainment. Carolyn Lockwood, chairman of the Union Dance committee and Sally Reece, vice chairman, are responsible for all arrangements.

Entertainment will be similar to that of night clubs, with music furnished by Jim Schneider and his combo. Mr. Schneider plays with Ray Anthony's band, which has disbanded for a short period.

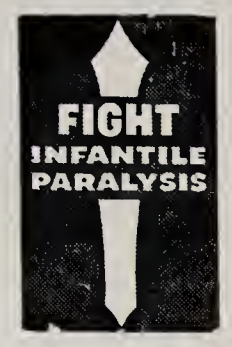
The Grill will be decorated with checkered table cloths and candles in bottles to give the cabaret effect. Wilma Kamman of the Dance committee is in charge of all decorations.

Publicity for the dance was arranged by Mary Lou Heilman, chaperones by Carol Schoolfield; and tickets by Hal Burckhartt.

March With the 'March of Dimes'

How much is your life worth to you? Yes, how much would you give to help save your life or someone else's?

Rather difficult to answer, isn't it? But for just ten cents you can help immeasurably in the saving of human lives the world over. Think of it, with just a small effort on your part, you can make a contribution, regardless of size, and be helping to serve many of your fellow men, or, some day, this donation might even save you.



This is March of Dimes month, when we have the chance to really strike a blow at polio and its many fatalities. Through your help a vaccine has been developed, but if you think this is the only reason the money is needed, you are mistaken.

What about those who already are crippled and must undergo rehabilitative surgery, or wear corrective shoes and braces? With braces costing cometimes as much as $100 and shoes anywhere from $20 to $40, how many of you could afford this tremendous expense?

These are the people who are in need. Even if this vaccine proves effective, we still can't say the job is done — the expense of polio is great, and the costs will continue to mount. Yet people still think that once the vaccine is proved effective we can forget all about polio. But it is not that simple. For the benefit of those who feel this way, we would like to suggest a visit to one of the children's polio wards where the March of Dimes money is being put to use.

Watch these tots in their prisons of plaster or steel; they can still smile even though their pain is intense or their bodies are terribly mangled and drawn by this destructive force which respects no man, regardless of age, race or creed. There are students on our own campus who have experienced this disease and overcome their disabilities.

It may be that some day you will need the help of this organization, either for yourself or for one of your children. So, if for no other reason, why not give to help yourself?

The battle against polio has just begun. (KC)

Dear Editor,

I would like to pass on a compliment on a fact which was perhaps overlooked by many of the students. I was very pleased by the Christmas issue benig brought out on Wednesday instead of Friday. I know how much extra work you and your staff must have done in order to get out an early edition while we were enjoying the quarter vacation.

It only goes to show that your efforts to bring the students a newspaper which is more interesting are appreciated. You certainly are to be complimented for the attitude and the concern you and your staff show for the students. Good luck and continued good issues of The Crescent.

A student reader,
Doug Barthlow

Miss Kanable Joins EC Music Faculty; Likes Pics, Cooking

The newest member of the music faculty, Miss Betty Kanable, was born in Indiana and studied at Indiana State Teachers college, but she's not a Hoosier, for it was in Indiana, Pa., that she made her debut into the world. "Sometimes it gets very confusing when I try to explain it," she declared.

After receiving her B.A. from Pennsylvania's Indiana State Teachers college, Miss Kanable attained an M.A. and another B.A. from Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester in New York. While working on her master's degree she taught at Rochester.

Although she played the oboe and English horn in the college band and orchestra, the new music professor concentrates on the piano now. She was part of a two-piano team in Cheney, Wash., where she taught for five years at Eastern Washington college.

Miss Kanable

Last year Miss Kanable did graduate work at Northwestern university, working as a residence counselor also. This fall she joined the Evansville College faculty. An associate professor of music, she teaches music education courses.

Miss Kanable has traveled in the United States, Canada and Alaska. Her special hobbies are photography and cooking with herbs and spices. When preparing food out-of-doors she solves her entertainment problems by letting her guests cook steaks or shish-kebabs over an open fire.

Miss Kanable resides in Newburgh at The Maples.

Jones Names Practice Profs

Fifty-one Evansville College students are doing their practice teaching in the Evansville public schools during the winter quarter, according to Miss Lucille Jones, head of the education department. Thirty-four of these are in three of the city's secondary schools, and 17 in eight of the elementary schools.

Practice teaching at Bosse are William Bammer, Lemoine Barr, Byron Brenton, Wilbur Bullock, Jim Clodfelter, Robert Grotius, Patricia Harris, William Jackson, Kenneth Kleiman, Walter Kopcho.

Elizabeth Pollock, Louis Rudd, Mary Jo Schlimmer, Alvin Schwartz, Dwayne Scott, James Smith, Jim Van Scyoc, John Wessel and Everett Wilson.

At Central are Dorothy Brannon, Marjorie Goad, Myra Kasey, Allen Lechner, John McGinness, Ted Niemeier, Jerome Schaefer, Bob Scott, John Spayd, Fred Tismar, Jarrel Wallace, June Wallace and Gloria Watson.

Frank Fuchs, Jr., and Ruth Ann Smith teach at Reitz.

Elementary teachers include Irene Deal, Claud Hayes and Mary Nell Plane at Baker; Margaret Broadhead and Alma Dean Wilson at Carpenter; Mrs. Baugh, Roger Garrett and Mrs. Harris at Centennial.

Shirley Lanman is at Harper; Marilyn Randolph at Henry Reis; Betty Norris and Carol White are at Howard Roosa; Linda Burr, Jane Cooper, Denison Crowder and Alta Egli are at Stanley Hall; Nancee Jo Land is at Washington.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Here we go again. Business is picking up — especially in Washington, D.C., and in Indianapolis, Ind.

Most of the Washington Political Prognosticators seem to feel that President Ike will get more support for his legislative program from the now-majority Democrats than he got last year from his fellow Republipanzers. One of these days the Republicans are going to wake up and find that they have their man in the White House. By that time he will be getting ready to move out and start raising cattle, and a Democrat will be ready to move in.

Up at Indie it looks as if things will be hotter around the Statehouse than around the famed oval on the west side on Memorial Day.

Again this year we find the forces of "Wild" Bill and "Howlin' " Homer engaged in political grappling with the forces of "Gorgeous" George. Seems the honorable Senators from Indiana feel that the honorable Governor isn't so honorable and vice versa.

Unfortunately, the Governor feels that the people of the state elected him to represent them on the state level. The Senators feel that their duties of representing the people on the national level also entitles them to run the state. Only a minor matter of definitions.

. . . the matter of revoking the veteran's free Permanent Hunting Permits will cause a lot of bitter fighting. The Conservation Department, which gets most of its funds from the sale of hunting licenses, has tried for years to get these permits voided.

As a holder of one of these permits, I would like to state my views. A conservative estimate is that the Conservation Department is losing $300,000 annually because of the free permits. In terms of restocking our dwindling game, this represents a lot of quail, pheasant and other animals. It is likely that we do need more game wardens to enforce the game laws. The questions I ask are — How much of this money will be used for restocking? How much will be lost in the Top Administration Red Tape Shuffle?

If there could be any guarantee that at least half of the three hundred grand would be poured into game, I would be all for revoking the permit. After all, the two dollars we would have to spend on a license represents only one box of shot gun shells — usually we waste at least one box shooting at beer cans.

There is a movement on foot at Indie to transfer the $22,000,000 surplus that built up in the bonus fund for WW-II vets to the general fund.

. . . this tax and the money collected therefrom was imposed for a bonus to vets. Therefore any surplus should be used as a vets' bonus.

Circuit Judge Robert B. Stewart, Brazil, Ind., should be given a medal. In a case appearing before him recently he ruled that "Law of this state . . . gives the teacher exactly the same rights over a child . . . as that possessed by the parents. A school is a workshop, not a playhouse.

"A state that depends on the sound training of its youth for its well-being and very life has a right to insist on such discipline as will insure good order necessary for best operation of its educational facilities."

The ruling was the result of a case in which the parents of a boy assaulted a principal and a patrol boy.

Contrary to the teachings of psychology, a child's brains are in his head, not in his cannister. A good spanking occasionally will not only stimulate circulation but will often stimulate study.

Not too many years ago if a child got a spanking in school he also got one at home. Now if he gets one at school the teacher is spanked by the parent.

Schools do offer good baby tenders while mama can play bridge and meet her other social obligations. We should have night school for children too.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

The Progress committee for this year has been named by the Student Council. The members of the committee were picked according to their scholastic standings with the five seniors and five juniors selected from the top seven men and top seven women in their class. It is hoped that by this type of selection more students who are not active in student affairs can be given a part of student government.

June Wallace will act as chairman of the committee with the other senior members being Alta Egli, Margaret Broadhead, Lewis Plane, Richard Wirth and James Smith. The junior members are Dellas Graham, Gabriel Betit, Betty Staser and Nancy Lai.

The purpose of this committee is discussing campus problems and trying to reach a solution to them or taking the problems to someone who can find a solution for them. The committee will work on such problems as campus appearance, parking, student troubles and other problems which come to them. It is up to this committee to find both the problem and also the solution.

This committee worked well last year and will have an even better year if all the members will take an active interest. If any student feels he knows of a campus problem, he should take it to June Wallace and the Progress committee will act on it as soon as possible.

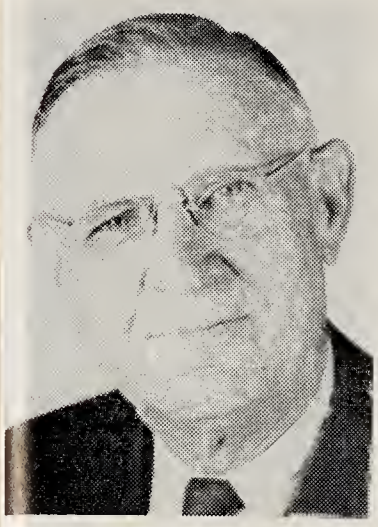
Shrode Joins EC Faculty As Admissions Counselor

Mr. Carl Schrode has been appointed to the Evansville College faculty to serve as admissions counselor and assoeiate professor of education. Mr. Shrode teaches evening courses in history and philosophy of education.

As admissions counselor, the new faculty member works with Clifford Kraft counseling student admissions. Covering an area of approximately 75 miles, he travels in Indiana and Illinois telling the college story and talking with students in high schools about college training.

Mr. Shrode is well known in Evansville as the man who was principal of Central high school for 27 years.

Born in northern Warrick county, Mr. Shrode received his B.A. from Swarthmore college in Pennsylvania. He has a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and has done graduate work at Columbia, the University of Colorado, Indiana University Extension school, and at the Study Center at Evansville College.



Mr. Shrode

After having served in the army during World War I, Mr. Shrode began his teaching career at Central. When Bosse opened its doors to students for the first time in 1924, he was appointed vice-principal. In 1927 he returned to Central as principal and remained there until last summer.

Mr. Shrode is married and has a son who is a lawyer. The Shrodes traveled in Mexico last October just before the new admissions counselor decided to retire from being retired.

College Eligible To Share In Education Grant

The Associated Colleges of Indiana, Inc., of which Evansville College is a member, will receive a contribution of $10,000 as part of an aid-to-education grant from the General Foods Fund, Inc., an independent foundation sponsored by General Foods Corporation.

The Fund is contributing a total of $145,000 to 11 state and regional associations of private, liberal arts colleges, with a total of 158 participating members. These associations of the various states which were formed to facilitate appeals for financial support will distribute the funds among their members.

The General Foods Fund was incorporated in March, 1953, to make contributions to organizations in the charitable, educational and scientific fields.

LONG RETURNS

Acting President Dean Long is scheduled to return today from a trip to the East.

On Monday and Tuesday, January 9-10, he attended a meeting of the Association of Schools and Colleges of the Methodist Church in Cincinnati. For the past two days he has been in Washington, D.C., representing the school at the convention of the Association of American Colleges.

ProgressGroup Elects Officers To Voice Gripes

The members of this year's progress committee have been named by Bill Steier, president of Student Government Association. June Wallace has been appointed chairman with Alta Egli, Margaret Broadhead, Betty Staser, Nancy Lai, Lewis Plane, Richard Wirth, James Smith, Dallas Graham and Gabriel Betit working on the committee with her.

Last year was the first year for the progress committee. It is composed of all students and serves as the gripe committee on campus. If any student has a gripe, he may take it to any member of the committee and the committee will decide what can be done and the person to see.

SAI Fetes Mrs. Becker

The Beta Epsilon chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota on the Evansville College campus entertained at a Silver Tea last Sunday afternoon in the home of an SAI patroness, Mrs. Roger Becker.

A program of music by eontemporary composers were given by the active members. They included: Carol Schoolfield, Mrs. Mary Nell Plane, piano; Marilyn Grayson, flute. A string trio consisting of Nancy Lai, violin, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, cello and Carol Schoolfield, piano, played the modern "Romanza" by Charles Haubiel. Other composers featured on the program included Aaron Copland and Franz Liszt.

Among those attending were SAI actives, alumni and patronesses. Members of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia also attended as did members of the college band and choir. Proceeds from the tea will go toward the Sigma Alpha Iota Foundation Fund.

STUDENT DIRECTORIES

Students who have not already done so are asked to pick up their copies of the student directory at the Book Store in the Administration building this week.

Each student is entitled to a free copy.

Armstrong Offers Employment On Summer Vacation Program

The Armstrong Rubber Manufacturing Company of Des Moines, Iowa, has planned a summer employment program for undergraduate students from midwestern colleges and universities. The firm is specifically interested in persons studying industrial, mechanical and chemical engineering and is accepting applications for positions now.

Students who have had two or more years of engineering training are qualified for the jobs. If accepted they will be placed in positions in the field which they expect to follow as careers after they have been graduated.

The Armstrong Company planned the program of this nature would prove valuable to the student, as he will be given an opportunity to obtain actual work experience in the particular line of his training. Such a program would also aid the company in evaluating the future potential of the summer student employed.

The Des Moines plant, which employs about a thousand persons, is devoted to the manufaeture of rubber tires for trucks, commercial vehieles, passenger automobiles and farm implement equipment. It utilizes modern automatic machinery and the latest production methods. At the present time it is revising incentive standards on the basis of "motion-time-measurement" techniques.

Students interested in taking advantage of this opportunity may acquire more information about it at the Placement Bureau.

SEMINAR DISCONTINUED

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, announced that there will be no senior seminar this year. He said that the reason for discontinuing the meetings was a lack of interest on the part of the students.

Seniors who will be graduated in March or June may sign up now for job placement at the Placement Bureau.

Committee Chosen By Student Council

The student eommittee for naming eandidates for Campus Leaders and Campus Notables has been appointed by the Student Council.

The sorority representatives are: Joan Bosse, AOPi; Margaret Broadhead, Beta Sig; Mary Jane Nendel, Chi O; Mary Lou Taylor, Phi Mu.

Representatives of the fraternities are: Joe Kirk, Acacia; Dodson Campbell, Phi Zeta; Jim Schreiber, Philo.

Bob Porro from INCA and Gil Bumb, Marilyn Tate and Martha Powell from the unaffiliated students make up the rest of the eommittee.

This committee will nominate three times as many students are are finally selected for both Campus Leaders and Campus Notables. A seven-member faculty committee will do the final screening and name those elected in March.

FACULTY DAMES MEET

Using slides and the planetarium at the Evansville Museum, Dr. R. T. Dufford, professor of physics, presented a program entitled, "A Trip To The Moon," for the Faculty Dames last Tuesday evening, January 11.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Norman Long, Mrs. William E. Coates and Mrs. Orville Jaebker.

College smokers are sure going for Winston!

FINER FILTER!

FINER FLAVOR!

KING SIZE, TOO!

WINSTON

the filter cigarette that really tastes like a cigarette!

■ No wonder Winston's so popular with college smokers! It's got real flavor—full, rich flavor you'll really enjoy. Winston tastes good—like a cigarette should!

Along with finer flavor, Winston also brings you a finer filter. The exclusive Winston filter works so effectively, yet doesn't "thin" the taste or flatten the flavor. Winston lets you draw smoothly, easily—there's no effort to puff!

Try Winston, the filter cigarette that tastes good—like a cigarette should!

Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!

Dufford Receives Chairmanship To Head Science Fair In April

The annual Science Fair, sponsored by Evansville College and the Evansville Press, will be held this year on Saturday, April 16, in the Engineering Building. Dr. R. T. Dufford, professor of physics, has been appointed chairman of the project.

Acting President Dean Long is an ex officio member of the committee chosen to direct the Fair. In charge of judges is Dr. Donald Dunham, head of the biology department.

Selected to serve on the committee are: Miss Alma Oberst, Press editorial staff member; Dr. Norman Long, professor of chemistry; Miss Louise Moberly, assistant director of public relations; Mr. Ralph Olmsted, business manager; Mr. Lawrence Anderson, associate professor of economics; Mr. Ralph Coleman, associate professor of mathematics; and Miss Doris Kirk, Student Union director.

Other committeemen are: A. C. Biggs, superintendent of buildings and grounds; Mr. Edward Susat, assistant professor of engineering; Lt. Col. James Brantner, professor of air science; Mr. Marvin Hartig, director of Evening College; Dr. F. Woody Werking, professor of modern language; Dr. Charles Robertson, professor of biology; Dr. John Kronsbein, professor of engineering; Mr. Guy Marchant, professor of mathematics; Dr. Francis Buller, professor of psychology; and Mr. Harold Houston, instructor of engineering.

Exhibits at the Fair will feature chemistry, biology, physics and a separate division including mathematics, astronomy, psychology and the earth sciences. Students from the seventh and eighth grades and from high schools may enter the competition.

Cash prizes will be awarded for the best exhibits and the grand winner will compete in the National Fair at the Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland, Ohio. Exhibits will be judged on creative ability, scientific thought, clarity and dramatic value.

Students To Meet In Grill for Union Birthday Party

Faculty and students will assemble in the Grill at 10 a.m. Friday, January 21 to sing the traditional "Happy Birthday" for the fourth annual birthday party, according to Miss Kay Curtis, Union social director.

The Union Social committee, with Margie Hassee serving as chairman, has planned a short program to be followed by refreshments served by the light of birthday candles. Miss Doris Kirk, Union director, will introduce staff members who have been employed for the entire four year period after which Acting President Dean Long, Union Board President Sam Laubscher and Miss Kirk will make brief comments. The Union lobby will be decorated with a large birthday cake to commemorate the occasion.

Several committees with chairmen have been appointed to work with the general chairman on party arrangements. Jackie King is in charge of music; Liz Romine, decorations; Jane Chanley, food, and Mary McCreary, publicity.

Eleven Students Attend Conference on Politics

Eleven Evansville College students attended the state-wide student conference on politics sponsored by the Indiana Citizenship Clearing House at Indianapolis yesterday.

Attending were DeLoris Hartig, Barbara Hulvershorn, Marilyn Kemp, F. Ray King, James Morris, Yvonne McCutchan, Charlotte Walter, Bill Kiltz, Barbara Corson, Dave Ingle and Sue Hathaway.

Edward R. Richards, assistant professor of history and political science, accompanied the group.

Miss Olmstead Performs At Piano Recital

Miss Sylvia Olmstead, a member of the Evansville College music department faculty, gave a piano recital last night in the Great Hall of the Union building.

Included on the program were "Symphonic Etudes op. 13" by Schumann, "Etude op. 42 No. 4" and "Albium Leaf op. 45 No. 1" by Scriabine and "Fantaisie op. 49" by Chopin. Miss Olmstead also chose works by the composers Couperin, Bach and Mendelssohn.

Following the recital, a reception was held in the Union building lounge.

Twelve Students Earn Degrees In December

Twelve students completed requirements for a degree in December, according to G. R. McCoy, registrar.

Those students who will receive a B.A. degree in Elementary Education include Teryl Sue Elfrich, Franklin W. Imel, Paula Davies Jacobs, Suzette Spiegel and Shirley Balding Rausch. Ronald Ray Hamilton and Gerald Walter Kastner have earned a B.A. degree in Secondary Education.

Jerome Richard Goebel, Donald Eugene Halter, Samuel Miller and Wayne C. Ziliak are qualified for B.S. degree in Business Administraiton. The only engineering major is Frederick E. Wittman who will receive a B.S. degree.

Tony Matthews, freshman, is president of the district Methodist Youth Fellowship. He was graduated from Reitz high school

Well, the vacation is over and we're back to the old grind again. Many of us complained a little about coming back to school. I complained a little myself, but now that I'm back I kind of like the old grind.

Last June when I graduated from high school, I was very sad about leaving my alma mater and did not think college could in any way compare to high school. When I started to college this fall, it was just as bad as I had expected.

As time went on, I began to meet more students and find out how nice they really are. I began to attend some of the meetings of the Christian organizations and marveled at the good work they are doing. I would never have dreamed that there were as many Christ-like people on campus as I have learned to know. I never realized how much I really enjoyed Evansville College until I was gone for two weeks. I definitely have a different opinion of college now than I did in September.

If we all stick together and work for the good of each other, we can make Evansville College a prosperous and enjoyable institution in '55.

Mrs. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department, gave the program at the dessert luncheon of Chapter AA of P.E.O. yesterday in the home of Mrs. Elmer H. Noelting.

Historical Journal Publishes Article By Dr. Jaebker

An article written by Dr. Orville Jaebker, professor of history, has been published in the Autumn Quarter 1954 issue of the "Bermuda Historical Quarterly." Dr. Jaebker's work describes Henry Hamilton's career as governor of Bermuda and is part of his dissertation at Indiana university.

Dr. Jaebker, who teaches courses in history and political science, joined the Evansville College faculty in 1952. He has a bachelor's degree from Concordia Theological seminary in St. Louis and a master's degree in political science from Indiana university. He was awarded his Ph.D. from the latter school last February.

Having taught at Hanover college, Dr. Jaebker was a graduate assistant and a Teaching Fellow at Indiana university before he came to Evansville.

Brammer Assigned To Promotion Job

Lowell H. Brammer has been assigned by the American Cities Bureau to assist in the development program at the college. Since January 3, he has had temporary offices in Public Relations 214.

Mr. Brammer is secretary of the American Cities Bureau, a company with which he has been associated for 16 years. He recently completed requirements for a Ph.D. in college administration at Indiana university.

Mr. Brammer will remain with the college until June.

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

STUDENTS ARE ECSTATIC about Luckies. That's the word, straight from the latest, largest college survey ever. Again, the No. 1 reason Luckies lead in colleges over all other brands, coast to coast—border to border: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. So be smart, like the student in the Droodle above, titled: Lucky smoker swinging in hammock. Swing to Luckies yourself. Enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Aces at Butler; Here Thursday

Two games are on tap for Evansville College fans next week when the league-leading Aces travel to Indianapolis to battle their bitter rivals, the Butler Bulldogs, tomorrow night, and then the Aces entertain a good Kentucky Wesleyan quintet Thursday, January 20, in an 8 p.m. engagement at the Armory.

Coach Arad McCutchan will move his charges north to meet a good Butler crew, although their record is a dismal 3-7 as a result of the Bulldogs' seven-game campaign in the Big Ten. The Bulldogs did win one big tilt in this category when they stopped the Northwestern Wildcats, 83-62. This proves that the 'Dogs are going to give the Aces a run for their money as the Wildcats were deadlocked for second place in the Big Ten last Saturday after dropping a one-point decision to Purdue, 78-77. The Boilermakers topped Butler, 82-54. Other Bulldog losses have been to Illinois (88-34), Ohio State (98-80), Michigan (71-56), Northwestern in a rematch (81-74) and Notre Dame (83-58).

The Aces already know of the power of the Wesleyan group as both teams participated in the All-American Tourney. Special attention will be directed toward Joe Roop by the Evansville defense. Roop is the top scorer from the Kentucky school and was named to the all-tourney five at Owensboro. He led all scorers in the meet with 87 tallies, and takes his share of the rebounds. He carried a 29 point average in the tourney for three games.

Coach Bob "Bullet" Wilson of the Panthers will probably stick with his usual lineup of Roop and Tibbs, forwards; Snowden, center; and Witherspoon and Johnson, guards.

Rupp, Schlegel Chosen To Head Tournaments

Connie Miller, president of Women's Athletic Association, has named Sarah Rupp head of the basketball tournament and Bonnie Schlegel head of the badminton tournament. A participating representative from each of the campus women's groups will be on the committees.

All women's groups may enter a team for the basketball tournament, and the singles and doubles badminton matches are open to all college women. Trophies will be awarded.

Both of the tournaments are sponsored by WAA and will be held in the women's gym. The dates of the tournaments have not yet been set.

TOMORROW NIGHT Coach Arad McCutchan's Aces will face one of their sternest tests when they play the Butler Bulldogs at Indianapolis. The Bulldogs, coached by Tony "Pop" Hinkle, have compiled a 3-6 record with their only losses being to Big Ten schools and Notre Dame.

Thirty-seven Named For Grid Letters

Varsity football award winners were announced last week by Coach Paul Beck. Twenty-four gridders were named for varsity monograms and 13 received minor "E" awards.

Major "E" winners are: Philip Aramowicz, George Baxter, Robert Drone, Robert George, Samuel Hancock, James Horr, Charles House, William Huff, J. O. Jackson, William Kruchek, Kenneth Lutterbach, Richard Martin, Richard Matthews, James Merkley, Larry Myers, Theodore Niemeier, William Parish, Robert Scott, Richard Sinclair, Charles Thompson, Richard Thompson, Eugene Wallace, Ronald Whitaker, Francis Will and Managers George Altheide and Donald Parish.

The 1954 grid aggregation will receive their formal presentation of the awards at the All-Sports banquet to be held in the spring.

"Pop," the likable and rather rotund coach of the Bulldogs, has only three returning lettermen from the squad that tied Evansville for the conference crown last year. Returning are Don Halloway, who performed for the Bulldogs two years ago and sat out last season, Jack Frayman and Dave Sheetz. Bobby Plump and Ray Craft, the Milan State Champion headliners, along with the Indianapolis Broad Ripple scoring champ, head the freshman contingent on the Bulldog squad. Coach Hinkle was dealt a severe blow in the way of squad strength when two of his standout performers of last season failed to return to school. Keith Grieve, the guard who broke the single-season and three-year scoring records last year, and John Mustain, last season's starting center, did not return to school this fall.

A GREAT ATHLETE once remarked that records are made to be broken, and the Aces seem to have taken this advice to heart. With the 35 point output of freshman Jerry Clayton last Saturday night in the Ball State game the Aces have rewritten three records in less than two weeks. The old mark of 34 points set by former All-American Gus Doerner in an NAIB tournament game at Kansas City in 1942 fell by the wayside with the 13 field goals and nine free throws scored by Clayton.

Clayton Breaks Record; Aces Win Four Contests

By Larry Sanders

Records fell like rain during the past two weeks as the Evansville College Aces displayed amazing prowess in the art of putting the ball through the hoop. The Aces re-wrote the All-American City Tournament's single game scoring record by amassing 115 points against Rhode Island, and tremendous Jerry Clayton, 6-7 freshman, broke Gus Doerner's school record by slipping 35 points through the nets against Ball State last Saturday.

Clayton, who only last year was setting records at Central high school, paced the Evansville quintet to their fifth ICC conference win in six starts and moved them a full game in front of Valparaiso. Jerry's shattering mark came on 13 fielders in 27 shots and nine of 11 free throw conversions. He eclipsed Gus Doerner's 13-year-old record of 34 when the former All-American set the cords on fire in the NAIB tourney at Kansas City in 1942.

Coach Arad McCutchan called his regulars out for some rest with 29 minutes gone in the game. The Aces were leading at this point by 20, but the up-state Cardinals whittled the victors' lead to ten and the stage was set for the history-making fielder as the regulars returned. After firing four times in vain, Clayton plucked an Evansville rebound off the boards and sent it through the hemp for his breathtaking basket.

However, the show was not all Clayton. John Harrawood continued his high-scoring pace by contributing 23 markers and doing a tremendous job under the boards.

Ball State offered a strong challenge to the Aces during the first half and trailed by seven points at the end of the period. The Aces cut short this threat by storming through for ten baskets in 18 attempts at the outset of the final period and were home free except for the late State challenge.

In a close battle at Indiana State, the Evansville cagers topped their conference foes, 79-76 with Harrawood almost beating Clayton to the punch by hitting 32 points.

In the All-American City Tournament the Aces advanced to the semi-finals after dropping Denver, 96-81. Cincinnati, however, caught the Aces on a cold night and raced past the Evansville boys, 82-62.

It was a new Evansville team which came back the next evening, however, to drub University of Rhode Island, which had set the Aces' old tourney mark of 107 by a single point, 115-85. Clayton and Harrawood led the Aces in this onslaught with 31 and 32 points respectively. Clayton was also chosen the outstanding freshman player in the tourney.

Billiards Tournament Begins; Thirty-six Players Entered

Still too early to compile any statistics, Evansville College's pocket billiards tourney got under way last Monday in the games room of the Union Building. John Massey, last year's winner, is listed among the 36 entrants.

Jean Hurst to Preside Over Women's Honorary

Alpha Phi Mu, freshmen women's scholastic honorary, was recently reorganized for the 1954-55 school year. Carolyn Lockwood, retiring president, and Susan Chenoweth, retiring treasurer, supervised.

New officers elected are Jean Hurst, president; Joyce Becker, vice-president; Ann Arnett, secretary and Marilyn Grayson, treasurer.

Jean, an elementary education major, is a member of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority and the Union House committee. Joyce is a biology major and unaffiliated. She was the winner last year of the Sharon Hurst Memorial Award.

Ann, also unaffiliated, is an elementary education major. She was president of the Ivy Leaf Club during her freshman year. Marilyn is a music major and serves as treasurer of Sigma Alpha Iota music fraternity for women. She is unaffiliated.

Other actives of Alpha Phi Mu are Joanne Bailey, Faye Forster, Margie Hassee, Mrs. Viola Hocker, Mrs. Lucille Jaco and Shirley Morlock. The 10 women now active make up the largest membership the active chapter has ever had.

Alpha Phi Mu is a local honorary whose purpose is to stimulate scholastic achievement among women students and honor those who attain scholastic excellence.

To be eligible for membership a student must have at least a 2.5 average for the fall and winter quarters of her freshman year. Girls meeting this requirement are pledged during their freshman year and are active during their sophomore year. They are inactive as juniors and seniors.

Activities of Alpha Phi Mu include selling corsages for May Day, presenting certificates of merit to graduating senior girls with exceptional scholarship, and making the Sharon Hurst Memorial Award.

This award is presented each spring to the freshman girl with the highest point average. Susan Chenoweth was the first winner.

Long, Sherockman Elected to Offices In Chemical Society

Dr. Norman Long, head of the chemistry department, and Mr. Andrew Sherockman, associate professor of chemistry, have been chosen to serve as officers in the newly-formed Indiana-Kentucky Border Section of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Long is chairman and Mr. Sherockman is secretary of the organization. Dr. K. N. Campbell, director of medical research for Mead Johnson and Company, has been appointed to the post of councilor.

The Section will conduct monthly meetings at Evansville College and each gathering will feature a speaker prominent in his field of science.

The American Chemical Society is national in scope and international in many of its activities and interests. Mr. Sherockman stated that Evansville was honored by the formation of the local group.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Colony Holds Dance

Sigma Epsilon, the Evansville College colony of Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social fraternity, opened its social activities with a dance Friday, Jan. 7 in the Union building.

Some 20 couples attended the dance, which was open only to members of the colony and their guests. Music was furnished by the Mike Robb combo. Larry Horton served as chairman of the dance committee, and his assistants were Ken Wargel and Ed Campbell.

The Sig Eps held an evening meeting Monday, Jan. 10, with Peter Peterson, field secretary of Sigma Phi Epsilon, appearing as principal speaker. Members of the colony discussed further organization plans and also designed their schedule for rush.

Pemberton Recital In Union Building Today

Duane Pemberton, a junior in the music department, will give a recital this afternoon in the Great Hall of the Union building at 4 o'clock.

He will be assisted by the Evansville College Little Symphony, which will be making its first appearance since its organization last fall.

Rascher to Appear With College Band

Sigurd Rascher, internationally famous saxophonist, will appear as guest artist with the Evansville College concert band in their concert Monday, January 24 at 8 p.m. in the Bosse High School auditorium.

Rascher, acclaimed as the "Paganini of the Saxophone," is currently touring the United States, and is scheduled for personal appearances all over the nation. He is known widely for his versatility, and he has been a pioneer in the advancement of the saxophone as a concert instrument.

Not until recent years was the saxophone recognized by critics as a part of a concert band or orchestra. Rascher, traveling throughout the world on concert excursions, persuaded several well-known composers to write music especially fitted to the saxophone, and with these compositions he demonstrated the potentialities of the instrument until it was adopted by both critics and conductors.

Tickets for the concert are now on sale at the music department office. They may also be purchased from any member of the band or at Bosse on the night of the performance. The program will be approximately one and one half hours in length.

Freshman Attend Guidance Day Talks With Principals

Freshmen met with their former high school principals or teachers for the annual student guidance day last Tuesday, according to Everette Walker, director of Student Personnel Services.

The purpose of the meetings was to discuss the problems freshmen encounter in adjusting to college.

Rascher is Guest Artist AtBand'sMondayConcert

Evansville College band, under the direction of Mr. Wesley Shepard, will present its first concert of the season with Sigurd Rascher, saxophone virtuoso, as guest artist Monday, January 24, at 8 p.m. at the Bosse high school auditorium.

Mr. Rascher, whose work has been acclaimed by critics both here and abroad as not only outstanding, but astonishing, is greatly responsible for the unveiling of the saxophone as a popular instrument. From the time of its invention by Adolphe Sax in 1841, the saxophone was unable to penetrate into the realm of "concert instruments" until this century. Mr. Rascher is among the men who brought about the transfiguration of the saxophone from the scorned instrument it was, to the popular instrument it is today.

Among the many methods Sigurd Rascher used to bring about the popularity of the instrument, was his own outstanding performances in such countries as England, France, Denmark, Burma, his native Germany and other countries too numerous to mention here. He convinced skeptics on the flexibility of the saxophone and persuaded composers of all nations to compose special works for this instrument.

In Monday evening's concert, the program will include "Concerto for Saxophone" by Henry Brant and "Introduction and Samba" by Maurice Whitney, to be played by Mr. Rascher with band accompaniment.

Included in the numbers to be performed by the college band are "Emblem of Honor March" by Russell Danburg, "Stradella Overture" by Flowtow, "Fandango" by Frank Perkins and Sousa's "Corcoran Cadets."

Preceding the concert Monday evening, Mr. Rascher will conduct a Saxophone Clinic for interested high school and college students in the Great Hall from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Following the clinic, Phi Mu Alpha fraternity will entertain at a "Coke Party" in the Union Patio. Both the clinic and party will be free and are open to the public. Bob Rundell and Bill Pucket are in charge of the Phi Mu Alpha party.

Tickets for the evening concert may be obtained from the music department or at Bosse auditorium Monday evening.

Mr. Rascher will perform at the Tuesday Convocation on January 25. He will give a half-hour solo performance, including some works recently recorded on a long-playing record.

Zeta Officers Named; Harman to Preside

Bob Harman has been elected president of the Phi Zeta fraternity, announced Wendel Long, former Zeta president.

Harman, a senior business administration major, is serving his third major office in the fraternity.

Other newly elected officers are Charles Oxley, vice-president; John Slyker, secretary and Byron Brenton, chaplain.

Long will serve this quarter in the role of critic. Bob Plumer will serve as prosecutor and Jim Hartman will act as sergeant-at-arms.

NSA Chairman Speaks to Students

Members of President's Roundtable met Thursday evening, January 13, for their regular monthly dinner meeting.

Miss Ann Beckner, a student at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, was guest speaker. She is regional chairman for Ohio and Indiana of the United States National Student Association.

Since there is some possibility that Evansville College may become associated with this organization, Miss Beckner was on campus to explain the NSA and answer questions about it.

Known as the "voice of Students of America," it operates on dues paid annually by member schools and on a $30,000 grant from the Ford Foundation.

Member schools do not have to subscribe to the principles of the NSA. The only requirements for membership are proper accreditation of the college and payment of annual dues, which would be $37 for Evansville College.

It was announced that the Fine Arts committee had appointed a special committee to investigate the possibilities of establishing a federation of speech organizations in order to stimulate speech activities.

Representing major speech activities, members of the committee are: Susie Chenoweth, drama; Carroll Rickard and JoAnn Frohbieter, debate; Carolyn Kohl, speech; Duane Pemberton, radio; Hal Burckhartt, Fine Arts committee.

Don Griffith of the Fine Arts committee was named chairman with Dr. Virgil Logan of the speech department as faculty adviser.

Brammer to Use Two Union Rooms For Fund Center

Beginning next Monday, the browsing room and the music room of the Union building will be used as offices for the Steering committee for the library fund-raising.

The Union board, at the request of Lowell Brammer, representative of the library group, voted unanimously to cooperate by granting the use of the rooms. They feel that a small inconvenience at this time will be worth the "wealth of pleasure we will derive when the library is completed," according to a board spokesman.

Excellent Location

The Union building is an excellent location for the fund raising center because many persons, who have never been on the college campus, will be able to see part of the college development program in action, Mr. Brammer explained to the commiteee.

Main floor of the Union should prove to be an excellent location for the headquarters because off-campus groups will become aware of the college's drive when they attend functions in the Union and use the cafeteria.

On-Campus Headquarters

An on-campus headquarters also has the advantages in that it will get people on campus where they can be shown the need for a new library, he concluded.

All the material now in the two rooms taken over by the committee will be safely stored and office equipment will be installed. At the end of the drive, in June, the rooms will be refurnished for their original uses.

Four EC Professors Attend January 15 AAUP Meeting

The American Association of University Professors met in a state convention January 15, in Indianapolis. Delegates from the Evansville chapter were James Julian, president of the chapter; R. T. Dufford, vice president, and W. D. David, member of the executive committee. Dr. Dufford and Dr. David will give reports on the convention at the regular AAUP meeting at 10 a.m. today in the Club room of the Union.

Fiegel Named to Direct Library Fund Committee

Leland M. Feigel will head the Evansville College $650,000 Library fund campaign to be held in April and May of this year. F. Bayard Culley, chairman of the College's Development program made Mr. Feigel's appointment public last Sunday.

The College must complete its campaign before July 1 of this year to claim the "challenge" gift of $200,000 promised by the Lilly Endowment Incorporated of Indianapolis. The $650,000, if raised, will be used to construct a three-story stone library building. Tentative plans are for the building to be of Bedford stone to match the three main buildings on the campus.

Feigel, a graduate of Evansville College in 1929, will be the first alumnus to head a major fund-raising campaign for the college. The drive will be directed by a college trustee committee consisting of Feigel, chairman; Culley, A. A. Brentano, Dr. Dallas Browning, Kenneth Kent, H. A. Woods, Acting President Dean Long and Ralph Olmstead, business manager.

In making the announcement, Culley emphasized the critical need for a library building. "The library is acknowledged to be the very heart of any college," he said. "Library books, newspapers, films and other teaching aids are to a college what tools are to a factory. They are not just nice to have, they are essential."

The campaign was originally planned for last spring, but the college withdrew its plans in favor of the Evansville Museum drive.

Feigel was a member of a college trustee committee which two years ago examined the college library and urged that provisions for expansion be made.

"At that time," Feigel said, "we found that scarcely more than half the books were readily accessible."

Plans for the library have been worked on for the past year and will be complete within a few weeks. Acting President Long, college librarian, Thomas Harding, members of the faculty and of the Board of Trustees have visited many new library buildings and have worked with the college architects, McGuire and Shook of Indianapolis.

Mr. Long said that care has been taken to plan the library so it will be an effective, functional tool rather than a storehouse for books. Shelving space will be provided for about 100,000 volumes, with provision for expansion later.

Social Organizations End Rush Activities With Bid Signing

Sororities

Sorority rush finishes up this week with bids being turned in on Friday. The groups entertained their hopeful pledges at formal dessert parties the past week.

The AOPi's "Rose Formal" was held in the McCurdy Ohio Room Monday; the Phi Mu's used the Country Club for their party Tuesday; Beta Sigs had their "Pink Heaven" at the Homestead Wednesday with the Chi Omega party at the Country Club ending the party series on Thursday.

Sorority rush chairmen are Mary Lou Born, AOPi; Marilyn Bartlett, Beta Sigma Omicron; Sally Reece, Chi Omega, and Dorothy Baggett, Phi Mu.

Fraternities

This morning at 10 is the time for the men's bid-signing assembly. This assembly will end the fraternity rush program that has been going on for the past two weeks.

Philos started the party parade with a smoker on Monday; Phi Zeta followed with a "blast" on Tuesday and Acacia ended the series with a party on Wednesday. Sigma Epsilon, a newcomer to the College campus this year, entertained interested men at various small gatherings.

Presidents of the preceding pledge classes served as pledge rush chairmen, but their names were not available at press time.

Kettlehut to Head Local Chapter World University Service Campaign

"Don't pass the buck — give it." This slogan will herald the campus drive for the World University Service Fund.

Scheduled for January 24 to February 7, it is planned so that every student and faculty member will be contacted and asked to contribute. A goal of one dollar per person has been set.

Bob Kettlehut, as a member of the Religious Life committee, is in charge of the drive.

His committee is composed of the president or some other representative of every organization on campus. These persons will solicit from the members in their organizations for contributions.

All students not in any organized group and members of the faculty will be contacted by members of the Student Christian Association. Jim Schreiber, president, is in charge.

Several special committees were also appointed by Bob Kettlehut.

Mary Giovanetti and Betty Norris are in charge of making posters for the drive, and Bob Porro is handling student publicity.

Carolyn Lockwood, acting as secretary for the committee, is making out the solicitation cards for the campaign.

The office of Dr. Mearl Culver will be the headquarters for the drive. Anyone who would like to make his contribution at the headquarters, rather than be solicited, may do so.

It seeks the achievement of this aim through extension of material aid, mutual sharing of knowledge and experience and bringing students and teaching staffs together in an atmosphere of tolerance.

Since WUS is international in scope, a large budget is necessary. About $1,162,791 must be raised this year.

Union Birthday Celebrated Today

Happy Birthday dear Union! Today the Union celebrates its fourth birthday with a giant birthday party in the grill of the Wooden Indian at 10.

The grill will be candlelit for the occasion with appropriate background music planned by Liz Romine and Jackie King. Margie Hasse heads the Social committee that is in charge of the affair.

In charge of the foods committee, which will be handing out the free cake and coffee, is Jane Chanley. Others on the foods committee are Jackie King, Irene Rechnic and Mary McCreary.

At a brief program preceding refreshments, short talks will be given by Acting President Long, Union board president Sam Laubscher, and Miss Doris Kirk, Union director.

The large cake which will be found in the lobby of the Union will be the concoction of Mary McCreary and Liz Romine.

Few of us remember the wooden Tub that used to serve the students with recreation facilities but we can all appreciate the fine facilities and excellent staff which is serving the students so well in the union. (J. W.)

Pan-Hellenic Meeting

Pan-Hellenic will hold a meeting Monday, January 24, at 10 a.m. for all pledges and pledge trainees. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, will give a questionnaire on the conduct of rush.

A Stick, A Stone, An Unfound Door

This title when explained, we feel, rather aptly describes education. This experience of a college education is pretty well summed up in these few words.

In the practical application we find the student is more like a green stick. He is at first rather willowy, small in stature and thoughts, and as easily bent as a young, green twig. He is willowy in the sense of extreme movability and dynamic motion, slender in the amount of knowledge, how much you never realize until becoming seniors you begin to apply all that has been taught to you.

The student is easily bent, in that he is constantly reforming theses or hypothyses to conform with the unfolding light of knowledge. Or maybe you have argued and been bent by someone's more effective use of facts.

The stone, ah the "old" prof with his yes and no's, maybe's and could be's, this would be he. He's the unchanging, unfailing, sometimes the kind of a person who makes you wonder if his head isn't as hard as his courses. But still on him you depend for the quenching of your thirst for knowledge. He is, you find, a hard and unmoving authority on the caliber of your point average.

Then, the unfound door is the door of life and happiness. This is the door you are seeking, and once found, you engage in the opening of it. This is what you aim for in your four year of college. Although your four-year period may easily be a five or more year period. But still this unfound door is the ultimate of your scholastic experiences. Beyond it lies all of your hopes and desires.

The door may be steel or wood or it even may be paper. It depends, of course, upon how well you are able to apply what you have learned and your maturcness in mental and emotional understanding. For the opening of this door the key will be your willingness to face the future and to strive and struggle for your "status quo." Never to sublimate your problems, but to eliminate them.

You may be able to pick the lock and sneak through, but then you have beaten yourself, for you are totally unprepared for what lies on the other side.

Yes, only with an understanding and near perfect amalgamation of this, "stick, stone and unfound door," will you ever be one of those crazy mixed up persons we call human beings. "You only get out of life what you put into it," "And as ye sow, so shall ye reap."

Dear Editor:

The Communications class at Manchester college, which is conducting a survey of the various Indiana colleges as to the use of slang expressions, has asked that Evansville college students participate.

The group is particularly interested in any kind of slang expression that is given to an officer of the school, such as prexy for president. They would also like to know the slang used here for such things as dating, boy friend, girl friend, campus hero, studying for a final test, a surprise test and similar commonly used terms.

I thought some of the students here might be interested in submitting material. If they are, they could contact me.

Thank you for any publicity you can give me.

Forrest Page Joins EC Coaching Staff

Last fall the Aces received a new mentor when Forrest Page took on the job of assistant football coach at Evansville College. In addition to his coaching duties Mr. Page teaches classes in physical education.

Meridian, Miss., in the deep South, was the birthplace of the new faculty member. He received his early education there but came north to Evansville to college. He has an A.B. from Evansville College and a master's degree from Indiana university.

During World War II, Mr. Page was an athletic instructor in the navy. In 1948 he took a position at Forrest Lake, Minn., coaching high school football.

Before coming to the college this fall his coaching career took him to Noblesville high school. While at the two schools Mr. Page's teams racked up an impressive record: 42 wins and only 14 losses

Mr. Page's favorite hobby is, of course, sports. He also enjoys dancing and singing and likes to travel. In former years he did quite a bit of group singing.

The new coach is married and has a son, Donny, who is nine. Mrs. Page teaches at Washington school.

IRC Schedules Speaker On UN Developments

David H. Popper, director of the United Nations Political and Security Affairs Office of the Bureau of International Affairs, will speak in the auditorium of the Administration building Wednesday, January 26, at 8 p.m.

Sponsored jointly by the college International Relations club and the League of Women Voters, Mr. Popper will discuss "New Developments on the United Nations Agenda."

There will be no admission charge for the talk which is open to the public.

Mr. Popper, a graduate of Harvard and a veteran of World War II, has served with the State Department, where he was a specialist in international organization affairs, before joining the U.N.

In 1949 he became officer in charge of General Assembly Affairs in Office, then was deputy director of that office before assuming his present job last October.

Co-author of a book, "Handbook of the War," Mr. Popper also has contributed to such publications as The New Republic, North American Review, Saturday Review of Literature.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Look at it from a safety standpoint. Improving the facilities of our local field would make it safer for the commercial planes that carry you, me, and our friends. It would enable our local Reservists to become more efficient, to get more needed flying time, to give the groundlings better training.

Certainly there are bad points. Beyond a doubt the noise generated by jets would disturb our peace and quiet. It would bother the sleeping babes — until they got used to it. Personally, I would prefer the noise of the jets to the noise of bombs and machine-gunning.

In all probability the increase in takeoffs and landings would also show an increase in accidents. Yet, I feel, if an accident is in the books it will happen, whether the field is here or elsewhere. On the percentage basis, there are fewer plane accidents than there are car accidents. We don't stop the cars from running.

. . . it will be a great thing if the Air Force secures final approval to use Dress Memorial Airport for a Reserve training center.

Civil Defense Chief John Collins announced Saturday that a series of evacuation tests are being planned for Evansville. These tests will come about sometime in the late spring or summer. During them, whole sections of the city will be evacuated.

I will stick my neck out and say that less than ten per cent of the population in these specific areas will take an active part in the tests.

Fortunately, and unfortunately, we in the United States are unable to believe that WE could be bombed. Therefore, it could be disastrous for us.

We are able to control guided missiles and send them great distances. Why can't some other nation? Our Strategic Air Command, commanded by General Curtis LeMay is able to fly to any place in the world and bomb at will. Why can't some other nation? We have the A-bomb and the H-bomb. Why can't some other nation have them?

Why must we feel that we are not liable to bombings from outside?

Looks as if Panama is catching that South American fever "Presidentia Removia." Three prexies in two weeks. That is really moving. I don't know if that is a record, but it should be a near record. France does better in the long run.

First there was Jose Antonio Remon who was machine-gunned a la Chicago style while he was watching the bang-tails run. Next in line was Jose Ramon Guizado. Now this Jose, it seems, planned the removal of the first Jose. This second Jose was removed from office, less violently than the first Jose, and slapped in the jug. Along in line was Ricardon Arias Espinosa. "Dick" was then sworn in as the third. What will happen next is anybody's guess.

The U.S. Air Force has tentatively approved Dress Memorial Airport as a site for an Air Force Reserve Flying Training Base. If this receives approval higher up, there will be a lot of money spent on the field improving its facilities.

There will be much noise made by indignant citizens — in fact, it has already started. They howl about the noise, the danger, and other real but insignificant matters.

Let's look at it from a security angle. If we are ever attacked, and, dropping our ego, we can be attacked, it would certainly be better to have planes here that could intercept the enemy over Illinois or central Indiana. If we need to rely on planes stationed at Louisville, Indianapolis or Chanute Field, our chances of annihilation are higher.

Look at it from an economic standpoint. It is said that about 22 million buckoes will be spent to improve the facilities. That would certainly decrease our unemployment. The amount of money paid to the Station Keepers and Permanent Personnel would help.

The President's Roundtable appears to be working out very well, and I hope it continues to do so. At our third meeting, on Thursday, January 13, we listened to a speaker from the National Student Association discuss the advantages of NSA in hopes that Evansville will join. The enthuiasm at the meeting was high and the speaker did a good job of convincing the Roundtable on the values of NSA.

As you probably know, the Roundtable is composed of the presidents of all the various campus organizations. They discuss student problems and act as a representative group for the whole student body. In this way the workings of student government can reach the student body if the presidents will discuss the Roundtable topics at their separate meetings. If anyone has any topics he thinks should be discussed at a Roundtable meeting, he should tell it to his organization president, who can have it placed on the agenda.

NSA has some very definite advantages to offer Evansville and I hope we are able to join. The matter will come before the Roundtable for final approval at our next meeting and then will go to the Administrative Board for approval. It appears that the chances of Evansville joining are very good.

Buller Named To Presidency Of Society For Exceptionals

Dr. Francis P. Buller, head of the psychology department, has been named president of the newly-formed Society For Exceptionals. This organization was conceived to help handicapped persons live happy, well-adjusted and useful lives regardless of the causes for their being exceptionals.

The Society will serve as a center where specified groups concerned with the problems of these people may meet for mutual help. It will also aid parents and others responsible for exceptionals by giving information on where to go for help, consultation and guidance.

Serving not only the local community, the group will deal with problems of the handicapped in the Tri-State as well.

Last Tuesday, January 18, the Society held its first meeting in the auditorium of the Glenwood public school. The program consisted of a panel discussion of the problems of different kinds of exceptionals. Dr. Buller spoke on "The Psychologically Handicapped Exceptional."

Nurses Featured In Sunday Paper

The Evansville College - Baptist Hospital nursing program was featured in a full-page spread in the Evansville Courier-Press last Sunday.

Pictures depicting the students in clinical and campus activities and text explaining both the theory behind and the goals of the program were included in the article.

This nursing program is developing a new concept of nursing education and is the only one of its kind in this area. The student is granted two titles upon graduation — the Registered Nurse and the Bachelor of Science.

Twenty-six students are currently enrolled.

NEW COURSE OFFERED

Beginning this week the college is offering a review course to prepare graduate engineers for examinations leading to appointment as registered professional engineers.

The course is held on Monday and Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m. It will last for 12 weeks.

Former EC Art Student Captures Third Place In Service Men's Contest

Mr. Carter

Melvin Carter, a former student at Evansville College who is now in the Air Force, recently won third place in an art contest for all service men in the Far East, according to Miss Florence Keve, the head of the art department.

Mr. Carter, who attended school here three years ago, entered an oil painting in the contest, which took in Japan, Korea, Formosa, Okkinawa and the Philippines.

He won a cash prize and had his picture in many of the military newspapers of that area.

He is now located in Tierra Amarilla, New Mexico.

Wesleyan Students Guests At Dance, Union Tours

Kentucky Wesleyan students were guests at an informal dance yesterday following the game with their school. In addition to the dance, the Wesleyan students were taken on guided tours of the union.

"Since they are the nearest college to us, we hope this will be the first of many joint social events," stated Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union. The Games committee, headed by Phyllis Bunge, was in charge of arrangements for the affair. There was dancing in the grill to the music of the juke box.

Decorations for the dance were arranged by Carl Bilderback; publicity, Bob O'Connor; chaperones, Louis Inkenbrandt; and hosts and hostesses, Jane Taylor and Doug Barthlow.

Faculty Gets New Member

There will be a new face on campus after February 1, when Dr. Roy A. Halversen joins the college faculty to teach analytical and physical chemistry. The new professor will take over the classes taught by Dr. Weissblatt last fall, Dean Edgar McKown announced this week. Dr. Weissblatt resigned a few weeks after the fall quarter began because of poor health.

Coming to Evansville from Dearborn, Mich., Dr. Halversen has been a private consultant there since 1945. He has a master's degree and a Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota and is a member of the American Chemical Society, Sigma Chi and Alpha Chi Sigma.

GI Training Program To End; Veteran Benefits Stop Jan. 31

Last week a Presidential Proclamation ended eligibility for post-Korea veterans' benefits on the Korean G.I. Bill education and training program.

The Proclamation sets January 31, 1955, as the last day of the Korean emergency for purposes of acquiring the benefits. This does not mean, however, that anyone who joins the armed services before that date will be eligible for two years of Korean G.I. Bill training.

Walker Eplains Law

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, said that students are dropping out of local high schools to join the armed forces simply because they do not understand the meaning of the new law. These students who are interrupting their educations in an attempt to gain two years of free college will find it futile, since under the present law they will be entitled to anly a few weeks of G.I. training at the most.

Benefits End

In essence the Proclamation states that those who enter the armed forces after January 31 will not be entitled to education or training under the G.I. Bill when they are discharged or released. Those who enter service before January 31 will build up entitlement for training only up to and including January 31. This means they will be eligible for G.I. training for a time comparable to that which they serve before the end of this month.

Post-Korean veterans already out of service are not affected by the January 31 end-of-the-emergency-period so far as starting or continuing G.I. Bill training is concerned. It applies only to new servicemen.

Etiquette Skit Presented In Thursday Convocation

"So You Want to Have a Date" was the title of a skit presented in last Tuesday's convocation. Concerned with the do's and don'ts of date etiquette, the four scenes were planned by Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union.

The action of the skit demonstrated the four phases of a date — asking for the date, picking up the girl, at the party and taking her home. Bob Rundell and Jane Murray portrayed Joe Schmoe and his date who did everything wrong. George Wright and his date were depicted by Jerry Julian and Shirley Ermert. The supporting roles of parents and chaperones were played by Norma Jean Robertson and Gil Bumb.

BULLER SPEAKS

Last Wednesday evening, January 19, Dr. Francis Buller, professor of psychology, spoke to the Mater Dei high school P.T.A. His subject was "The Strange Years of Adolescence."

Thursday, Dr. Buller participated in a panel discussion on "Mental Health and Juvenile Delinquency" at Culver public school.

EC Students Recommended For Air Academy Exams

Three Evansville College students have been recommended by former Congressman D. Bailey Merrill to take competitive examinations for acceptance to the new Air Force Academy at Colorado Spring, Col.

Chosen were Richard J. Morgan of Winslow, and Charles E. Thompson and William L. Bosecker, both of Evansville. Mr. Morgan and Mr. Bosecker are freshmen; Mr. Thompson is a sophomore.

Seven other young men from the 8th District were named by Mr. Merrill to take examinations for Air Force Academy appointments.

Views

This week's column was written by the cheerleaders: Carolyn Conaway, Marilyn Bartlett, Doug Barthlow, Buddy Watkins, Sam Laubscher, and Nealie Moman.

At the last pep assembly Coach Arad McCutchan asked the student section to stand while the cheerleaders run onto the floor with the team before the game.

At the following game, which was with Ball State, the cheerleaders ran out, but the students did not stand and refused to yell, showing no respect whatsoever for their team. This is typical of the spirit shown at all the college basketball games.

The cheerleaders have asked students why they will not yell, and they came up with the following reasons:

"I'd rather watch you."

"I just don't like to yell."

"If I were sitting with students who yelled, I would too."

"We just don't know the yells."

These reasons represent the poorest excuse for laziness on the part of students. Why is it that the students yell in pep assemblies, but when the team really needs support they give it no support?

Most colleges would like to have a team like ours to back; yet Evansville College students seem unaware of the great team they have this year.

Will you, as students, respond to the cheerleaders; or are you just going to sit back and let other colleges and the city of Evansville think we are a "dead" school?

Pic of Engineering Building Featured In Trade Journal

There's a familiar sight on page three of the September issue of the "Crown Corker," a trade journal published by the Crown Cork and Seal Company of Baltimore, Md. Illustrating an article which extolls the merits of evening college is a night shot of the front entrance to the Evansville College Engineering building.

Dean Edgar McKown said the publication of the picture was drawn to his attention a short time ago by an Evansville alumnus, Ortwin Kullmann, who works for the Crown Company.

Mr. Kullmann wrote Dr. McKown that the editor of the "Corker" wanted a lead picture for an article on the educational program carried out by the company; so he went to the public library in Baltimore and asked for a typical picture of a night school. The librarian came up with the picture of Evansville College and the "Corker" editor liked it so much he used it to illustrate his article, "Helping Employees To Help Themselves."

Contest Announced For College Poets

A poetry contest, open to undergraduate students enrolled in any American or Canadian college or university, has been announced by the Lyric Foundation. June 1 is the entry deadline.

An award of $100 will be given to the author of the best original, unpublished poem of 32 lines or less. The library of the college in which the student is enrolled will receive an added award of $100, provided the library subscribes to The Lyric, a poetry magazine.

Given by The Lyric Foundation, this award is in memory of Mrs. Virginia Kent Cummins, who originated the organization and served as editor of the magazine for several years.

Winner of the contest will be announced in the Autumn (1955) issue. Contestants should keep a copy of their poems as no work is returned. Poems should be mailed to The Lyric, Box 390, Christiansburg, Va.

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

STUDENTS ARE ECSTATIC about Luckies. That's the word, straight from the latest, largest college survey ever. Again, the No. 1 reason Luckies lead in colleges over all other brands, coast to coast — border to border: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. This famous Lucky Strike process tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. So be smart, like the student in the Droodle above, titled: Lucky smoker swinging in hammock. Swing to Luckies yourself. Enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Aces Face Ball State Cards In Conference Tilt Saturday

Trying to get back on the winning trail, Evansville College's basketball legions will travel to Muncie to try to repeat an earlier win over the Ball State Cardinals tomorrow night. The Aces stopped the Cardinals, 93-80, Jan. 8, when 6-7 Jerry Clayton set a school scoring record by hitting 35 points.

Coach Arad McCutchan will probably stick with the same aggregation which has won four of their last six contests. The first five will probably be John Harrawood and Jerry Clayton, forwards; Roscoe Bivin, center; and Bob Walker and Frank Healy will fill the guard slots.

When the two crews met in their initial contest of the year, the Aces pulled away from the visitors and seemed headed for an easy task when Coach McCutchan pulled his first stringers out of the game in favor of substitutes. Ball State then rallied to throw a scare in the Evansville ranks by pulling within ten points of the Aces. However, McCutchan thwarted this State comeback by running his regulars in again and thus set up Clayton's history-making fielder.

Coach Jim Hinga, however, has his share of scorers in Jim Blevins and Stan Davis who each tallied 17 points in the first meeting of the two teams. Tom Dobbs holds the best single-game scoring output for the Cards with 26 points against Baldwin-Wallace of Ohio. Ball State stands 2-3 in the ICC and Evansville is 5-2 in the conference.

Cochran's Cockies Team Wins Bowling Crown; Marshall Hat Top Score

Cochran's Cockies captured the first round of the Evansville College Bowling League by posting a 17-4 record, one game better than the Four Freshmen's 16-5 slate.

Six teams completed the first round of play which saw the league lead change as much as the weather. Tom Marshall posted the highest average in the league with a good 174. Bill Cochran led his team to the championship by amassing a 166 average.

Leading the Four Freshmen contingent, which was in the running all the way, was Dick Sexson with a creditable 145. Ralph Coleman was third in the averages with a 156, and George Tevault had a 148 average. John Conaway tied with Sexson with a 145 listing.

Final standings in the league were: Cochran Cockies, first; Four Freshmen, second; Coleman's Coalmen, third; Yankees and Philos, tie for fourth and fifth; Phi Zetas, sixth.

Aces Lose to Butler; Drop to Third in ICC

Butler's Bobby Plump proved to the Evansville Aces that he still has that killer touch when it comes to basketball as the little wizard of Milan's state champs of 1954 riffled the nets in the last four seconds of play to hand the Bulldogs a 75-73 win and drop the Aces to third place in the ICC conference. The Evansville team did, however, break even in two games by dropping Washington University, 74-60, Jan. 12 in an intersectional affair at the Armory.

Plump, who led all scorers with 28 points, lifted the Bulldogs into contention in the late stages of the game after the Aces had fronted by eight points, 57-49, with ten minutes to go. The Aces saw this lead sink into a four-point deficit, at 69-55, but Jerry Clayton and Frank Healy pulled the Purples even with two baskets. Plump shoved the 'Dogs ahead, but Gene Wilm retaliated for Evansville and the game went into the overtime period with the count knotted at 73-73.

Plump Hits Fielder

Plump, who only last year hit the fateful fielder in the final moments of the state high school championship game to top Muncie Central 32-30 on the same floor, scored the only basket in the extra period. The win gives the Butler team a 3-0 record in the conference running and drops the Aces to third with a 5-2. Jerry Clayton led the McCutchanmen with 25 points and John Harrawood and Bob Walker got 16 and 13 respectively.

Aces Trip Washington

In a slow-down game, the Evansville crew sank the Washington of St. Louis Huskies, 74-60, as big Jerry Clayton led the Aces with 28 markers. The St. Louis squad tried to bottle up the Evansville offense by playing a deliberate game, but once the Aces slowed down to this pattern they proved that they could also seore off deliberate plays. Bill Gullion, Coach Blair Gullion's son, was high for the visitors with 18 points.

FREE THROWS, free throws and more free throws. The new free throw rule put into effect this year has become the most controversial subject centering on the hardwood courts this season.

Many games this season have been won at the free throw line when the victorious team was really outscored on the floor. Two recent examples were the Vanderbilt-Mississippi game and the Wisconsin-Butler game. Vanderbilt was defeated by Ol' Miss at Mississippi when the Rebels scored 41 out of 50 free throws. Butler scored 21 field goals to the 20 field goals scored by Wisconsin and was beaten 57-53.

After two years of experimentation with new rules it seems the NCAA would either come up with a better rule or go back to the old rule. Maybe it would be a good idea to set up a penalty box such as the one used in hockey.

ON THE NATIONAL scene, it looks like Kentucky will continue to dominate the national rankings for a couple of weeks at least and they are a good bet to be on top at the end of the season. Second place North Carolina State trails the Wildcats by 336 points in the line-up. Maryland, the All American Cities tournament champion and victor over North Carolina, showed the biggest jump in the standings when they moved up to sixth place in the AP poll. The San Francisco Dons also moved up from fifth place to third place ahead of LaSalle. The big question in the minds of many people who saw the Cincinnatti Bearcats in action against Evansville is, what happened?

STILL SMARTING from the two point loss to the Butler Bulldogs, Coach Arad McCutchan's Aces will return to ICC action tomorrow night against the Ball State Cardinals at Muncie. Despite the thirteen point loss at the hands of Evansville on January 8, the Cardinals will figure to play a better ball game on their home floor, but Aces High will still go with the Aces by eight points.

All-American Rating Received by Scott; Considers Pro Ball

Bob Scott, Evansville College's claim to national football stardom, was named to the Williamson All-American team last week. The certificate, which places Scott on the team was received by Bob last week through the mail, and it came as a complete surprise.

Williamson, who lives in Texas, chose only eleven players on the roster, thus ranking Scott with other gridiron greats such as Alan Ameche of Wisconsin and Hopalong Cassady of Ohio State. Named the outstanding lineman in the ICC conference during the past year, Scott has also received mention on other All-American teams.

Scott also has been contacted by ten professional football clubs. These contacts, however, do not mean that he has received any offers, but he has had questionnaires concerning pro ball. Prominent among these clubs and the Cleveland Browns and Green Bay Packers.

Billiards Tournament In Second Round

Getting off to a slow start, Evansville College's pocket billiard tourney is in the second round of play. Tom Habbe and George Dockery have, however, completed their first two matches and advanced to the final eight players.

Only ten matches have been completed in the second round, but several of the remaining matches will have been completed by today. The tournament schedule calls for the second round winners to start firing again Monday to whittle the number down to eight. Habbe advanced to the final eight by beating Jak Williams and Chuck House. Dockery came through to the final octet by topping Bernie Gehlhausen and George Tevault.

This year's competition calls for one winner in the local tourney and three representatives on the national scene. The top man in the Evansville College Pocket Billiard Tournament will receive a trophy as will the runner-up.

In the Union Regional Intercollegiate Billiard Tourney, the men who post the eight highest scores in the local competition will play for the three positions in the national tourney. This is the first year that eliminations have been conducted on a regional basis in the nation-wide firing. National tourney finals will be held at Michigan State University.

Other finalists in the local tourney will also receive awards for their various finishing positions. A total of 37 men began the first round of tournament play last week. The final game is listed to be played Feb. 7 in the Union.

Intra-mural Cagers Swing Into Action; Nine Teams Entered

Intra-mural athletic activities have started for the year with nine teams entered in the basketball league, and a volleyball association has also been formed for the benefit of exercise.

Only two games have been played thus far in the basketball league with "Huff's Puffers" smothering Sigma Epsilon, 45-20. The "Puffers" are composed of Ace gridders and figure to be a real threat for the intra-mural championship. In the second contest S.C.A. squeaked by Phi Epsilon Phi in a real thriller, 25-21.

The volleyball program has been started on campus as a part of the intra-mural program also. However, competition will take a back seat in this sport as the program has been established merely for exercise.

The intra-mural program is open to any male student body member or a male member of the college faculty. The games will be held in the Armory every Tuesday evening from 4:30 to 6 p.m.

One of the stronger teams in the league this year is the Phi Zeta squad, which will be defending its 1954 crown.

The complete list of teams entered is: Huff's Puffers; Phi Epsilon Phi; Sigma Epsilon; SCA; Acacia; Phi Zeta; Mouse and His Rats; Bill's Boys, and a freshman team.

Ping Pong Tourney Planned

A ping pong tournament is being planned for Evansville College students in the near future. However, nothing is definite, but the tourney will be staged after the completion of the billiards tourney which is in action now. The tourney will be open to all students, with men's singles and doubles; ladies' singles and doubles; and mixed doubles open.

Heater Announces Cast For Student Production

The cast for the next Evansville College theater presentation, "Tartuffe," has been announced by Robert Heater, director.

The cast for the 17th century satire by Moliere includes eleven male and four female parts. Tryouts were held on January 16 and 17 to select the actors.

The title role of Tartuffe will be portrayed by Gary Harmon; Dorine will be depicted by Carolyn Conaway and Elmire by Carolyn Kohl. Organ will be played by Hal Burckhartt; Madame Pernell by Myra Kasey; Damis by Frank Powers; Mariane by Margie Warren;

Valare by Carl Bilderback; Cleante by John Koehler; M. Loyal by John Bennett; Policeman by Bob Krug; Laurent by Bob Love and Flipote by Lois Somers. The assistant director has not yet been named. All students who wish to work on the various crews should contact either Mr. Heater or Jerry Grey as soon as possible.

Mr. Heater said that this play is being presented in conjunction with the new policy of the college theater which calls for a foreign play production each March. Moliere's French play will be in keeping with the UNESCO international theater month.

"Tartuffe" will be staged on four consecutive nights, opening Wednesday, March 2, and closing Saturday, March 5. Mr. Heater has announced plans to make one night "high school night," with special invitations being sent to high school students throughout the city.

Dr. Luccock Speaks To Vesper Service Gathering in Chapel

Calling "the great words the short ones," Dr. Halford E. Luccock, professor emeritus of the Divinity School of Yale University, explained that man is losing sight of the basic concepts and ideals of religion in a world greatly reduced by scientific development Sunday at Vesper services at Evansville College.

In his speech, "Measuring the Dictionary," Dr. Luccock pointed out that many words are losing their intended meanings. "Take the word God," he said. "A writer has said that it has become a formula on Sunday and an oath on weekdays, but the dictionary still defines God as the Supreme Being."

Approximately 500 persons heard the renowned Yale author charge that the meaning of democracy had changed from freedom of mind to "something small," because it had been used to wrest individuality from people all over the world. He called the word the "worst cliche of the common language."

The call to worship was given by Dr. Mearl P. Culver, who also gave the invocation. Rev. Roland B. Mernitz gave the prayer and Ollin J. Drennan read the scripture lesson. The Vesper choir, directed by Mrs. Margaret Shepard, sang "We Thank Thee Lord" as the anthem. The next vesper service will be held Feb. 13.

Phi Mu Alpha Initiates Five

Five new members will be taken into Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity for men, tonight at 7. They are Eldon Katter, Mike Cavin, Gene Griswald, Richard Happe and Paul Jones. The initiation ceremony will be conducted in the college auditorium.

Epsilon Upsilon chapter of Phi Mu Alpha on the Evansville College campus will celebrate its fourth Chapter Day with a dinner at the Homestead Sunday, January 19, at 6 p.m. Guest speaker will be Sigurd Rascher, well-known saxophonist who will appear with the Evansville College band Monday evening.

English Proficience Exams Marked; Results Posted In Administration Building

Results of the English proficiency test have been posted on the bulletin board in the Administration building. As was previously announced, this was the last regularly scheduled English proficiency exam.

In the future students will be judged for English ability by a single impromptu paper taken during the first term of their junior year from a regular course, preferably in a major field. This paper will be read by five members of the faculty who have been chosen as a standing committee on English proficiency.

If the paper is considered satisfactory by the committee, the student's English will be approved for graduation. If it fails to pass requirements, the student will be notified to appear for a writing test at a specified time and place. Persons who fail the written examination will be required to take an additional course in English.

Williams Edits EC Crescent

Jak Williams, sophomore, is the newly-installed editor-in-chief of The Crescent, having assumed the editor's duties following the resignation of Ken Curtin, who edited the paper during the fall quarter.

Williams, an English major, is currently in his third quarter of journalism and his third quarter as a member of The Crescent staff. He served as editor of page five during the 1954 spring quarter before editing the sports page during the fall quarter of the present term. He succeeded Don Bernhardt as Crescent sports editor.

While in high school, Williams never studied journalism, but became interested therein as a college freshman. His newswriting interests with The Crescent aided him recently in securing a job at The Evansville Courier, where he is employed in the morgue and photo-finishing department and works three nights per week.

A graduate of Bosse High School, Williams is an English major working toward a B.A. degree. As to future plans, he is still undecided. He has been a golfer since a tender age, and sometimes considers making professional golfing his career. He has now added newspaper work to his list of possibilities.

Rehersals Set For 'Kapers Performers

Dates for Kampus Kapers rehearsals have been set. The first rehearsal will be January 27, at 7 p.m. in the Great Hall. This will be the first presentation of the skits before the entire group. Carolyn Lockwood's Dance committee is in charge of arrangements and will have a stage crew on hand for rehearsals.

Other dates for rehearsals are Monday, February 7, and Tuesday, February 15, at 7 p.m. On Sunday, February 20, at 2 will be dress rehearsal. The performances will be February 21 and February 22.

Thirteen groups are participating in this year's presentation. They are International Relations Club, Phi Epsilon Pi, Phi Mu, Alpha Omicron Pi, Independents, Chi Omega, Student Christian Association, Beta Sigma Omicron, Baptist nurses, faculty, Phi Zeta, Kappa Chi and Acacia.

New President To Be Selected February 7

A new president for Evansville College will be selected at a special meeting called for February 7, it was announced this week.

At this meeting, authorized by the executive committee, the names of three men will be submitted by the Screening committee. This committee, headed by Samuel Orr, has reviewed qualifications of more than 50 applicants for the position and reported the results. The field has been narrowed to three.

The post, vacated by Dr. Lincoln B. Hale last June, is currently being filled by Dean Long, acting president. Dr. Hale, who had been with the college since 1939, as president since 1941, resigned to take the post of director of the U.S. Operations Mission in Israel, at Tel Aviv.

At this same meeting, the board of trustees will select a nominating committee to make recommendations for a new president of the board, their candidates to be presented at the next regular meeting in March.

The vacancy on the board, created by the resignation of Richard R. McGinnis, will not be filled permanently by the Indiana Conference of the Methodist church until its next regular meeting in June.

Dr. Willard C. Patrick, vice-president of the board, is currently carrying out the duties of the president. Mr. McGinnis terminated 25 years of service as a member of the board on January 15, when he announced that he and has family will reside in Laurel, Miss.

MSM Schedules Special Vespers Sunday Evening

The Methodist Student Movement will sponsor a special vesper at the Methodist Temple Sunday evening, January 29, at 7:30.

First to be given by the MSM, the candlelight vesper will emphasize individual meditation the topic is "Approaching Christ."

Presented in three parts, the service will deal with the individual, Christ and discipleship. Narrations and organ improvisations will make up the informal period of worship.

Don Griffith, narrator, will read selected passages. Following each reading Mr. Ralph Waterman, professor of organ, will interpret in music the meaning of the passage.

Students participating are Neil Norrick, in charge of ushers, and Irvin McDaniel, Lloyd Schmitz and Janice Morgan, who will handle lighting.

Long At Meeting Of College Heads

Acting President Dean Long attended a special meeting of the Association of Independent and Church Related Colleges yesterday in Indianapolis.

Meeting with the presidents of the four state supported institutions, the group discsussed the problem of "whether or not the state schools shouldd consider establishing junior colleges in their extension centers."

Acting President Dean Long shared the cake at the Union's fourth birthday party last Friday. Mrs. Leotta McDonald, longest in service on the cafeteria staff, had the honor of cutting the four iered cake as Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union, looked on. Miss Kirk is wearing an orchid sent to her by Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln B. Hale, now in Tel Aviv, to carry out a tradition started by them at the Union's first birthday party.

Pep Assembly, Sweater Hop Feature Union Activities Today

Team to Nominate Five Co-eds for Queen Crown

Candidates for Basketball Queen for 1955 will be presented at a special pep assembly this morning at 10 o'clock in the Great Hall.

Alpha Omicron Pi, Chi Omega, Phi Mu, Beta Sigma Omicron and INCA will each sponsor three girls. From this group, the basketball team will choose one representative for each organization.

Names of the five girls thus selected will be placed on the ballot for the student body to make the final choice.

Election will take place February 11, and the queen will be crowned at the Evansville-DePauw game the following evening. The other four will serve as the queen's attendants.

Informal Dance Honors Princess Hopekaw Debut

Princess Hopekaw, the wooden Indian located in the Grill, will have her coming out party this evening from 8:30 to 11:30, according to Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union.

The princess will leave her glass case to reign over the informal sweater hop from a position of honor in the middle of the floor. The dance, which is a non-date affair, has been planned by the House committee, headed by Carol Schellhase.

Jim Schneider and his combo will again provide music as a result of his reception at the last sweater hop. Capt. and Mrs. Nedry Burris and Major and Mrs. Robert Taylor will chaperone the dance. Jean Hurst is in charge of the decorations and Connie Miller, publicity.

EC Student Giving One Man Art Show

Nanene Queen Engle, Evansville College senior, is exhibiting her art work in the Union building, where it will remain on display until Feb. 4.

The exhibit is the first one-man show for the Newburgh artist, who is taking courses leading to a secondary education certificate in art. She studied for two years at the John

Nanene Queen Engle

Herron Art School in Indianapolis and one year at the University of Southern California. She studied under Elliott O'Hara at John Herron and with Dan Lutz at Southern California.

Included in the exhibit are 15 oil and watercolor paintings, a silk screen print on textile and a collection of jewelry fashioned in silver, copper and aluminum. Mrs. Engle's work previously appeared in the Tri-State Art Show and the Indiana Artists and the Hoosier Salon.

Philos Name New Officers; Hancock Elected President

Sam Hancock will serve as president of the Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity for the coming year.

Hancock, a junior business administration major working toward a degree in accounting, was elected last week.

Bill Gabert, named to the position of vice-president, is a junior business major.

Other newly elected officers are Bill Greer, recording secretary; Doug Barthlow, corresponding secretary, and Jerry Cecil, treasurer.

Rounding out the list of Philo office-holders are James Webb, historian; Dale Sauer, chaplain, and George Snyder, sergeant-at-arms.

Organizations Start Kapers Rehearsals

Representatives from 13 campus organizations had a preview of what to expect from their competitors at the first rehearsal of Kampus Kapers last night.

Working towards their February 21 and 22 performance dates, the groups have joint rehearsals set up for February 7 and 15, with the dress rehearsal planned for the Sunday preceding the program.

Carolyn Lockwood's Dance committee, which is in charge of all arrangements, planned to have stage and lighting crews on hand for all rehearsals.

Meeting earlier this week representatives from the organizations voted to use funds raised from this annual affair to erect lights for the new Evansville College sign on the front of the campus, facing Lincoln avenue. Part of last year's proceeds were used to buy letters for the sign.

Frats Recruit 68; Sororities Get 35

Phi Zeta Leads Men; AOPi Tops Women

Sixty-eight men and 35 women pledged the social fraternities and sororities on campus last Friday and Saturday.

Phi Zeta led the men with 27, the largest number of pledges; Alpha Omicron Pi, the women, with 13. Second for the men was Sigma Epsilon, the newest and second national fraternity on campus, with 23. Runner-up among the women was Chi Omega, with 10. Pi Epsilon Phi pledged 13; Acacia, five; Beta Sigma Omicron, nine, and Phi Mu, three.

Sigma Epsilon

Ted Keller, Bob Love, Billie E. Miller, J. R. Miller, Bob O'Connor, Philip O'Leary, Carl Powers, Maurice D. Rohleder, Lloyd Schmitz, Robert Ubelhor and Ronald Wallace.

Signed to Pi Epsilon Phi are Clarence Baughn, Richard Brown, Thomas Cotton, R. J. Harris, Donald Henry, John Harrawood, Eugene Lutterbach, William Rauscher, Carl J. Salzman, Richard Seib, Charles Thompson, Richard Thompson and Marvin L. Wallace.

Acacia has five pledges: Gayle Buroker, Ray King, Charles Levell, Walter D. Rogers and Don Walsh.

Sororities Fill Quota

Two sororities filled the rush quota of nine freshman women for each organization, Alpha Omicron Pi and Chi Omega.

Alpha Omicron Pi also pledged four upper classmen. The list includes Jane Dreher, Joan Luckett, Karen Spong and Polly Adcock, upperclassmen; Susan Hathaway, Barbara Hulvershorn, Marilyn Kemp, Wilma Kamman, Carolyn R. Reasor, Elizabeth Romine, Bette Sharp, Greta Shaw and Mary Ann Simrell.

The nine freshmen who pledged Chi Omega are Linda Graf, Carolyn Kohl, Patsy Parrish, DeLoris Hartig,

Four Evansville Students Make Initial Contribution For Library Fund Drive

Evansville College's fund for a new library has received its initial contribution from four students of the college. Touching off the contributions were Tom Lukens, Pat Harris, Wendy Long and Carol Schoolfield, who donated the proceeds from an evening's entertainment to the fund.

The program, presented to the Chrysler Management Club Saturday, January 22, in the Empire Room of the Hotel Vendome, was arranged by Tom Lukens.

Composing the musical half of the program were two numbers from "Show Boat," presented by vocalist Miss Pat Harris, and three medleys of popular songs by Miss Carol Schoolfield, pianist.

The comedy portion was handled by Tom Lukens, who appeared as the wisecracking M.C., and Wendy Long, whose country philosopher's version of "Romeo and Juliet" was well received.

Hill's Article Appears In Methodist Magazine

Appearing in the January issue of "The Pastor," a Methodist monthly magazine, is an article by Charles M. Hill, senior, and pastor of Salem Methodist Church at Freelandville.

Titled "Prayers, Tears and 'Greenbacks'," Mr. Hill's article is an account of the successful fund-raising efforts of a small rural church where he served previously as pastor.

A member of the Student Christian Association, Kappa Chi, Methodist Student Movement, Religious Life Committee and the a capella choir, Mr. Hill expects to complete requirements for the B.A. degree in March.

Six Names Omitted From Dean's List

Six names were inadvertently left off the Dean's List printed in the January 14 issue of The Crescent. All were students receiving the honor for the first time.

Omitted were Florajane Rupe, Jerome Schaefer, George Scheitlin, Mary Jo Schlimmer, Priscilla Vance and Lewis F. Volpe.

Late News Breaks

Rumors that the Crew Cuts are going to perform at Evansville College are false. The Phi Zetas were negotiating, but an open date could not be set.

A reminder —

Next Friday marks the end of the World University Service Drive. Have you given your "buck?" Donations may be made at Dr. Mearl Culver's office.

February 5 is the last day to withdraw from a course. After that date a WP or WF grade will be given.

Daubenspeck Heads Acacia; Will be Installed Tuesday

Jerry Daubenspeck has been elected venerable dean of the Acacia fraternity for the coming year. Venerable dean is the highest office in the fraternity and is equivalent to president in other organizations.

Daubenspeck is a sophomore working on a liberal arts degree, his main field being biology. After completing this work he plans to go into dentistry.

Other officers for the Acacians are Roger Wetzel, senior dean; Wally Rogers, junior dean; Dave Ingle, secretary, and Duane Pemberton, treasurer.

The national secretary of the Acacia organization will be present at the group's Tuesday meeting, during which the new officers will be installed.

Brantner Named to Staff

Col. James A. Brantner, professor of air science and head of the department, this week was named to the military advisory staff to make plans for Armed Forces Week celebrations.

Help Them, Help Themselves

"All races, peoples and classes today demand a share in power and wealth." This, says Arnold Toynbee, is the major problem of our time. Poverty, disease, ignorance and despair — which haunt the vast populations of South Asia, Africa and the Far East — must be conquered. The most powerful weapon in this fight is educated leadership.

World University Service believes that in helping students to help themselves, we not only help them but we help ourselves. Their future is our future — and educated leadership is the cornerstone of the future for all peoples.

Thus it can be seen that the WUS campaign is not only one of giving but of receiving as well. For every penny that is received one is given in service to some part of this vast globe of ours. Take the case of last year's campaign. $417,062.38 was collected through various mediums. Exactly that amount was distributed to enhance future improvements in the world.

Despite tragic handicaps, thousands of students — the hope of tomorrow — are carrying on their studies today in the universities of Asia, Europe and the Middle East. They're doing all they can to help themselves, but they cannot succeed alone. The need is too great and the resources are too small. They must have our help to win. Our contribution can mean the difference between success and failure.

We are being asked to take an active part in this drive through which the students of the world unite to help each other help themselves. The WUS works without prejudice to race and nationality, religious and political convictions or social and economic background.

The campus drive has been in progress all this week and will continue through next week. Every student and faculty member is being asked to contribute. A goal of one dollar per person has been set. Won't you please consider the scope of this program and not "pass that buck — but give it"? (K. C.)

Thanks---1960

Jan. 28, 1960 — This is a bouquet to the administration. Being a real "go, go Evansville" fan, we are taking this opportunity to thank the administration for all of these improvements.

1. Thanks for the new parking lot. Now there will be enough room for all, and those eight o'clock wide-awakes won't get all the parking spaces. And we also like the new never-wear, smooth surface, no holes, no ruts.

2. Ditto, the new dormitories and library. The rooms are beautiful, and it's so nice to have such places to stay at so near the heart of our college (the Union building). The new book nook is the very latest with all of the latest literary gems in stock. (Mickey Spillane's latest and all of the back copies of Playboy.)

But, all joking aside, we do hope to see these improvements, less the parenthetical comments, on our campus, and we are merely expressing our affirmation that these will become a part of Evansville College.

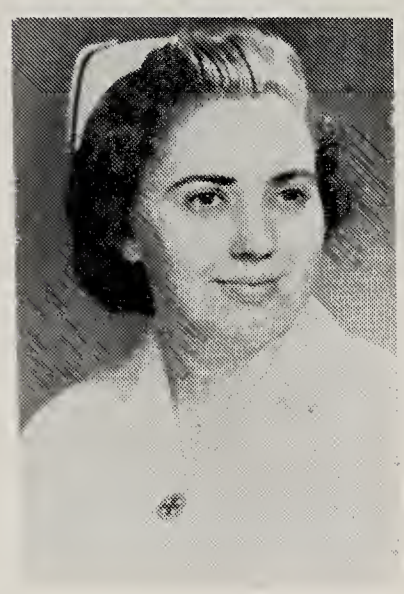
New Campus Nurse Likes Social Work

The school nurse's office which was vacated by Della Hester in December has been taken over by Esther Wilson who, with it, took over the task of viewing aches and pains on campus and passing out aspirin to relieve them.

In addition to being the new school nurse Miss Wilson is a student working on a B.S. degree. She became an R.N. when she was graduated from the Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing in 1953, and if things go as she plans, she will receive a B.S. in nursing in August.



Born in Yankeetown, Ind., Miss Wilson attended Hebron grade school and Bosse high school in Evansville. For two years she studied at Asbury college in Wilmore, Ky., then she entered nurses' training at Deaconess.

While at Deaconess, the new nurse did two stints of nursing at out-of-town hospitals. She spent three months at Riley hospital in Indianapolis, learning the intricacies of nursing sick children, and she was at Massillon State hospital in Ohio for three months also.

For the past year she has worked for her brother who is a physician.

Miss Wilson likes to travel and to read. She is greatly interested in social work too. "Some day I'd like to be a missionary," she said, "but I don't know if I'll ever get the chance. My sister and her husband are missionaries to Brazil."

Besides her sister and brother, Miss Wilson has another sister who lives in Tennessee.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

At the last Administrative Board meeting the problem of referees for student intramurals was discussed. The Athletic Committee felt that in order to obtain good intramurals, a good system of referees must be set up. It was finally agreed that one dollar per game, per referee, would be paid from the student fund to student referees who hold a refereeing card.

Mr. Heater attended the meeting and reported that the stage equipment for dramatics was in a very run down condition. He asked that the 18 cents appropriated for debate from the activities fee be given to dramatics for this year in order to build up their inventory. Since debate is in the process of reorganization on campus, they do not need the money appropriated for them this year. The matter was referred to the Fine Arts Committee for discussion because dramatics and debate fall into their area.

The Publications Committee reported that they will hold a meeting with representatives of the sororities concerned in the Revlon Bowl game. One sorority has said that they do not wish to participate in next year's game. The Publications Committee, which sponsors the game, would like to know the feelings of all of the sororities before deciding to drop the game completely or replace the one sorority.

As I See It

Famous quotations from famous men:

John Paul Jones — "Down to the sea in ships."

Admiral Peary — "This is the advent of the deep freeze."

MacArthur — "Don't shoot until you taste the rice."

Ike — "Put a brand on him and put him in the cabinet."

Dior — "The flatter the better."

FDR — "Throw another log on the fire."

McCarthy — "Point of order, Mr. Chairman."

Spillane — "Sexy murder."

General Custer — "Where in the hell did all these Injuns come from?"

A boo-boo pulled by one of the press services last week was the best. Their statement released to many Indiana newspapers stated that the proposed K-Vets' Bonus would pay off $10 for each day of stateside duty and $15 for each day spent in a combat area. Before the ink was dry on many of the sheets, the News Service was swamped with calls. A correction the next day said that the word "days" should have been "months."

Happens to the best of them. My question is — who loused "As I See It" up last week? Happens to the best of them.

I hear there is a new record out, produced in Canada, that is really a terrific disc about a person I won't name, whose quotation is "Point of order, Mr. Chairman." Further, I understand that there is a lawsuit over the pressing at the moment.

By the way, the record is an under-the-counter job.

The Birthday Party in the Union last Friday was a nice thing. There were an awful lot of people who showed bad manners during the affair. It was difficult to hear any of the speakers and very little respect was shown Acting President Long when he recounted the erection of many of our buildings.

Maybe there should be a required course in manners added to the agenda. It would help us all.

To the yell leaders: The poor college spirititis is an annual ailment around the campus. For as long as I can remember we haven't had any real college spirit. Part of the fault is in the student body; however, all of it can't be blamed on us.

We scream and yell about the poor police department in E-town but what do we do about it? Chief Stevens recently proclaimed that he needed more men. It is very true that the police department is undermanned. They need at least forty more flatfeet for walking patrols. Think of the indignation of the citizenry if taxes were raised in order to increase the efficiency of the local constabulary. One thing they could do (aided by "Just call me Hank") is to take the department out of politics. No doubt there are some very able men on the force. However, many of them are on the "out"side.

It is funny. We demand efficient police protection, yet when one of the cops gives us a ticket we question him, call him a sneak and question his business in the neighborhood where we violated the law.

As the monkeys at Mesker Park say — "People are the craziest things."

Bunny, the Mesker Zoo elephant, tried to earn her keep the other day. She swiped a paint brush from one of the painters in her cell and tried to paint it herself. Unfortunately, one of the Stewards of the Union was present and filed a grievance against her. Seems she doesn't hold a card.

I imagine that some eager beaver in the Indiana Legislature will propose that they meet every year instead of every two years. I am against such a move. They, the Legislators, can spend enough dough every two years. If they met every year we would really be paying taxes.

EC Group Attends Political Conference

Ten Evansville College students, accompanied by Edward B. Richards, assistant professor of history and political science, attended the second annual Student Conference on Politics sponsored by the Indiana Citizenship Clearing House at the Claypool Hotel in Indianapolis, January 13.

In an effort to help students understand politicians and to encourage their participation in politics, a series of panels was held in the morning session. Subjects of the panels included "Role of Young Democratic and Young Republican Clubs," "Women in Politics," "Grass Roots of Political Organization," "Opportunities for Productive Field Work and Political Research in Indiana" and "Functions and Limitations of Independent Voters and Non-Partisan Organizations."

Both Democrats and Republicans were on all of the panels. Mr. Richards was chairman of the discussion "Women in Politics."

At the luncheon, delegates were introduced to their congressmen who were invited guests. Eighteen Indiana colleges participated in the state conference.

Students who made the trip were Barbara Hulvershorn, Marilyn Kemp, Yvonne McCutchan, Charlotte Walter, Barbara Corson, Margaret Scott, F. Ray King, James Morris, Bill Kiltz and Dave Ingle.

Students Describe Foreign Customs To Local Groups

Foreign students representing seven countries have been kept busy speaking before civic organizations, women's clubs, school groups and adult education groups in Evansville and near-by cities.

Through their appearances they try to interpret their countries, explaining the customs, differences and similarities. They also hope to supplement their learning about the American way of life from the people for whom they speak.

Students now accepting speaking engagements are In Chang Kim, Korea; Hiroshi Kise, Okinawa; Masahiko "Mike" Morita, Okinawa; Mangatas "Manny" Pasaribu, Indonesia; Irene Rechnic, Belgium and Poland; Denis Robless, Malaya; Erling Storesund, Norway; Toshi "Tony" Toguchi, Okinawa.

Appointments are made through the Student Personnel office to prevent students having more than two engagements during a month.

They made 21 talks during the fall quarter and 14 thus far in the winter quarter, with six more engagements scheduled for February.

Stage Crews Appointed For Theatre Production

Barbara Moore will be student director and Jerry Grey stage manager for the next Evansville College Theater presentation, "Tartuffe," according to an announcement by Robert Heater, director, this week.

At the same time, crew members, committee men and back stage workers were named.

Serving on the costume committee are Tom Lukens, Nancy Altheide, Yvonne McCutchan and Margie Hassee. Costumes for the period play will be rented from an eastern concern rather than made by the students as in previous years.

Louis Plane will be in charge of lighting; Karen Spong and Gerriann Frasier, make-up; Tom Cotten, Norman Martin and Jim Casper, stage crew; Sue Hathaway, Joyce Reed and Patsy Parrish, properties; Selma Douglas, ushers. Susie Chenoweth is business manager.

Other students interested in serving on one of the committees may contact either Mr. Heater or Mr. Grey.

The seventeenth century satire by Moliere, which will be staged for four consecutive performances beginning March 2, is being presented in conjunction with UNESCO international month. The new College Theater policy also calls for the presentation of one foreign play each year.

"I feel that once people become acquainted with Moliere they will appreciate his drama much more than that of contemporary writers. There is no one writing for the modern theater who can approach him either as a technician or as the master of the comic situation," Mr. Heater said.

Moliere should be rated along with Shakespeare and Aristophanes as the greatest writers of drama, he added.

Religious Education Group Meets in Union Building

Members of the Evansville Council of Weekday Religious Education attended a dinner meeting last Tuesday evening, January 25, in the Union building. Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college, is president of the Council.

After dinner a public meeting, at which demonstrations of the classes of religions were given, was held. The demonstrations were put on by groups from religion classes from Lutheran and Catholic parochial schools and the Weekday Church school at the Methodist Temple. They showed how the various schools teach religion.

The Council of Weekday Religious Education is an agency which works to coordinate weekday church groups among the Catholic, Lutheran and Council of Churches member faiths. It also has contact with Jewish groups, although they are not members of the Council.

Officers of the organization are: Dean McKown, president; Father Marilius Bilskie, pastor of Holy Rosary Catholic church, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Tyner, secretary; and Rev. Donald Gorbett of the Evangelical United Brethern church, treasurer.

"I haven't got time."

Everyone of us probably thinks he's busier now than anybody else. Now this just can't be. If we're all busier than anybody else, then the rest must be less busy than we are; therefore, the first statement is not true. Did you ever read anything so meaningless? I never did.

But we are busy. I have 15 hours of classes and a week-end job, plus membership in six organizations on campus. Some have 17 hours, two jobs, and are wheels in practically everything. We've just been through rush, and the very name of this quaint campus custom implies intense activity.

So it's easy to say, "I haven't got time for anything; I'm busy."

Suppose Plato had said he didn't have time to write; we would have no record of the very wise cogitations of Socrates because we know of the latter only through the writings of Plato. Also we wouldn't have the social thought of Plato.

If Abe Lincoln had busied himself with his private practice of law instead of serving his country in its hardest job, the presidency, we would not have had his great leadership during one of the most dangerous eras of our country's history.

If George Washington had stayed at his beloved Mt. Vernon with no time for anything else, we might have never found a general who could keep the American Revolution from becoming a revolt put down by the British.

This is the pattern of great lives. They had about the same amount of time that we will have. The important thing is what we do with the time we have. Of course, we can't all be famous.

There is more to true greatness than a long and famous life. There was one who lived only 33 years. Yet, He was the greatest man who ever lived. That man was Jesus of Nazareth. He was a humble man with a simple faith that told Him to give Himself in service to others, healing their souls and bodies. He gave His very life that we might know the merciful love that forgives our sins. He went further; He arose again, thus conquering death that we might know that we can, too.

Most of us will probably have twice as long to live as He did on earth, and yet will we use the time we have as wisely? Such wisdom is not in us; it comes only from above. Jesus got it through communion with God. We can, too.

Walker, McCoy In Muncie Today For State Meeting

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, and Mr. G. R. McCoy left yesterday to attend the Indiana Institutional Teacher Placement Association meeting at Ball State college in Muncie. The meeting opens at 10 a.m. this morning.

Highlight of the convention will be a panel discussion on "Placement Office Forms, Procedures and Techniques." Dean Burkhardt of Ball State will deliver the welcoming address.

Also included on the schedule of events are a talk by Vila Deubach of Anderson college, luncheon, a question box and a business meeting.

PANHELLENIC BOARD PLANS

The Panhellenic Board has announced its plans for this year.

During the spring season one of its main projects will be the State Panhellenic convention here at Evansville College on April 30. An orientation party for high school seniors will be given sometime during the first weeks of June.

In the fall there will be a meeting and party for Panhellenic members. This event will take place in November.

College Deans Offer Foreign Study Plan

An intercollegiate study project, in which Evansville College is participating, has been arranged by the Indiana College Deans for the summer of 1955. The plan involves travel and study in England and the British Isles for 12 or 13 weeks.

Third-year students recommended by the dean of the college are eligible to participate. Each person taking part will register in the Indiana university summer session for a designated course in his field of interest, and he will receive six credits toward his degree upon completion of the project.

The group will travel by steamer from New York or Montreal, and eight hundred dollars will cover basic expenses. Sailing date is approximately June 10.

Selection of a topic of study is up to the student, but it should pertain to his major field if possible. The chosen topic will be developed in England through interviews, library research and active participation in community life. Headquarters will be established in London and students may live in English homes.

Two copies of a project report must be prepared upon return but they will not be due until February, 1956. Persons interested in this study group may consult Dean McKown for further information.

Firms to Send Representatives To Interview Seniors for Jobs

During the month of February six nationally known companies will send representatives to Evansville College to interview seniors for positions with their organizations.

The dates on which the company representatives will be on campus are: February 3, McDonald Aircraft of St. Louis; February 7, Magnavox; February 9, Naval Ordnance of Maryland; February 22, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and February 24, International Business Machines. The W. T. Grant Company will send an interviewer this month also, but the date of his coming has not yet been established.

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, requests that persons interested in jobs with any of these firms fill out an application blank at least a week in advance of the interview. He said too that students should take the time to find out something about the company and its products before talking with the representative.

The Goodyear firm will have a group meeting at 10 a.m. February 22, in Room A-215. From this meeting its representative will make appointments for interviews.

Application blanks and additional information may be secured at the Placement Bureau in the Administration building. Announcements are posted on the bulletin boards in most of the buildings reminding seniors to sign up for the interviews.

Panel Discussion Planned For Convocation Tuesday

"Does High School Adequately Prepare One for College?" will be the topic of discussion at the freshman convocation February 2.

Sponsored by Dr. Logan's discussion class for the fall quarter, a panel of four will compare the programs, social and academic, provided by high schools of various sizes. Material will be based on their own experiences plus statistics from schools of similar sizes.

Participants in the discussion are Susan Chenoweth, Lemoine Barr, Jim Schreiber and June Wallace, with Myra Kasey serving as moderator.

PLANE ARTICLE PUBLISHED

Robert A. Plane, graduate of the Evansville College class of 1948, recently had an article published in the Journal of American Chemical Society.

Mr. Plane, who is currently an assistant professor of chemistry at Cornell University, wrote the article while studying for his doctoral degree. The writing appears in the Dec. 5, 1954 issue of the magazine.

EC Grads Enter Pilot Training

Three Evansville College graduates, commissioned second lieutenants in the United States AFROTC, left this week for active duty at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Bill Adkins, Don Bernhardt and Bernie Connolly have been accepted for pilot training and will report to San Antonio for orientation and assignment on January 28. The three graduated last June.

Mr. Connolly, former president of SGA, was on the basketball team and active in student activities.

Mr. Bernhardt and Mr. Adkins were both members of The Crescent staff, the former as sports editor, the latter as news editor and cartoonist.

Nation To Present Violin Recital Thursday, Feb. 3

A faculty music recital will be given by Mr. William Nation, violinist, in the Great Hall of the Union building, Thursday, February 3 at 8 p.m.

Mr. Nation has chosen "Sonata No. 1 in B minor" by Bach as his major number. He will also play "Romance in E minor, Op. 9" by Sinding and "Rondo Variato" by Vittorio Rieti. "Five Pieces" by Alexandre Tansman and "Nocturne" and "Scherzo" by William Petz will also be included.

Accompanying Mr. Nation at the piano will be Miss Virginia Rice, preparatory music school instructor.

Following the recital, a reception will be held in the Union lounge. Both the reception and recital are open to the public.

Coeds in Contest For 'Auto' Queen

Five Evansville College co-eds are listed among the fifteen contestants for queen of the Tri-State Auto Show in the Armory, January 29, 30, 31. Included are Pat Parrish, Carolyn Conaway, DeLoris Hartig, Karen Spong and Joyce Reed.

The winner will be crowned Monday night at the close of the show. Her prize will be an all-expense-paid plane trip to New Orleans for the week of the Mardi Gras.

Following the crowning at 10 p.m., the queen will draw for the winner of a new car, to be given away at the show.

Evansville Will Host State M.S.M. Conference in March

Evansville College will host a three-day Methodist Student Movement State Conference on March 18-19-20. All colleges in the state having M.S.M. or Wesley organizations on campus will send delegates to the meeting. Between 175 to 200 persons are expected to attend.

Dean Edgar McKown explained that only state supported colleges have Wesley organizations, while M.S.M. is the title given to Methodist groups on private campuses.

Plans for the conference are being drawn up by special committees seleted by Don Griffith, president of the M.S.M. at Evansville. Serving as chairmen for these committees are: Robert Porro, name tags and registration; Lewis Plane, recreation; Bill Corpening, refreshments; Don Wood and Marva Nelson, cars and Joanne Bailey, banquet decorations.

Other committee chairmen are: Alice Ann Christmas and Susie Chenoweth, banquet entertainment; Shannan Manion and Jim VanScyoc, rooms and arrangements; George Hagan and Gayle Buroker, reception; Eula Lee Wilson, song leader; Kenny Jacobs, serving committee and Guy Andress and Norma Robertson, housing.

High school girls will serve at the banquet, which will be given on Saturday night, March 19.

Martha Powell is vice-president of the state M.S.M. organization.

College Bills May Be Deductable in Future

The person who foots the bills to keep a student in college may get a break soon. Waldo C. M. Johnson, a Yale Alumni Board official, said that he expects a bill to be introduced ducing the current session of Congress which will permit the suffering taxpayer to deduct from his income at least part of the cost of college bills.

Mr. Johnson said that several lawmakers are interested in the idea and that a number of educational groups are backing it.

The proposed legislation would allow anyone who bears the cost of a student's education to deduct 30 per cent of the tuition charges and educational fees from his yearly income. The maximum deduction would be $450.

Butler Visits Evansville Wednesday at Armory

By Larry Sanders

Revenge will be the watchword when the Purple Aces entertain the Butler Bulldogs Wednesday in the Armory at 8 p.m. in an important ICC contest. Butler nipped the Aces at Indianapolis in a thriller, 75-73, to shove Evansville out of first place, Jan. 15.

Bobby Plump was the lad who engineered the Butler win by dropping in a fielder in the waning seconds of the contest and chalked up 28 points in the game. Butler moved into the ICC lead via the Evansville win but was demoted by St. Joe three days later. Valpo currently leads the conference.

Confusion Develops

With Valpo sitting on top in the ICC with a 5-I slate and Butler and Evansville tied in second place at 3-1 and 6-2 respectively, much is to be gained for the victor in Wednesday's battle. However, Butler could further confuse the standings with a win tomorrow night. Butler plays Valparaiso on the Crusaders' home floor, thus making them the underdog. If the Bulldogs should win at Valpo they would move into the league lead with an .800 average. Valpo would then have a 5-2 record for .714. Evansville's record would remain 6-2 (.750). Therefore, the three teams would be in undisputed positions with Butler first, Evansville second, and Valpo third.

The Aces could move into first place provided they tip Butler, and Valpo loses Saturday. However, it is doubtful that the 'Dogs will win. Then, upon an Evansville victory Wednesday night and a Valpo win, the conference standings will put Valpo first, Evansville second, and Butler third. Butler is the most formidable fortress in the Crusaders' path, and if they lose Valpo will probably march to an undisputed crown in the ICC.

After Fourteenth Win

Regardless of conference play, the Aces will be out after their fourteenth win of the year. The charges of Coach Arad McCutchan recovered from the Butler setback and tripped Kentucky Wesleyan 74-60 and Ball State, 91-82, in their last two outings. Besides the Valpo contest tomorrow night, Coach Tony Hinkle will send his Bulldogs against Indiana's Hurrying Hoosiers Monday night. It was this same kind of setup which cost the Bulldogs their conference lead. After the Evansville squeak, the 'Dogs entertained Wisconsin two days later, and lost by four. Those two toughies made it easy for St. Joe to manhandle Butler, 72-49.

Lineups

Hinkle will probably go with the lineup which stopped the Aces in their previous meeting. They are: Ted Guzek and Mark Peterman, forwards; Don Halloway, center; and Dave Sheetz and Plump, guards. McCutchan will probably go with his usual five of Harrawood, Clayton, Bivin, Walker, and Healy.

Third Round Ended; BilliardsTournament Goes into Fourth Set

Firing began in the third round of the campus billiards tourney last Monday with ten players advancing to the final sixteen. Several of the matches in the second round have not been completed and some of the players have been disqualified because of absence.

Three players have already entered the final eight as a result of successes in earlier play. Tom Habbe and George Dockery advanced to the final eight last week with newcomer Bill Madden moving into the group as a result of his third-round win over Dick Matthews.

Chuck Horr, Bill Johnson, Everette Wilson, Bob O'Connor, Bill Lockard, Roger Swonder, Bob Payne, Madden and Matthews had advanced to third round play but since then some have been beaten and others have withdrawn. John Massey was among those withdrawals. Massey copped the tourney crown last year but chose not to defend it this year.

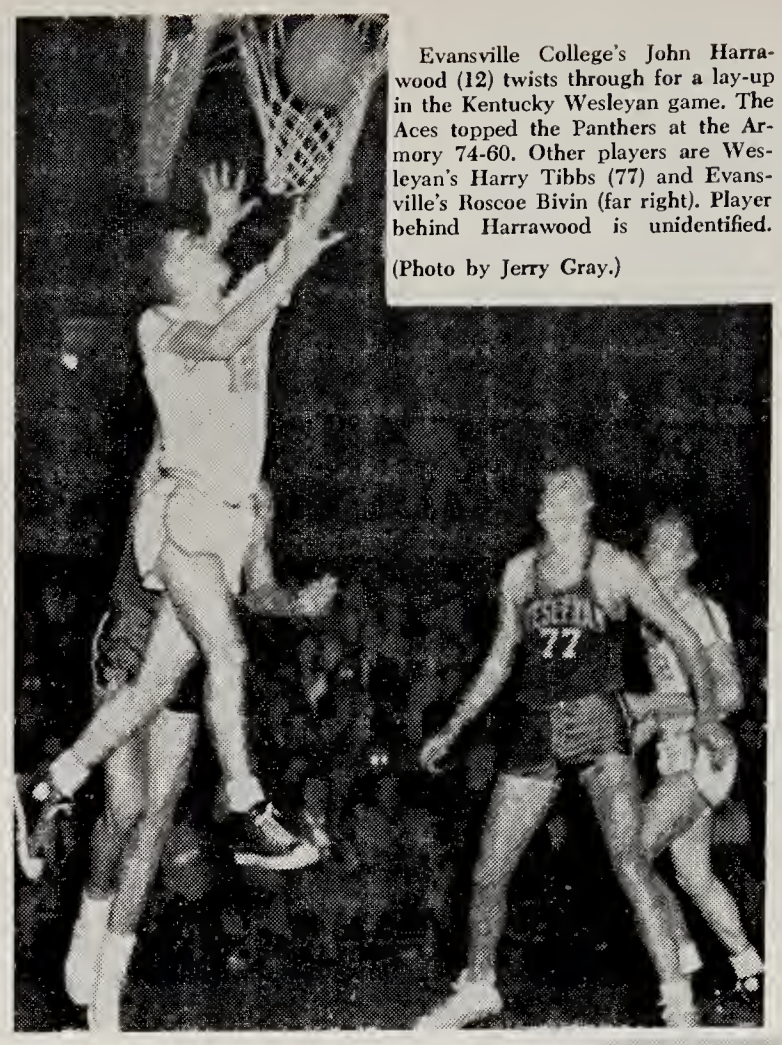
The fourth round opens Monday with the final eight swinging into action. The finals will be conducted two weeks after the final sixteen eliminations. Trophies will be awarded to the first place winner and the runner-up.

'Doerner Night' Set For Season's Finale

Evansville College is planning a "Gussie Doerner Appreciation Night" for February 24, when the Aces close the 1954-55 net campaign against St. Joseph in an ICC contest.

The affair was prompted by the recent record broken by Jerry Clayton. Doerner had previously set the all-time Evansville College single-scoring record with 34 points in 1942. This record withstood all challengers until Clayton, the 6-7 freshman, eclipsed the mark with 35 markers, January 8. Doerner, recently involved in an accident on the Mt. Carmel-Princeton road in which he was severely injured, is still recuperating in the Princeton hospital.

The program has not yet been planned but wor khas started on the festivities. Gussie will also receive a token of appreciation from the College, which he made famous in his playing days by making the All-American team in 1942.



Evansville College's John Harrawood (12) twists through for a lay-up in the Kentucky Wesleyan game. The Aces topped the Panthers at the Armory 74-60. Other players are Wesleyan's Harry Tibbs (77) and Evansville's Roscoe Bivin (far right). Player behind Harrawood is unidentified.

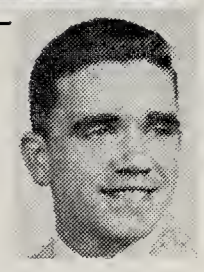
aces high

by jack combs



WITH THE ACES idle this weekend Coach Arad McCutchan will get a chance to test some pet theories concerning rule changes that he would like to propose at the national coaches' meeting in March at Kansas City.

Tonight the Aces will play an inter-squad game at the Armory with the officials using a handkerchief on some fouls rather than the old whistle. This in itself could revamp the whole game from the spectators' standpoint. No longer will the fans be able to scream "whistle-happy" at the poor ref; who would have the nerve to stand up and yell "hanky-happy" on a poor eall?

Also the Mentor will borrow a couple of rules from the professional ranks, but as a word of eaution, coach, remember that they are investigating Maryland now and that is getting close to home. Seriously, the two rules that will be used seem to have worked out very well in pro ball; the first gives the two positions directly under the basket to the defensive team on free throws and the seeond allows the team with possession of the ball only 24 seconds to shoot the ball after they have gained possession. The second rule has added a lot to the pro game. Last Saturday the Philadelphia Warriors were forced to keep shooting the ball rather than stalling against the New York Knickerbockers and the game ended with a three-point difference instead of the 15 points it had been, but I guess it's all on what side of the fence you are on.

The pros also have a better system on fouls than that of the eollegiate ranks. In the pro game a bonus shot is only awarded to a team after their opponents have committed six fouls in that quarter.

TOMORROW NIGHT a big game will be played on the Valparaiso Crusader home court when the Butler Bulldogs invade their lair for a erucial ICC contest. The Crusaders hold the conference lead at the present time but a Butler win would give them the lead to bring to Evansville on Feb. 4. The Crusaders almost lost the lead Saturday when they eased by Indiana State, 55-53.

WAA Cage Meet Planned

Six teams are entered in the WAA basketball tourney set for February 2, and extending for five weeks. Each Wednesday in the month the six female contingents will swing into action, and trophies will bxe awarded to the winners.

Aces Trip Cards; Second in League

Fifty-one per cent of the Aces' floor shots slipped through the nets last Saturday night when the Purples stampeded past Ball State at Muncie in an ICC contest, 91-82. The game also pushed the Aces even with Butler in the seeond place slot in the eonference running with identical .750 readings.

Dropping the Cardinals for the second time in two weeks, the Aces jumped into a 21-18 lead midway in the first half and were never fronted. Bob Walker took the wraps off his offensive game to lead the Evansville scorers with 24 points and Jerry Clayton eanned 23. However, Tom Dobbs, Cardinal forward, stole some of the thunder from the Aces by eapturing high-point honors for the game with 25.

Evansville showed the upstaters that they were out to win by canning 22 of 41 attempts in the first half and led at 49-26 for their biggest margin of the game. The Cards cut this tremendous lead to 49-34 at halftime, and then eame storming back in the second half to almost ruin the Purple and White dream.

Gradually moving up on the invaders, Ball State cut their defieit to three points, 77-74, with nine minutes left, but the Evansville legions fought off this scare with Clayton hitting a fielder and two free throws to bring the Aces home at 83-76 with time running out.

The Ball State crew was able to stay with the visitors by taking more shots. This was partly due to the startling rebounding of the Cards. They scraped 50 rebounds off the boards to Evansville's 35.

Philharmonic Orchestra To Feature Rubinstein

Artur Rubinstein, widely recognized as one of the world's foremost pianists, will appear with the Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra at 8:15 p.m. Monday, January 31 at the Coliseum.

Rubinstein, who has traveled more than two million miles to play in almost every country in the world, will play two major works with the Evansville Philharmonic. The selections will be "Concerto No. 2 in F Minor, Opus 21 for Piano and Orchestra," and "Variations Symphonic," by Franck. The former, a Chopin composition, is one if Rubinstein's better known recordings.

An informal meeting with Rubinstein has been scheduled for Evansville College students at 1:45 p.m. Monday in the music department choir room. Music students have received invitations, and other students interested in attending the meeting may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department.

During the past two seasons, Rubinstein has performed more than 225 times on four continents. He has given 120 concerts in the United States and Canada. In a single concert at the Opera House in Chicago he set an all-time box office record, and his Parisian performances have also broken all records. Music lovers in Rome stood in line all through the night last winter to secure tickets for his concert the following evening.

They will remain in England until June 20, when they will sail to The Hague, eapital of Holland. From Holland the party will eontinue to West Germany until June 27, when they will visit Venice.

After Veniee, the tour will eontinue through Italy and Switzerland before going into Europe.

For more information, those interested may contact Dr. Culver.

Rascher Draws Crowd At Three Performance

Saxaphonist Sigurd Raseher dre near capacity audiences at each his three appearances during his st on eampus this week.

Monday evening, as guest soloi with the Evansville College Sym phonic band in Bosse auditorium Mr. Rascher played two composi tions written especially for him, "Con certo for Saxaphone," by Henr Brant and "Introduction and Samba," by Mauriee Whitney. The secon seleetion brought a demand for en eores, satisfied only after five wer given.

Preceding the eoneert, a clinic wa held in the auditorium. Approximately 450 high school students from the Tri-State area heard the world's only eoneert saxaphonist explain his theories about the instrument.

At his final appearanee, Tuesday morning's convocation, Mr. Rascher was accompanied by Ralph Waterman, associate professor in the music department.

HonoredGuests,Flanagan Cadet Colonel Features Of Military Ball, March 9

By Jak Williams

Commissioning of an Honorary Cadet Colonel, honoring a contingent of special guests and musie by a band ranked among the foremost in the country, will share the spotlight at the Arnold Air Society's fourth annual Military Ball March 9.

"Wings into the Blue" will be the theme of the ROTC extravaganza, with the armory taking on the look of an air-base with an all-blue ceiling with silver stars overhead and a silver "jet" decking the bandstand, according to Jack Combs, publicity chairman for the affair. Couples will enter through a field of clouds to the candle-lit dance.

Distinguished Guests

Many distinguished guests have been invited to the annual ball. Among these are Sen. and Mrs. William Jenner, Sen. and Mrs. Homer Capehart, Gov. and Mrs. George Craig, Congressman and Mrs. Winfield Denton, Mayor and Mrs. H. O. Roberts, and Acting President and Mrs. Dean Long.

Honorary Colonel

An honorary Cadet-Colonel will be chosen from a group of junior girls who have met the required qualifications and reeeived invitations from the Society. The selection will be made by the ROTC eorps and another name will be added to the illustrious list of Colonels. Previous girls to reeive the honor are Billy Jean Miller in 1952, Terry Elfrich in '53 and Diane Bentley last year.

Hot Toddy Man

Ralph Flanagan will start the music at 9 after the grand march and the crowning of the colonel. Flanagan made his rapid rise to fame with his recordings of "Hot Toddy" and "Singing Winds."

Tickets are priced at $4.00 and the dance is formal. However, to offset the cost of the ducats, the no-corsage plan will be observed. Alumni, friends of alumni, students and faculty are invited. Tickets will go on sale February 7 in the basement of the Union or from any ROTC cadet.

Schenk Accepts Position With Agriculture Department

Dr. Roy Schenk resigned from the college faculty last week to accept a position with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Peoria, Ill. An instructor of organic and quantitative analysis chemistry, he had been here since the beginning of the Fall quarter.

In his new job Dr. Schenk will be a chemist for the Northern Utilization Research Branch of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. He will take over this position February 7.

A native of Dale, Ind., Dr. Schenk has a B.S. from Purdue and an M.S. and Ph.D. from Cornell. He was a student assistant at the latter university and is an associate member of the American Society of Agronomy.

Forty-three Co-op At 18 Companies

Forty-three Evansville College students are doing co-operative work with 18 different companies this quarter, according to a statement given out by Mr. Edward Susat, director of co-operative training, this week.

EC's first students to receive co-operative training in business under the new plan set up last year are Edward Graening and Dwain Mann. Mr. Graening is with Evansville Chrysler and Mr. Mann is with Blue Cross, Blue Seal in Indianapolis.

Three engineering students, training with companies at the greatest distance from the campus are Roland McMaster, at the Naval Proving Grounds, Dalgren, Va.; and Thomas Jacobs and Donald Scott, who are working at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Bernard Smith and Ronald Reherman, working in Owensboro, are associated with gas companies that are new this year in the EC co-op program, Texas Gas Transmission and Western Kentucky Gas.

Learning engineering with Magnavox in Fort Wayne are Curron Cotton and William Krietemeyer. Charles Cullom and Ivan Farrell are in Indianapolis with the Link-Belt company.

Five students training with Potter-Brumfield, Princeton, are James Cox, Walter Folz, Robert Laubscher, George Parker and William Spradley.

Ten local companies are associated with the College in the co-operative engineering program. At present 27 students are working for them.

At Seeger are eight students: Carl Grabert, Jerry Hollis, James Holt, Rodney Katz, Charles Laubscher, Bill Oaks, Jeryl Schornhorst and Wayne Winternheimer.

Kenneth Grall, John Miller and John Thole are learning the practical side at International Harvester.

With Hoosier Cardinal are Dellas Graham, Robert McKenzie and Richard Tevault.

Two students, Clenneth Koch and Gordon Ralph, are working at Servel; and two others, Robert Schmidt and Donald Thomas, are at George Koch Sons.

Four are with the Chrysler Corporation. They are Ronald Hupfer, Glen Schriefer, John Thomas and Edward Reine.

Five companies have only one student working for them. Jerald Schenk is with Bucyrus-Erie, Charles Thompson with International Steel, Gus Wiesinger with Igleheart, Duane Powell with Shane Uniform and Richard Ettensohn with Faultless Caster.

Late News Breaks

Mr. Thomas Harding, College librarian, left Wednesday for Chicago, where he will attend the mid-winter meeting of the American Library association. The meeting will last until Saturday.

The Engineering Club will sponsor a field trip to the Texaco refinery at Lawrenceville next Wednesday, February 9. Anyone interested in going should contact Jack Posey, president of the club.

The Faculty Club will hold a dinner meeting tonight at 6 o'clock in the cafeteria. After a brief business meeting, Mr. Ralph Coleman, Mr. V. C. Bailey, and Mr. Guy Marchant will give a program.

Six Vie for Basketball Queen; Students Vote February 11

Anita Aders, Gwendolyn Williams, Shirley Dauble, Joan Bosse, Gerriann Frasier and Marylou Taylor survived the teams voting to become candidates for the 1955 Basketball Queen. Missing from the picture is Miss Taylor. Students will make the final decision on the queen next Friday.

Will be Crowned At DePauw Game

Six names will be listed on the ballot next Friday when students vote for the Basketball Queen of 1955. The candidates, chosen by the basketball team at a pep assembly sponsored by Alpha Omicron Pi last Friday include representatives from INCA, Ivy Leaf, Beta Sigma Omicron, AOPi, Chi Omega and Phi Mu.

The queen will be crowned Saturday night at the DePauw game in the Armory. Her court will include the other five candidates.

Shriley Dauble represents Beta Sig; Joan Bosse, AOPi; Anita Aders, Chi Omega; Mary Lou Taylor, Phi Mu; Gerriann Frasier, INCA, and Gwendolyn Williams, Ivy Leaf.

Miss Dauble, a freshman, is majoring in music education and is a pledge to the sorority she represents.

Miss Bosse is a junior, working towards a degree in secondary education. Treasurer of her organization, she is also chairman of the Social Life committee and a member of the Union Board and BAK.

Chi Omega's nominee, Miss Aders, is a sophomore, majoring in medical technology, a member of MSM, SCA, and has served on Union committees.

Representing Phi Mu, Miss Taylor is pledge trainer for her sorority. A junior, she is majoring in elementary education.

Miss Frasier, INCA, has served on Union Committees and helped plan Dad's Day. She is a sophomore, liberal arts major.

The Ivy Leaf candidate, Miss Williams, is a freshman majoring in biology.

Each sorority and INCA submitted three delegates for the basketball team to choose from. Other representatives included Susie Chenoweth and Carol Schoolfield, Beta Sig; Joanne Deneke and Joan Hamel, AOPi; Carolyn Conoway and Dell Patterson, Chi Omega; Phyllis Hachmeister and Dorothy Baggett, Phi Mu and Nancy Altheide and Nina Alexander, INCA.

Mater Dei Seniors to be Guests At Unions First High School Party

A party for almost 200 Mater Dei seniors next Thursday evening in the Great Hall of the Union building will open the annual series of parties for students at the eight local and Tri-State area high schools.

Under the direction of Chuck Calhoun, chairman, assisted by Anita Aders, a program of entertainment is being arranged for each of these affairs.

Emceeing the Mater Dei party will be Tom Lukens, with Gene Hollander, stage manager. The program will include a skit with Gerriann Frasier, Mary Ann Simrell, Connie Miller, Doug Barthlow, Jack Miller and Roger Garrett.

Comedy, Dance, Music

Mary Giovanetti will do dances and pantomimes; Hal Burckartt and Carolyn Kohl, a musical comedy routine; Carol Schoolfield, piano solos; Wendy Long, impersonation of Deacon Andy Griffith, and Louise Hobgood will direct the girls' dance band and vocals.

Seniors Tour Union

Committees making arrangements include tours, Buddy Watkins, chairman, Bob Ubelhor, Carl Powers and Doyle Ellis.

Elma Vogel is chairman of the refreshments committee, with Sara Warren, Bobbie Campbell, Harold Byers and Darlene Schillinger working with her.

Hosts and Hostesses

The host and hostess committee includes Lloyd Steele, John Ritter, John Conaway, Richard Egerton, Rod Tyring, Benita Horton, Greta Shaw, Nancy Altheide, Rosemary Mohr, Barbara Hulvershorn and Joan Anderson.

Those working as mixers with Barbara Wiseman and Don Groeninger, co-chairmen, are John Bennett, Robert Rickenbaugh and Eldon Katter.

Due to the limited facilities and funds the Union board has to work on, students other than those on the committees are asked not to attend these parties.

Chaperones for the party will be Dr. and Mrs. Leland Moon and Mr. and Mrs. James Julian.

Registration For Spring Begins February 14

Registration for Spring quarter, 1954-55, begins Monday, February 14, and continues through Friday, February 25, for students now enrolled, according to Mr. G. R. McCoy, registrar.

Students not currently enrolled in a regular college program will register Monday, March 14, for the spring quarter.

Appointments to arrange preliminary registration can be made with advisors and counselors after February 14.

Magnavox to Send Two For Senior Interviews

Two representatives from Magnavox company, Fort Wayne, will be on campus February 7 and 8 to interview seniors. At the same time they will interview freshmen who will be eligible to "co-op" next fall.

Any freshman interested in doing co-op work in electronics or business should contact Mr. Edward Susat, director of co-operative training. He will set up appointments for February 8.

Cabaret Dance Planned Tonight

An informal cabaret style sweater hop will be held in the Grill this evening from 8:30 to 11:30 according to Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Student Union.

The Union Finance committee headed by Jerry Neiswanger, chairman, and Mary Jane Nendel, vice chairman, is in charge of all arrangements for the stag or drag affair. Members of the committee who will assist with decorations, publicity and chaperones include Joan Bosse, Carolyn Conoway, Jerriann Frazier, Nealie Moman and Paul O'Dell.

Jerry Schneider and his combo will privide music for dancing by candlelight. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heater will chaperone.

Building Today for Tomorrow

Next Sunday will mark the opening of a week's observance honoring the 45th anniversary of Boy Scouting in America. Sunday has been designated as Scout Sunday, the day Scouts and leaders all over the country will attend religious services in uniform.

The theme for this celebration is "Building for a Better Tomorrow." Throughout the week we will be reminded of the good and wonderful times Scouting brings to boys. Those of us who have been Scouts can readily appreciate the memories provided by camp-outs, hikes and other Scout activities. But actually it is not until we have looked back on those Scout days that we appreciate that one of the most important things Scouting gave us was the strengthening of our character and building of attitudes in our daily strivings.

Rarely will a Boy Scout be found in the list of delinquents or criminals. The training he is given during his period as a Scout should teach him good will and respect for his fellow man.

With thoughts of its worthiness we bid a happy birthday to a movement which builds boys rather than mends men. May the success of the Boy Scouts be never ending. (K.C.)

Peace or Pieces

Those who read last Sunday's "Parade" magazine may have received quite a shock from the article on atomic weapons.

One of the most controversial features of these nuclear explosions seems to be the so-called fallout, a huge radioactive cloud which travels from the test sites in the air over us. The amount of radioactive particles in most cases is nil, but during the recent H-bomb blast the fallout was so great that our top scientists had underestimated it, and injuries resulted from this.

The article also raised the question of future human mutants due to this increasing of radiation in the atmosphere around us. Will these nuclear tests of today be the killer of tomorrow? A great deal of undue alarm may be created by this article since even the great minds of our age do not agree upon the deadliness of these explosions and the resultant fallout.

Many persons have been heard to ask if this would be "the fire and destruction with which the Lord will destroy the earth." There is no answer, but exponents of the nuclear age have told of the tremendous possibilities for the use of atomic power.

We only hope that when decisions are made on the use of nuclear weapons that the future as well as present situations will be considered. If it is discovered that these explosions are building up a killer of the future, then we must strive for international control of these nuclear materials, for any further exploitation of the explosive force of these bombs could, in time, annihilate the human race. As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

It is hard sometimes to write a column like this. There are days that you just don't seem to be able to get anything without stealing it. You assume everyone reads the daily paper and the Sunday one, too.

Then you can decide to do something very opinionated. You look around. "Uncle Joe" hasn't done anything since the election clipped his wings — nothing there. You see where Ike and Mamie failed to invite "Uncle Joe" and his wife to a couple of dinners in the White House. The gal that schedules all the socializings for the First Couple, when asked why the irksome Senator and spouse were omitted from the list, said that the President and wife didn't want them. So you can write a couple of lines about that. A mere drop in the type when you need 550 words.

You see on the sports page where there is going to be a Gus Doerner Appreciation Night at the Armory this month. Everyone knows who Gus is and what he was around E.C. They all know he was injured in a car wreck recently. You still need many words.

You notice a funny thing. Seems that the car used by Gus Gerbitz, a third leg in the oldest triangle in the world, was found in Hopkinsville. Nothing very newsworthy about that. Course, Gus is being hunted by the police for questioning. Everyone has heard about that too. Now if a person wanted to get sarcastic he could write something like this: What's with the police. There was a tracer put out on the car. It had its original license plates on. It was last seen in Sturgis, Ky., not too far from Hopkinsville. The strange thing is — some guy had to call the police about moving the car that had been parked on this street for about two months. It would appear to be apropos to say something about the value of Seeing Eye Dogs at this point.

Item: City Comptroller Charles Oxley suggests that the new sports-center be named "Roberts Memorial Stadium." Under the law that covers getting the cash to build the stadium, it must be dedicated as a war memorial. Heretofore there have been fire trucks named after mayors. Hank just happened to be the one in at the time this deal was swung. Maybe some credit should go to him. Personally, I think it should be named after a war hero. How about the first man from the county who was killed in WW-II or better still — the first one killed in the cops-and-robbers scramble in Korea.

Item: The AEC announces that a new super-superbomb is on the way. Now this new "mother of a mushroom cloud" will tote the power of 60,000,000 tons of TNT. Do you realize that this would be 120,000,000,000 pounds of high explosive? Can you top this?

Item: Of the 502 bills introduced in the Indiana General Assembly up to a week ago yesterday, 156 would increase the cost of government.

It appears that the K-Vets bonus is lost. The legislators are almost sure to knock it down if it is ever brought up for a vote. To use the words of Will Rogers back when the WW-I Vets mached on Washington — "Now if a man is against it (Bonus, 1cb) why don't he at least come out and tell the truth. 'I don't want to spare the money to pay you boys.' I think the best insurance in the world against another war is to take care of the boys who fought in the last one. YOU MAY WANT TO USE THEM AGAIN." Will wrote that after WW-I. Some of those Vets were used again in WW-II. And many of the WW-II Vets were cops in the Police Action. He had the right idea.

The end.

In The Mailbox

Dear Editor:

Having read your short editorial, "Thanks — 1960," I see that perhaps The Crescent has slipped back into the old groove. Namely, the parking lot reviews.

True, there is a lot that needs to be done but I am one of the few who are of the opinion the parking situation is pretty good. One trip downtown would soon cure students from griping about our parking lot.

Perhaps to gain needed improvements why not put a service fee on campus parking, paid for by those students who use the parking area. The money collected could be channeled back into a fund to keep the area in repair.

Just a suggestion and again may I say I don't feel the parking situation is as bad as everyone thinks.

Sincerely,

Satisfied Senior

At last week's meeting of the Publications Committee with representatives of the sororities concerned in the Revlon Bowl, it was agreed that there would be no sorority competition in the football game for the next Homecoming. All of the sororities felt they would be willing to participate in some other sport at Homecoming, but they could not decide what that sport would be.

The Administrative Board, in agreement with the Fine Arts Committee, has allocated three hundred dollars to the College Theatre from the funds originally for debate. This leaves approximately eighty dollars in the debate fund for the balance of this year, which the committee felt they would need to initiate an on-campus debate program. The College Theatre plans to use the money to purchase some much needed stage and lighting equipment.

The fourth meeting of the President's Roundtable was held last night in the cafeteria. The Roundtable discussed a campus social calendar and again the idea of Evansville joining NSA. Miss Kirk, director of the Student Union, sat in on portions of the meeting to answer questions concerning the present calendar and to present her views on the matter.

Acacias Entertain Sigma Phi Epsilon At Party Saturday

Last Saturday, Acacia fraternity entertained Sigma Phi Epsilon at an informal party in the Acacia house. The party was given to help members of the two organizations and their dates get acquainted.

Dancing to recorded music furnished entertainment for the evening, and refreshments, in the form of hors d'oeuvres and soft drinks, were served.

Acting as chaperons were Dr. and Mrs. Norman Long and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richards. Plans for the party were formulated and carried out under the direction of Wally Rogers, junior dean of the Acacias.

According to Mr. Rogers, Saturday's "get aequainted" party was also a sort of farewell to Dudley Johnson, Acacia traveling secretary, who left Evansville at the beginning of the week to work out some problems at the Indiana university chapter of the fraternity.

Phi Mu Alpha Presents Record Albums To College Music Department Library

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia fraternity has added $200 worth of records, the largest single donation to date, to the library of the music department.

When members of Phi Mu decided last October to make the gift to the school, each music professor was asked to make a list of the records he felt would best fill his needs for both teaching and recreation purposes.

After lists were completed, a selection committee, composed of William Puckett, Jack Schernekau, Duane Pemberton and Gene Agee, went to work compiling them and choosing the records most in demand. The albums which they approved for purchase include band, orchestra, solo and ensemble vocal selections. All the music is in a classic vein, some of it from contemporary composers, some from the old masters.

John Koehler, president of the fraternity, made the presentation and Mr. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department, accepted in behalf of the school.

Funds to purchase the records were taken from the receipts of the Phi Mu Alpha dance band which plays for local social functions. Dwayne Scott directs the band.

Organized on the Evansville campus in 1951, Phi Mu Alpha is a national music fraternity which has chapters on major campuses throughout the country. Although the local organization has just celebrated its fourth birthday and is the youngest chapter in Indiana, it has the distinction of having won the Charles E. Lutton Province Merit Award last year. This award is given to the group deemed to have the best chapter in the state.

John Koehler, president of Phi Mu Alpha fraternity, and Mr. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department, look over a portion of the records that the fraternity presented to the library of the music department.

Women's Council Initiates Plans For Annual Dinner

The Women's Council initiated plans for its annual Recognition Dinner during a meeting last Tuesday. Shirley Orth has been appointed to make preliminary arrangements for the affair which will take place at the end of March.

Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, explained that the Council gives a dinner each year to honor outstanding women on campus. Most of the money allotted to the Women's Council from activity fees is used for this event.

Mrs. Stephens said that about 35 women students are chosen to be invited to the dinner each year and that they are, for the most part, upperclassmen. A few, however, are selected from each class.

Further plans for the dinner will be made at future meetings of the Council.

Heim to Present Faculty Recital On February 8

Clarinetist Norman Heim will present a recital, fifth in the faculty series, in the Great Hall of the Union building, Tuesday, February 8, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Heim, instructor of clarinet, has been with the college since 1953. A graduate of Evansville College, he also studied at Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester, New York.

A feature of the program will be the "Trio for Clarinet, Violin and Piano" by Milhand, with Mrs. Mamie Dufford at the piano and Mr. William Nation playing the violin. Both are faculty members in the music department.

Other selections on the program include "Fantasy Pieces" by Gade, "Sonata" by Setaccioli, "Introduction and Dance" by Tomasi, "Andante El Scherzo" by Gennaro.

Mrs. Dufford will accompany the soloist throughout the program.

A reception will be held in the lounge of the Union building following the recital.

Senior Interview Date Set Back

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company has changed the date on which it will send a representative to Evansville College to interview seniors for potential positions from February 22 to March 3. The former date was announced in last week's Crescent.

On March 3, the firm will have a group meeting, as planned, and will make appointments for interviews from it.

Companies sending representatives for interviews next week are Magnavox on Monday, February 7, and Naval Ordnance of Maryland on Wednesday, February 9.

Tbis week's column was written by Miss Gertrude Leich, professor of modern languages and faculty sponsor for the Newman Club.

What do you do on Wednesday mornings at 10?

It seems that many Catholic students are unaware that this 35-minute period has been designated as Chapel for students and faculty members on a voluntary basis. The Administration has granted Catholic students the privilege of meeting at the same hour with their own chaplain in Classroom Building-101 for spiritual guidance, instruction and discussion of religious educational topics.

You may not know that this replaces the compulsory chapel attendance required of all students a few years ago. All Catholic students on campus should attend this instruction period which is intended to foster their spiritual, intellectual and social interests.

On more than 500 U.S. and Canadian secular college and university campuses, Catholic students have formed Newman Clubs (named for Cardinal Newman, 19th century scholar). These clubs are organized to "deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal lives of members through a balanced program of religious, intellectual and social activities; to weld the Catholic students into a common union; and to assist the college and its students whenever possible" — Newman Club By-Laws.

Evansville College, like Purdue, Indiana, Ball State, etc., has a Newman Club for you.

Any Catholic student may become an active member of the Newman Club for a small sum (guaranteed not to destroy his budget) and thus participate in many activities beyond the Wednesday 10 o'clock religious education meeting.

This organization represents your Church and your faith on this campus. Its program includes Communion Breakfasts, Palm Sunday Retreat, social gatherings and occasional talks by visiting members of the clergy or prominent Catholic laymen. The Newman Club also maintains a library collection of Catholic literature and reference books kept in the Study Room in the Administration building for the use of the entire student body and faculty.

There are many benefits awaiting you when you participate in the activities mentioned above. You can postpone that 10 o'clock snack or do that assignment at another time — it's just a matter of timing.

BAK to Hear Local Broker

Next Monday, February 7, Mr. Arthur Beckerle will speak to BAK members at their regular 10 o'clock meeting. Mr. Beckerle, who has been associated with the Thomson and McKinnon agency since 1929, will discuss stocks and bonds.

BAK meets every Monday during the school term. On alternate wecks these gatherings feature talks by Evansville businessmen.

Speaker at the January 24 meeting was James Kelly, former professor of accounting at Evansville College. Mr. Kelly, who is now with the Commonwealth Life Insurance Company, gave an analysis of the various types of life insurance.

BAK is an organization made up of business majors. Officers are: Warner Glenn Norrick, president; Ralph Deffendall, vice-president; Shirley Ermert, secretary; and Edward Marting, treasurer. Mr. Richard Robinson, assistant professor of management, is faculty sponsor of the club.

Hillyard Directs Accordian Recital

Don Hillyard, Evansville College sophomore, directed 25 students of the Washington, Indiana Accordion Band in its first recital last Monday evening in Washington.

Mr. Hillyard, an elementary education major, has been teaching the group for four years.

Semi-classical in nature, the program also included popular numbers such as "Star Dust," "Mr. Sandman" and "Winter Wonderland." The hour and fifteen minute program included group numbers and individual performances.

The troupe has been asked to play at the Indiana State Fair at Indianapolis in September.

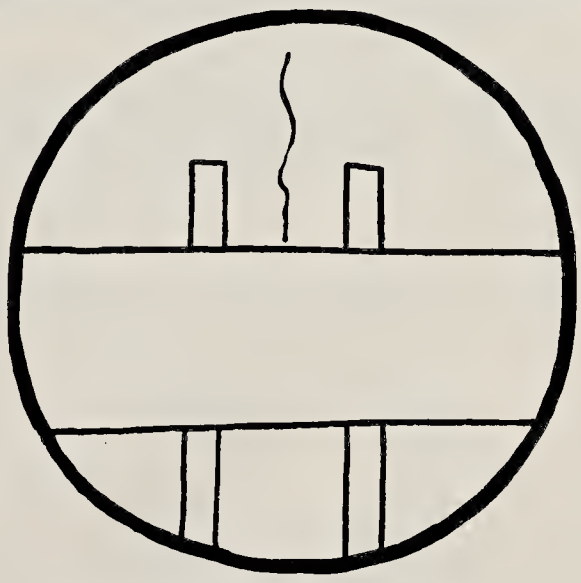
ALL NEW! LUCKY DROODLES!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.



A STUDENT'S BEST FRIEND is Lucky Strike. At any rate, the greatest, up-to-datest college survey shows that college smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Luckies taste better anywhere, any time, as illustrated in the Droodle above, titled: Skier enjoying Lucky while whooshing under bridge. Next time you make tracks to a cigarette counter, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Lucky Droodles* are pouring in! Where are yours? We pay $25 for all we use, and for many we don't use. So send every original Droodle in your noodle, with its descriptive title, to Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y.

Evansville Stops Butler; Trail Valpo in Conference

Evansville's jet-propelled Aces went into a tailspin in the first half, but righted their sturdy craft in the second half defeating the Butler Bulldogs, 83-75, and move into the undisputed second place slot in the ICC.

The Aces couldn't maneuver against the inspired visitors until the second half when Frank Healy and John Harrawood took over the Purple and White reins which had rested in the clutches of Jerry Clayton in the first half. Clayton kept the Aces alive in the first half with 23 points as the Evansville team trailed, 42-38. He finished with 32.

But it was Harrawood and Healy who came through in the second half to lift the Aces to a 48-46 advantage and they were never headed again. Wally Cox gave the Aces a rough time with 20 tallies.

Aces Play Two Tilts Away; Meet Bears, Panthers

By Larry Sanders

Evansville College's Purple Aces won't be erossing any bridges until they come to them, but that will be soon enough when the Aces cross the Mississippi tomorrow night to meet Washington of St. Louis. Then on Thursday night the Aces must ford the Ohio to battle Kentucky Wesleyan at the Sportscenter in Owensboro. The Aces have, however, beaten both teams in previous meetings this year.

Three weeks ago the Purples tripped the St. Louis Bears, 74-60, and eight days later tripped up the Panthers, 82-70. Both contests were played on the Armory floer. Jerry Clayton led the Evansville assault in the first contest with 28, and the Aces featured their best balanced attack of the year in the Wesleyan game with Roscoe Bivin getting 17, Harrawood, 16; Clayton, 16; Frank Healy, 16; and Bob Walker, 10.

Deliberate Style

Coach Blair Gullion will probably use the same kind of offense tomorrow night that hobbled the Aces through most of the first half of the Washington game. This type of offense enables the Bears to control the ball and their opponents must play slowly also. The Aces became accustomed to the slow style in the second half of the first meeting and reversed the tables on the invaders.

Bill Gullion, 6-4 center and son of Coach Gullion, led the Bears at Evansville with 18 points and guard Denny Barber hit 12.

Bears Lead Series

Washington leads in the rivalry which developed in the 1953-54 season by winning the first two encounters, 74-62, at St. Louis, and 79-71, here. Coach Arad McCutchan's boys realize a slight height advantage over the Bruins, but the St. Louis squad will be tsronger on their own floor and Gullion has his team in fine shape. James Barton leads the Bears in scoring and Ed Diamond, an all-Missouri high school cager, will be ready for action. Diamond had been on crutches for three weeks before the Evansville game and saw little aetion at the Armory.

Aces Face Panthers

Kentueky Wesleyan entertains the Aces on Thursday and this contest shapes up as a real battle. Even though the Panthers fell before the well-balanced Ace attack in their previous meeting they figure to give their guests all they can handle. Both teams are tied in the series record with three wins each.

In the recent All-American City Tourney at the Sportscenter the Wesleyan group racked up 100 points but still lost to Rhode Island university, 108-100. The Evansville squad saw their old tourney record of 107 fall before the Rhode Island barrage, but the Aces came back to write a new record against that same Rhode Island team with a tantalizing 115-85 win.

Scoring Giants Meet

An interesting sidelight on the Thursday meeting will be the battle between the holders of the single-game scoring records of both schools. Joe Roop, Wesleyan's 6-4 forward, and Evansville's Jerry Clayton will match talents. Roop set the Wesleyan record with 38 points as the Panthers beat Union, 103-93. Clayton set Gussie Doerner's 13-year-old mark of 34 when he crammed in 35 tallies against Ball State January 8.

WITH THE ACES out of town tomorrow night the basketball action on the home front will be relatively quiet so let's take a quick glance at some of the happenings around the bat and ball circuit.

IT SEEMS THAT the old eight team limit in the American League may finally be broken in the near future. Frank Lane, Chicago White Sox general manager, and his four-man committee listened to a report on some possible additions to the junior circuit by Bill Veeck, who is currently in the employ of Chicago Cub owner Phil Wrigley, last week. The committee refuses to make any definite statement on the chances of a ten team league other than the fact that they are keeping an open mind on the subject. The National league has abandoned any idea of enlarging their circuit.

WILLIE MAYS, who seems to be getting more headlines than the bombing of Pearl Harbor did in '41, continued on his merry way at the annual Baseball Writers' Dinner last Sunday night. If he doesn't make those heads by batting, fielding or fighting, he makes them as a speaker. How can you beat a guy like that?

MARTY MARION, manager of the Chicago White Sox, has flatly declared that his team will win the 1955 Amercian League pennant. He feels that with his added power in the line-up and a stronger bench, his "Pale Hose" will beat out the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees, a tough job in any league.

CATCHERS YOGI BERRA, Roy Campanella and Wes Westrum are crying the blues due to the new rule limiting the size of the catcher's box from 16 feet to 43 inches. It seems all three are wondering where they will go when they eall for a pitchout or an intentional pass. They are all anticipating a few more choice words with the umpires this spring due to the new rule and none of the three can figure out the reasoning behind the new ruling. As Roy Campanella put it, "Man is that gonna cause some arguments."

GOING FROM HORSEHIDE to pigskin, congratulations to Bob Scott on being drafted — by the Chicago Cardinals, that is. If attitude is any determination of a good player Scotty will rate with the best of them in the Cardinal camp.

COACH ARAD McCUTCHAN's Aces will travel to St. Louis tomorrow to play a return engagement with Washington University. The Aces defeated Washington at the Armory earlier, playing the Bears' own game, 74-60, and should rate as the favorite again tomorrow now that the reserves are again on their side. As one fan remarked after the game last Saturday, "Now that Paul Beck has had a taste of Don Ping's job, it looks like he wants McCutchan's."

Bob Scott Drafted By Chicago Cards

Bob Scott, who was drafted by the Chicago Cardinals last Friday, signed his contract with the pro grid team Tuesday in his home. Scott inked the contract for an undisclosed amount of money, and he reports that he will enter the Cardinals' training camp in late July.

Scott

A Cardinal representative arrived in Evansville last Tuesday with Bob's contract and the pact was promptly made with the representative giving Scott much encouragement. Scott said that he was drafted as a linebacker with that spot being wide open in he Cardinal camp. Also Bob may get a chance to display his kicking prowess in the pro ranks.

Scott, who is a Marine veteran, said that this may add to his possibilities because of the elimination of any possible military duty.

Two thousand players were eligible for the professional draft, with Bob, who began his football career at Vincennes High School, being named among the 361 players chosen for the "big time" in football.

At the present time the husky lineman is staying in tip-top condition by working out three times a week.

Scott captained the 1954 Evansville College squad. He was named the outstanding lineman in the ICC and was named to several All-American selections.

Jensen Shoots 65; Billiards Tourney Enters Final Week

Jim Jensen, senior, set the record for the current billiards tourney last week with a 65 while moving into the final four of the Evansville College Pocket Billiards Tourney.

Jensen had advanced to the final eight by posting two scores of 51. Then he really got hot in sinking Dave Luckett, 65-30. Either Tom Habbe or Everette Wilson will face Jensen in the semi-final match and Bill Lockard will meet the winner of the Bob Payne-Bill Madden game. Lockard advanced to the final four with a win over George Dockery, 44-25. His three-game tally now stands at 59-51-44.

The finals are slated for February 14, but many of the participants have been unable to run off their matches and a longer time may be allotted to some of the players. Others who have failed to complete their games in the specified time have forfeited their games, but as the field shrinks there have been some exceptions made.

The winner and the runner-up in the tourney will receive trophies. Also the top eight players — based on scores — will compete for a position on a three-man team for the national firing in the pocket billiard tourney. The other finalists will also receive an award.

The national tourney will be conducted on a regional set-up. The different college winners will be assigned to their respective regional sites and then they will advance to the finals. The finals are planned for the Michigan state campus.

John Massey, last year's winner, withdrew from the tourney last week.

Pledge Dance Set For February 18

Friday, February 18, has been set as the tentative date for the winter quarter pledge dance, open to pledges of all men's and women's fraternities on the Evansville College campus.

The dance will be held in the Great Hall of the Union building and it will be an informal affair. Beginning at 8 p.m., it will continue until 12 midnight. Admission is expected to be $1.50 per couple, depending on the final estimate of costs for the dance.

One person in each couple must be a pledge to one of the eight EC organizations, according to the committee, and it is preferred that both be pledges.

Both fraternities and sororities are urging pledges to confine their dates for the dance to Evansville College students. Arrangements have not yet been completed for a band.

ChiO's, Beta Sigs To Be Phi Zeta Guests Saturday

Chi Omega and Beta Sigma Omicron sororities will join with the Phi Zeta fraternity for a party tomorrow night at the Servel Gun Club. The party will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The party will include a snack, entertainment and dancing to recorded music. Entertainment will be supplied by Phi Zeta pledges. Willie Kohlmeyer, sophomore, is chairman of the party committee for Phi Zetas.

New Art Exhibit Goes Up Today In Union Building

A collection of drawings, watercolors, textile designs and several children's books with illustrations by Margot Hartmetz will go up today for a two-week showing at the art gallery of the Union.

Margot Hartmetz is the professional name of Mrs. Gustav Wachwitz, a free lance artist from Stuttgart, Germany, who is visiting in Evansville.

The drawings included in the exhibit are all on loan from individual Evansville art collectors for this special showing.

Mrs. Wachwitz studied art for five years in Berlin, Stuttgart, Munich and Nuernberg. She has done illustrations for several books, mainly children's literature, and commercial art work. At present she is doing sketches for a German magazine series, "Fashion Through the Years."

WP, WF Marks Issued After Today's Classes

Tomorrow is the last day a course can be dropped without receiving a WP or WF mark, according to an announcement posted by Everette Walker, student personnel director.

In order to drop a subject, a student must have the consent of his advisor or Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college. After the first seven weeks of a quarter, the student's record is indicated by a WP (withdrew passing) or a WF (withdrew failing) should he decide to drop the course.

High School Musicians To Vie For Honors Here Tomorrow

Evansville College will be host tomorrow for the annual District Solo and Ensemble eontest. Approximately 1200 students from 30 elementary and high sehools all over the Tri-State will eompete in elasses for medals and eritieisms in an effort to win first division rating.

Students who achieve a Division I rating are eligible for the state eontest in Indianapolis on February 19.

Eight hundred and fourteen solo and ensemble groups, both instrumental and vocal, will be divided into five classes, A, B, C, CC, D, with each school placed in one of these divisions according to size.

Fourteen judges have been appointed by the Central and Southern Indiana Band, Orchestra and Vocal Association from the city and surrounding area. They will rate the contestants, vocalists and instrumentalists according to a point system.

Judging woodwinds are Charles Nessler, Henry Gulick, Ray Hauser, Charles Henley and Norman Heim. Charles Hendrickson, Logan Turrentine, Norman Brown and Charles Loomis will judge the brass instruments. Strings will be judged by William Nation and voice by Cecil Selfridge and Genevieve Erickson; Ralph Waterman and Allene Herron, piano.

Iowa Educator Named to Presidency

Dr. Charles Johnson to Speak At Sunday Vesper Service

Dr. Charles S. Johnson, president of Fisk university at Nashville, Tenn., will speak on "The Maturing of Our Democracy" at the fourth of the College Vesper series Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Great Hall of the Union.

Acting President Dean Long will preside at the service and introduce the speaker. Dr. Harris Erickson, professor of philosophy and religion, will give the prayer, and the Rev. Ford Gibson, Alexander Chapel, will read the scripture.

Founder of Journal

The Vespers speaker is the founder of "Opportunity," a journal of Negro life, which he edited until 1929. He has written 18 volumes on the Negro, race relations, Southern problems and education.

Prior to becoming president of Fisk university in 1946, Dr. Johnson served 18 years as head of the Department of Social Sciences at the university. He holds the degree of doctor of letters from Columbia university and the doctor of laws from Harvard university.

Honorary Degree

A noted educator, Dr. Johnson received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the University of Glasgow in Scotland, the first honorary degree conferred by this 500-year-old university on an American Negro.

Dr. Johnson was a member of the American Commission of 20 educators sent to Japan in 1946 at the request of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to advise on the reorganization of the educational system of that country. He was appointed in 1946 as one of the 10 United States delegates to the first session of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in Paris and to the second session in Mexico City in 1947.

He has been a member of the Executive Committee of the United States National Commission for UNESCO, the President's Board of Foreign Scholarships under the Fulbright Act, the White House Conference on Children in Democracy, and consultant on minority problems for the Children's Bureau.

Special music for the Vespers will be presented by the Chapel choir.

Coffee Hour

A coffee hour will be held in the Lounge following the service. Myra Kasey, chairman of the social committee, has named Shirley Witte chairman for the event. Assisting her are Joan McGraw, Dodie Martin, Ruth Ann Smith and JoAnne Frohmieter.

Ron Porter Named New INCA President

Ron Porter has been named president of the Independent Campus Association. He succeeds Robert Hawkins, who officially resigned at the February 4 meeting.

Mr. Porter, a sophomore, is a biology major and is interested in veterinarian work. Business manager for The Crescent, he previously held the office of vice president in INCA.

Roundtable Votes To Join USNSA

Student representatives voted unanimously to join the United States National Student Association at the February 3 meeting of the President's Roundtable. The Administrative board approved this action the following day.

The advantages of being a member of this organization had been explained to the group at a previous meeting by Ann Beckner, a student at Denison university and regional chairman of the USNSA.

Handbooks on methods of improving local campus government, bulletins and other publications are furnished student government groups by national headquarters, she said.

Also, the college may send delegates to national and regional conferences where campus government problems are discussed and solutions considered, she explained.

Bill Steier, current SGA president, who was an observer at last year's national conference, told the group that he feels that active participation in these conferences will help EC sudent government to function more effectively.

Evansville will become the 10th member of the Indiana-Ohio region.

Assembly for Selecting ROTC 'Cadet Colonel' Planned Next Friday

The Honorary Cadet Colonel of the College ROTC wing will be selected at a special assembly Friday, February 18, in the Great Hall of the Union building at 10 a.m.

All cadets are required to attend the assembly, and all girls eligible to receive the title of honorary cadet colonel are asked to be in the Union building as close to 10 a.m. as possible.

The Honorary Cadet Colonel will not be named until March 9, when she will reign over the Military Ball at the Armory.

Tickets for the Military Ball are on sale now and may be purchased from any ROTC cadet.

Religious Leader to Speak At Tuesday Convocation

Rabbi Martin Ryback will be guest speaker at two Evansville College meetings next week. He will speak at the regular Tuesday morning freshman convocation and again at the chapel service Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

Wednesday noon, Rabbi Ryback will have luncheon with students and faculty members in the Union. He will also be available for personal conferences in the afternoon.

At the present time Rabbi Ryback is spiritual leader of the Washington Avenue temple. Prior to this post, he occupied pulpits in Ohio, Wisconsin and Nassau county, New York.

A native of New York, he was graduated from New York university. In 1949, he was ordained at Hebrew Union college in Cincinnati.

89 Cadets Receive Promotions; Four Named Lieutenant Colonel

Students Vote Today For Basketball Queen

The 1955 Basketball Queen will be elected today following the candidates' appearance at the pep assembly this morning. Students may vote for one of the six between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the lobby of the Union.

The queen will be crowned between halves at the DePauw game tomorrow night in the Armory. Her court will include the other five candidates and four representatives from each sorority.

Chosen by the basketball team in the assembly last Friday, the aspirants include a representative from each sorority and INCA. Shirley Dauble represents Beta Sigma Omicron; Joan Bosse, Alpha Omicron Pi; Anita Aders, Chi Omega; Mary Lou Taylor, Phi Mu; Gwendolyn Williams, Ivy Leaf and Gerriann Frasier, INCA.

"Slash the Sack," an original quiz program, will be presented by the Student Christian Association at the assembly. Bob Rundell will serve as emcee for the show. Contestants chosen, or drafted from the audience will be required to answer questions or pay a forfeit. Prizes will be awarded for correct answers.

Louise Hobgood will sing and play the ukelele and Carol Schoolfield will imitate Liberace. A surprise crowning of undisclosed nature will also take place during the assembly.

Drake Official Plans Campus Visit March 14

Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, named to the presidency of Evansville College at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees Monday, has been asked to assume his duties April 1, according to Acting President Dean Long.

Whether or not he will be able to do this depends on what arrangements he can make with Drake university, where he is currently serving as assistant president, Professor Long pointed out. The new college head expects to be on eampus March 14, however, to attend the faculty-trustee dinner.

Unanimous Choiee

Dr. Hyde was the unanimous choice of the board to fill the position left vaeant last June by Dr. Lincoln B. Hale. Dr. Hale resigned to beeome head of the State Department's eeonomic mission to Israel.

A native of Hazel, S.D., the 50-year-old educator received his bachelor of seienee degree from Dakota Wesleyan in 1926, his masters from Columbia in 1930 and the doetor of philosophy in the field of college administration, from Columbia also, in 1932.

Previous Positions

Dr. Hyde has been at the Des Moines, Iowa, institution since 1949. Previously he was dean of the college at Dakota Wesleyan university, from 1932 to 1936, and held the same position at Mt. Union eollege in Alliance, Ohio, from 1936 until he went to Drake.

His entire career has been in the field of education and includes such positions as official examiner for the North Central association for 12 years and viee president of the Dean's association of the North Central group.

A eontributor to many magazines, he is the author of a book, "Standards for Public Relations Programs in Colleges and Universities."

Active in Church Work

Dr. Hyde and his wife, Claudia, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, have both been active in the Grace Methodist church in Des Moines. He served as ehairman of the Finance eommittee for three years and was chairman of the Building committee. Dr. Hyde is also president of the Drake-Des Moines Symphony orchestra.

The Hydes have two children, James Stewart, 23, and Joanne Marie, 21, a senior at Drake.

Professor Long, who has been acting president of the college sinee last June, will return to his position as vice president of the College and director of adult education.

Placement Bureau Head To Speak to Seniors

Dr. Everette Walker, head of the college placement bureau, will discuss "What credentials seniors should leave with the placement bureau," Thursday, February 17, at 10 o'clock in the club room of the Union building. BAK will sponsor the meeting.

Dr. Walker will explain what the college does for the senior through the placement bureau and what seniors need to do to get a job. The placement bureau not only helps graduating seniors, but also helps graduates to get better jobs in later years, he said.

Graduates can always write back and get credentials from the office, or they can use the bureau as reference.

On February 24, BAK will sponsor another senior guidance meeting at which time an executive from IBM will discuss interviews.

Happy Birthday 'Abe'

Tomorrow the nation will celebrate the birthday of one of the best known men of all time. Exactly 146 years ago, the person who in later years steered the country through one of its most perilous eras, was born.

This great man was well known in this area for it was here that he was reared. He went from the humble life of the area to the highest office of the land, that of President, taking with him a humble manner and congenial personality. He became one of the most controversial figures of his time and even today controversy reigns over much of his life. Even the manner and causes of his assassination have been placed under the spotlight of a recent investigation.

Regardless of this controversy, nothing can dim the importance of his accomplishments while in office. The Gettysburg Address, the Emancipation Proclamation and many other public addresses will be remembered forever.

Happy birthday, Abraham Lincoln. If we only had more men today with the courage and conviction which you must have had to made the decisions you did! (KC)

Brotherhood Week

With the approaching observance of Brotherhood Week, we have scanned very skeptically the brotherhood of the past few years and feel that the need for true brotherhood is still urgent.

Although a great deal has been done, there is still room for many improvements. We think that in most discussions on brotherhood too much is placed on the mortal rather than the spiritual and Jesus Christ.

Edwin Markham expressed this feeling in his poem, "If He Should Come."

If Jesus should tramp the streets tonight,
  Storm-beaten and hungry for bread,
Seeking a room and a candle light
  And a clean, though humble bed,
Who would welcome the workman in,
  Though he came with panting breath,
His hands all bruised and his garments thin—
  This workman from Nazareth?

Would rich folk hurry to bind his bruise
  And shelter his stricken form?
  Would they take God in with his muddy shoes
  Out of the pitiless storm?
Are they not too busy wreathing their flowers
  Or heaping their golden store—
Too busy chasing the bubble hours
  For the poor man's God at the door?

And if he should come where churchmen bow,
  Forgetting the greater sin,
Would he pause with a light on his wounded brow,
  Would he turn and enter in?
And what would he think of their creeds so dim,
  Of the weak uplifted hands,
Of their selfish prayers going up to him
Out of a thousand lands?

Rather cynical some may say, but what would be the case if Jesus returned and gazed upon the many prejudices which still prevail today. May we again acknowledge the great amount of work that has and still is being done? But in the next breath let us think of all that is still to be done. (K. C.)

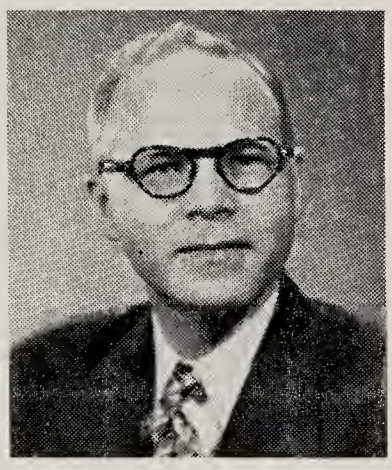
Halversen Added To Chemistry Staff

If you've asked what's new around the chemistry department lately, chances are the answer you got was, "Professor Halversen."

Prof. Roy Halversen became an active member of the Evansville College faculty February 1, when he took over the job of teaching analytical chemistry. Prior to accepting this position he was in private development work in Dearborn, Mich.

Born and reared in Manitowoc, Wis., Professor Halversen was graduated from State Teachers college in Oshkosh. He has a master's degree from the University of Minnesota and has completed course work on a Ph.D.

After his graduation from Minnesota the new chemistry instructor taught advanced courses in a vocational and secondary school in Niagara, Wis. From 1940-1945 he was with the Case Institute of Technology in Cincinnati.



During World War II he did consultant work in industry in addition to teaching. He also gave a paper at the national convention of the American Chemical Society in Cincinnati.

In 1945 Mr. Halversen went into business, developing chemical processes. As a result of his work he has made 12 patent applications. Some of them are under consideration by prominent manufacturers and a research foundation, he said.

Professor Halversen is married and has a daughter who is 11. His family plans to remain in Dearborn until the end of the school term.

The fourth meeting of the President's Rountable approved unanimously a motion recommending that Evansville College join the National Student Association. The Administrative Board approved last Friday, and all that remains is the filing of the necessary forms. The twenty-five dollar annual national dues and the twelve-dollar annual regional dues will be paid from the Student Government fund.

A course evaluation program for Evansville was also discussed at this meeting and will be further explained at the next meeting. The progam would consist of questionnaires, handed out by the instructor, on which the student would be given a chance to rate the course and how effective he considered it. A joint student-faculty committee will be set up to work over the possibilities of starting such a program at Evansville.

The polling booth for election of Basketball Queen will be manned by representatives of the organizations involved. The votes will be counted by Student Government officers Friday afternoon and the results announced at the Depauw game, Saturday night.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Looks like some of the local solons have their necks in nooses. Way back when they were talking to get elected, they said that they were in favor of the Home Rule Bill. Now that this bill is coming up for a vote, they suddenly say they are against it.

A couple of groups from E'ville remembered the statements the solons forgot. These groups are now questioning the legislators' actions.

Making promises is nothing new to politicians. Breaking promises isn't, either. Generally the voting public forgets. More power to the groups that are going to make the politicoes eat their words.

I think that politics is one of the lousiest rackets that a person can get in. If you are honest, sincere and truthful, you starve while you are in and mighty lucky if you get there a second time. To get re-elected you must cater to the party bosses and ignore the voting public.

Political parties are a must — so they tell me. But, I wonder, how many of the parties are interested in the welfare of the people, of the nation? Each politician, and there are very few exceptions, is after one of several things. First he can look to enlarge his material wealth. The day of accepting outright cash gifts is almost over. What can he do if someone pays his charge accounts? If someone pays the difference between his old car and a brand new one? Secondly, he can desire power. He can enjoy the lobbyists' fawning over him, whispering sweet trash about what a great man he is and other tripe. He can glory in the power of patronage he commands. Thirdly, he can be a failure in life, but a terrific talker and find himself in a nice easy job.

Now these jokers, both on the state and national levels, claim they want to lower taxes. They won votes by being able to outdo the other fellow on this score, So both on the state level and on the national level, they are in the mood to raise their pay. Here in the state they receive $2400 for a two year term plus $10 per diem. They can hold down full time jobs and still do their legislating. They want to raise their ante. Personally I would be satisfied. Of course, if they have to pay their campaign expenses and buy a few votes, this isn't enough coin of the realm. Beyond a doubt, it is expensive to campaign. Yet why lie to the voters? Of course, the politicians are hoping that we forget those lies by he time next election rolls up.

Certainly there are some very good politicians. A few have been elected on their own popularity, despite the Machines. These men are often very good. But how many are re-elected? Bucking a Machine is rough. They have thousands of dollars for each hundred that the Independent has.

You know, even if politics is a lousy game, even though many politicians aren't too good, I'm mighty glad I'm living in a democracy. We do have the opportunity to either renew their options or kick them out.

In all probability if we were under a Communist government most of us would only be salt pickers. We do have many more freedoms than those in Russia. We don't run the risk of being wiped out when we go to church. We can gather in groups and talk about anything.

And, by golly, we can criticize the politicians without worrying about getting a contract to pick salt.

'Rural Hoosier' First Issue Is Published

Prof. William E. Coates, head of Town and Country Church program, recently published the first issue of the "Rural Hoosier," a news-sheet for rural pastors.

According to Mr. Coates, the paper is designed to meet the needs of rural pastors of southern Indiana. It deals with current literature, achievements and problems in the rural church, and other church and related news or happenings that may be of interest to the rural pastor.

The bi-monthly news-sheet, while emphasizing the Methodist church at present, is for ministers of all denominations.

The heading for the "Rural Hoosier" was designed by Miss Florence Keve, head of the art department. A farm scene and a church scene are depicted with a pastor and a family in the foreground.

In the first mailing seven hundred copies were sent out to rural ministers and to district superintendents and commission members for the Indiana conference of the Methodist church.

AAUW Announces Poetry Contest; Open to Students

The Creative Poetry section of the American Association of University Women is conducting its annual poetry contest which is open this year to high school and college students. Any student on campus is eligible to enter the competition.

One first and one second prize will be given, with honorable mention for poems meriting it. Judging will be on the basis of originality of thought and expression.

Poems must be submitted by April 1 to Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, or to Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English Department. Mrs. Stephens and Miss DeLong are members of the A.A.U.W.

No limit is set on the number of entries allowed any contestant. Poems may be written in any poetic form, not exceeding 24 lines in length.

When entering poems, students must submit them typewritten on separate sheets. The student's name and the title of his poem must be clipped to the sheet rather than written on it.

Poems which were entered in former A.A.U.W. contests are not eligible for this one.

Miss DeLong urges any student who has a poem he thinks is good to enter the competition. She said that students need not feel they must be English majors to submit entries; everyone has a chance to win.

Library Stacks Get Spring Housecleaning; Powers, Foster Reorganize Filing System

Nowadays when someone calls for a book from the permanent stacks of the library he gets prompt service thanks to the reorganization job done by Frank Powers, superintendent of the stacks, and his assistant, Lowell Foster. Weeks of hard work went into producing the metamorphosis from the scrambled welter of weeks ago to the shelves of neatly filed volumes of today.

The two student library workers started "cleaning up" the stacks at the end of the Fall quarter. "Before we started, books were piled on the floor or crammed tightly in a haphazard fashion into the shelves, and the magazines were all mixed up," Powers explained.

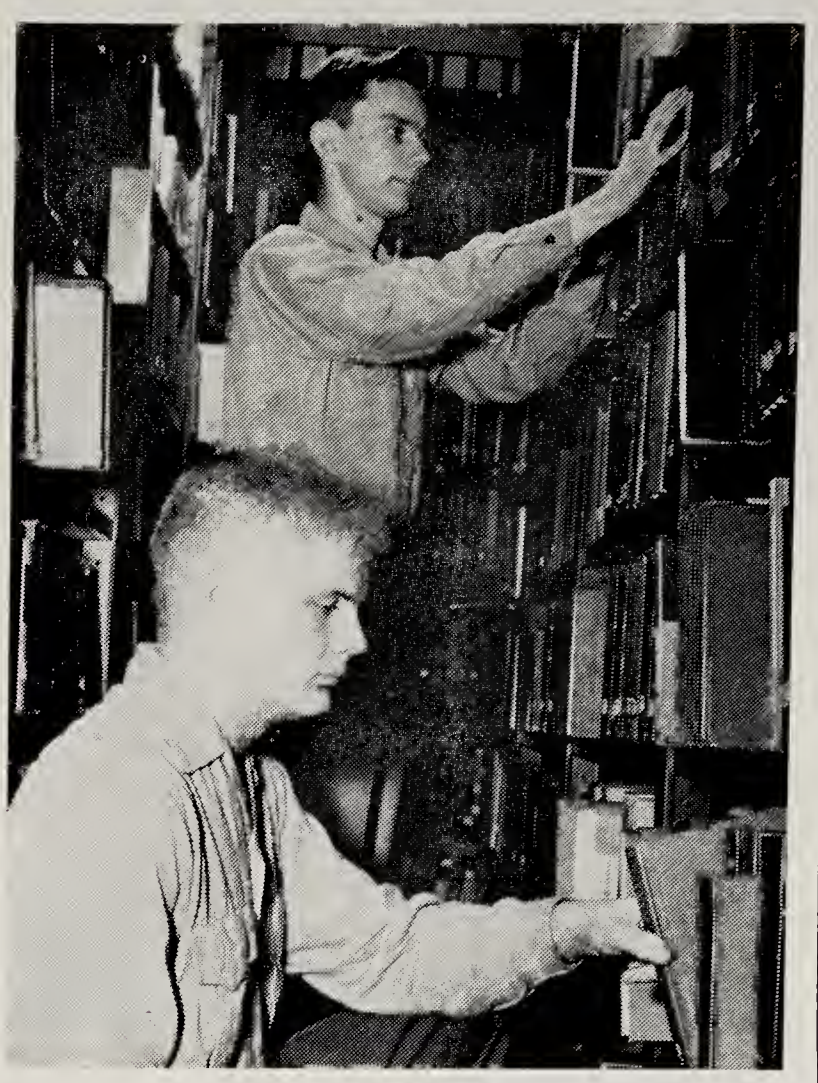
Before rearranging a thing the boys removed four sections of books from the stack rooms and took them to A-309, leaving approximately 32 shelves free.

Then they attacked the magazines, taking all issues up to 1952 from the shelves and arranging them in alphabetical order in a special section. This left more room on the shelves also.

After the magazines were filed away, Frank and Lowell took up the time-consuming job of putting each book in its proper place according to its subject and call number. In replacing volumes they left plenty of room on shelves in order to facilitate removal and replacement.

Since the completion of the stack reorganization the librarians can produce books from the shelves in a matter of minutes when they are called for.

Now that they have their spring housecleaning finished, library staffers only hope they can maintain the order Frank and Lowell have established. Students going into the stacks can help by not replacing books when they are through with them, but by leaving them lying flat on vacant shelves. Library workers go on the theory that it's easier to do than to undo.



Frank Powers, foreground, and Lowell Foster file volumes in the permanent library stacks in a way that speeds up service for library customers. Working on the job since the beginning of the Winter quarter, they have completely reorganized the shelves.

Students may enter the stacks when a professor requests it for special project research and then only after a stack permit has been issued by Mr. Thomas Harding, librarian, or Dr. Beverly Moss, assistant librarian.

Dr. Moss said that students are not allowed in the stacks only to avoid the confusion that would result in the cramped quarters there. When the new library is completed stacks will be eliminated and the books will be accessible to everyone.

Vance, Jones Plan Joint Voice Recital Friday, February 18

Two music students, Priscilla Vance and Jerry Jones, will present their junior recital on Friday, February 18, at 4 o'clock in the auditorium of the Administration building.

Miss Vance, soprano, and Mr. Jones, tenor, are both voice students of Cecil Selfridge. Miss Vance is a transfer student from Bob Jones university.

Featured on the program will be a duet, "Parigi, o cara," from the opera, "La Traviata," by Verdi.

Foreign compositions will include "Zueignung" by Strauss and "O Komme, bolde Sommernacht" by Brahms, German art songs, that Mr. Jones will sing. "Chanson Espagnole" by Ravel and "J'ai pleure en reve" by Hue are in the group of Spanish and French tunes selected by Miss Vance. Both students will also sing a number of English selections.

Miss Shirley Witte, sophomore music major, will be the accompanist.

Guy Andress, Jr., this week's columnist, is a post-graduate student and is direetor of the Methodist student movement.

Do you like athletics? Under proper guidance and leadership, athletics can be a powerful educational force, parteiularly in the development of social and moral, as well as physical qualities.

Integral parts of life in our college community are the athletic activities. This fact is realized by college officals and is evidenced by the backing given to various varsity, intra-mural and class programs. Studies have shown that those who are active in athletic activities are better fitted to adjust to adult situations in later life.

Matters can be overdone, of course, but in general, participation in athletic activity is a broadening experience. The benefits derived are many and the drawbacks few. Carl Erskine, the great Brooklyn baseball pitcher, told a vast throng of young people in the Midwest some time ago, "The secret of being a good athlete is to be decent, clean, mannerly and honorable. And beyond that, you must live so close to God that you have His peace in your heart."

It is an unfortunate but realistic comment that a small number of students are the leaders and participants of a majority of the athletic activities. This is not as it should be if the college is to fulfill one of its primary functions.

The problem resolves itself into one of initiative. Each individual, if he desires to reap the many benefits of college life, should take it upon himself to enter those activities which interest him most. If interests are few, then an ideal opportunity is presented to develop some. The fine program offered by the physical education department of Evansville College presents this ideal opportunity. The variety and freedom of selection gives the individual student a wonderful opportunity to develop new interests, increase present interests and skills and build up a storehouse of activity which might be put to use in leisure time periods of the future.

It should be borne in mind by every student that the collegiate experience is not exclusively an academic one, though let no one underestimate the importance of it.

College has come to mean learning to adjust to social situations and developing desirable character traits. I feel that participation in athletics can teach us how to play the more important game of life, in a sportsmanlike manner, a way that assures success. Why not give it a try and find out for yourself?

McKown Attends NCC Meeting in Cincinnati

Last Wednesday and Thursday Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college, was in Cincinnati for a meeting of the National Council of Churches. As a member of the Weekday Religious Education Committee, Dr. McKown participated in a panel discussion on "the education of students who will teach in weekday churches."

The convention, which was attended by members of the National Council of Churches from all sections of the United States, had for its theme, "Communicating the Christian Gospel." Consisting of 17 sections, the program included lectures, panels, workshops, dinners and meetings.

Accounting Students Given AIA Tests In Orientation

Seventy-nine Evansville College accounting students have taken the orientation test of the mid-year college accounting testing program sponsored by the American Institute of Accountants, Dr. Harvey Donley, professor of economicss, announced this week.

The testing program, available to all colleges enrolling accounting students, has been used for the first time at Evansville College. Plans are being made to give the test at all levels in accounting in the spring.

Included in the test are items concerning general and business vocabulary, ability to read materials in the business field and ability to solve business arithmetic problems.

Results of the test are used in student guidance and counseling, in placement of college graduates in the accounting field and as a means of comparing Evansville College students' results with the national distribution of scores.

The orientation test was taken voluntarily at Evansville by 60 day college students and 19 evening college students.

GUEST SPEAKER

Dr. Ray T. Dufford, head of the physics department, spoke on Nicholas Copernicus, astronomer of the middle ages, Thursday evening at the Evansville Public Museum.

The lecture was in connection with a display of the scientific and eultural works of the 15th Century genius currently on exhibit.

College Photography Contest Offers Trip For First Prize

The tenth annual International Collegiate Photography Competition has been announced by its sponsors, Kappa Alpha Mu, the National Press Photographers Association and the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Any person regularly enrolled in a college or university is eligible to enter it.

Pictures will be judged in seven classifications: news, features, sports, pictorial, picture portfolio, portraiture and/or character, picture story and/or scquence. Not more than 20 pictures may be entered by any one contestant, but a picture story or sequence will be counted as a single print.

Deadline March 15

Deadline for receiving prints is March 15. Prints must be accompanied by an official entry which can be obtained at the Crescent laboratory.

Top classification in the judging will be the picture portfolio. Comprising not less than 10, nor more than 20 pictures, it must contain one picture story or sequence and pictures from three other classifications — a total of four classifications.

Judging Classifieations

Prizes for the best portfolio will be a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica and two weeks in New York as guest of Life Magazine.

In the other categories first place winners will receive a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica; second place winners, a plaque from Kappa Alpha Mu; and third prize winners, the Britannica World Atlas.

In special categories trophies will be awarded to the girl whose entry is judged best, to the "Best Print of Show," and to the entry best depicting college life.

Further information on the contest may be obtained at the journalism department.

LITTLE SYMPHONY CANCELLED

The concert scheduled to be given by the Little Symphony in February has been postponed until sometime in March. Causing the hitch in plans was the flu bug picked up by its director, Mr. Norman Heim. Members of the symphony felt they had not rehearsed enough with him to give a creditable performance.

The Little Symphony is an orchestra composed of music students and faculty.

LUCKY DROODLES! WE'VE GOT 'EM!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.

IT'S EASY TO SEE that the Droodle above is titled: Tired anthropologist relaxing with better-tasting Lucky behind freshly dug-up fossil. No bones about it, Luckies taste better to all sorts of people. College smokers, for instance, prefer Luckies to all other brands, according to the latest, greatest coast-to-coastest college survey. Again, the No. 1 reason for Luckies' wide lead: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Aces Meet DePauw, Indiana State in ICC Tilts

Battle DePauw Tomorrow; Both Games Played Here

Evansville College, sitting on top of the ICC conference with a 7-2 record, has its work cut out for the coming week when the Aces meet an off-on DePauw Tiger team tomorrow night in the Armory at 8 p.m. Then the Purple and White aggregation will meet at the Rotherwood court Thursday night to face the Indiana State Sycamores.

The Aces took things easy during the past week and didn't enter league competition. While they were sitting out of conference play the DePauw crew pushed the Aces into the ICC spotlight with a startling 83-65 win over Valparaiso. Although the Aces hold a 7-2 slate against Valpo's 6-2 reading, they are only a half game ahead of the Crusaders because they were idle last week in the league.

Bold Challenge

Evansville must win to secure the crown while Valpo will have to play catch-up with the Evansville crew. Both assignments are going to be rough. The Aces will meet a DePauw team which they handled easily, 83-68, at Greencastle December 18. But the Sycamores lost by three to the college crew at Terre Haute and are sure to give the Aces another run for their money.

Valpo, on the other hand, must face this same Indiana State team on the Sycamores' home court. The Crusaders hold an overtime win over the Terre Haute club and a one-point margin over Ball State, their next opponent.

Bob Schier, a 6-2 Tiger guard, is the leading DePauw threat. Last year he set a new scoring record by pouring in 321 points. DePauw has height with a 6-8 freshman, Dave McKeag, leading the way. New Tiger mentor Cal Luther began the year with only four returning lettermen and a good group of freshmen. He has fashioned a fourth-place club in the ICC with a 4-4 record, one game out of third place. The Tigers stand 6-6 overall.

It was John Harrawood who led the Aces to victory in the Indiana State contest at Terre Haute January 6. Harrawood tallied 32 markers to lead the attack which carried the Aces through, 79-76. The State team is currently locked in the conference cellar with a dismal 2-7 record. However, the Sycamores have the material to spring an upset Thursday night and the McCutchan crew will have to be ready. This was shown in the first meeting of the two schools.

The two squads split even last season with the Sycamores copping the initial contest, 66-58, and the Aces rallying for a 76-66 win in the second meeting.

Can Clinch Title

If the Aces can take both of the contests they will earn a share of the title. Their record will then be 8-2. Valpo will still have a chance with their 6-2 reading. Butler, however, cannot be ruled out of the running. The Indianapolis club now stands at 4-3 in the conference. Should Valpo and Evansville drop any of their coming games the situation would become more involved.

Evansville has an ace in the hole, however, because the Crusaders and the Bulldogs have to meet February 19. Valpo topped Butler in their first contest, but the second game will be played on the Bulldogs' home court, thus making the possibilities of a Butler win greater.

One Game Left

One more contest will remain on the Aces' card after the Indiana State affair. St. Joseph's Pumas will travel to Evansville to meet the Aces. The Pumas were the club which knocked Butler from the league lead some weeks ago. Therefore, the Evansville team will have to beat the two teams which have virtually shoved them into the conference lead — DePauw and St. Joseph.

aces high

by jack combs

DePAUW'S TIGERS will be the Aces' foe tomorrow night in an important ICC conference tilt at the Armory. The Tigers are riding the crest of a hot winning streak in conference competition, winning their last three starts against ICC opponents.

DePauw, whom the Aces defeated by 15 points in December at Greencastle, put Evansville in the conference lead on February 3, by defeating Valparaiso, 83-65, on the Tigers' home floor. They then moved themselves up into fourth place by defeating Indiana State two days later, 64-61. Bob Schier has been leading the Tiger attack, scoring 37 points against Valpo and countering with 25 points against State.

In other important ICC action tomorrow night, Valparaiso will play host to Ball State's Cardinals and Butler and Indiana State will clash at Indianapolis. Valparaiso defeated Ball State earlier in the season by two points at State.

THE ACES MEANWHILE are carrying the best won and lost mark in the state with a 15-4 record, not counting last night's game with Kentucky Wesleyan. Because of an early deadline date The Crescent cannot carry Thursday night results, so Aces High predicts a three point win over Wesleyan and a 13 point win over DePauw.

Next on the list in the record department are the Anderson College Ravens with a 14-5 record for the current campaign. Anderson is the team that knocked the Aces out of the NAIA tournament playoffs last year.

ON THE NATIONAL scene the Minnesota Gophers have taken over the lead in the Big Ten conference with Illinois and Iowa a close second. Minnesota has posted a six won and two lost record, regaining the lead after walloping the Ohio State five, 82-56, on Monday night. Illinois and Iowa are tied for the second spot with identical five and two records, trailing the leaders by 36 percentage points. The two Indiana teams, Indiana and Purdue, currently hold the number five position and the lost position in the conference.

In the red hot Southeasern Conference race Kentucky has regained the league lead on the strength of the Vanderbilt victory over Alabama Monday night, 78-57. Kentucky now has a seven won and two lost record while the Vanderbilt Commodores occupy second place with a six and two record. The Alabama loss dropped them down into the third place spot.

'Puffers' Take Lead With 3-0 Record In Intra-mural

"Huff's Puffers" currently lead the intra-mural program although they are closely pressed by the Phi Zeta squad. The Puffers hold a one-game lead in the league with a 3-0 record and the Zetas boast a 2-0 slate.

Huff's squad moved into the lead over the Phi Zeta team by ripping by the Freshman team, 56-38. The Zetas were idle last week. Bob Scott led the Puffers with 15 points. The second contest of the evening saw "Bill's Boys" rack up a 66-51 win over the strong Philo team. Don Henry tallied 21 points. Richie Thompson led the Philo crew with 16 markers.

Sigma Phi Epsilon rallied to drop Mouse's Rats in a close one, 35-30. Jim Casper and Bob Ubelhor led the Sig Eps with 13 and 12 points respectively.

Billiards Tournament Enters Final Round; To End February 14

Everett Wilson, Jim Jensen, Bill Lockard, and Bob Payne advanced to the final four of the pocket billiards tourney here with wins during the past week. Their semi-final matches were scheduled for Monday and Tuesday of this week with the two winners vying for the top place in the tourney Monday, February 14.

The tournament started four weeks ago with 37 entrants. The Evansville College tourney will be completed Monday and trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up. This tourney is not in conjunction with the national billiards competition and another tourney will have to be held to determine who will represent the college in the national tourney.

In the final eight eliminations Wilson stopped Tom Habbe, 45-39 and earned the right to meet Jensen who topped Dave Luckett, 65-30. In the lower bracket Bill Lockard thumped George Dockery, 44-25, and Bob Payne beat Bill Madden, 36-27. Thus, it will be either Wilson or Jensen from the upper bracket meeting the winner of the Payne-Lockard match Monday for the crown.

The eight players previously mentioned will then resume their billiards battle to determine the top three scorers in this extra playoff. These will be the three who will compete in the national tourney.

Jim Jensen has compiled the highest average per game in the tourney with a good 51¾ balls which narrowly outranks Lockard's 51⅓ balls per game. Wilson is in third place with an even 45 average and Payne has compiled a 34⅓ average.

Aces Trip Washington, 74-67; Game Marred by 56 Fouls

In a game marred by 56 personal fouls, Evansville's Aces conquered Washington of St. Louis Bears, 74-67, at the Bruin den last Saturday night to record their second win of the year over the St. Louis team and their fifteenth win against four defeats for the season.

Eight players left the rugged contest via the personal foul road, with each team losing four each. A total of 101 free throw chances were awarded the combatants by referees Ike Craig and John Logan. Evansville was charged with 31 personals and the Aces' Jerry Clayton, Roscoe Bivin, Bob Walker, and Jim Smallins fouled out.

John Harrawood took over the Evansville scoring chores from Clayton with 22 points. He hit 12 of 12 attempts from the charity stripe. Clayton was bottled up by the Washington defense and scored eight points. Bivin tallied 13, and Clyde Cox kept the visitors ahead in the late going with ten markers.

Harrawood and Bivin shoved the Aces into a 4-0 lead and they never trailed although the score was tied early in the battle. However, the Purples had a tough time holding down Jim Barton, who tallied 25 points. He and Ed Cristal led the Bears attack and harassed the Aces' victory bid throughout.

Because of the many fouls called, only 99 shots were taken in the contest. Evansville hung up 22 of 53 attempts for a .415 percentage and Washington hit .348 per cent on 16 or 46 shots.

EC Chapter to Provide Rituals For Phi Mu Alpha Convention

The Evansville College chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia fraternity has been asked to provide the ritual team for the initiation service at the province convention at Ball State Teachers college, Muncie, Ind., Sunday and Monday, February 13 and 14.

Pledges from the other five active chapters of this province, Ball State, Butler, Indiana State, DePauw and Indiana university, will be initiated.

Attending from the Evansville chapter are Bob Rundell, Bill Parish, Jack Schernekau, Duane Pemberton, Claud Hayes, Bill Puckett, Jerry Jones, John Koehler, George Holden, Gene Agee, Dwayne Scott, Mike Cavin, Richard Happe, Eugene Griswald and Eldon Katter.

Professors Ralph Waterman, Wesley Shepard and Cecil Selfridge will accompany the group. Mr. Selfridge is the faculty advisor.

Each year at the convention the various chapters perform a musical program for the other chapters. One of the highlights of the annual convention will be a recital featuring original compositions of members.

The sinfonia chorus will sing at a special eonvocation for the student body of Ball State, Monday, February 14, at 3 o'clock.

Evansville College, the youngest chapter in the province, was host for last year's convention. Officers of the local chapter are John Koehler, president; Claud Hayes, vice-president; Bill Puckett, treasurer; Duane Pemberton, recording secretary; J ack Schernekau, alumni secretary; Bob Rundell, warden; Gene Agee, historian.

Pi Gamma Mu Nominates 17

Seventeen juniors and seniors were recently nominated for membership in Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, according to Prof. L. W. Anderson, faculty sponsor of the group.

Three juniors receiving invitations for membership are Marilyn Bartlett, Hal Burckhartt and Carolyn Lockwood.

Seniors nominated for the honorary are Dorothy Brannon, Margaret Broadhead, Gilbert Bumb, Barbara Cox, Ronald Hamilton, Robert Hawkins, Myra Kasey, David Lawson, Janis Pattie, Martha Powell, Norma Robertson, June Wallace, Rosemarie Wiseman and Richard Wirth.

At present there are only two actives on eampus, Bob Porro and Margaret Scott.

Qualifications for membership include junior ranking, a 2.00 average, 30 hours of social science (economics, history, political science, sociology) and 12 hours of A's in social science.

A dinner meeting has been set tentatively for February 28 at which time pledges will be initiated and a program will be presented.

McKown, Long Attend Methodist Conference

Last week Dr. Edgar McKown and Acting President Dean Long traveled to Greencastle to meet with members of the Board of Education of the three Indiana Methodist Conferences at DePauw university. They discussed financial support for colleges by the Methodist churches in the state.

School Representatives To Interview Seniors

Next week representatives of the Michigan and California School Systems will come to Evansville College to interview senior education majors for teaching positions in their respective states.

Interview dates will be posted on the bulletin board in the Placement Bureau office before February 14.

Positions to be discussed by the Michigan representative are in Battle Creek to teachers of elementary grades and English, social studies and mathematics in secondary schools. A high school music teacher and a basketball coach are also needed.

The California representative will interview teacher candidates for jobs in Bakersfield. Teachers are sought for all grade levels, especially for primary and intermediate grades. A few positions are open on the junior high level.

The minimum California starting salary for teachers having an A.B. degree and no experience is not less than $3804. Increments are allowed for experience.

Students interested in trying for teaching positions in either state must sign up at the Placement Bureau for interviews. Further information may be obtained there also.

Women's Council Recogination Day Set for April 14

The Women's Council set the date, Thursday, April 14, the time, 6 p.m., and the place, Kokies, for its annual Recognition Day Dinner at its meeting last Tuesday. Shirley Orth is in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Jackie King was named to supervise the selection of favors, and Bobbie Cox was put in charge of faculty questionnaires. On the questionnaires faculty members list the names of outstanding women students on campus, in whose honor the dinner is given. Final selection of honor guests is in the hands of a committee chosen for that purpose.

Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, said that the Council will be hostesses to about 25 honor guests, five or six of the faculty and its members at the Recognition Day Dinner.

Campus Variety Show Debuts Monday Night

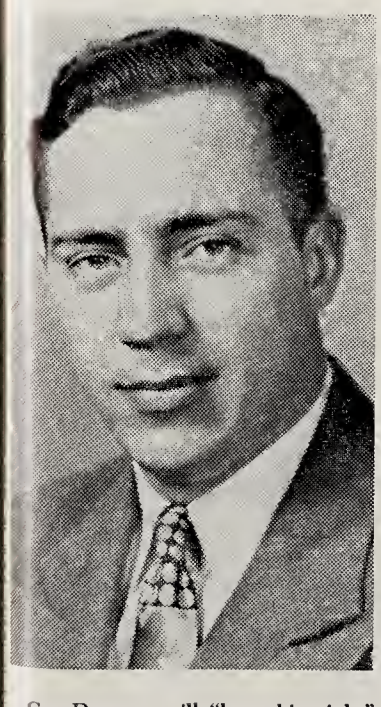
Pledge Dance Set for Union

The Evansville College Panhellenic Council will sponsor the annual pledge dance tonight in the Great Hall of the Union building, with dancing from 8:30 o'clock until midnight.

The dance, open to all pledges and actives connected with one of the eight social organizations on campus and their guests, will be informal, and music will be supplied by the Danny Stiles combo.

Pledge committees, under the direction of general chairman Lois Ryon, will be in charge of all arrangements. Phi Mu pledges will be responsible for refreshments, with Mary Lou Taylor serving as committee chairman. Anita Aders, Chi Omega, will supervise decorations, and Mary Giovanetti, AOPi, will direct the committee assigned to supply favors. Publicity will be handled by a committee composed of Beta Sig pledges, with Alice Christmas serving as chairman.

Ticket costs have been set at $1.50 per couple. Fraternities and sororities have urged that those attending the pledge dance confine their dates to the Evansville College campus if possible. The dance will be chaperoned by faculty sponsors of the various organizations.



Gus Doerner will "have his night" at the half time ceremonies of the Aces basketball finale, Thursday, February 24.

While playing for the Purple and White, Gus had "plenty of nights" such as those when he set individual scoring and field goal records. But Gus will be appearing in a different role at "his night" this Thursday.

For eomplete details, see page five.

Honorary Colonels for Military Ball To Be Picked in Special Assembly Today

The honorary cadet colonel and three lieutenant colonels for the Military Ball will be elected today in an assembly for ROTC cadets in the Great Hall at 10 a.m. All cadets are required to attend the special assembly.

The four honorary colonels will be chosen from coeds with junior standing or girls who will not be eligible for the honor at any other time. Eligible girls have been invited by the ROTC to be present at the special assembly.

The junior receiving the greatest number of votes will be honorary colonel. Runners-up will be her staff members. The results of the vote will not be known until the night of the Ball.

National Hook-up

Again this year thirty minutes of music from the Military Ball will be carried by a national hook-up, American Broadcasting Company, according to Jack Combs, publicity chairman for the dance.

Jack McLain, local announcer, will act as announcer for the program which will be heard over WJPS from 9:30 to 10 p.m. on the night of the dance, Wednesday, March 9.

Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra, who will be playing for the Ball, are expected to play some of their better-known numbers as well as some new numbers for the broadcast.

Tickets for the dance are now on sale at $4.00 per couple. They may be purchased from any cadet.

Dauble Reigns As Basketball Queen

Shirley Dauble, pledge to Beta Sigma Omicron sorority, was crowned basketball queen last Saturday night at the Evansville College-DePauw game.

Gowned in white and attended by girls dressed in pastel formals, Miss Dauble was crowned by John Wessel, senior member of the basketball team in a half-time ceremony.

Representatives of each sorority, INCA and Ivy Leaf club served as attendants and honorary attendants to the queen.

Anita Aders, Chi Omega, was maid-of-honor. Other attendants were Joan Bosse, Alpha Omicron Pi; Mary Lou Taylor, Phi Mu; Gerriann Frasier, INCA, and Gwendolyn Williams, Ivy Leaf club.

Chosen queen in an all-campus election last Friday, Miss Dauble is a freshman music major. She was also an attendant to the Ice-Breaker queen. She is a member of the Union Dance committee and a pledge of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity for women.

Late News Breaks

March 24 and 25 are the dates set for Philo's Blackouts, according to Jack Combs, publicity chairman for the sixth annual variety extravaganza.

Bob Kettelhut is general chairman in charge of the plans with Neil Norrick in charge of tickets and Ken Curtin taking care of the staging.

A representative from Barnes and Noble will be at the bookstore February 24 to buy second-hand books.

Miss Doris Kirk has been named general chairman of the faculty Red Cross drive.

Working with Miss Kirk are Mr. William Affolder, Miss Mildred Boeke, Mr. A. C. Biggs, Col. James Brantner, Dr. Mearl Culver, Dr. Donald Dunham, Mr. Norman Heim, Dr. Leland Moon, Miss Elouise Sartain and Dr. F. Woody Werking.

John Wessel, senior forward for the Aces, escorts Shirley Dauble from the floor after crowning her 1954-'55 Basketball Queen. Miss Dauble is a freshman, Beta Sigma Omicron pledge.

'Fairyland Fantasy' Starts Two Day Run

By Benita Horton

The fifth annual Kampus Kapers production, "Fairyland Fantasy," will be presented Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Union.

The program consists of seven minute skits based on fairy tales, presented by various campus organizations. Aladdin and his magic lamp open the show as Aladdin commands the genie of the lamp to tell thirteen stories. At the completion of the commandment, the genie is released.

The faculty will open the show with their skit, entitled "Queen for a Day." Mrs. Genevieve Erickson will direct the faculty presentation.

"Hansel and Gretel" will be presented by the Baptist Nurses. LaNova Cook directs the cavorting of Lois Somers and Dorothy Kramer in the title roles.

A revised version of the story "Jack and the Beanstalk" is to be portrayed by Kappa Chi. Martha Powell, director, supplies the dialogue to which Bob Kettelhut pantomimes Jack.

A hepped up "Little Red Riding Hood" is pursued by the big bad wolf in the Acacia offering. Jim Cook tells the story and Dave Harold directs the skit.

"Debbie's Dream" concerns Cinderella, portrayed by Marilyn Randolph, in the Alpha Omicron Pi skit. Pledges to the sorority are sizzling cinders that dance to "Steam Heat," and the actives supply glamor as princesses dancing to the "Loveliest Night of the Year." Joan Hamel is director.

Barbara Moore directs and portrays the title role in the INCA presentation, "Sleeping Beauty." Ron Porter depicts a "catty" Prince Charming who awakens the sleeping princess in the skit, which tells the story in hep talk.

"Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves" is dramatized by human still-pictures by the International Relations Club. Nancy Lai directs the presentation which includes several scenes.

Carolyn Kohl is awakened by the kiss of Wendy Long in Chi Omega's contribution, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Pledges and actives portray the dwarfs dancing to "Whistle While You Work" and "Hi Ho." Margie Hassee directs the play in which Willie Yokel clowns as Dopey.

A jazz band directed by Mike Cavins tells the Phi Zeta interpretation of the "Pied Piper." Tom Lukens is in charge of the skit.

Faculty Plans Skits For Convocation

Members of the faculty will present "do" and "don't" skits concerning social behavior at freshman convocation on Tuesday, February 22. Mr. Robert Heater, assistant professor of speech and drama, will be in charge of the program.

According to a survey taken at Sociology 102 by Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union, these skits are the kind of program the freshmen would like to see more often. Situations to be previewed include the ordering of food, table manners, courtesy on dates and the non-drinking girl or boy in the drinking crowd.

It is felt that the students will be entertained while they actually are learning or reviewing their own etiquette, Mr. Heater explained.

Who Cares?

With approximately one-third of the student body voting, Shirley Dauble, Beta Sigma Omicron candidate, was elected basketball queen for 1955.

This vote turnout is not a reflection upon the qualities of our candidates. Rather, the voting clearly shows that two-thirds of our student body doesn't give a hang any more about who wins what or why.

Students at Evansville College have long been accused of indifference concerning campus affairs. Once again these accusations are being proved to be facts rather than fancies.

On most campuses the crowning of any queen and the resultant glory and prestige are the highlights of any coed's campus experiences. But it seems that here the elected queen can hardly feel she has been elected by the majority of the students.

If the student body of this campus is that disinterested in voting in queen elections, why have queens at all? Why should people spend time working hard making arrangements for a ceremony when only a small majority are even interested?

In spite of this, again may we say, "Congratulations, Queen Shirley." You certainly are our queen of basketball for 1955. And may we add, a pretty one, too. (K. C.)

'Have a Heart'

To inform the public concerning disease of the heart and circulation, to focus attention on this foremost public health problem and the vital necessity of increased financial support of the Association's program, these are the goals and ideas behind the annual heart drive which is being carried on throughout the month of February by the American Heart Association, Inc.

We are in the middle of this drive right now. You are being asked to contribute to help further the research which is being carried on today to help end this killer, heart disease. Your contribution is needed; you hold the key to the progress of this research. "So won't you have a heart and save a heart?" (K. C.)

One Out of Fifty-two

Since 1935 the observance of Race Relations Sunday has been the keynote of Brotherhood Week. It is with this thought of brotherhood that we begin the week long observance. Next Sunday, February 20, has been designated as Race Relations Sunday.

But should we celebrate brotherhood only one week out of the fifty-two? We hope that with the passing of this week of service to mankind, regardless of race, creed or color, that men will realize the strength there is in unity and a united front. In these troubled times we feel sure that one way for a successful peace is the brotherhood of all men throughout the entire world.

Let's make this brotherhood year for now and evermore. (K. C.)

Twenty-two Cadets Get Flight Badges

Flight badges have been awarded to twenty-two Air Science IV cadets since the beginning of the Fall quarter, according to Lt. Colonel James A. Brantner, professor of air science.

Cadets receiving the award are Charles Calhoun, Roderick Clutter, Jack Combs, Van DePriest, George Dockery, Claude Hayes, Raymond Lohrer, Wendell Long, Wayne Mueller, Ronald Murphy and Willis Pauley.

Other recipients of the honor include David Pellow, William Puckett, Dwayne Scott, Ronald Statz, John Taylor, Jim VanScyoc, John Wahnsiedler, Jarrell Wallace, Kenneth Will, Richard Wirth and William Yokel.

The Flight Badge is a replica of half of the wings that a graduate pilot receives upon completion of pilot training in the United States Air Force.

To qualify for the Flight Badge, cadets must be Air Science IV students in their final year at college. They must also have qualified and been accepted for pilot or observer training in the United States Air Force.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

The basketball queen election and crowning were handled very well, and a lot of thanks should go to the Social Life Committee. Joan Bosse, chairman of the committee, did a great deal of work on the crowning and deserves a lot of credit.

The student committee for nomination of campus notables and campus leaders has completed its work and will turn the names over to the faculty for final voting.

Bob Rundell was chairman of this committee with representatives from the social organizations and independents as members.

The budget for next year and the division of the $12.50 student activity fee will be decided this Friday at Administrative Board.

Each of the Student-Faculty Federation Committees who receive a part of the money has turned in its recommendations for the money it will need for next year. The breakdown of the student activity fee will be published in the Crescent when it is released.

Mrs. Shepard to Direct Program for Meeting

A program by Evansville College music students under the direction of Mrs. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department, will be presented at the third general meeting of the American Association of University Women in the Cumberland Presbyterian church next Monday evening.

Soloists, Louise Hobgood, soprano, and Jerry Jones, tenor, will interpret vocal selections, accompanied by Shirley Witte.

AAUP MEETING

Dr. Harvey E. Donley, professor of economics, will discuss "Suggestions for your 1954 Federal Income Tax Report" at the regular meeting of the American Association of University Professors today.

Scheduled for 10 a.m. in the Club room of the Union building, the meeting is open to all faculty members.

Pardon My Parking!

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Seems strange to look out the window and see a river boat with its harem of barges almost in the front yard. About the time the State Legislature started talking about raising taxes, the river did. Like taxes and sin, the river just keeps rolling along. Sometimes it comes up and overflows and other times it gets very low. That's the same way with taxes and sin.

A river is a funny thing. This Ohio has been meandering for many miles longer than we know. It keeps flowing to sea. Most of the time it is lazy, just takes its time. Then there are floods. The excess water causes the old stream to make like a businessman hurrying nowhere.

Without the water from the river we would be desert rats. With it we experience loss of property, of life. She gives — and she takes.

The river offers one of the cheapest modes of transportation. Tugs have been developed that are capable of pushing many, many tons of freight. Thousands of gallons of oil make their debut via the Ohio. Thousands of autos get their first miles on her surface. Tons and tons of steel begin their usefulness with her aid.

Because she is a she, the new tugs are equipped with radar to seek out her danger points. Like a woman, she often changes her shape over night. She is tried and true — until you trust her completely. Then she quietly stabs you in the back.

To make navigation possible year 'round, man built dams. Man can regulate the rate of flow, the height of her surface. He can hold her back or he can let her go. The boats can make New Orleans from many miles away in a few hours — compared to the time it took the early rivermen.

She is persistent. She slowly nibbles, carelessly, eternally. She is able to change her current, she undermines. Yet she rolls on evermore.

Many towns have sprung up along her banks. Some of these towns have vanished, some have washed away. Anyone who knows Newburgh now would hardly dream that it was a center of trade at one time. Evansville was nothing then. Old Newburgh sported thirteen saloons. It went through marshals and constables regularly. There was a tobacco factory, many warehouses. It thrived.

Then along came the railroads and Evansville. The railroads marred the beauty of the countryside, contaminated the air with smoke. They were a necessary evil.

One of the towns that felt the wrath of Dame Ohio was Uniontown, Ky. Uniontown was, at one time, a terrific town. Their main form of livelihood was coal. They had a big flour mill that served the countryside for miles and miles. Then the old Dame tossed her bustle and spread herself out. Uniontown fought back after the Dame's form was compressed, but they never quite got back to where they were.

In the early days the old Dame was used to power various pieces of machinery. Paddle wheels were turned continually.

Years later some seer forecast TV and the people decided they would like to have electricity. Some smart cookies figured as how they could make the old Dame give up some of her electrifying personality and used her to make power.

She just keeps rolling along, regardless of taxes and sin.

Co-opping Program Workshop Planned

Prof. Edward C. Susat, director of the co-operative training program, will discuss Evansville College's co-operative work-study program at a workshop in the Central Library Saturday, February 19.

Dr. Clum Bucher, associate dean of the junior division at Indiana university, will open the workshop at 1 p.m. with a talk on scholarship.

Planned to help high school seniors and those just out of high school learn how to obtain money to pay their way through college, the workshop is under the supervision of Mrs. Beatrice Spong, Young Adult Room librarian.

Faculty Votes to Eliminate Test From English Proficiency Plan

Faculty members voted last week to eliminate the written test from the English proficiency requirements. As a result, students whose papers fail to receive the approval of the English Proficiency Committee will be required to take an additional course in composition without first taking the test.

At the beginning of the 1954-55 term the new English proficiency plan, whereby a student's English is approved for graduation on the strength of an impromptu paper rather than by a regular examination, went into effect. Prior to the faculty decision last week, students failing to get the stamp of approval on their papers were given an opportunity to pass a test before they were required to take the additional English course.

Committee Considers Test

Members of the English Proficiency Committee have come to the conclusion that students who do not make the first hurdle in having their English approved usually do not pass the test either, making the exam a waste of time both for the student and the faculty. In any case it does little to improve the student's English proficiency.

Miss Wahnita DeLong, chairman of the committee, said that every precaution is taken to be fair in judging the papers. She explained that a student who writes fairly well but who makes few or minor errors will be given a conference on his particular faults, and he will get a chance to correct his errors without taking the composition course.

Grade of C Required

If there is any doubt that a paper does not present a fair example of the student's English ability, the committee selects other papers to judge.

Persons required to take an additional course under the new system must pass it with a grade of C or better to be approved for graduation. Type of course will be recommended by the English Proficiency Committee.

Guest Speakers

Toshi Toguchi, Masahiko Morita, both from Okinawa, and Yerachimel Rotholz from Tel Aviv, Israel, were guest speakers at the Business and Professional Women's meeting Thursday.

Walker to Speak To Nurses Tuesday

Dr. Everette Walker, president of the Evansville Association for Retarded Children, will speak to State Hospital nurses next Tuesday, February 22. On March 8 he will talk to local social workers.

Dr. Walker was named to head the Association last fall when it was organized. A nationally affiliated society, it holds monthly meetings to discuss and plan for the general welfare of retarded children at home, in the community and in institutions.

The first project of the Evansville Association was the provision of a development center, which furnishes play and learning activities for retarded children from three to eight years old. Located in the East Side Christian Church, this center is a nonsectarian, non-profit organization with facilities open to all who can be helped, regardless of ability to pay.

The local society's other activities deal with workshops, training, medical and social service, and recreation and education programs for parents of retarded children.

Four EC music students will take part in the program at the annual Vesper Service of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity for women, next Sunday at the Methodist Temple.

Robertson, Powell To Help Prepare Conference Data

Seniors Norma Jean Robertson and Martha Powell have been selected by Dean Edgar McKown to work with Dr. Mearl Culver, director of religious life, preparing questionnaires to be sent out to Weekday Church School systems in this area. Results of the questionnaires will be compiled and used at the National Weekday Religious Education Conference at Oberlin university in June, 1956.

Dr. McKown, chairman of a subcommittee on advanced studies, will supervise the coordination of findings revealed on the questionnaires.

Five other colleges are cooperating with Evansville in preparing and sending out questionnaires which some 800 Weekday Church School representatives will be given an opportunity to answer.

From the data gathered by the various schools a series of short articles will be written and published in the "Journal of Religious Education." Copies of these articles will be presented in a packet to delegates attending the conference at Oberlin.

Plans for the convention, initiated a year ago, were discussed at a meeting in Cincinnati attended by Dr. McKown two weeks ago.

DRAMA MEETING

At the meeting of the Drama section of the AAUW, which was held last Monday at the home of Miss Irene Woods, Prof. Robert Heater was a member of the cast of "The King of Hearts," presented as a group reading.

IN THE DARK about which cigarette to smoke? Take a hint from the Droodle above, titled: Two searchlight crews, one asleep, one enjoying better-tasting Luckies. Your search is over when you light up a Lucky. You'll find out why college smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands, as shown by the latest, greatest college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

Student Nurses Plan 'Career Day' Program Saturday

Students in the department of nursing will be hostesses to Tri-State senior high school girls who aspire to become "women in white" at Nursing Career Day on campus tomorrow. Pat Jordan, nursing Student Government president; Janice Paris, freshman president, and freshman students will be on hand to greet the visitors and show them around the school.

Nursing Career Day is being held to show interested girls the ins-and-outs of acquiring a degree in nursing. Both the social and the academic aspect will be stressed.

Morning activities will feature campus tours and lunch in the Student Union. Representatives of the college student body, faculty and promotions committee will meet with the guests at noon.

In the afternoon the high school seniors will visit and tour the Baptist Hospital and the nurses' home. Tea will be served in the residence lounge, sophomore nursing students acting as hostesses.

For the past 10 years Evansville College has been providing courses in the basic sciences for women working toward a nurse's degree, but in 1953 the School of Nursing, under the direction of Miss Mildred Boeke, became an integral part of the college. Since the reorganization, nursing students have been Evansville College students, who engage in practice periods off campus, much as students of engineering and education do.

Since Evansville has no dormitories, student nurses live at the Baptist Nurses' home or anywhere off campus they choose.

The new Baptist Hospital-Evansville College School of Nursing is unique in the Tri-State in that it is planned as a completely integrated program. Students attend college the full four years and at the same time do clinical practice.

The present program was planned with the advice of experts in the education and nursing fields, Miss Boeke said. The services of Dr. Genevieve K. Bixler, consultant for the Regional Commission on Graduate Education and Research in Nursing, have been employed since the new plan went into effect.

Ten Top Tunes

"Earth Angel," rendered by the Crew Cuts, heads the popularity poll of top tunes heard in the Grill this week.

"Sincerely," and "No More," by the McGuire sisters tied for a close second, while Ralph Flanagan's "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" placed third.

The other most played tunes, according to the automatic tabulator, are:

4. "That's All I Want From You," by Jaye P. Morgan.
5. "My Heart Stood Still," by Eddie Fisher.
6. "Lullaby of Birdland," by Chris Connors.
7. "Make Yourself Comfortable," by Sarah Vaughn.
8. "Unsuspecting Heart," by George Shaw.
9. "Runaround," by Bill Farrell.
10. "Misty," by Earl Gardner Trio.

Kraft Gives Report On Alumni Drive

Appropriations totaling $2,922 had been made to the Alumni Fund, as of February 14, according to an announcement this week by Clifford Kraft, alumni secretary.

Founded in 1951, the Alumni Fund is a program through which alumni of Evansville College donate voluntarily to some college project.

This year's drive, which was planned by Gus Doerner, general chairman of the Finance committee, started January 1 and will continue through June 30. The drive is conducted entirely by mail, Mr. Kraft said.

The Alumni association, headed by Bob Schaad, recently voted to allocate all of this year's gifts to scholarships, under the name of the Alumni Scholarship Fund. Ten such scholarships were given last year and the recipients are now freshmen on campus.

Plans are being made to award fifteen additional scholarships valued at $750 to high school graduates this year. The award will be based on the graduate's high school record, a written examination and a personal interview.

The goal for this year's drive has been set at $10,000. Last year a total of $5,002 was given by 364 alumni.

EC Little Symphony To Appear Friday

Evansville College Little Symphony will make its second appearance of the season Friday, February 25, at the senior recital of John Koehler.

Reorganized this year, the chamber orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Norman Heim, instructor in music.

JEWELRY IN EXHIBIT

Hand-crafted jewelry by Miss Alice E. Zimmerman and Miss Bernice A. Stevens has been accepted for showing in the National Jewelry Exhibit at Huntington, W. Va.

Miss Stevens and Miss Zimmerman teach metal craft and jewelry classes in the Evening College.

The exhibit, which opens February 6 and runs through February 27, is the first national showing of jewelry to be held in this country.

Art Department to Sponsor Crafts Tour in Summer School

A craft tour of the Southern Highlands area is being offered this summer by the art department in place of the arts and crafts workshop usually given during the summer session.

Traveling by bus, the group will leave Evansville June 14, make a will return June 24. Miss Alice E. Zimmerman and Miss Bernice A. Stevens, craft teachers in the Evening College, will conduct the tour.

Two visits will be made in Tennessee, one at the Doll Maker's at Ozone, the second at the Craft Center at Pleasant Hill, before going to Gatlinburg, where several days will be spent.

Craft centers to be visited there include the Pigeon Forge Pottery, the Wood Whittler's Shop, Kearn's Broom Shop and others. There will be free time, too, to try the Sky Lift, go to square dances or take short excursions.

From Gatlinburg, the group will go to Cherokee, N. C., to the reservation and the restored Cherokee village. Other stops in North Carolina will be at Brass Town, Asheville, Little Switzerland, Penland, Burnsville and art colonies not known to the uninitiated.

Coming back through Cumberland Gap, the group will make stops in Kentucky at Berea, to see the Churchill Weavers, and at Bybee, to see the Corneilson Pottery. Other craft centers will be visited along the way.

Besides the craft education gained on the tour, Miss Stevenson and Miss Zimmerman promise to visit some of the finest eating places in the area. Also, the trip will be made at the height of the rhododendron season, and anyone who hasn't seen the rhododendron slicks in the Great Smokie National Park, or at Soco Gap or on the Blue Ridge Parkway has a treat in store that no one can describe, the group leaders claim.

Reservations may be made with Dr. James Morlock. Three quarter hours college credit can be earned, but it is not necessary to take the trip for credit. A charge of $92 will cover transportation, lodging and admission fees, but not food. Not more than 35 will make the tour.

Acacia, Beta Sig Pledges Entertain Actives at Party

Acacia and Beta Sigma Omicron pledges entertained actives of both groups at an informal Valentine party on Wednesday, February 9, at the Acacia house, 2020 East Mulberry.

Entertainment and games were provided by the pledge classes headed by Presidents June Wedeking and Don Walsh. The Acacia pledges were in charge of food.

Senior Interviews For Teaching Jobs Scheduled for Today

Representatives of the Grand Rapids, Mich., school system are interviewing education seniors today for teaching positions in that city. Persons interested in talking with them should get in touch wih the Placement Bureau.

Teachers of all elementary grades are sought. The interviewers are also interested in finding home economics and speech teachers on the secondary school level, but they will interview any secondary education major.

Battle Creek school representatives who were scheduled to come to Evansville College last week will interview seniors Wednesday, February 23, instead. They are interested in obtaining elementary school teachers, secondary school instructors of English, social studies and mathematics, and a high school music teacher and basketball coach.

All dates for senior interviews are posted on the calendar in the Placement Bureau office.

Views

This week's guest columnist is Donald Griffith, president of the Methodist Student Movement, Sigma Phi Epsilon active and member of Kappa Chi.

Several weeks ago a few students were watching a rather poor television movie, and, naturally, each was commenting on the quality of the "ham" that was being presented. In the course of the conversation, one of the fellows mentioned how hard it was to find a good program. Then a girl spoke up, saying that now, since she had an education, she could enjoy almost nothing because she saw too many faults.

This girl's comment seems to describe many of us in everyday situations. So often those things we have valued are suddenly torn down by a type of knowledge that shows only faults.

For example, there might have been some radio announcer whom we enjoyed until we started a critical study which destroyed our pleasure in his program because we could no longer listen to him without trying to find faults in his techniques. Thus we missed what was good in his manner.

If we had approached the same announcer with the purpose of seeing what qualities made him good, the enjoyment and benefit of the program would not have been lost to us.

Too many of us forget the value of critical study. Instead of trying to help ourselves, we only tear down that which we have learned and replace it with nothing.

So, when you hear a poor lecture, read a bad paper, or see a poor movie, look at the faults only to clarify the subject; put the emphasis on finding those qualities which can help you to be a better person.

Doerner To See Aces Close Season Thursday

Aces Top Tigers As McCutchan Uses Reserves

Evansville's title hopes took on a new lustre last Saturday night when the Aces humbled the DePauw Tigers, 90-68, to pull out of the bog which saw them lose to Kentucky Wesleyan, 74-71.

Making their debut before WEHT-TV's cameras, the Aces shot into the lead at 20-7 with 14:20 left in the first half and were never challenged in recording their eighth ICC win against two conference losses. Coach Arad McCutchan also used his bench strength to full advantage by using the first-stringers but two minutes in the second stanza.

Jerry Clayton zoomed out of his recent scoring slump with 20 points in the first half. Clayton was well on his way to eclipsing his own scoring record when McCutchan inserted the reserves to finish the job.

It was John Wessel coming off the bench to lead the Purples in the second session after Clayton and Frank Healy had led the victors' attack in the opening half. Big John finished the contest with ten points and Healy tallied 16.

Bob Schrier led all scorers with 21 points for the contest as the Tigers knelt to their sixth loss in ten games in the ICC.

The University of Kentucky supplied the opposition in the form of Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers in the Aces' fifth loss of the season as three ex-Wildcats scored 64 of Wesleyan's 74 points as the Evansville team bowed, 74-71.

Billy Bibb hit 25, Linville Puckett 23, and Logan Gipe 17. These three boys left the Kentucky campus in favor of a more liberal athletic program at Wesleyan.

Coach Bob "Bullet" Wilson quickly put his three blessings to work to avenge an earlier defeat by the Aces. However, Evansville threatened to make it a rout by running the count to 18-8 early in the skirmish, but the Panthers fought back to a 70-69 advantage with 2:35 left and they never trailed.

Big Jim Smallins, 40, of Evansville goes high into the air to block Ernie Modzelewski's attempt in the Aces' 90-68 win over DePauw last Saturday. Other Evansville players are Bob Wessel, 44, and John Wessel, 54. Sam Ulmer, 23, and Bob Schrier, 30, who was high for the game with 21 points, are other Tiger players.

Wilson Wins Billiards Crown; Nips Lockard in Close Battle

Evansville College's billiards tournament came to a dramatic end last Monday when Everette Wilson stopped a bold challenge by Bill Lockard, 58-56, after Lockard had held a five ball lead going into the last frame.

The count was 54-49 as the two finalists prepared for the last frame. Wilson shot first to record a nine which gave him a final score of 58. Lockhard trailed by four balls with one frame remaining. However, Bill didn't get the breaks as he posted a slim two in his last try.

The two finalists had advanced to the last game with semi-final wins Friday. In the Friday firing Wilson topped Jim Jensen, 46-40, and Lockard beat Bob Payne, 50-43.

The champ's final average was 47.6 balls per game. This total was topped by two other contestants. Lockard posted a 52 average for the best in the tourney, and Jensen shot at a 51.75 clip in four games.

Other averages were: Payne 39 in four games; Bill Madden 36.67; Tom Habbe 30; Dave Luckett 28.67; and George Dockery 35.67, all in three games.

These eight players played the 17th and 18th to determine who would represent the college in the National Billiards Tourney. The pairings listed the following matches: Madden vs. Jensen; Wilson vs. Habbe; Lockard vs. Luckett; Dockery vs. Payne.

The four players who advanced to the semi-finals will be on the team which will fire in the national breakdown. That team will have the three players who shot the highest totals in the extra play-off with the low shooter of the four acting as a substitute in case of an emergency.

Here is the official scoring in the championship game:

Frames	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	6	6	10	T
E. Wilson	5	4	7	8	4	5	10	4	2	9	—58
B. Lockard	5	8	8	4	3	4	10	6	6	2	—56

Can Win Conference Title With Victory Over Pumas

By Larry Sanders

Gussie Doerner will be on hand Thursday night as the Evansville Aces and student body honor the "Mackey Marvel" at a "Gussie Doerner Appreciation Night" during the half of the Aces-St. Joe game. Gussie is still recovering from injuires suffered in an automobile accident which occurred near Princeton some weeks ago. He will leave the hospital tomorrow and attend the Aces game in a wheel chair.

Coach Arad McCutchan and his Purple and White charges can present the former All-American with a fitting gift by dropping the Pumas and winning the ICC crown. The Aces, who were expected to top the Indiana State Sycamores last night, can win the undisputed ICC crown with a win next Thursday.

Doerner came to Evansville College from Mackey, Ind., then a community of 200. In his freshman year he started on the varsity reserve team at a forward position. It was during this season that he displayed a fatal hook shot which was to wreck many opponents and lift him to an All-American status.

Sets Scoring Marks

Breaking into the starting lineup in his second year at the College, Gussie averaged 16 points a game and was runner-up in the state scoring race. In his senior year, Doerner came back bigger and better than ever before. He was chosen captain of the crew, and the records fell as the "Mackey Express" declared war on the existing records. The state scoring record was rewritten when Gussie tallied 407 points in 1942. He was riding along with a 24.4 average when Coach Bill Slyker directed his charges to the NAIB tourney in Kansas City.

Hits 34 Points

Nebraska State Teachers college met the Purple Aces in the first contest of the tourney. It was in this game that Gussie established a school scoring record which was to withstand all challengers until Jerry Clayton stormed the fort to score 35 points and break Doerner's record of 34 which was established in that first game in 1942. The Aces, however, were dropped by the Teachers of Eastern Central college, 42-30, to bow out of the tourney.

Named All-American

His performance in the NAIB gathering enabled Gussie to gain national acclaim and he was placed on the All-American team in his senior year.

In four years at Evansville College, Doerner hit 470 field goals and 237 free throws for 1195 points. During his last year he averaged 24.4 points per game and hit for a 47.5 average from the floor and 80.0 from the foul line.

After graduation he joined the Ft. Wayne Zollner Pistons for two years, and the next two were spent in the Army Air Corps. After service, he played with the World Tourney Champion Kautsky's of Indianapolis in 1946. Three years were devoted to the coaching game at Ft. Branch. One sectional crown came to the Gibson County school under Gussie's leadership.

Gussie, now 33, is in business in the sporting goods field and is married and has two daughters.

Evansville sports fans have responded to the call of several friends of the heralded cager in contributing $435 to a fund to buy the Doerner's a new car. The accident completely demolished the car which Gussie was driving and the passengers in the other car, both men, were killed in the crash.

Aces Favored

The Aces will be favored to do away with the Pumas at the Armory and they will, thus, gain their first undisputed ICC championship. Last year they tied with Butler's Bulldogs.

The Evansville athletes will be in good shape, barring any mishaps in last night's game, and they'll be pulling for Gussie, who will be honored in half-time ceremonies. In the previous meeting between the two squads, Evansville roared to a 105-91 win at St. Joe. High-scoring Don Merki paced the losers with 33 points while the Aces featured a more balanced attack with Bob Walker hitting 28, and Clyde Cox and Jerry Clayton tallying 23 each.

WAA Cage Tournament To Close Wednesday

WAA basketball firing got underway last Wednesday with Beta Sigs meeting AOPi's and Chi O's playing Phi Mu in the second game.

The tourney will run for two weeks with the winner of the first game played Wednesday meeting the victor of the second game for the campus championship. A consolation game between the two losers will be played for third and fourth places.

Games are scheduled for 6:30 and 7:15 p.m. Wednesday night for the championship and consolation tilts.

THE ICC CONFERENCE race continued to be a three-sided affair after last Saturday's games throughout the state. With Evansville, Valparaiso and Butler all winning key contests, the Aces were only able to keep a one game lead over their chief antagonists, but if Coach McCutchan's charges can continue to play the brand of basketball they played against DePauw they should keep the conference trophy at Evansville.

Due to the printing schedule of the Crescent, the results of last night's game with Indiana State were not available but with a win last night, a victory over St. Joseph next Thursday night would give the Aces a clear claim to the title. St. Joseph, currently the cellar dwellers in the conference, is led by big Don Merki who has been averaging better than 20 points per game. The Pumas will play DePauw Tuesday night at home before traveling to E'town.

THE BASKETBALL NEWS from around Philadelphia has been centered lately around an 18-year-old high school player named Wilton Chamberlain, nicknamed "Wilt the Stilt." The boy, it seems, is having trouble choosing which school he would like to attend since he has received offers from some 150 colleges and universities throughout the country.

The reason for the great amount of offers he has received stems from his ability to average about a point a minute, and a frame that soars some seven feet in the air. In addition to the college offers, he has also received an offer from the Harlem Globetrotters, but he says he can always play with the 'Trotters, and he would like to get an education first.

Phi Zeta Hell Week Underway; Others Scheduled Next Week

Hell Week, the week in which fraternity pledges "get the works," opened for Phi Zeta pledges Monday and will begin for Pi Epsilon Phi pledges next Monday. Hazing for Sigma Epsilon pledges, scheduled to begin Monday, will take on a somewhat different aspect, with their period of strenuous initiation entitled "Help Week."

Phi Zeta pledges began their Hell Week activities last Monday by hearing president Bob Harman read the Phi Zeta constitution.

After a Monday night run-in with paint brushes, the 'Zeta pledges participated in "games" Tuesday, with actives Frank Healy and Jim Hartman in charge.

Wednesday night was the date for Phi Zeta inquisition, followed by the final blackball meeting. The 'Zeta pledges attended the Evansville College basketball game en masse Thursday, returning to the fraternity house afterward to begin a scavenger hunt. Dave Smith and Don Groeninger supervised the scavenger hunt.

Road Trip

Preceding tonight's pledge dance, the 'Zeta pledges will be put through their paces in the downtown area. They will be allowed to spend one and one-half hours at the pledge dance before returning to the fraternity house. From there they will be taken on the traditional road trip. Rough house will be Saturday, with formal initiation scheduled for Sunday evening at the Alpine House.

Pi Epsilon Phi, with 14 pledges scheduled to undergo the Hell Week treatment, will open its hazing next Monday. The activities will continue through Sunday, February 27, the date for rough house and formal initiation. Bill Baumeyer, sophomore, is the Philo pledge master.

Help Week

Sigma Phi Epsilon, newest organization on campus, has labeled its period of hazing "Help Week," in accord with practices carried out by other Sig Ep chapters around the nation. The Sig Ep pledges will keep most of their initiation episodes in a constructive line, with most of their efforts intended to assist the Vanderburgh County Heart Fund.

Formal initiation into the national fraternity has been set for March 12 and 13.

Heads Music Group

Mrs. Harris D. Erickson, assistant professor of voice, was elected president of the Eighth District Indiana Federation of Music Clubs at a recent meeting of the organization.

Kettlehut Extends Campus Campaign For WUS Fund

The campus drive for the World University Service fund has been extended indefinitely, according to Bob Kettelhut, student chairman of the drive.

Scheduled to end February 7, the campaign will continue until all faculty members and students can be contacted. This is expected to take a period of several weeks.

Anyone who wishes may make his contribution directly to the campaign headquarters, Dr. Culver's office.

WUS works through National Committees in more than thirty countries, giving support to higher education through international contributions as well as projects sponsored and financed through national efforts in each country.

WUS support provides student lodging and living, student health, educational equipment, refugee services, education for international understanding and emergency relief activities.

Shepards To Judge State Music Contest

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Shepard, co-heads of the music department at the College, will judge at the State Solo and Ensemble contest at Butler university Saturday, February 19. Mrs. Shepard will judge vocal ensembles and Mr. Shepard will judge clarinet solos and ensembles.

Over 2500 students who achieved a Division I rating in the district solo and ensemble contests will take part in the contest.

On Febuary 5 Evansville College was host to the Solo and Ensemble contest of the Tri-State area, where approximately 1200 participated.

Olmsted Guest Speaker At Engineering Club

Mr. Ralph Olmsted, Evansville College business manager and treasurer, was the guest speaker at a special meeting of the Engineering Club at 10 a.m. Wednesday, February 16. The meeting was held in Room 201 of the Engineering building.

The meeting was designed to clarify the breakdown of costs connected with college work, with emphasis being placed on the student activity fees.

According to Prof. Edward C. Susat, director of cooperative engineering, many students do not understand how many expenses are covered by the student activity fees. It was therefore decided that the Engineering Club would invite a representative of the business office to one of its meetings to explain the distribution of the fees.

Sororities' Spring Rush Planned for April 12-19

Spring rushing activities for sororities will take place April 12-19, according to Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor.

Persons eligible for rush will be notified, and if they desire to take part, they should sign up in Mrs. Stephens' office, she said. Pledging will take place after rush, but initiation will not be conducted until next year.

"The regular rush regulations, with modifications, will apply to the informal spring rush," stated Mrs. Stephens. Sororities are limited to one informal coke party or picnic during this rush reason rather than the two parties of the formal rush.

Rush is optional for the sororities and not all of the organizations are participating. Chi Omega has reached its chapter limit and will not participate; Beta Sigma Omicron may take only one freshman but several upperclassmen; Alpha Omicron Pi may take only upperclassmen, and Phi Mu may take both freshmen and upperclassmen.

Sororities to Aid Panhellinc Meeting

Evansville College sororities will assist in arrangements for the State Panhellenic meeting Saturday, April 30, in the Union building.

Beta Sigma Omicron and Chi Omega are in charge of registration and an early coffee hour for delegates. Favors for the noon luncheon will be handled by Alpha Omicron Pi and Phi Mu.

All sorority girls may be present for the conference although the active and incoming presidents of Panhellenic are the only official delegates for the college. Miss Reba Hardison, Phi Mu, is the present president. The incoming president will be a member of Beta Sigma Omicron.

Mrs. William Knopsnyder, past president of Evansville City Panhellenic, is chairman of the conference.

"Toyland," directed by Joanne Bailey and Susie Chenoweth, will be presented by Beta Sigma Omicron. The dolls come to life at the wish of a poor ragamuffin, Jean Hurst, in the story told by Phyllis Warnke.

A serious note is injected in the show by Phi Mu in its skit, entitled "The Shoemaker and the Elves." Elizabeth Inkenbrandt directs their skit.

The fancy stepping of Bob Rundell is displayed in the Student Christian Association's version of "Little Black Sambo" which they call "Little Red Mambo." Doddie Johnson is director for the skit.

Carolyn Lockwood, general chairman, is in charge of the presentation with Dick Egerton assisting her in the capacity of stage manager, and Carl Powers serving as assistant stage manager.

Hyde to Take Office March 14

Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, named to the presidency of Evansville College by the Board of Trustees February 7, will begin his official duties here March 14, according to an announcement by College officials this week.

Dr. Hyde had planned to assume his office April 1, but has moved the date forward two weeks. Serving now as assistant president of Drake University at Des Moines, Ia., he will leave that position on March 12.

Dr. and Mrs. Hyde are expected to attend the annual Faculty-Trustee dinner Monday evening, March 14. A reception in their honor will follow the dinner. The following day Dr. Hyde will attend the regular meeting of the College trustees.

Mrs. Hyde will return to their home in Des Moines, where their daughter, Joanne, is a senior at Drake. Following Miss Hyde's graduation, they will join Dr. Hyde in Evansville.

Acting President Dean Long, who replaced Dr. Lincoln B. Hale last June, will resume his duties as vice president of the College and director of adult education.

Baggett, King, Mohr Chosen By ROTC

Three junior girls were elected to serve as honorary ROTC cadet officers in a special assembly in the Great Hall last Friday.

Chosen by the ROTC were Dorothy Baggett, Jackie King and Rosemary Mohr.

Miss Baggett is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Last year she was an attendant to the basketball queen.

Miss King is an AOPi. She was elected basketball queen last year and was named EC's candidate for queen of the Owensboro All-American Cities tournament this year.

Miss Mohr is a Chi Omega. She was chosen Icebreaker queen last year and Homecoming queen this year.

The name of the coed elected honorary colonel will be withheld until the night of the Military Ball, when she will be named and presented with her two attendants. The honorary colonel will then lead the grand march.

Miss Baggett, Miss King and Miss Mohr, all elementary education majors, were chosen from among eighteen who were presented to the cadet corps in the special ROTC assembly.

Others introduced were Marilyn Bartlett, Loretta Beldon, Joan Bosse, Joanne Bailey, Susie Chenoweth, Jo-Ann Frohbieter, June Harris, Gloria Keil, Carol Kerr, Carolyn Lockwood, Joan Luckett, Barbara Moore, Mary Jane Nendel, Marilyn Tate and Mary Lou Taylor.

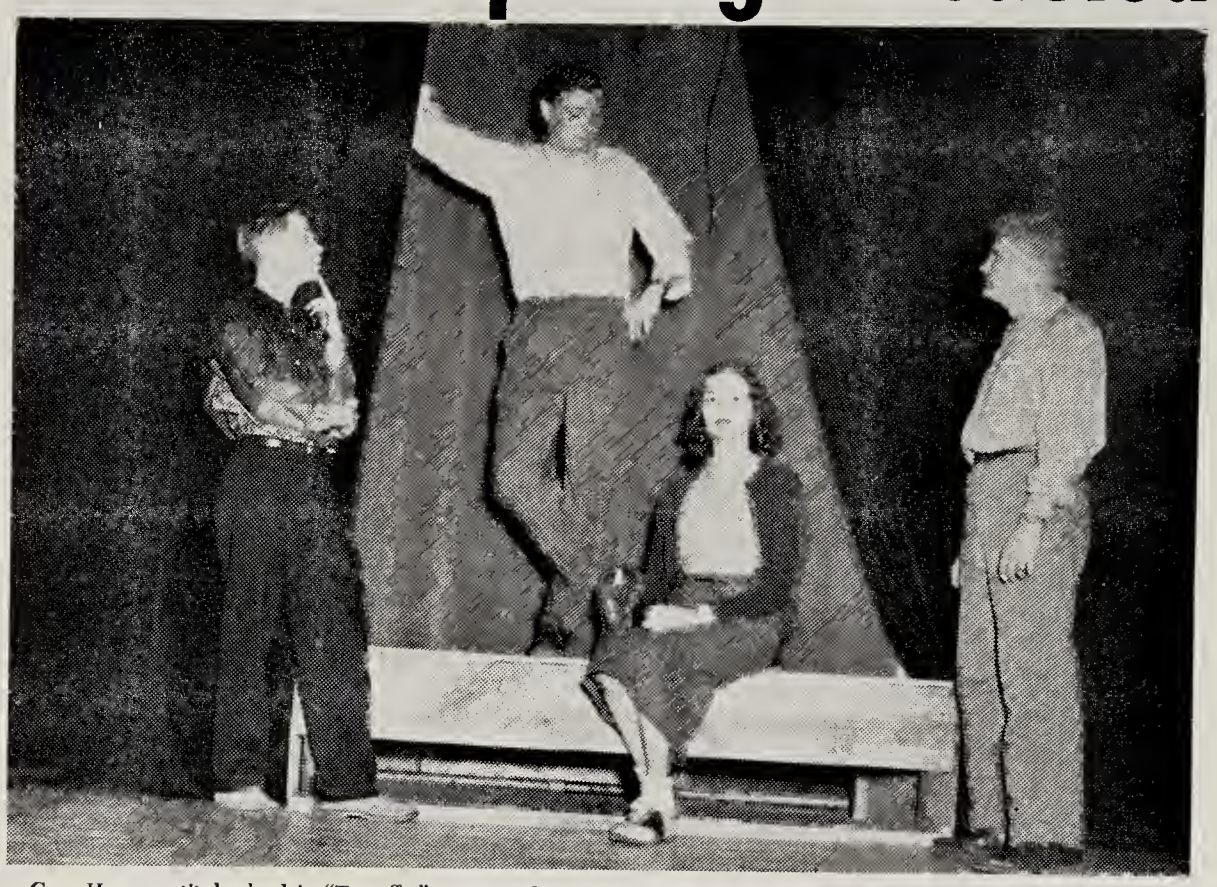
ENGINEERS MEET

In keeping with the celebration of National Engineers Week, members of the College Engineers club had Dennis Stallings, guest speaker, at their dinner meeting Wednesday evening.

Mr. Stallings, representing the local chapter of the National Society of Professional Engineers, used as his theme, "Progress in Engineering."

'Tartuffe' Opening Scheduled Thursday



Gary Harmon, titular lead in "Tartuffe," seems to have the situation under control as he towers over Myra Kasey, Madame Pernelle, at rehearsal. Watching the situation are Hal Burckhartt, left, who plays the part of Organ, and Frank Powers, his son, Damis. The players should make a far different appearance when they don their period costumes for the public opening Thursday evening. (Photo by Jerry Grey)

College Theater's Second Production Exposes Gullibility

Satire, comic situations and human gullibility will all be featured in the Evansville College Theatre production "Tartuffe," which will begin a three day run Thursday.

The 17th century satire by Moliere will be presented each evening in the College auditorium at 8:15. The regular admission price is 75 cents, but students will be admitted on their activity ticket.

Special High School Performance

A special performance will be given Wednesday for Tri-State high school students, exclusively. Special invitations have been issued to high school drama, speech, French and English classes to attend both the performance and a special coke party onstage after the show.

The French play is being produced in conjunction with the UNESCO International Theatre Month celebration, following a new policy started this year by Robert Heater, dramatics instructor. One foreign play will be produced each year under this policy.

Play Concerned With Gullibility

The action of the play is concerned with the incredible gullibility of Organ who is taken in completely by Tartuffe, the imposter. Organ is so deceived by Tartuffe that he gives the imposter everything, including his daughter.

Through the combined efforts of Elmire, Organ's wife, and Dorine, the maid, who typify the sensible people of the world, Tartuffe is finally exposed and in typical Moliere fashion everything turns out for the best.

"Moliere's sharp satire and clever wit in presenting human shortcomings injected in an age-old comic situation makes the drama just as timely today as it was 250 years ago," stated Mr. Heater.

Gary Harmon will portray the title role of Tartuffe and Hal Burckhartt will depict the gullible father, Organ. Elmire will be played by Carolyn Kohl and Dorine will be represented by Carolyn Conoway.

Supporting roles will be handled by Myra Kasey, Frank Powers, Margie Warren, Carl Bilderback, John Koehler, John Bennett, Bob Krug, Bob Love and Lois Somers. Barbara Moore is student director and Jerry Grey stage manager for the production.

World Famous Author Will Speak at Union February 28

Miss Faith Baldwin, one of the best-known authors of the era and a world traveler and lecturer, will speak at 8 p.m. February 28 in the Great Hall of the Union building in behalf of the Save the Children Federation.

The public, instructors and students are invited to hear Miss Baldwin, who recently returned from Europe where she saw the Save the Children Federation at work. Her subject will be "All the World's Children."

Author of seventy books and innumerable short stories and articles, Miss Baldwin started writing at the age of six. Often called the "beloved glamor girl of American letters," she writes a type of light romance using real-life problems.

The local SCF is a chapter of a national group organized to help less fortunate children.

The organization's efforts have been extended to nine states, with particular emphasis on isolated areas and in 10 foreign countries, including Korea and Lebanon.

Philos, Chi Os Win Top Places For Skits in Kampus Kapers

Pi Epsilon Phi and Chi Omega copped top honors in the fifth annual Kampus Kapers competition last Tuesday. Acacia and Beta Sigma Omicron won second place trophies.

The Philos won first place in class B competition, which included all fraternities, INCA and SCA, and the Chi O's received the prize in class A, composed or sororities, the Baptist Nurses and IRC.

The first place winners receive two trophies, a small cup which they may keep and a larger one which is passed on each year. Chi Omega, first place winner for the third consecutive year, will take permanent possession of the class A traveling trophy.

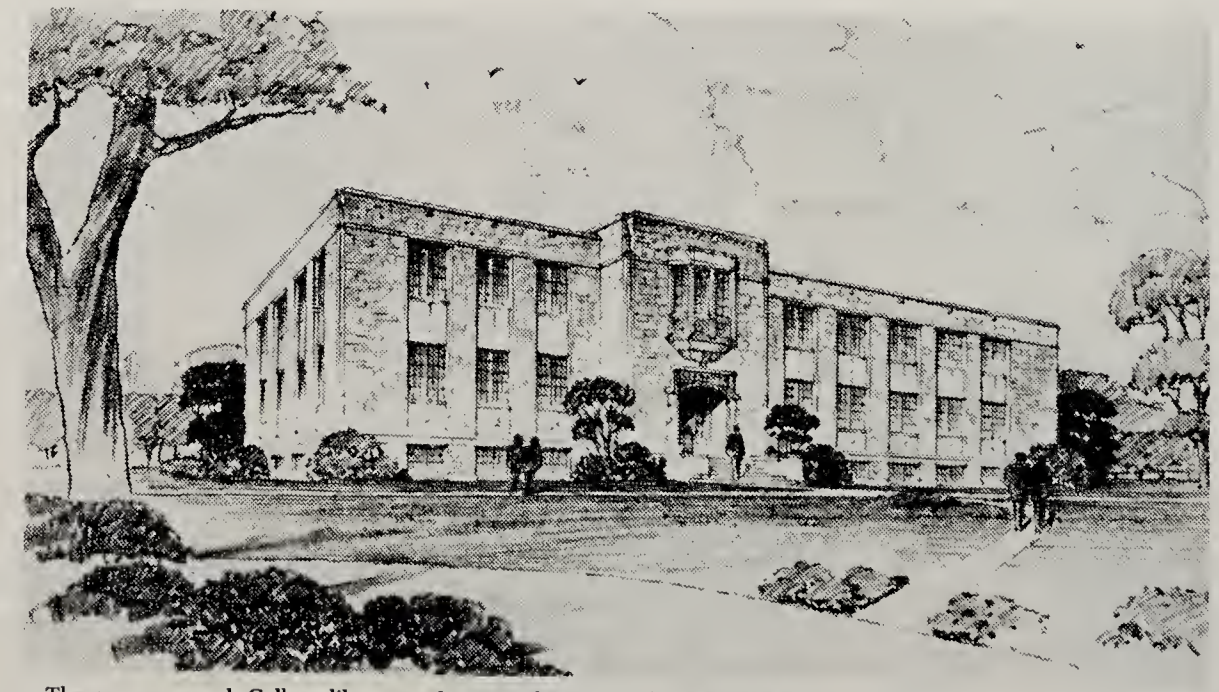
Second place prizes were small cups which the recipients keep. The trophies are provided each year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"The Emperor's New Clothes" told in rhyme proved successful for the Philos, while the Chi O's won with "Snow White." Doug Barthlow directed the first skit and portrayed the leading role, while Bill Greer wrote the script and narrated. Carol Schellhase and Margie Hassee were responsible for the direction of "Snow White," and Carolyn Kohl played the title role.

"Little Red Riding Hood" and "Toyland" were the presentations submitted by the Acacia's and the Bet Sigs. Dave Harold directed "Red Riding Hood" and Susie Chenoweth and Joanne Bailey were in charge of "Toyland."

Carolyn Lockwood, general chairman, supervised the production, with the assistance of Dick Egerton, stage manager, and Carl Powers, assistant stage manager.

Representatives from the Jaycees who judged the show included Mr. and Mrs. Max Reeser, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erhart and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mengon. Their decision was based on stage appearance, originality, audience reaction and interpretation.



The new, proposed, College library as shown in the architect's drawing will be modified Gothic type architecture, similar to the Union and the Engineering-Science buildings. Three stories high, it will be comparable in size to the Administration building. The library is 141' x 96', the Administration building, 155' x 55' Planned on the open stack principle, the library will have individual study alcoves as well as informal reading rooms for the students.

March 7 is Deadline For Selective Service Test

Monday, March 7, is the final day for making applications for the April 21 selective service test. Applications can be obtained at Dr. Everette Walker's office or at the local selective service office, stated Dr. Walker.

To be eligible to take selective service college qualification test, an applicant must be a selective service registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a student. He must also be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate, leading to a degree. He cannot have previously taken the test.

As in the past the test will be given on campus and Dr. Walker urges all students interested in taking the test to contact him at the earliest possible date.

Long Returns From Hospital

Acting President Dean Long returned to his home Monday from Deaconess hospital, where he had been a patient for a week.

Although his condition is greatly improved, Mr. Long probably will not return to his duties before next week, according to his secretary, Miss Eloise Sartain.

Boiled in the 'Midnight Oil'

We are rapidly nearing the time of the quarter when "midnight oil" and sleepless nights are the order of things. Yes, once more the word "cram" becomes a part of the conversation of most students.

This will be the last chance to flunk until May, and one good way to be a candidate for a "flag" is to try to cram twelve weeks of classwork into twelve hours of study.

For some students a review of their notes will be a help, but to those who try and squeeze a textbook, a notebook and any other outside aids into one compact study period, we offer only sincere sympathy.

It has been suggested by some that to prepare oneself properly for an exam, the student should:

1. Spend short periods regularly in brief reviews, both of your notes and your textbooks.
2. The night before the exam, relax, see a good movie or do something which you will enjoy, but by all means get in bed early enough to get a good night's sleep.
3. Don't allow yourself to get moody or angry or upset in any way. Stay happy and keep your mind fresh.

We know that some of you will scoff at these suggestions because you have already worked out a successful plan for preparing for finals. But to those of you who are still wandering around, planning on cramming, we offer this plan for your approval. You may find it a help in "murdering" that final. (K. C.)

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Saw "Brigadoon" a while back. The movie version was better than the play. They can do so much more with a wide screen than they can on a stage.

It's amazing how some people take a play like that. Some of the snidy remarks from some of the characters in the crowd made me wonder about their mentality.

Coleridge had it when he made his statement about "the willing suspension of disbelief." How many of us feel that we are above such a suspension? Have you ever watched a bunch of kids at play? They don't have to work hard to develop a willing suspension of disbelief. Are their minds so underdeveloped? Does intelligence cause us to not be able to have a willing suspension of disbelief?

To me "Brigadoon" carries a message. Maybe it is a message of beauty. Maybe it's a message of love. Maybe it's a message of believing.

Is it our fast life that causes us to sneer at fantasy? Do we let our mercenary drives blind us? There is so much beauty around us that goes unseen. We are incapable of seeing it, of hearing it, of smelling it. We haven't the time.

The sound of dew dripping from the leaves in a woods . . . the wetness of the underside of a blade of grass . . . the smell of a new-mown field of clover . . . the hum of bees busily pursuing nectar . . . the sight of a squirrel sunning himself on a limb . . . the sly smoothness of a fox surveying his kingdom . . . the blurring movement of a humming bird's wings . . . the eeriness of a shooting star . . . the wiggling of a sniffing rabbit's nose . . . the smoothness of a flick of a cat's tail . . . the longing of a pet for love . . . the staccato sound of pieces of wood hitting the ground — woodpeckers hunting hungrily for insects . . . the earnestness of ants carrying food to their hills . . . the slaving of tumblebug with his huge load . . . the eyes of a raccoon when he is treed . . . the sudden whir of a bevy of quails . . . the almost perfect V of a flight of ducks . . . the everseeing eyes of a goose as he watches over his raft . . . the independence of a skunk . . . the beauty of rain . . . the stillness of snow . . . the sound of thunder as it clears and charges the air . . . the mystery of birth . . . the ballerina-like positions of saplings when the wind tunes up its instruments . . . the croaking of frogs as they begin their nightly serenades . . . the chirping of a cricket . . . the maternal love of a bird building a nest the baughtiness of a drake . . . the slow, easy movement of a catfish . . . the noisy regurgitation of a cow . . . the coldness of a snake's belly . . .

Yes, there are millions of things going on about us daily that we are unwilling to see. We haven't the time or we don't want to take the trouble.

In our highly specialized society we are too dependent upon others. We have come to depend on science, on books. We are unable to cope with the whole of it, so everyone becomes a specialist in some little phase of it.

There are more important things than digesting a book, then learning a theory. We are slowly becoming blind to those little things that prove hat this is a good world. We are allowing ourselves o appreciate only that which can be explained by science.

We are missing a lot of life.

Congratulations and bouquets to those responsible for the campus appearance of Indiana's State Senator Homer Capehart. Above you see the Senator surrounded by student and faculty members in the informal coffee discussion held last Monday in the Lounge of the Union building.

Those of us who attended enjoyed the informative, discussive nature of the gathering. Again thanks and may we see more of this type of meeting. (K. C.)

Langefeld, Curley ROTC Officers Get Promotions

The Evansville College AFROTC announced the promotions of two of its staff members this week. Loren F. Langefeld, assistant professor of air science, was advanced from the rank of first lieutenant to that of captain; William B. Curley, supply sergeant, from tech to master sergeant.

Capt. Langefeld's promotion is retroactive to February 3, Sgt. Curley's to February 1.

Capt. Langefeld was commissioned an officer in the Air Force in San Antonio, Tex., in 1944 after having been in the Army infantry for three years. Until the end of World War II he served as an instructor at many bases in the United States.

In 1946 he was discharged but he was called back to active duty five years later. Since his return to the Air Force he has done a tour of duty in Japan.

Capt. Langefeld came to Evansville College last fall from Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

Sgt. Curley has been a member of the Evansville College AFROTC staff for three and one-half years. Prior to coming here he was stationed at Hamilton Field, Calif.

During World War II he was in Italy with the 15th Air Force. After having been discharged two years earlier, he was recalled in 1947 for a tour of duty in Okinawa which lasted two and one-half years.

Sgt. Curley is married and has a son, 8, and a daughter, 11.

EC Applies For NASPA Membership

Evansville College has applied for membership in the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, announced last week.

The Association is an organization which correlates and studies effective methods of service in the field of student welfare for men. It also operates an informal placement service through which its members may list available men or men requesting an opportunity to get into a particular field.

Founded in 1919, the Association has members in every state in the United States and three territories. The group has stimulated studies, conducted surveys and led many cooperative activities with other organizations.

To become a member of NASPA a school must be a four-year, degree-granting institution recognized by the appropriate regional accrediting agency.

BULLER SPEAKS

Dr. Francis P. Buller, professor of psychology, was guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Tri-State organization of the National Association of Credit Men last Tuesday.

Dr. Buller and Mr. W. L. Poole, division personnel manager for Associated Products Division of General Foods, discussed the new techniques of trying to determine in advance the leadership abilities of employees.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

At present the Welfare Committee of the Student Faculty Federation receives thirty-five cents out of each activity fee each quarter. It appears certain that this will have to be raised for next year. The committee has to pay $1,000 each year for the school nurse, plus any claims that are filed by students. The present annual allotment to the Welfare Committee is approximately $1,000. Therefore any payments made after the nurse's salary, such as claims and medical supplies for the health center, must come from the committee's accumulated surplus which is rapidly diminishing. Bob Porro, chairman of the Welfare Committee, requested that the allotment be increased to fifty cents per quarter from each activity fee.

If the Welfare Committee's budget is increased, it is obvious that one of the others must be cut. It appears that the cut will probably be taken by the Debate and Fine Arts funds.

Also it appears that an increase in the Student Government Fund will be necessary. At present this fund receives only three cents from each ticket. Since Evansville has decided to join NSA, this fund will have to be increased because national dues and convention expenses will be taken from it.

Night School Spring Classes Are Announced

Spring schedule for night school classes has been announced by Marvin Hartig, director of Evening College.

Registration for classes will begin February 28 and continue through March 18. Persons desiring to sign up for classes may register at the Evening College office, A-217.

Classes will begin Monday, March 14, with an offering of 73 courses.

Twelve courses which were not originally scheduled for Spring quarter are being offered. Among them are classes in art, business education, English, home economics, psychology and sociology.

As usual, about 50 per cent of the instructors are part-time instructors from off-campus who have had much practical experience in the field of their teaching.

Pi Gamma Mu To Initiate Thirteen at Dinner Tonight

Thirteen students will be initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society at a dinner meeting at 5:30 p.m. today in Cafe B of the Union building, according to Professor L. W. Anderson, sponsor of the group.

Three juniors, Marilyn Bartlett, Hal Burckhartt and Carolyn Lockwood will be inducted into the organization. Seniors Dorothy Brannon, Margaret Ann Broadhead, Gilbert Bumb, Barbara Cox, David Lawson, Janis Pattie, Martha Powell, Norma Robertson, June Wallace and Richard Wirth will also be initiated.

Bob Porro, president of the group, will preside at the ceremony. He will be assisted by Margaret Scott and Lois Salazar.

Mr. Edward Richards, professor of history and political science, will address the meeting. He will speak on the subject, "Soviet Internal Policies After March 1953," explaining happenings in Russia since the death of Stalin.

WEVC's first broadcast was made March 27, 1951.

Committee Helps Solve Scholarship Problems

"Our main purpose is to encourage and help students to go to graduate or professional schools after they leave Evansville College," Prof. Claude Slusher said as he explained the work of the Committee on Graduate Study. Mr. Slusher is chairman of the group.

The committee, which was organized last fall to replace two old ones, is composed the seven faculty members: Mr. Slusher, associate professor of marketing; Dr. Daniel Boughner, professor of English; Dr. F. Woody Werking, professor of modern language; Mr. Marvin Hartig, director of the Evening College; Dr. Francis Buller, professor of psychology; Mr. William Hartsaw, associate professor of engineering; and Dr. Charles Robertson, professor of biology.

In an attempt to foster interest in graduate work, committee members contact students recommended to them by department heads. They explain the value of additional education and suggest various schools offering graduate study in the student's particular fields of interest. They also check for possibilities of fellowships and scholarships at the universities.

"We're working on a teaching fellowship at the University of Illinois for one of our seniors right now," Professor Slusher said, "and I think he'll get it."

If committee members think a student is eligible for a Rhodes scholarship, they handle the correspondence connected with applying for it and will take care of the recommendations that must be approved by the college.

The committee is in direct contact with the state and national committees on Fulbright scholarships. Since these scholarships involve study in foreign countries, changes are made from time to time in the availability of grants, depending on the attitude of the State Department toward the governments involved. The local committee is informed of changes at once, making it easier for members to be definite when giving out information on scholarships.

In addition to encouraging and helping students with scholarship problems, the committee keeps a record of Evansville graduates who enter schools of advanced study for comparison purposes with other small colleges. Of the 173 students who were graduated last year 16 went on to graduate schools, the survey shows.

Evansville College was awarded its ROTC unit July 1, 1951.

The cornerstone of the Union was laid October 20, 1949.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Dr. and Mrs. Everette Walker spoke on the recently formed nursery school for retarded children at the Lady Lions dinner meeting Monday evening at the Vendome hotel.

Dr. Walker is director of student personnel services.

Dorati To Conduct Symphony Concert Here March 2

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Antal Dorati, will present a concert, sponsored by the Musicians' Club, Wednesday, March 2, at 8:15 p.m. in the Coliseum. Admission will be by season ticket only.

The program will begin with "Egmont Overture, Opus 84," Beethoven. Next the orchestra will play "Symphony No. 3 in F Major, Opus 90," by Brahms and "Suite from the Love for Three Oranges," Opus 33-A," Prokofieff. In conclusion, "Pictures at an Exhibition," Moussorgaky, arranged by Ravel, will be interpreted.

Mr. Dorati, who succeeds Dimitri Mitropoulos as conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony, is considered one of the finest young musicians in the country. A native of Budapest, he was the youngest person to receive a degree from the Budapest Academy. At the age of 18 he was appointed conductor of the Royal Opera House.

Having also worked as a composer and arranger, Mr. Dorati has appeared as guest conductor of great orchestras in the United States, Europe, Mexico, South America and Australia. He was head of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra before accepting his present position in 1949.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra is the only major orchestra in America having its home on a university campus. During a single season it presents 40 concerts at Northrup auditorium at the University of Minnesota in addition to its 70 concerts on the road.

The orchestra which is rated among the top five in the nation, records exclusively for the Mercury Recording Company.

Philharmonic To Feature Garbousova As Soloist At Concert Monday Night

Cellist Raya Garbousova will appear as soloist with the Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra at 8:15 p.m. Monday, February 28, in the Coliseum. Minas Christian wil conduct the orchestra.

Mme. Garbousova is recognized by the critics as being the world's leading feminine cellist. A native of Tiflis in the Russian state of Georgia, she studied in Berlin and Paris and has played with outstanding symphonies in Surope, Latin America and the United States.

Now an American citizen, Mme. Garbousova came to this country over ten years ago. She lives in DeKalb, Ill., with her husband, a heart specialist, and their two sons. In addition to her concert appearances, she spends part of her time teaching in the Chicago School of Music and privately in her home.

Monday's program at the Coliseum will open with the orchestra's interpretation of Beethoven's "Egmont Overture, Opus 84." Next Mme. Garbousova will play "Concerto in D Major or Violincello and Orchestra," Haydn.

Mme. Garbousova's second selection will be "Variations on a Rococo Theme for Cello and Orchestra, Opus 33," Tchaikovsky. The orchestra will close the concert with the Prelude and Love Death from "Tristan and Isolde," by Wagner.

Admission to the concert will be by season ticket only.

Final Philharmonic program for the season will be on April 4.

Chemical Society To Hear 'Hot Atom' Talk Monday

Dr. John Willard, professor of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin, will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Indiana-Kentucky Border Section of the American Chemical Society in the Student Union next Monday, February 28. Dr. Willard will discuss 'hot atom' chemistry.

The meeting will convene in the Lounge at 6:15 p.m. and will move to the Cafeteria for dinner at 6:30.

Dr. Willard has been with the University of Wisconsin since 1937. During World War II he took a leave of absence to serve on the Atomic Energy Project at the Metallurical Laboratory of the University of Chicago and the Hanford Engineer Works at Richland, Wash. He has since served on a number of advisory boards and in a consultant capacity for Atomic Energy Commission laboratories.

A former chairman of the Wisconsin Section of the American Chemical Society, Dr. Willard is currently secretary-treasurer of the Division of Physical and Inorganic Chemistry of the Society.

Dr. Norman Long, head of the chemistry department, is chairman of the local Section of the American Chemical Society and Prof. Andrew Sherockman is secretary.

Fraternity To Continue Drive For Heart Fund

Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon will be washing cars tomorrow and Sunday for the Heart Fund.

Sig Eps will go from house to house offering to wash cars for $1. Half of the proceeds will go to the fraternity and half to the Heart Fund. The fraternity carried on a similar campaign last weekend.

Anyone wanting a car wash may call 3-8862 or 2-1615, and a Sig Ep will come to do the job.

Erickson, McKown Named to Offices In Religious Group

Dr. Harris Erickson, professor of philosophy, was elected to a three-year term on the Organization's Council of the Midwestern Section of the National Association of Biblical Instructors last weekend at a conference held at the Garrett Biblical Institute on the campus of Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill.

At the same time, Dean Edgar McKown was appointed chairman of the Membership Committee of the organization.

The two-day program for the convention was set up by Dr. Erickson, who has been program chairman of the association for the past two years. On the agenda were scholarly papers and discussions by outstanding members of the religious profession dealing with problems of Biblical research, philosophical interpretations and practical aspects related to the teaching of religion in colleges and universities.

The meetings were attended by about 75 delegates from colleges in eight states in the northern midwest area.

Dean McKown and Dr. Erickson contribute articles to the official journal of the Association, "The Journal of Bible and Religion."

This week's column was written by Carolyn Ruschmeier, senior member of AOPi and the Student Government Committee.

You know what it's like to be happy. You know how it feels to have other people trust you, like you and want your friendship, to have your parents and teachers give you credit for work well done.

You know what it is to be sure you're living up to your ideals, to be pleased with a project you have carried through faithfully. You know what it is to be sure you're living up to your ideals, to be pleased with a project you have carried through faithfully. You know that it is like to feel healthy, in love with life.

Out of this happiness and harmony come all the wonderful things that people can do for each other. Out of this happiness and harmony you and I have something to be thankful for today, tomorrow and every day of our lives.

Because of this happiness and harmony men have erected great modern hospitals. They have discovered drugs to heal infections and stop pain. They have organized campaigns to halt epidemics. They have established national parks and made laws to protect birds and animals. They have provided free schooling for children. They have sent thousands of carloads of food to countries with famine. They have provided care for handicapped people and help for the aged. They have written great books and composed great music.

Yes, they have shown you and me how thankful we can truly be for all these things which concern us today, tomorrow and always.

Evansville Wins ICC Conference

Aces Secure Crown Beating St. Joseph's

Evansville College rules as the undisputed ICC conferenee champ!

The Aces who were handed the championship Tuesday when DePauw knocked off Butler, the closest challenger, anchored the conference trophy in the Lineoln Ave. show case Wednesday night with a sharp 101-81 win over the St. Joe Pumas.

The new champs won their last threc ICC contests after dwelling in the third place slot for a short period midway in the season. Also the win extended the Aces consecutive home floor wins to 10.

Firing at a 40.6 average from the floor the Evansville crew moved into a comfortable lead early in the first half and were never threatened in running up their 100-plus tally for the fifth time this year and the seeond time against the Pumas.

Gussie Doerner sat on the sidelines and watched the Aces pound out their impressive win. The former All-Ameriean who is reeovering from an accident was honored at halftime of the "Gussie Doerner Appreciation Night."

Calm John Harrawood led the Purples attaek with 27 points as the sharp sophomore forward dumped in seven fielders and 13 free throws. Eleven players entered the scoring column as Coach Arad McCutchan tried to hold the seore down. The Aces defeated St. Joe 105-91 earlier in the year.

Don Merki, the conferenee's leading scorer, led his St. Joe mates with 21 points. Only one player failed to hit for the Pumas but the Aces kept this fact from damaging them with a torrid fast break.

Indiana State Beaten, 104-70; Clayton, Bivin Lead Attack

By Larry Sanders

Clinching at least a first-place tie in the ICC conference, Evansville College's Purple Aces stoked their basketball furnace with 36 field goals and 32 free throws to cremate Indiana State, 104-70, last Thursday at the Armory.

The win ran the Aces' record to 9-2 in the loop, and the St. Joe game last night decided whether Evansville would gain an undisputed first place. If the Aces lost they would be tied for the top spot, but if they won the charges of Coach Arad McCutchan would be the sole owners of first place.

The Sycamores, lacking greatly in height and bench strength, never looked like the same crew which held the Aces to a breathless 79-76 win at Terre Haute recently. Evansville moved into an 8-6 first half lead and increased this to 24-12 with 9:40 left in the initial half. It was Jerry Clayton and Roscoe Bivin leading the Purpled barrage in this volley.

Bivin, Clayton Shine

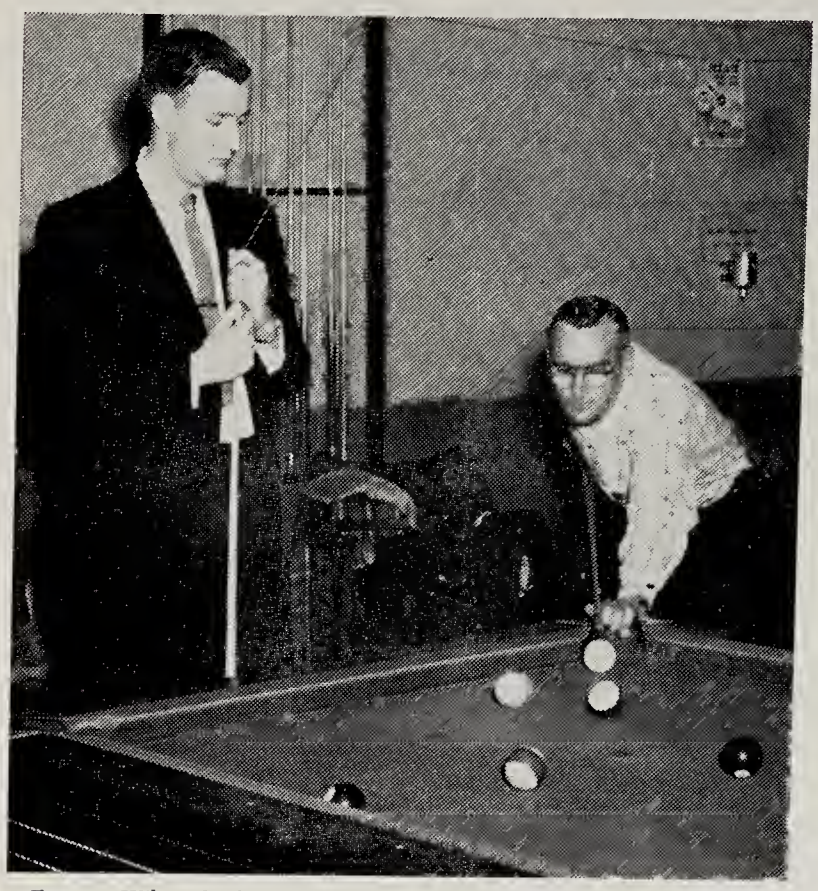
Clayton, a 6-7 freshman, and Bivin, a 6-5 senior, completely stopped the Sycamores on the backboards as well as hitting generously from the field. It was again the sterling freshman forward leading the Evansville attack with 28 markers, and Bivin broke out of his scoring lull with a tremendous output of 20 points.

McCutchan used 13 players in the competition, and the reserves, who have been doing a great job for the tired regulars, again sparkled in the second half. After leading 45-34 at the halftime intermission, Evansville quickly doubled that figure with a 46.3 shooting average for the second session.

Parker, Dunnuck High

Wayne Parker and Ike Dunnuck kept the Sycamore dreams alive with 14 points each, but the visitors could never muster enough ammunition to overcome the Aces.

John Wessel, who has been playing a very important part in the cage welfare at Evansville College, was fouled by Dunnuck with 1:20 left in the contest. After the Indiana State star exited with five personals, John calmly dipped in one of his two foul tosses to put the winnors at the 100 mark, 100-69.



Everette Wilson displays the form which he used in winning the Evansville College Billiards Tournament February 14. Wilson stopped Bill Lockard 56-54 in the final game. Looking on is George Dockery. George was one of the final eight in the tourney, and posted a high score which enabled him to become a member of the college's billiards team in the national tourney.

WITH THE WIND-UP of the basketball season in sight and the weather occasionally giving us the first glimpses of the coming of Spring, the young man's thoughts lightly turn to oiling his baseball glove and filing his cleats.

Don Ping, Athletic Director, last week released the baseball card for the Aces' diamond squad. It includes such powerhouses as the universities of Purdue, Louisville, Washington of St. Louis, and Southern Illinois, along with the ICC conference foes. The Aces will open their season with a double header on April 4, against Albion College from Michigan. Coach Ping hopes to add four more games to the 19-game card.

New York Yankee fans will be interested in hearing that the "Yankee Clipper" is thinking about returning to the New York club. Joe DiMaggio has announced that he is interested in ending his retirement and would like to go back to the Yankees as a Public Relations man and batting and fielding coach. If Joe can teach the youngsters to field and hit like himself, watch out for the Yankees.

THE RESULTS OF THE ICC basketball race for 1954-55 are history and Aces High says "well done" to Coach Arad McCutchan and his cagers. Now let's see how the trophy from Kansas City looks in the trophy case.

In some of the other conferences the races are either overwith or in the midst of hot races for the post position. Western Kentucky was named champion in the OVC conference after their win over Morehead last Saturday night, but in the Big Ten and Southeastern conferences the races are still on. Minnesota continued to lead the Big Ten race with a 9-2 conference record but Iowa remained a close second with an 8-2 total. Indiana is currently in eighth place with a 3-7 record, while Purdue jumped from the cellar to seventh position with a win over Ohio State. Purdue has a 4-7 record in conference competition.

Evansville Gets NAIA Tourney

Evansville will get the NAIA playoffs.

This was the final decision of NAIA leaders made Tuesday night at the association's headquarters in Kansas City. Western Illinois college was chosen as the team at large, thereby making the tournament available for Evansville fans March 1 and 2 at the Armory.

Leaders of District 21 had put the Aces up as their choice for the team-at-large from this area. The chosen team will make a direct trip to the finals at Kansas City with the other competitors working their way to the western city via district playoffs.

Coach Arad McCutchan expressed his pleasure at the decision. Although McCutchan would have liked to go directly to the finals, he feels that the boys will be keener after playing in the playoffs. Western Illinois will go to the finals with no previous firing, thus offering the possibility that the crew will be a little slow because of the long layoff.

Four teams will compete in the tourney here with Evansville looking like the team who will make the Kansas City trip. St. Joseph College of the ICC will meet the champion of the Hoosier Collegiate Conference at 7 p.m., March 1, with the Aces meeting the runner-up in the HCC at 8:45 p.m. that night.

The championship game will be played at 8 p.m. the next evening and the winning club is scheduled to be in Kansas City March 6.

Rolland Eckels, athletic business manager, announced that about 5,000 tickets are on sale. Prices are $1.25 for side bleachers and $1 for end bleachers.

Initiation Breakfast to Close Philo Hellweek Wednesday

By Ken Curtin

Paddles, pills and pains have been the order of the day for aspiring Pi Epsilon Phi's this week. Philo pledges have been enduring a week of activities calculated to keep them in hot water.

Hell week began last Monday night when the pledges gathered in the Union building to be "guests" on a scavenger hunt. Various other projects throughout the day helped keep the pledges in constant misery as they went from one ordeal to another.

Road Trip

Thursday night the pledges were taken on their road trip with a preliminary inquisition to prepare them for the trek.

The downtown tour will be held tonight with the pledges, in a body, traveling Main street in their "formal attire," performing the various duties requested from them by the actives.

Roughhouse for the pledges will be Sunday at an undisclosed location, and the pledges will be hazed to prove their worthiness in becoming members of the fraternity.

Formal Initiation

The Philos' formal initiation is planned for the following Wednesday, March 2. A breakfast will mark the final degree of pledgeship, after which the neophytes will be accepted as members in good standing. The breakfast will be in the Union building cafeteria at 7 a.m.

Other Fraternities

Sigma Epsilon and Acacia pledges will undergo their Hell week later, with the former favoring Help rather than the traditional type of "works." The Vanderburgh County Heart fund will share Sig Ep's receipts from its ear-washing project.

Phi Zetas completed their "training" last week with formal initiation Sunday evening at the Alpine House.

Included were the inquisition and the final blackball period Wednesday, the scavenger hunt Thursday, the down-town exhibit and road trip Friday, winding up with rough house Saturday.

Sheppard Named Member Of Band Masters Group

Mr. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department and director of the College band, has been elected to active membership in the American Band Masters association, an honorary, professional organization.

The honor came as a complete surprise, according to Mr. Shepard, who did not know that his name had been submitted. He was notified by telegram this week by Glenn G. Bainum, secretary of the association.

Interviews Set For Next Week

Next Thursday, March 3, the Diamond Chain Company and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company will have representatives on campus to interview seniors for jobs with their firms.

Goodyear will have a group meeting at 10 a.m. in room A-215, and will make appointments for interviews from it.

The company representatives are especially interested in business and engineering majors, but any senior may inquire into the positions. More information may be obtained at the Placement Bureau.

Union Party Listed To Honnr Seniors At Lincoln School

Second in the series of parties for students in the local high schools will be given next Thursday evening in the Great Hall of the Union building, when seniors from Lincoln high school will be the guests.

A skit with Jane Murray, Benita Horton, Willie Yokel, Gerriann Frasier, Mary Ann Simrell, Connie Miller, Doug Barthlow and Roger Garret will be a feature of the program arranged by Chuck Calhoun, chairman of the program committee. Buddy Watkins directs the skit.

Tom Lukens, assisted by Gene Hollander, will emcee the event. Others on the program include Wendy Long, impersonating Deacon Andy Griffith, and Mary Giovanetti, Susan Hathaway and Joan Hamel, doing the AOPi dance, under the guidance of Tony Reitz.

Elma Vogel is chairman of the refreshment committee, Anita Aders, tours, Barbara Wiseman and Don Groeninger, co-chairmen of mixers.

Chaperones for the party will be Mr. and Mrs. William Coates, Miss Louise Moberly and Miss Freda Martin.

High School Seniors Audition

Tri-State high school seniors will be auditioned for music scholarships to Evansville College on Sunday, February 27, starting at 2 o'clock in the Music and Union buildings.

Koehler Plans Senior Recital In Union Grent Hall Tonight

John Koehler, clarinet major, will present his senior recital tonight at 8:30 in the Great Hall of the Union building. He is a student of Mr. Norman Heim.

Mrs. Mary Nell Plane, pianist, will accompany the recitalist, and the recently reorganized Little Symphony will appear with him for one number.

John Koehler

Featured on the recital will be the clarinetist's presentation of "First Concerto in F Minor," by Von Weber, accompanied by the chamber orchestra with Mr. Heim conducting.

Included on the program will be "Bouree," Bach; "Poetic Sketch," Quet; "Sonatina," Szalowski, and "Two Bagatelles," Avashalomoff.

A member of the College band, the a capella choir, chamber orchestra and the woodwind quartet, Mr. Koehler is also a woodwind instructor in the Evansville College Preparatory school. He teaches at Mt. Vernon and Poseyville high schools.

He is president of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music fraternity, a member of the Evansville College Theater and Alpha Psi Omega, college dramatics honorary.

PAINTING CLASS HAS EXHIBIT IN UNION ART GALLERY

Currently on exhibit in the art gallery of the Union building is a group of water colors by the Adult Daytime Painting class.

Evansville Methodists To Host Indiana State MSM Conference

Methodist Student Movement at Evansville College and Methodist Temple will be hosts to about 300 delegates representing Indiana Wesley Foundations and MSMs for the Indiana State Methodist Student Movement conference, March 18-20, on the College campus. This is the first time a conference has been held in Evansville.

Theme for the conference, "Responsibilities of a Christian Student," will be handled in three phases, "On Being Responsible, Mentally, Morally and Socially." Dr. Paul L. Holmer, associate professor of philosophy at the University of Minnesota, will deal with each phase separately in platform addresses Friday night, Saturday morning and Saturday afternoon.

Worship Service

A special dramatic worship service has been planned by the DePauw MSM for Friday evening after a combined registration, supper and social hour in the Union building and preceding the platform address.

Saturday activities will include morning and afternoon discussion groups, question and answer sessions with Dr. Holmer, business meetings and election of state officers.

A special banquet carrying out the theme "When Knighthood Was in Flower" is planned for Saturday evening in the Great Hall. Dr. Frank Greer, pastor of the local Trinity Methodist church, will speak on the subject, "Ships of the Desert."

Following the dinner will be installation of officers, conducted by the Indiana University Wesley Foundation, and communion-dramatic worship in the sanctuary of the Methodist Temple. Martha Powell, State MSM vice-president, is in charge of communion arrangements.

McKown to Speak

Following breakfast Sunday morning, Dr. E. M. McKown, EC dean, will address the conference on the subject, "God Spoke to Me." His address will be preceded by a short meditation, led by Ball State Wesley Foundation.

Church worship will be observed at the Methodist Temple, where Dr. Melvin Hyde, newly-elected EC president, will be guest speaker.

College delegations to the conference will include representatives from Roberts Park church in Indianapolis, Purdue, Ball State, Indiana State, Manchester, Indiana, DePauw, Franklin, Tri-State, Taylor and Butler.

Housing for the delegates will be provided primarily by members of the Methodist Temple, home church of the local MSM.

Powell in Charge

Martha Powell is in charge of arrangements for the meeting. Assisting her are Guy Andress, MSM director; Norma Roberton, executive secretary; Don Griffith, president; Dr. James Morlock, faculty sponsor and Dr. N. I. Schoolfield, pastor of Methodist Temple.

McGinnis, Hyde To Be Honored At Annual Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGinnis and Dr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Hyde will be honor guests at the annual faculty-trustee dinner Monday, March 14, in the Great Hall of the Union.

Mr. McGinnis is retiring as president of the Board of Trustees after 25 years with the group, and Dr. Hyde will take over his duties as president of the College that same day.

Following the 6:30 dinner, a reception will be held in the lounge to honor the guests, Mrs. Charles Nenneker and Mrs. Edgar McKown will pour. Mrs. Walter Kuenzli, assistant to the Union director, is in charge of arrangements.

Dr. Harold Titus, senior professor of philosophy at Denison university in Granville, Ohio, will be guest speaker at the dinner. Author of the book, "Living Issues in Philosophy," he will discuss the religious and cultural foundations of intellectual freedom.

A committee, composed of Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union, Miss Florence Keve, Miss Virginia Weigel, Miss Agnes Tompkins, all faculty members; Mrs. Georgina Hill, director of food service, and Mrs. Kuenzli is in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

A spring theme will be carried out in the table directions, Miss Kirk said.

Largo and Amoroso To Sing With Flanagan At Military Ball

Air Force ROTC officials are anticipating a sellout crowd for their fourth annual Military Ball, scheduled for Wednesday, March 9, in the National Guard Armory.

Featuring the music of Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra, the dance will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 12 midnight. Tickets are on sale at $4 per couple, and may be purchased from all ROTC cadets.

The evening will be highlighted by the crowning of the Honorary Cadet Colonel. She was elected by the ROTC cadets in a special assembly Friday, February 18. The three finalists were Jackie King, Rosemary Mohr and Dorothy Baggett. The coronation ceremony will be followed by a grand march, led by the Honorary Cadet Colonel.

Accompanying the famed Flanagan orchestra will be singers Kee Largo and Johnny Amoroso, both well-known recording artists. The Singing Winds will also be a feature of the Flanagan show, and Flanagan's Flatbush Five, a popular jazz combo, is slated to perform.

Flanagan is one of America's most famous popular recording artists, having recorded numerous smash hits since making his first in August, 1949. Included among his better-known releases are: "Hot Toddy," "Stranger in Paradise," "Rag Mop," "An American in Paris," "In the Chapel in the Moonlight," "Serenade" and "Tenderly."

Three final candidates for Honorary Cadet Colonel are, bottom to top, Jacqueline King, Dorothy Baggett and Rosemary Mohr.

The Four Lads, popular singing group, will be the feature attraction at the Philos' Blackouts. Frank Busseri, Bernie Toorish, Connie Codarni and Jimmy Arnold make up the group that have made their sudden rise to fame with their recordings of "Istanbul," "Down By The Riverside" and "Gilly-Gilly."

Blackouts Feature 'Four Lads'; Performance Dates March 24-25

By Jak Williams

The Four Lads will be the feature attraction at the Philos' Blackouts, according to Jack Combs, publicity chairman for the sixth annual variety extravaganza.

Six other top-flight acts are now scheduled for the March 24 and 25 performances, with a possibility of other acts being added before the 8 p.m. curtain time, at Bosse high school auditorium.

Jimmy Stewart, popular and versatile announcer for television station WEHT, will emcee the two-hour show.

"The Eddie Fisher of the South," Glen Melton of Sebree, will also be one of the highlights of the show. Mr. Melton was recently first place winner in the annual East Side Kiwanis Talent show with his remarkable impersonations of Eddie Fisher.

Eddie and Sue Beshears, popular young brother-sister combo will be spotlighted in a tap dance routine. The Beshears, despite their youth, are seasoned troupers, having appeared in the Kiwanis Talent Show, Press Talent Roundup and numerous other Tri-State programs.

Chi Omega Dancers

Sally Reece, backed by the "Chi Omega Dancers," will present a mdoern dance act. Miss Reece and the Dancers were recently featured in the Chi Omega's prize winning effort in Kampus Kapers.

A pleasant change of pace will be offered by Ken Curtin and his "Artistry in Accordion." Often called the "Johnny Ray" of the squeezebox, Ken and hsi "stomach Steinway" have appeared on local TV and radio as well as in past Blackouts.

AOPi Dancers

The AOPi Dancers, a newly organized group, under the direction of Susan Hathaway, will present their version of "There's No Business Like Show Business." Members of the dance group include Joan Hamel, Lois Ryon, Mary Giovanetti and Jacqueline King. Others in the group are Bette Sharp, Wilma Kamman, Mary Simrell, Polly Adcock and Greta Shaw.

Background music for the entire presentation wlil be provided by the Philo Dance Band, under the direction of Roger Pemberton. Mr. Pemberton, formerly director of the Fort Leonard Wood dance band, will use the musical arrangements used by the "Fort" band, featuring Danny Stiles on the trumpet.

Four Lads Concert

Climaxing the show will be the Four Lads in a forty-five minute concert. These four ex-Canadian choir boys have rapidly gained popularity with their Columbia recordings of "Istanbul," "Down By The Riverside" and "Gilly-Gilly." This versatile group sings pops and religious songs with equal ability. Their most recent release is a religious album with Frankie Laine.

The Four Lads, Frank Busseri, Bernie Toorish, Connie Codarni and Jimmy Arnold, have been singing together for ten years. They have been "show-stoppers" at such well-known places as Ciro's in Hollywood, Casino Royal in Washington and the Golden Room in Reno.

Tickets, now on sale, can be purchased from any active Philo. They are priced at $1.50 for reserved seats and $1.00 for general admission.

Eleven Seniors, Two Juniors Named Campus Leaders, Notables for 1955

Two juniors and 11 seniors were named Campus Leaders and Campus Notables for the 1954-55 school year, according to the list released today.

Leaders, chosen by the faculty from a list of 30 names submitted by a student committee, are Myra Kasey, Norma Jean Robertson, Rosemarie Wiseman, Robert Hawkins, Robert Rundell and Bill Steier, all seniors.

Notables include Margaret Broadhead, Gilbert Bumb, Myra Kasey, Robert Porro, Marilyn Randolph, Norma Jean Robertson, Bob Scott, Bill Steier and Rosemarie Wiseman, all seniors. Juniors named as notables are Marilyn Bartlett and Jim Schreiber.

Accomplishments considered in making the original list include scholastic standing, participation in religious and student organizations, work on Union committees and other social activities, sports and other campus activities.

Each year three men and three women from the senior class are named Leaders. Not more than seven per cent of the graduating class are honored as Notables, and two of these may be drawn from the junior class.

Formal recognition of the honor will be made at the regular May Day-Honors Day program when the group will be presented.

'Our Town' Tryouts Set for March 14-15

Tryouts for the Evansville College Theater's final major production of the season, "Our Town," will be held Monday and Tuesday, March 14-15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Auditorium.

"Our Town" is concerned with the day to day living of two small town families, the Webbs and the Gibbs. Author Thornton Wilder has taken the ordinary events which occur to all of us, growing up, loving, marrying and dying, and has revealed in these mundane things the truest kind of drama.

Well Done, Dean Long!

The student body of Evansville College would like to thank Mr. Dean Long for the fine job he is doing as acting president of the College.

Probably none of the students on campus has ever had a president or leader who was as much of a friend and counselor as Mr. Long. He has always been interested in student activities and his interest increased when he became president. He added the spark that has long been missing from our school spirit when he led yells at the Homecoming rally and game.

Since coming to Evansville College in 1929, he has served as professor, head of the department, director of the Evening College, vice president and now acting president. He graduated from Harvard in 1926. Before coming to Evansville, he taught at Drake and DePauw universities.

Well known in intercollegiate groups, he has served as a representative to the Indiana Intercollegiate Conference and as a member of the North Central Association. Mr. Long is also very active in civic affairs and groups outside the college.

Mr. Long has given 26 years to Evansville College, and in those years the students have always felt that he was never too busy to help them. So the students wish to say congratulations on a job well done and thanks for everything.

At the same time we welcome Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, who will, we hope, have the same interest in students and their affairs as Mr. Long.

The Student Government Association

A Real Appeal

Next week will mark the opening of the annual, month-long Easter Seal appeal. This appeal is made each year to raise funds for education, research and direct-care service for crippled children and adults.

You will be asked to purchase Easter Seals. These seals can be placed on correspondence to show that you cared enough to share enough.

On this campus are students who have benefited from the work of this organization. Here in Evansville, a Vanderburgh county chapter of the Society for Crippled Children is located at 3313 E. Chandler street. If you want to see your money in action, take a trip out there and watch as the trained personnel help crippled persons become acquainted with the intricacies of adjusting to society.

Approximately 45 miles east of Evansville is another important, rather new, phase of Easter Seal help. Camp Koch, located at Troy, near Tell City, was named after one of Evansville's best known friends of the less fortunate, Henry F. Koch. The camp was established about six years ago to give crippled children the chance to take part actively in a camping program all their own.

Children come to this camp from all parts of Indiana, and a few are registered from Kentucky. They enjoy camping in a situation where a handicap is the normal rather than the unusual thing. A talk with any of those who have worked there would probably help you appreciate the need of these activities for the handicapped.

When buying Easter Seals, you are, in a sense, making the future safer for your own children. Crippling diseases know no prejudices or creeds. Anyone can be affected. So, let's be sure today, insure for tomorrow. (K. C.)

SGA News

By Bill Steier

May Day-Honors Day will be held on May 3 this year. Jim Jensen will head the joint student-faculty planning committee which will plan the affair. This year's May Day will follow the traditional pattern with the May pole dance, honors assembly and free picnic lunch.

At the next Student Council meeting, the student members of the joint student-faculty committee on course evaluation will be appointed. The faculty members will be selected at the next faculty meeting. This committee will study the possibilities of setting up a course evaluation system here on campus. The committee will also discuss methods of obtaining faculty and student acceptance of the program. The program would be a definite asset to the campus.

The kick-off dinner for the library fund drive, which will be held on March 16, will have the members of the President's Roundtable as hosts. The Roundtable will receive the guests, show them the Union and see that they are seated. The sponsors of the drive will be the guests at the dinner.

Dates Announced For Central, Bosse High School Parties

Bosse and Central high schools will be honored next in the series of parties for local high school seniors, according to Miss Doris Kirk, Union director.

The parties, which will be held on March 17 and 20 respectively, will feature a program of entertainment, dancing and refreshments. The program committee, headed by Chuck Calhoun, has planned duplicate programs for both parties, similar to those given at previous parties in the scries.

A skit directed by Buddy Watkins will constitute the main portion of the program. Wendy Long will again impersonate Deacon Andy Griffith and Joan Hamel, Mary Giovanetti and Susan Hathaway will dance. Tom Lukens and Gene Hollander will emcee the entertainment.

Members of the entertainment committee will serve as hosts and hostesses for the event. Chaperones for the Bosse party are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beck and Mr. and Mrs. Arad McCutehan. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Olmsted and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schrode will chaperone the Central group.

Citizens Join Library Drive

A sponsoring committee for the Evansville College library fund drive, to be known as "Citizens for Evansville College" will be headed by Mr. A. A. Brentano, Mr. Leland Feigel, general chairman of the library fund campaign, announced this week. About 250 persons have been asked to join, he said.

Committee members have also been invited to a dinner Wednesday, March 16, to meet the college's new president, Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, and Mrs. Hyde.

The community campaign to raise funds for the $650,000 building will start the middle of April. The goal is $450,000 by June 30, to be eligible for the $200,000 offered by Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis.

The new building, which will be constructed east of the Administration building and north of the Engineering building will be of Indiana limestone, in modified Gothic style.

Plans for the building approved last week by the executive committee of the College board show an audio-visual auditorium, research alcoves, stacks, seminar quarters, processing rooms, restrooms and an archives room on the first floor, which will be partially below ground.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Well, one house of Congress has passed a bill increasing the Congressmen's pay by about 66 per cent. It is expected that the other house will trim a few percentage points off. Still nice work, if you can get it.

Business has the Taft-Hartley law to protect it from the unions. Us taxpayers don't have that sort of protection from our legislaors. In fact, if such a bill would happen to be presented, the originator would find himself without a bed to sleep on in the Cloak Room. He wouldn't be admitted to the Smoke-Filled Rooms.

Somebody along the line said that if the pay would be increased we would be able to get a better brand of men to run for those offices. I'm afraid of that. Why, this inferior brand that we have now can dream up enough tax bills. If they had a better brand we would be in a bigger mess.

One of the boys for such a pay increasing bill stated that every month he spent serving our country was costing him several hundred bucks out of his own pocket. Now, if a businessman runs in the red for any length of time he closes up. I wonder where the poor joker gets the dough to be able to stay in Congress.

One honest Congressman said that in his district there were many people out of work. Others drove many miles to earn a living. He said that he wouldn't be able to look them in the face if he voted for a pay increasing bill for himself.

The fringe benefits that Congressmen have apparently aren't taken into consideration by the said solons. Just about every one of them takes a trip (on the taxpayers' loot, of course) every year. All of the trips are on government business. I read that some of them went to Hawaii last summer. 'Course that was the off-season so they got a cut-rate fare on the air lines, and they got a cheaper rate at the hotels. I think it was a junket called "Committee to investigate the subversive efforts of sand fleas" or "Committee to investigate what's behind the grass skirts." These boys were considerate of the taxpayers — they didn't take their wives.

Another fringe benefit is the Congressional Record. If they are working on their doctor's degree (some of them are college grads) they can orate their dissertations and have them printed free of charge.

Another benefit is the "frank" system. Don't confuse this with being Frank and Earnest. Most aren't. These boys can write letters and send them for free. They won't give the poor postal clerks a raise because the P.O. is running in the red, but they will sure help that red ink by not buying stamps.

One of our own local reps is for a pay increase. To tell you the truth, I would be, too, if it meant more of that filthy green in my worn-out cowskin. After all, to each his own.

Now from the text of this so-called column it would appear that I'm against congressmen. Let me assure you that that isn't the case at all. Why, some of my best friends are politicians. It's true that I don't turn my back on them, but it's only because I believe in looking a person straight in the eye. To be perfectly frank (not to be confused with the "franking privilege") I wouldn't mind being a politician. It's better than working for a living.

Conference Planned For FTA Clubs

The Future Teachers of America clubs will hold a conference in the Great Hall of the Union building Saturday, March 26. Members of the FTA and others interested in teaching from the high schools in Vanderburgh and neighboring counties are invited to the all day meeting.

Delta Kappa Gamma, teachers' society which has taken teacher recruitment for its national project, will sponsor the conference.

The program will include a speaker from Indiana State Teachers college, a color movie titled, "What Greater Gift," and two panel discussions.

Teachers of education classes from colleges in this area who have student teachers will compose one panel. The other panel, composed of student teachers from Evansville College, will discuss problems of student teaching.

Luncheon will be served in the College cafeteria.

Brantner Will Attend Air Science Conference

Lt. Col. James A. Brantner, professor of air science, will attend the third annual Professor of Air Science Conference March 8 to 11 at Maxwell Air Force Base.

Gill Robb Wilson, editor and publisher of Flying magazine and world famous advocate of air power will speak, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff of the United States Air Force, will give the opening address.

Policies and procedures concerning the selection and education of AFROTC cadets will be discussed. Present and future phases of the program with relation to national defense and citizenship training will be reviewed at the conference, also.

Music Groups To Give Joint Recital March 15

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternities for men and women, will present a combined all-American composer recital in the Great Hall of the Union building, March 15, at 8:30 p.m.

Included on the program will be a brass sextet, voice solos, a woodwind quintet and a girls' choir.

This is an annual event held by the Phi Mu Alpha chapters in the country to promote music by American composers. This year a combined Phi Mu Alpha-Sigma Alpha Iota recital was planned.

Through these concerts the American public is introduced to the musical greats of this country, who are sometimes needlessly overshadowed by their European counterparts, the group feels.

April 1 Is Deadline To Submit Poems For AAUW Contest

April 1 is the last day to enter poems in the 1955 AAUW Poetry Contest which is open this year to college students exclusively. Poems must be submitted by that date either to Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English department, or to Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor.

No limit is placed on the number of poems a student may enter, and they may be written in any poetic form not to exceed 24 lines in length.

Each poem must be typewritten on a separate sheet with the student's name and title clipped to the sheet rather than written on it.

A first and second prize will be awarded on the basis of originality of thought and expression. Honorable mentions will be given to poems meriting it.

Judges for the contest will be members of the Poetry Section of the AAUW.

Town and Country Head Advises Student Pastors

The town and country department, under the direction of Prof. William E. Coates, was integrated into the Evansville College program during the fall of 1953.

As director of town and country Mr. Coates does many things, but his big job is working with student pastors who attend college and at the same time serve in Methodist churches in this area. Since most student pastors work in country churches, town and country puts emphasis on strengthening the function of the rural church. Another aim of the department is to help the pastors toward pleasant experiences in their work so they will want to return to rural churches when their seminary studies are completed.

In addition to giving advice and counsel, Mr. Coates arranges to include courses of interest to the young pastors in the college curriculum.

Deputation Teams

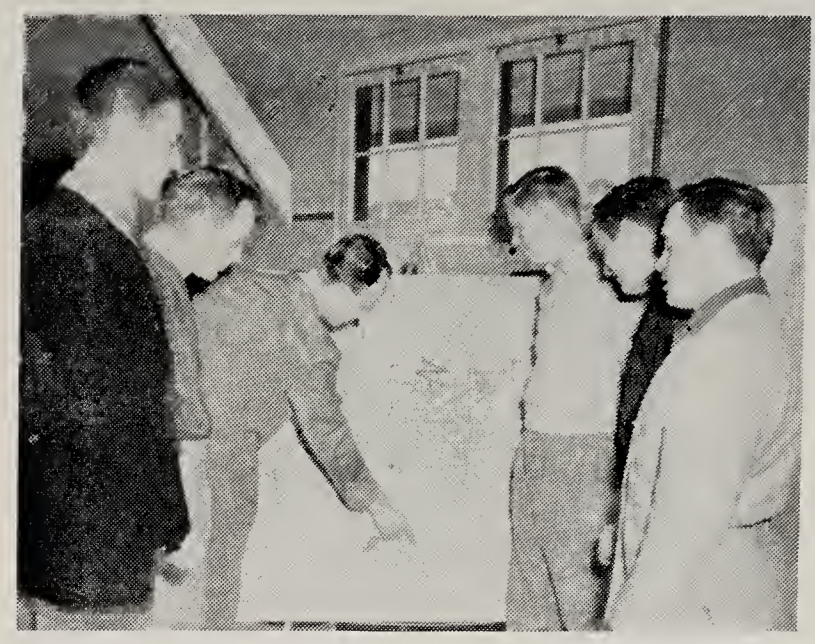
Recently, deputation teams composed of college students were formed as an adjunct of town and country. Under the direction of Charles Hill, these teams offer services to local churches by providing worship programs, musical periods, drama and youth activities upon request.

At the present time a deputation team made up of Gayle Buroker, June Wedeking, Phyllis Warnke, Patricia Gamble, Doddie Johnson and Lowell Foster, is presenting a play before various religious groups. Martha Powell is director.

Deputation teams vary in membership from time to time because of conflicts caused by class or work schedules.

Paper Published

Another new project of town and country is "The Rural Hoosier," a paper which lists and explains town and country activities. The first issue was published and distributed in January of this year.



Prof. William Coates, head of town and country, discusses rural church problems with student pastors, using the map which pinpoints church areas in southern Indiana to get his point across. Seen left to right are: Bill Brauns, David Lawson, Mr. Coates, Clyde Wake, Elvis North and C. T. Webb.

Next summer town and country will conduct seminars sponsored by Evansville College for rural pastors. These programs will attempt to provide solutions to problems confronted in the rural church environment. Whenever possible student pastors will be shown by experience what can be accomplished by sound church administration.

Course Planned

Potentially, town and country hopes to introduce a Bible course for laymen soon. This project is tentatively scheduled to be initiated in Fort Branch for the Gibson County area. The course will carry no credit toward a college degree, but will be merely an informative study.

In addition to directing the town and country department Mr. Coates is a member of the Town and Country Commission of the Indiana Conference of the Methodist Church. He also teaches a Bible course in Evening College.

Teen-agers should get nine hours sleep a day, and most do — six hours in bed and three hours in class. (Charles Knouse.)

Talk on Mexico Given By Speech Instructor

Dr. Virgil Logan, head of the speech department, and his wife, Lillian, spoke on Mexican personages in the educational, political, literary and theatrical professions at a Stanley Hall school faculty meeting last Wednesday. Mrs. Logan is a first grade teacher at the school.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Logan did research for papers leading to Ph.D. degrees in Mexico. Dr. Logan wrote on speech educational work in Mexico, Mrs. Logan on Mexican kindergartens.

The couple plan to return to Mexico this summer to do additional research for writing.

Union Exhibit Shows Local Artist's Work

For two weeks, March 4-15, Mrs. Clyde Ploeger, local artist, will have a one-man showing in the Union art gallery.

About fifteen of her works, including water colors, oils and pastels will be in the exhibit. Many of the scenes were painted while the artist was traveling in Jamaica, Washington, D.C. and Georgetown, Virginia.

She has exhibited in the Tri-State show for two years and the Nelson-Wilson Memorial Exhibit. As a volunteer service worker, she taught at Woodmere.

Following Mrs. Ploeger's show will be the International Business Machine's collection of original paintings and sculptures. They will be on display in the Union from March 15 to April 6.

Cancer Society to Present Film for Faculty Dames

Mrs. Daniel Boughner will be hostess to the Faculty Dames when they meet in the Club room of the Student Union next Tuesday, March 8, at 7:45 p.m.

The meeting will feature a talk by Miss Ann Bolan, executive secretary of the American Cancer Society, Vanderburgh County Unit. Mrs. Charles Hopkins, field education chairman of the Voluntary Services of the Cancer Society, will show a film on cancer.

Musicians Club Offers Students Special Rates for Memberships

The Musicians Club of Evansville will conduct its annual membership drive from Monday, March 14, through Saturday, March 19. No season or single admissions will be sold after that time.

During the 1955-1956 season the Musicians Club will sponsor five concerts featuring such well-known artists as Leon Fleisher, young pianist, Michael Ravin, violinist, and Metropolitan Opera soprano, Eleanor Steber.

Also scheduled to appear are the Philadelphia Orchestra, conducted by Eugene Ormandy, and the Dance Theatre-Berlin, a ballet company making its first American tour.

Regular season admission to the concerts is $6, reserved section $9. This year, as in previous years, the Musicians Club is offering membership to students for $3. To take advantage of this special rate a person must be a full-time student, enrolled in day college.

Tickets may be obtained at Evansville College from the following persons: Mrs. Wesley Shepard, Mrs. Fern Buchanan, Mr. William Nation, Mrs. Sylvia Olmstead, Mrs. Dorothy Reppahn, Mr. Cecil Selfridge, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Miss Allene Herron, Mrs. R. T. Dufford, Miss Betty Kanable and Mrs. Vernon Williams, of the music department, and student, Mary Ann Simrell.

Downtown headquarters for the drive is the Harding and Miller Music Company.

Mrs. W. R. Springstun, publicity chairman for the Musicians Club, said that for the past few years every seat in the Coliseum was sold during the membership campaign. Last season the sale had to be discontinued a day before the drive ended because all memberships were sold by that time.

PRESENTS PROGRAM

Mrs. Genevieve Erickson, assistant professor in the music department, presented a program of Israeli music at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Evansville chapter of Hadassah at the Vendome Tuesday.

Club To Grant Scholarship For NYU Graduate Study

The American Women Buyers Club is offering its second annual scholarship of $750 to a graduating senior woman for one year of study leading to an M.S. degree in retailing at the New York University School of Retailing.

Graduating women seniors who are interested in retailing as a career are eligible to try for the award. The winner will enter the university at the beginning of the Fall term, 1955. In addition to the program of advanced study, the course will offer work experience.

The Women Buyers Club is offering the award as part of a long-range campaign to attract more of the country's top-ranking women graduates into the field of retailing.

Persons interested in the scholarship may obtain more information from the Placement Bureau or by writing to the American Women Buyers Club, 225 West 34 Street, New York City.

Library Receives Copy Of Jaebker's Article

In listing its new books last week, the library announced it has obtained a bound copy of Dr. Orville Jaebker's article, "Henry Hamilton." The article, which concerns Hamilton's career as governor of Bermuda, was published in a Bermuda historical journal earlier this year.

Also on the list of new books are 11 reference works, including the "Information Please Almanac, 1955" and two books by food and travel expert, Duncan Hines.

The library has a number of new volumes of philosophy, psychology, religion, the arts, sciences and languages.

Among the better-known, more publicized books are "My Partner, Ben Hogan" by Jimmy Demaret, "Teahouse of the August Moon," a comedy now playing in New York and the biography of Elsa Schiaparelli, "Shocking Life."

A new novel, "Lucy Carmichael" by Margaret Kennedy was a Literary Guild selection some months ago.

Current periodicals formerly shelved in the Browsing Room are now available in the Lounge of the Union Building.

NURSES ATTEND MEETING

Members of the nursing section at Evansville College were guests of the Good Samaritan School of Nursing at Vincennes University when members of the Southwest District Student Nurses association attended a meeting there.

Following a business meeting, at which the constitution was presented and approved, entertainment and refreshments were provided for the visitors.

Pre, Re, Inter

Guest columnist this week is Martha Powell, senior English major, vice-president of the State MSM, SCA and Kappa Chi member.

Students at the World Student Christian Conference singled out one speaker for fireside chats from the famous men who were there. This man was Dr. Paul Holmer.

The magnetic Dr. Holmer had a personable way of presenting his deep theological ideas so that even untrained students understood them. Young people who had neglected their sleep each night of the conference were still eager to spend their free time in the mornings listening to Dr. Holmr.

The first time I heard him I recognized his clear intellectual ability. I was overwhelmed! After his first speech I was right at his feet whenever a group of students sought him out.

I soon became aware of other attributes in this truly great man. I saw him with tears in his eyes, his voice thick with reverence, as he spoke of his mystic relationship with Christ. Tears in the eyes of an intellectual are soul-stirring. I came to realize that philosophical understanding and practical Christian living are not divorced. They were combined in this man; I saw and was amazed!

Over three years have passed since I heard this man, Holmer. As a result of hearing him I have lived and thought differently. Having felt the Christ-life within him, I shall never forget the lessons I learned at that Student Conference.

Evansville College students and faculty will have a chance to hear Dr. Holmer the weekend of March 18-19-20 at the Methodist Student Movement Conference.

Dr. Holmer will speak in the Auditorium Friday, March 18, at 8:45 p.m. on "Being Intellectually Responsible as a Christian Citizen." Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in the Great Hall he will discuss "Being Socially Responsible." The topic for his speech at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Auditorium will be "Being Morally Responsible."

Don't miss him!

LUCKY DROODLES! GET 'EM HERE!

WHAT'S THIS? For solution see paragraph below.
Droodle suggested by Norman Gerber, C. C. N. Y.

HAVE A LITTLE FUN when you smoke. Enjoy yourself. Give yourself the pleasure of a better-tasting Lucky Strike. The enthusiasm often inspired by Luckies' famous better taste is illustrated in the Droodle (right) titled: Alphabet soup for Lucky smoker. So why stew over what cigarette to smoke? Luckies' taste is letter-perfect. After all, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. When you light up, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette... Lucky Strike.

STUDENTS! EARN $25!

Lucky Droodles* are pouring in! Where are yours? We pay $25 for all we use, and for many we don't use. So, send every original Droodle in your noodle, with its descriptive title, to Lucky Droodle, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y.

Aces, Anderson Win NAIA Tilts

Evansville Nips Grizzlies; Anderson Routs St. Joe

A furious second half drive by Franklin college almost sent the Evansville College Aces toppling off the highway of victory in the second game of the NAIA playoff at the Armory last Tuesday night, but substitutes Clyde Cox and Jim Smallins proved to be the late spark the Evansville engine needed to drop the fighting Grizzlies, 87-75, to put th ewinners into the final game against Anderson. Anderson's Ravens fired at an incredible 49.2 clip to subdue an easy St. Joe club, 94-77 in the first game.

Moving into a comfortable 41-26 halftime lead after a sagging, lifeless opening, the Aces saw the smaller Hoosier Collegiate Conference club spring back into the game to tie it up at 65-65 with 6:50 left.

At this point Coach Arad McCutchan inserted Cox and Smallins for his two big rebounders and scorers Roscoe Bivin and Jerry Clayton. The two fresh players quickly made the move pay off as Cox canned a fielder from the side to give the Aces the lead 67-65 and they were never behind or tied again.

Sputtering Attack

Evansville's attack got off to a sputtering start as the visiting team controlled the ball for good shots and made them pay off for a 10-8 lead with 15 minutes left in the half. However, the Clayton and Bivin height began to spell the difference and Frank Healy made several scoring blasts the length of the floor to give the Aces command midway in the half. Before the smoke cleared, Evansville had engineered a 41-26 lead as the teams retired to the dressing rooms for intermission.

Franklin Comeback

Evansville had the Grizzlies yelling "uncle" at 53-38 when the Franklin team started their comeback. In ten minutes the whole picture of the game had changed. Evansville fought for a 59-56 lead after ten minutes, but the Franklin attack was still going strong when the score was tied.

However, with the insertion of Cox and Smallins the tide turned in favor of the Aces, and the Purples advanced to the final game of the playoff meeting Anderson.

Walker High

Bob Walker took an unusual rloe for the contest as high point man for the Aces with 17 points. He canned six fielders and five frec throws. Billy Wertz, substitute guard, led the Grizzlies attack and was high man for the game with 19.

Anderson, co-champion of the HCC with Franklin, looked like the tourney favorite with a resounding 94-77 win over St. Joe's bewildered Pumas. The Ravens jumped into a 4-0 lead and were never headed although St. Joe stayed close in the first half.

Ravens Are Hot

The Ravens blasted the Pumas in the final half with a torrid shooting exhibition. The winners finished with a 49.2 average from the field on 35 of 71 attempts and hit 24 of 34 free throws.

'Gussie Doerner Night' Success; Former All-American Gets $950

Gussie Doerner was honored at pre-game eeremonies of the Evansville College-St. Joseph game which the Aces won 101-81 to make the "Doerner Appreciation Night" a success.

A good crowd of 1637 fans was on hand to honor the former All-American cage star who led the Purple Aces into the NAIB net tourney in Kansas City in 1942. It was in this tourney that the "Mackey Marvel" achieved All-American acclaim by dumping in 34 points before the Aces were eliminated in the meet.

Doerner saw the Aces seal the verdict for the ICC championship with the win over the Pumas. Last Tuesday the Evansville team was given the undisputed title when their closest rivals, the Butler Bulldogs, lost.

Many old and new acquaintances were on hand to pay Gussie a glowing tribute. Still in a wheelchair as a result of a near-fatal auto accident, Doerner praised his teammates of '42 as being the main factors for his gaining All-American recognition. An All-American both on and off the basketball floor, Doerner was given $950 which was donated by Evansville College fans to purchase the Doerner family a new car to replace the one which was destroyed in the accident.

Billiards Play Ends; Lockard's 81 High

Some rather low scores were turned into the National Billiards Tourney last week, but the final shooting wasn't without its dramatic side.

Bill Lockard, runner-up in the College pocket billiards meet recently, ran off a top score of 81 in the shoot-off among the final eight contestants in the College meet. However, this score only enabled him to reach the final play-off among the four top shooters where neither he nor the rest of the competitors shot too well.

Fifty-three was the highest score turned in to the national judges. This was shot by Lockard. Bill Madden and George Dockery scored 52 and 30 respectively. Everette Wilson, the champ of the College billiards meet, didn't show up for the play-off and was therefore reduced to the alternate position on the team.

The scores were turned into the district headquarters by Miss Doris Kirk, Union director, to be compared with scores from other schools. Top scorers in the different districts throughout the nation will meet at Miehigan State college to play for the national championship.

Ping Pong Tourney Slated for March 15

A ping pong tourney for men and women has been arranged for all students, beginning March 15. Drawings for the meet will be held next week and entries are now being taken.

Prizes for the winners in the men's and women's singles, doubles and mixed doubles will be awarded.

WITH THE BASEBALL spring training season opening last Tuesday at 13 sites in Florida and three sites in Arizona, it seems that spring is upon us. Manager Leo Durocher of the world champion New York Giants flatly states that for a repeat win he will have to have more help in the pitching department, and Al Lopez will be pinning his hopes on the big bat of Ralph Kiner, former National league home run king, to provide the long ball needed to carry the Indians to their second straight American league pennant.

One of Lopez's closest rivals, Casey Stengel, will have to come up with a replacement for the missing Allie Reynolds and Gene Woodling if he wants to be in the race while Pinky Higgins of the Red Sox would feel much better if Ted Williams decides to give it another go at Boston. The missing Williams will leave a big hole in the Sox outfield that will be hard to fill.

The White Sox are already complaining of a lack of power but such names as Walt Dropo, Clint Courtney and George Kell may dispel any fears in that eamp. The Orioles, made up of veteran cast-offs and inexperienced rookies will definitely give Manager Paul Richards something to think about at night.

The Yankees, meanwhile, are putting their hopes on Bullet Bob Hurley and Don Larsen, from Baltimore, to lead their bid to regain the pennant by adding the needed strength in the mound crew.

Final Exams Start Monday

Final examinations for the winter quarter will begin Monday, March 7, and continue through Wednesday, March 9. Dean E. M. McKown has posted the following requirements which will govern the examinations:

1. Classes on the examination schedule are listed in the same order in which they appear in the regular class schedule — alphabetically by departments. Section numbers appear in parentheses, and the days of the examinations are denoted by M, T and W.

2. The examinations have been set up in such a way that conflicting schedules should not occur. Should such conflicts arise, students are to arrange suitable times with their respective instructors. Those students whose jobs interfere with finals must also confer with their instructors.

3. Paper will be supplied for the exams. All tests are to be written in ink except in special cases to be decided by the various instructors.

4. Students are not to ask their instructors for results of the tests. Grades will be reported from the registrar's office at the earliest possible date. Most instructors will inform a student as to his grades if the instructor is provided with a self-addressed, stamped post card before the examinations begin.

The schedule for final examinations is as follows:

Sigma Phi Epsilon To Install Chapter

Sigma Epsilon, Evansville College's colony of the national fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon, will officially be installed into the national organization Saturday and Sunday, March 12 and 13.

The installation process will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday and will continue until about 3 p.m. Each member must be installed individually during that period.

A banquet will be held in the cafeteria of the Union building at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, with Jim Barney, president of the local colony, serving as master of ceremonies. J. Russell Pratt, national president of Sigma Phi Epsilon, has been invited to attend.

Highlighting the banquet will be the presentation of the charter for the Evansville chapter. The charter will be presented by the national president, if present plans are carried out.

The Evansville CRESCENT

Vol. XXXVI | Evansville, Indiana | March 25, 1955 - No. 18

Mr. Melvin W. Hyde, EC's new president, offers Mr. Long a slice of the cake that was part of the surprise birthday party for Dr. Hyde in the Union Lounge on St. Patrick's Day. On hand to help with the serving and to join in the festivities were students Lois Ryon (left), and Jo Frohbieter.

Hyde Assumes Presidency; Honored at Dinner, Parties

Officially welcomed at the Faculty-Trustee dinner the previous evening, Dr. Melvin W. Hyde took over his duties as President of Evansville College following the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees, Tuesday, March 15.

Named by the board February 7, Dr. Hyde came to Evansville from Drake university in Des Moines, Iowa, where he had served for six years as assistant president. He succeeds Prof. Dean Long, who has been acting president since the resignation of Dr. Lincoln B. Hale last June. Dr. Hale resigned to take a position with the government in Tel Aviv, Israel.

Since his arrival on campus, Dr. Hyde has been attending dinners, making speeches and being welcomed as well as performing the regular duties of his office.

A second reception was held March 16, when Dr. and Mrs. Hyde were introduced to the Evansville College Sponsors Committee, the group planning the library fund drive. More than 200, including many alumni, attended this event.

Opportunities for students to meet Dr. Hyde were provided when he was the honored guest at the President's Roundtable and again on his birthday, St. Patrick's day, when he was surprise guest at a party given for him in the Lounge of the Union.

In recognition of Prof. Dean Long's services to the college as Acting President, the faculty and administration presented him with a watch at the Faculty-Trustee dinner on March 15. Mr. Richard McGinnis, former head of the Board of Trustees, was also given a watch at the dinner by the trustees.

Boat Ride, Dance Planned For April 25 on 'Avalon'

Plans are being made by various Union committees for a combination boat ride and dance aboard the Avalon on April 25, according to Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union.

Sam Laubscher, president of the Union Board, will serve as general chairman for the project which will be sponsored by all of the Union committees. The excursion will be open to all students, faculty, alumni and their guests. This type dance was introduced last year as the junior-senior prom.

A casual theme to be announced at a later date will be carried out for the informal affair. The boat will dock at the foot of Main Street and will leave at 8:00 and return at 11:30 p.m. The upper deck will be glassed in and available for dancing. Tables will be arranged to give a night club effect.

Tickets may be obtained from any of the 145 Union committee members at a cost of $1.25 per person starting April 1.

Last Performance Of "Blackouts" Set For This Evening

Blackouts of 1955 will be presented for the last time tonight at 8 p.m. in Bosse High School Auditorium. Tickets for the show will be on sale at the door.

The show will open with the traditional Blackouts theme by the Philo Dance band under the direction of Norm Kaniese. The band will also play numbers arranged by Roger Pemberton, who is now directing the Fort Leonard Wood band. The AOPi dancers will take the stage next with their version of "There's No Business Like Show Business," which will be followed by the other Eddie Fisher, Glen Melton.

Pete Dooley, of WFIE-TV, and his piano routine will be followed by two cute kids from Bosse, Eddie and Sue Beshear, a tap dance duo. Songs by Don Watson and by the Key Notes, a local female barbershop group, will come next. "Artistry in Accordion" will be displayed by Ken Curtin, and a repeater from last year's show, Gary Reke, will pantomime Jerry Lewis. Marty Kaniese, wife of the bandleader, will close out the first portion of the show.

After the intermission Sally Reece and her Chi Omega dance group will present a modern dance version of "Harlem Nocturne." The climax of the show, the Four Lads, will then take the stage for their concert. The Columbia recording group will feature some of their current hits along with other numbers which range from bop to the old Gregorian chants.

Jimmie Stewart, personable young comedian from WEHT-TV will MC the show and keep the acts rolling in what promises to be the greatest Blackouts yet.

Annual ROTC Inspection To Be Conducted in April

Three officers from Headquarters AFROTC, Montgomery, Alabama, will conduct the annual inspection of the Evansville College Air Force ROTC unit on April 18-19.

Inspecting officers will be Col. Merwin E. Potter, Lt. Col. Joseph McDermott and Lt. Col. John P. O'Reagan.

The visiting inspectors will check the administrative procedures used to maintain the unit as well as all phases of training at the college, both in the classroom and on the drill field.

On Monday, April 18, the officers will review the entire corps at 10 a.m.

May 4 Chosen As Honors Day

Wednesday, May 4, is the date selected for the 1955 May Day-Mothers Day program. Tentative plans were drawn up and sub-committees named at a meeting of the committee Friday afternoon in the Club room of the Union.

Evansville College students this year will honor a "Mother-of-the-Year," with a student-faculty committee working out details for the method of selection.

Honors Program

Opening with the Honors program, the day's events will include a luncheon, ROTC review, tea, crowning of the queen and the traditional Maypole dance. A varsity baseball game, scheduled for that day, will replace the regular student-faculty games contest.

Major Evan Bruner and James Jensen, co-head the committee which includes both faculty and students, with members of each serving on each subcommittee.

Sub-Committees

Included are Miss Betty Kanable and Mr. Norman Heim, music; Mr. Arad McCutchan, the Rev. William E. Coates, Arthur Griggs and William Kohlmeyer, grounds; Miss Virginia Weigel, Dell Patterson, Eldon Katter and Charles Oxley, invitations.

Dr. F. Woody Werking, Mr. Lawrence Anderson and Gerriann Frasier will collect program information; Miss Kay Curtis, Dr. Virgil Logan, Tom Lukens and Jack Miller, program; Mrs. Charlotte Stephens and Jackie King, queen crowning.

Miss Ida Stieler, Phyllis Bunge and Sally Reece, May-pole dance; Miss Freda Martin, Mrs. Georgina Hill and Joan Bosse, lunch; Miss Doris Kirk and Myra Kasey, tea; Miss Gertrude Leich and Gene Hollander, stage decorations; Dr. Mearl Culver and George Dockery, AFROTC review.

Vesper 'Sermon in Song' Will Be Given Sunday

Mr. Hobart Mitchell, concert baritone, will present a "Sermon in Song" at the fifth vesper service of the season Sunday, March 27, at 4 p.m. in the Methodist Temple.

Mr. Mitchell originated the Poetry-in-Song concerts which he sings for college programs. Since 1946 and his first presentation of the program in a New York church, he has toured the country, delivering his musical religious message.

Spirituals Sung

For the Sunday service, Mr. Mitchell will sing "The Ninety-first Psalm," MacDermid; "The Twenty-third Psalm," Malotte; and Mendelsohn's "Elijah," including "Lord, God of Abraham" and "It Is Enough."

Next on the program will be Mr. Mitchell's interpretation of two Negro spirituals, "I Know the Lord's Laid His Hands on Me" and "Listen to the Lambs." The program will conclude with the singing of "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

Culver to Preside

Dr. Mearl Culver will introduce Mr. Mitchell and lead the worship service. The prayer will be offered by student-pastor Dave Lawson.

The Methodist Temple choir will deliver the anthem under the direction of Mrs. Genevieve Erickson.

Mr. Mitchell began his singing career as a boy chorister in Grace Church Choir School in New York City. In addition to his musical training he has a master's degree in American literature from Columbia university. For six years he taught English at New York university.

Following the vesper service Sunday evening, the Methodist Student Movement, of which Marilyn Bartlett is president, will serve a supper at the Temple. Mr. Mitchell will be guest of honor. After supper he will present an additional program.

Culley To Succeed McGinnis As Head Of Trustee Board

Mr. F. Bayard Culley was elected last week to succeed Mr. Richard McGinnis as president of the Evansville College Board of Trustees.

Mr. Culley, who is retired president of the Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Company, has been a member of the Board of Trustees for 14 years and is chairman of the College Development Committee. He was elected to the former position by the Evansville Chamber of Commerce which chooses nine members of the 36-member board.

Since his coming to Evansville in 1928 as vice-president and general manager of Gaselec, Mr. Culley has been a leader in many community projects. He has presided over the Community Chest, directing its fund drives in 1937 and 1954-55, and has participated in scouting, YMCA, Council of Churches and Masonry.

The new board member has also been active in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Rotary and other civic projects. In 1946 Mr. Culley won the Rotary civic award. He is currently vice-president of the L. A. Parker Company.

EC Choir, Band To Give Joint Recital Monday

Selections from "Rigoletto" and "Il Trovatore" will be presented at the annual spring concert of the Evansville Symphonic Band and A Capella choir next Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Bosse high school auditorium.

Soloists include Mary Nell Plane, pianist, who will appear with the band, and vocalists, Patricia Harris, contralto; Shirley Lanman, soprano, and Jerry Jones, tenor, who will sing with the choir.

Miss Lanman will sing "Cara Nome" from Rigoletto. Two duets, "Home to Our Mountains," and "Miserere," both from Il Trovatore, will also be given. Miss Harris and Mr. Jones will give the first, Miss Lanman and Mr. Jones the second. The men's choir will accompany these selections.

The band also has some "first time" material, according to Mr. Wesley Shepard, band instructor. Several of the numbers which they will play are being performed locally for the first time, he said.

"Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor" by Tschaikowsky, as arranged by Mr. Shepard, will be the feature of the band concert. Mary Nell Plane, pianist, will be soloist with the band.

Other band selections on the program are "Amparita Roca" by Texidor, "The Tsar's Bride" by Rimsky Korsokoff and "Symphony No. 1 for Band" by Don Gillis. Included in the symphony are "The Pleasant Years" and "Uncle Walt's Waltz."

Completing the program will be band interpretations of "Chorale and Allelvin" by Howard Hokson, "Sandpaper Ballet" by Leroy Anderson and "King Cotton March."

The choir will open its part of the concert by singing "Advent Motet" by Schreck, followed by "O How Shall I Receive Thee," "Entrace Scene" and "Consolation."

Also on the choir program are "Last Words of David," by Thompson, "Alleluia" and "Hear the Singing," both by Berger.

In anticipation of the band and choir concert at Bosse Auditorium next Monday, singers Pat Harris, Jerry Jones and Shirley Lanman run through a song while Mary Nell Plane accompanies them on the piano. The students shown above will present individual solos at the concert.

Walker To Head Panel At Chicago Conference

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, will attend the national convention of the American Personnel and Guidance Association at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago from April 3-7. He will head a panel discussion at the meeting.

Representatives from five divisions of the personnel field will attend the convention, and the program is being arranged to include separate meetings, seminars and discussions of interest to each group.

Late News Breaks

Orders for senior invitations will be taken in the Union lobby from 10 to 10:30, March 28 through April 1.

According to Wendell Long, senior class president who is taking the orders, this is the only time orders will be accepted.

George E. Dockery, cadet lieutenant and wing commander of the 240th AFROTC, was promoted to cadet colonel, effective March 23, according to an announcement made this week. He will enter pilot training after he receives his commission in June.

Welcome Dr. Hyde

Welcome, Dr. Hyde!

Dr. Hyde assumed his duties as president of Evansville College March 15 after serving as assistant president of Drake university for six years. Since his own college days he has held educational and administrative posts in Midwestern colleges, in addition to taking on many 'after-hours' chores in church and civic affairs. He has also been busy rearing a family with whom he shares a great number of recreational interests — sports, music and reading. The new president has managed to make a name for himself in the field of writing, too. Reports of Dr. Hyde's boundless energy and accomplishments inspire confidence in him and his ability to lead Evansville College forward to new achievements.

The new college president comes to Evansville during a progressive era in its history. This year has seen the opening of the library fund drive; enrollment figures are steadily climbing upward; and plans are being discussed for a dormitory. Progress on campus is evident, but so are problems. Dr. Hyde will hear a lot of gripes about the school he's come to head, and many's the nightmare he'll have in which that old devil, "parking problem," will come to haunt him. He may not be an expert on how to park six cars in a space big enough for only one, but Dr. Hyde is no stranger to fund-raising for he was trustee chairman of the building and finance committees of the Grace Methodist Church in Iowa. With his experience, how can the library campaign fail?

Dr. Hyde turned down several offers of college presidencies to become president of Evansville College. He gave these reasons for his choice: "the way the community appears to be supporting the college; the strength of the college's current program and the possibilities of developing it; and the opportunities a church-related program offers." From his foregoing statement it is evident that Dr. Hyde possesses great faith in the future of the college, faith that it can become a greater influence in the social, cultural and religious lives of the people of the community.

To succeed in his work the new president must have the cooperation of the students, for what is a college without students? Their attitude can make or break an educational institution. Since Dr. Hyde has demonsrated his assurance in the integrity of Evansville College students by choosing to become their president over several other schools, it is up to them to show he was not wrong in his opinion of them by cooperating with his program.

It's good to see lights burning in the windows of the president's home again at night. The house has been empty too long.

Suffrage Here To Stay

1955 marks the 35th anniversary of woman suffrage in the United States. The adoption of the 19th Amendment marked the beginning of the new age of freedom for the American female. Of course, women had the right to vote in certain states prior to that time, but it wasn't until the election of 1920 that they were given full suffrage rights. They had to fight tooth and nail every step of the way to achieve the privilege of going to the polls with men on election day.

Woman suffrage was like chain lightning; once the American female got a taste of equality with men she was hard to stop. There are women in just about every business and profession today. Gone are the days when a girl was considered a poor unfortunate thing if she had to go unprotected into the cruel, cruel world to look for a job. But the day has not yet come when a man will admit that a woman is his equal in intelligence, wit and business acumen, and it probably never will.

Although the American woman has acquired the right to paint her face, show her ankles and powder in public without besmirching her reputation for life, she is still not on par with men when it comes to personal freedom. Why not? Because men don't want her to be, and most women are smart enough to accept this. Why should a woman knock herself out trying to best a man in the business world when nine times out of ten he will work like a tiger to keep her in luxury if she makes him believe he is the boss? The emancipation of women didn't take the female instinct from them; they still like the security of having a pair of broad shoulders to run interference for them in life.

The 20th century has changed the United States from a man's to a woman's world, not because women are on a par with men but because members of the fair sex can now have their cake and eat it too. They enjoy most of the privileges of men, while men work and slave to get these privileges for them. All it takes is a few well-played cards in the game called "femininity."

The smartest thing Evansville College women ever did was to abolish the Revlon Bowl game. What man is going to believe his wife is too delicate and flower-like to wash and iron and scrub if he has visions of her rigged out in shoulder pads and knickerbockers pushing her weight up and down a football field? The best ammunition in the world is face powder. Men are the stronger sex; they know it and want to keep it that way.

Hurrah for the Suffragettes, the Bloomer Girls and all the advocates of women's rights. Thanks to them, the American woman is regarded as an intelligent individual with opinions and rights to be respected, not as a household drudge with a pea-sized brain. But let's not carry this equality thing too far or the first thing you know, men will want to reverse the social order and keep themselves in the home. The present arrangement is just fine and dandy.

Evansville To Host Panhellenic Meeting

The state meeting of the Panhellenic Council will be held at Evansville College, Saturday, April 30, Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, announced last week.

Members of the City Panhellenic, composed of alumni, will act as hostesses, with the college Council assisting in arrangements.

Opening with a coffee in the morning, the convention will feature group meetings, panels, a luncheon in the Great Hall at noon and a business meeting after lunch.

Members of the College Panhellenic will help with the coffee and are currently making name-tags for delegates attending the meeting.

Mrs. Stephens said that about 75 out-of-town guests are expected, in addition to the Evansville delegation. Last year's state meeting of the group was held at Butler university in Indianapolis.

Mrs. William Knopsider is general chairman for the affair; Mrs. Richard Becker is president of the Evansville City Panhellenic.

Annual Conference Of Future Teachers Set for Tomorrow

The second Future Teachers Conference will be held tomorrow, March 26, in the Student Union from 9:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m.

The meeting is being sponsored jointly by the Selective Recruitment Committee of Delta Kappa Gamma and the education department of Evansville College. Purpose of the conference is to interest and encourage outstanding young people in the teaching profession.

The program, planned by Mrs. William Seibert, will include discussions and reports by various Future Teachers Association members. At a noon luncheon Dr. Paul Crum from Indiana State Teachers college will be guest speaker.

Musical offerings will be presented by Evansville College students Priscilla Vance, Jerry Jones and Shirley Witte.

Miss Lucille Jones, head of the education department, said that about 100 guests are expected at the conference.

Union to Entertain For Reitz Seniors

Reitz high school will be honored at the next party in the series for local high school seniors on Thursday, March 31, according to Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union.

Tom Lukens will again serve as emcee for the talent program which will include acts by Hal Burckhartt and Sally Reece, who will Charleston; Mary Giovanetti, Sue Hathaway, Joan Hamel and Toni Rietz, alumna, who will dance to "Shake, Rattle and Roll;" Carol Schoolfield playing a medley of popular songs on the piano and Hal Burckhartt and Carolyn Kohl performing their "Red Peppers" routine.

The parties are planned and executed by the Entertainment committee under the leadership of Chuck Calhoun. In addition to the talent program the guests will also be taken on tours of the Union.

Hosts and hostesses who will conduct the tours include Anita Aders, Robert Rickenbaugh, John Ritter, Richard Egerton, Rod Thiering, Benita Horton, Joan Anderson, Lloyd Steele, Greta Shaw, Jim Barney and Barbara Hulvershorn. Barbara Wiseman is in charge of mixers for the party and a committee headed by Elma Vogel will provide food. Assisting her are Sarah Warren, Bobbie Campbell and Harold Byers.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stien and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Susat will chaperone the party.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Selects New Officers

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia fraternity announced the results of its annual election this week.

Officers chosen to head the society are: Duane Pemberton, president; Jerry Jones, vice-president; Jack Schernekau, secretary; Gene Agee, treasurer; Richard Carl, alumni secretary; Mike Cavin, warden; and Eldon Katter, historian.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Might be jumping the gun a little bit. Spring is only around the corner. Course it might be a little far to the corner. Anyway, it will get here.

Seems like a lot of people are worried about these big bang bombs. That's one thing Old Ma Nature doesn't get all excited about. That old gal just won't get excited about people.

People have tried to make artificial rain. About the only way they can do it for sure is to use a garden hose. They've tried icing clouds and sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't. One bunch of wildcat rainmakers picked up a bunch of loot, promising to wet a wee area. It did rain but the wildcatters got a sunburn.

You can almost bet that Ma Nature will give birth to four offspring every year. She doesn't have them in litters, either. Man has been able to figure about when these fellows will arrive, but it isn't for sure.

Her first child is named Spring. This year it will be Spring 1955. Generally Spring is characterized by flowers budding and blooming, grass greening, and weddings. He is conducive to love. There's something about this guy that makes most people feel good. Many men want to go fishing, many women want to start on that suntan and to snare a man. Baseball players enter Spring training camps. Business just seems to pick up.

After a while Spring starts to grow up and everyone begins to look forward to Ma Nature's second child — Summer.

This one is a little warmer-natured than his older brother. Some of his characteristics are: the ripening of fruit, picnics, swimming parties and that oldest of games — smooching in convertibles.

There's something about Summer that makes most woman (and some men — ugh!) want to return to nature. They (the women) wear a brief article called a halter, along with some oversized handkerchiefs called shorts. They crave the sun and the attention of men. The men who are daring enough to wear shorts often resemble a gnarled oak. Birds perch on their knees.

Seeing as how Summer is sometimes too passionate, we often wish for Fall, the next gift of Ma Nature to the world.

Fall has a personality almost opposite that of his eldest brother, Spring. The leaves begin to turn, grass fades, clothes make their appearance. Men begin thinking about hunting, women about the new Fall styles. The air is filled with smoke from burning leaves. Pecan picking parties are formed. Last, and most dreaded, the school bells begin to ring. After everything gets settled old Ma thinks of her supreme effort — the birth of Winter.

This is probably the most violent of all the four children. He is gruff, ill-tempered. He howls, he puffs, he rains, he snows.

The kids love him when he affords snow for their enjoyment. They love to skate on the ice created by one of his cold moods. Sometimes he isn't so bad at that.

Old Ma Nature isn't such a bad dame at that. One thing's for sure, man isn't going to shove her around.

The President's Roundtable was very pleased to have Dr. and Mrs. Hyde as guests at their last meeting. The meeting was held in the Cafeteria on March 17 and we accomplished quite a bit.

The Roundtable felt that Miss Kirk should be allowed to accept reservations on the Great Hall from groups outside the campus on June 1 for the following school year. A campus organization therefore has until June 1 to reserve the Great Hall for the following year or it will be in competition with groups outside the college on a first come, first served, basis. All the organizations have been asked to have their dates for the Great Hall at the last Roundtable meeting of this year. The campus groups will then have first chance at the Great Hall.

The Union policy on room reservations other than the Great Hall is that standing reservations can be made only for the present quarter.

The Roundtable also felt that the student use of the check room during the day did not warrant the cost of keeping it open and suggested that coat racks be placed in the hall during the day. Kampus Kapers were also discussed, but the Roundtable felt it would be best to table the matter until the next meeting in order tha it can be discussed in the organizations.

Harding Visits South; Collects Degree Data

Mr. Thomas S. Harding, College librarian, returned Monday from a two-week leave of absence during which he visited colleges in Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, to collect material for his doctoral dissertation.

In Charleston, S. C., Mr. Harding was the guest of Prof. George B. Franklin, first librarian and first professor of English at Evansville College. He also visited with Dr. John F. Dashiell, who was graduated from Moores Hill College in 1908.

Contest Deadline Set For April 1

Next Friday, April 1, is the last day to enter poems in the AAUW poetry contest which is open to college students exclusively this year.

Poems may be written in any poetic form up to 24 lines in length. They must be submitted typewritten with the entrant's name and the title of his poem on a separate paper attached to the sheet.

Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English department, and Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, are accepting poems for the competition.

No limit is placed on the number of poems a student may enter in the contest.

Library Campaign To Open April 19, Committees Named

Plans for the campaign for the new library are now in full swing, with the appointment of the committee heads and the official launching date of the funds drive set. The date for the beginning of the drive was set for April 19, opening with a luncheon for 250 people, at a recent meeting of the "Citizens for Evansville College."

Mr. Ralph Olmsted, sponsor of the committee meetings, turned the functions over to the general chairman, Mr. Leland Feigel. Co-chairmen for the women's division two funds are Mrs. Walter Kuenzli, Mrs. Charles Nenneker and Miss Amata Maier. Mrs. E. J. Fehn is chairman of the fourth division; Mrs. Richard Gumberts, the fifth, and Mrs. D. W. Vaughn, the sixth. All top positions are held by graduates of Evansville College.

Special and initial gifts committee is headed by Mr. H. A. Woods, Mr. F. J. Bernhart and the trustees of the college. Mr. Wesley Hamilton is in charge of the industrial division and the commercial division is headed by Mr. Sam Orr.

The Lilly Endowment of Indianapolis has made a challenge gift of $200,000 of the $650,000 necessary for the building, meaning that the $450,000 balance must be pledged by June 30.

Taking a breather from ad-selling, copy-writing, and picture-taking, the LinC staff put on special toothpaste smiles for the photographer. The LinC is the Evansville College yearbook, put out by the journalism department and regulated by the Special Publications committee under the SGA. In the back row are Chuck House, Frank Powers, Willie Yokel, Duane Pemberton, Doug Barthlow and Hal Burkhartt. Next are Shirley Orth, Alice Christmas, Barbara Moore, Carol Schellhause, Myra Kasey, Karen Spong and Barbara Corson. In front are Miss Freda Martin, Jerry Grey, Jim Schreiber and Connie Miller. The book usually comes out on May day and the student activity fee, paid at the beginning of each quarter, covers the cost of the book.

SPEAKS AT MUSICIANS CLUB

Mrs. Margaret Shepard, co-head of the music department, spoke on the Robert Shaw chorale and orchestra for the Musicians' Club Tuesday morning. She also played recordings of the Shaw group.

Faculty Fellowship Sponsors Program Of Religious Study

A Faculty-Christian Fellowship was organized on campus last week with Mr. Edward Susat, assistant professor of engineering, as head of its steering committee. Also on the committee are Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English department, Mr. Lawrence Anderson, associate professor of economics, and Dr. Wade David,, head of the history department.

The organization was established following a luncheon at which Dr. Harold Titus was honor guest. Basic purpose of the group is to consider religious aspects in life and work on the campus, Dean Edgar McKown said.

The new faculty fellowship sponsors a flexible program which includes study of religious literature, brief devotional periods, prayer, Bible readings and inspirational talks.

Taylor Elected Phi Mu Head

Mary Lou Taylor was installed as president of the Delta Lambda chapter of Phi Mu sorority recently. Reba Hardison, outgoing president of the chapter, was assisted by Phyllis Hachmeister and Dana Jo Erhart during the installation ceremony.

Miss Taylor, who is an elementary education major, was a candidate for basketball queen and is a member of WAA and ACE.

Other new officers of Phi Mu are Reba Hardison, vice president; Joan McGraw, secretary; Elizabeth Winsett, treasurer; Dorothy Baggett, pledge director; Phyllis Hachmeister, membership chairman; Sandra Egli, reporter; Elizabeth Inkenbrandt, registrar and Patti Moore, historian.

MSM Names EC Students State Officers

Evansville College was twice honored at the annual Methodist Student Movement Conference held on campus March 18 to 20, when sophomore Don Griffith was elected state MSM president and Marilyn Bartlett, junior, board of education representative for the Indiana division of the conference.

The meetings got off to a flying start Friday evening with a supper and recreation hour in the College grill. The worship service later that evening was presented by a group of modern, interpretive dancers from DePauw university, depicting passages from the Bible.

Evansville's new president, Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, gave the welcoming address, and Dr. Paul Homer, professor of philosophy at the University of Minnesota, presented the platform address.

Guest speaker at the banquet Saturday night was Dr. Frank Greer from the Trinity Methodist church in Evansville; Dean Edgar McKown addressed the group at the breakfast Sunday morning.

Approximately 200 students attended the conference, including visiting members of MSM groups from Tri-State college, Indiana university, Purdue university, Ball State and Indiana State Teachers college, Franklin college, DePauw and Taylor universities, and Evansville College.

Pat Harris' Senior Recital Scheduled in Union April 1

Abstract, native songs will be the feature of Patricia Harris' senior recital, scheduled for April 1 at 8:15 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Union.

Miss Harris, a contralto studying under Mr. Cecil Selfridge, professor of voice and theory, will be accompanied by Nancy Jo Land. Although most of her numbers are very abstract, some of them are well known, according to Miss Harris.

"Chansons Moder," by Ravel will be the feature of the program. These selections were all written in a savage rhythm and melodic pattern, taken from native songs. "Nohandove," a savage love song, gets its title from a maiden's name. "Aoua," a cry of battle, names a savage battle song. "Repas, Rest," concludes this series.

To open the program, Miss Harris will sing "Euridice," by Gluck, from "Orfeo." Other selections included in this group are "Der Tod und dop Madchen, (Death and the Maiden)" by Schubert; "Du Bist so Jung (You Are so Young)," and "Ewig, Eternal," by Wolf, and "Amour Viens Aiders," from "Samson et Delila" by Saint-Saens.

Three selections by Sidney Homer, known for his compositions for contraltos, will also be sung by Miss Harris. These are "The Silk Rose," "Lullaby," and "Prospice."

A selection from "Carmen" by Bizet will close the recital.

A member of both Chi Omega sorority and Sigma Alpha Iota, a national professional music fraterntiy, Miss Harris sang last summer at the Mesker Memorial Amphitheater, where she was soloist.

Flood Times, Low Spirits Have Definite Connection

The rainy season definitely hit Evansville, the river went up, the student morale, down. There must be a connection someplace.

Though the paper guaranteed that spring had made its arrival on time and not incognito, and that winter had faded into the fog for another season, the dearth of spring flowers, balmy breezes, green grass and warm sunshine supplanted by the dull, drippy, sloggy rain makes even the most optimistic optimist a little pessimistic.

The Ohio river, with much aid from rather consistent downpours, and exuberant tributaries, rose past its banks and took all houseboaters and a few folks who weren't, on a wild tide-ride. Dress Plaza wore her driftwood well, with the beachcombers union, local 8133 of the Ohio river division, scurrying from their watery pastime to the high, dry ground of Main street and Third. Riverside was the most appropriately named street in the city. "Beautiful" Ohio really shot her wad, overflowed her nice modern Dior channel and made a general pig of herself.

Meanwhile, back at the campus, dour expressions peeking out from under leaking umbrellas pretty well expressed the general attitude of the student body and even a few faculty souls. Even the gaily colored slickers couldn't raise the dragging spirits of the co-eds and eddies. Lagging footsteps and unsmiling faces of people not yet in their dotage can only be attributed to one thing — THE WEATHER.

Views

David J. Lawson, senior pretheology major, is chairman of the Religious Life committee.

Would you deem it possible to live in a small community of about one thousand persons and not know about everything that was going on there? Could any active program be carried on within that group for any length of time without most of the members of that group finding out about it?

If you are anywhere near normal, your answer to these questions is probably an emphatic "NO." Even in the big "little town" of Evansville one finds it hard to keep the knowledge of his activities restricted to those persons he calls close friends. And it would seem that the smaller the group, the more sensitive the eyes and ears, and the longer the noses. Yes, it would seem that this is a principle that could very well be included in the biology text books.

That is, it could have been included if we here at Evansville College hadn't gone out of our way to prove it wrong. And what odds we've worked against! The period of time between 10 and 10:35 a.m. each Wednesday morning has been set aside by our College as a time to be used only for Chapel Services. And at that hour each Wednesday, Dr. Culver, our Religious Director, has arranged for a very active and interesting program of woship. The Newman Club under the guidance of Father James has accomplished the same end.

However, even the most limited observation will reveal that a great number of the citizens of our college community do not know the location of the Chapel and have never taken part in the programs carried on there.

Dr. Robert Pierce To Address Christian Guidance Meeting

Dr. Robert Pierce, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church in Indianapolis, is guest speaker of the opening session of the Chrisian Vocational Guidance conference beginning at 3 p.m. to day in the Student Union building.

Evansville College students, Tri-state high school juniors and seniors who take an active part in church work and those interested in going into full time Christian service have been invited to the annual conference. Registration will be at 3 p.m., with a coke party in the Patio.

Dr. Pierce will give the opening address at 3:30 in the Club room; he will speak on the subject, "I Choose to Preach." This will be followed by a series of discussion groups.

Resource leaders for the groups are Mrs. Clarence Baker, speaking on the subject "Layman Work of the Church," and Dr. Pierce, who will lead the discusison on the "Art of Leadership."

Rev. Ruben Bierbaum, pastor of Bethel E. & R. church, will lead the group discussion on "The Work of the Ministry" and Rev. William E. Coates will speak on "Vocational Opportunities in the Church."

Student chairmen of the groups are Joan Bosse, Marilyn Bartlett, Esther Wilson and Don Griffith.

Music Organization Initiates Members At Union Ceremony

Fourteen members were initiated into Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music fraternity for women, last Sunday in the Club room of the Union building.

Those initiated include the following music majors: Peggy Davenport, Priscilla Vance, Mary Elizabeth Scott, Lois Donham, Shirley Dauble, Joyce Reed, Ida Mae Vaughan, Ida Mary McCutchan, Elaine Bosley, Mary Ann Simrell, Beverly Hortin, Pat Parrish, Paula Tromp and Miss Sina Duggar, music teacher at Harper grade school.

Nancee Jo Land, president of the organization, officiated at the service.

A formal dinner at the Kokies, a tradition of the fraternity, followed the service. Miss Land gave the address of welcome. Mrs. Alberta Williams, retiring faculty sponsor, said a few words and introduced Miss Betty Kanable, who will take her place as sponsor.

Mrs. Norman Heim, the alumnae president, was also at the meeting.

Beck Succeeds Ping As EC Grid Mentor

Don Ping, after eight years as football coach at Evansville College, decided this week to turn the job of head football coach over to Paul Beck.

Beck, who served as acting coach last fall while Ping was on leave of absence to run for Vanderburgh County sheriff, is now officially head coach on recommendation of Ping and by approval of the Board of Trustees at their annual meeting.

Ping, who has been coaching for 29 years, will remain at EC as athletic director and baseball coach, while Beck will be head of the physical education department and will continue as assistant basketball coach.

Forrest Page is expected to remain as assistant football coach under the new setup. Page came to the college last fall from a successful coaching job at Noblesville high. A 1948 graduate of EC, he played here under Ping in 1946 and 1947.

Played Pro Ball

Ping's action, made official this week, had been expected. A native of Jasper County, Ill., he starred in baseball at James Millikin university and played professional ball for several seasons in the Three-I league before deciding to concentrate on football coaching. He first came to Evansville as coach at Memorial in 1930 from Carrolton, Ky., where he had coached for two years. His three years at Marshall earlier had provided him with an impressive record, giving him the opportunity to become Memorial's first full-time coach.

While at Memorial his teams took nine undisputed city championships and shared another, and Ping became one of the most successful high school coaches in the Midwest.

In his eight years as College coach, the Aces won 37, lost 35 and tied two, winning the Ohio Valley Conference championship in 1949 and winning Evansville's first two Refrigerator Bowl games in 1948 and 1949.

Ping always considered the undefeated 1937 Memorial team his greatest high school production and the 1949 Evansville College team the strongest under his coaching of the Purple Aces.

In his last active season as head coach, EC won only three out of 10 games, but last fall they rebounded with five wins, climaxing their season by topping Western Kentucky.

Beck Came In 1947

Beck, the new head coach, joined the staff as Ping's assistant in 1947. A native of Worthington, Ind., he was graduated from Indiana State Teachers' College in 1928, coached basketball and football at Oblong, Ill., until 1939 when he moved up to Thornton Junior college at Harvey, Ill.

In September, 1942, Beck went into the Navy, then came to Evansville after discharge as a lieutenant commander.

Ping and Beck have been associated for many years, back to their high school coaching days in Illinois, where their teams, Marshall and Oblong, played each other on several occasions.

Spring Football Practice Draws 40 Candidates

Approximately 40 candidates were on hand when spring football practice opened this week under the direction of Paul Beck, head coach.

Twenty-three members of this group are major lettermen, while 12 are minor award winners. The major letter winners included 18 who received their E's in 1954 and five in previous years.

Returning to campus are two ex-servicemen, halfback Don Williams and center Tom Reid; both are products of Reitz high school. Lloyd Whittaker, powerful fullback of the 1953 squad, halfbaek Orace Rumble and fullback Norman Heard are the others who have returned to college.

Major letter winners returning from the 1954 squad include Paul Aramowicz, George Baxter, Bob Drone, Bud George, Sam Hancock, Jim Horr, Ken Lutterbach, Chuck House, Bill Huff, J. O. Jackson, Dick Matthews, Jim Merkley, Bill Parish, team captain; Dick Sinclair, Corky Thompson, Richie Thompson, Gene Wallace and Frank Will.

Last year minor award winners who returned are Dave Austil, Gary Critser, Claude Chastain, Dave Davies, Bill Gabert, Walt Hatcher, Don Henry, Gene Lutterbach, Bill Mattingly, Stan Nevill and Bill Pfohl.

All Sports Banquet April 2 Will Honor College Athletes

Phil Eskew, noted Indiana humorist and superintendent of schools at Sullivan, Ind., will be the speaker at the second annual Evansville College All-Sports banquet to be held Saturday, April 2, at 6:15 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Union building.

Students are invited to attend the sports banquet which will honor all Evansville College athletes for the school year 1954-55. Reservations must be made at the athletic office by Friday, April 1, with tickets priced at $1.75 per person.

Baseball, Golf, Tennis Seasons To Open With 'Home' Matches

Schedules for the three spring sports—baseball, golf and tennis—have been announced. The baseball team will be the first of the three to open its 1955 season with a home game against Purdue university next Friday, April 1. The following Friday, April 8, will find the golf and tennis teams making their opening bids at home against Albion.

Coach Don Ping's diamond crew will play nine home games, three of them double headers, and six on the road. Two more matches, one at home and one away, may be added to the schedule.

The golf and tennis teams will play seven matches each, with Coach Paul Beck's golfers appearing four times on the home greens and three away. The tennis squad, guided by Coach Arad McCutchan, will entertain five opponents on the EC courts and play two schools away from home.

The 1955 schedules are as follows:

Figures Show Aces Have Edge on Foes

The Purple Aces had a statistical edge in all departments but one over the combined efforts of their opponents, according to official figures released at the season's end.

Winning 20 of 26 contests in the 1954-55 season, Coach Arad McCutchan's crew trailed in only one field, shots from the floor, taking 1,960 to 1,965 for the opposition, according to Paul Kinney, statistician for the athletic department.

The Aces sank 837 baskets, however, for an excellent 43.7, while their opponents got only 35.8 percent, hitting 705 attempts.

Jerry Clayton, freshman, carried off most of the honors on the "individual" basis, setting new one-game and season scoring marks. January 8, Jerry bettered Gus Doerner's record by piling up 35 points; his 487 tallies for the year tore down another Doerner record.

Other totals in Jerry's favor include the best average per game with 18.7; he also accounted for 184 field goals and 119 free throws, as well as taking 270 rebounds. His 14 field goals against Butler on February 2 was the best by a local player this season.

Jim Smallins proved to be the best marksman on the squad, however, with a total of 41 out of 77 field goals attempted with a 53.2 percentage. Clyde Cox averaged 52.1 and Frank Healy 43.8, for the next best figures among players in 15 games or more.

John Harrawood led in the free throw department with 90 out of 114 attempted, or 79 per cent.

McCutchan, Clayton Win ICC Honors

Coach Arad McCutchan was again named the Coach of the Year for the Indiana Collegiate Conference, and Jerry Clayton, 6-6 freshman, was named most valuable player in the ICC after first being named to the All-Conference team.

In receiving the honor for the 1954-55 basketball season, McCutchan became the first coach to be named to this role two years in a row.

Clayton set a record by being the only freshman in the history of the conference to be named most valuable player and the only player this year to be chosen unanimously. Bob Schrier from DePauw barely missed unanimous choice when he was named on all ballots but one.

McCutchan Honored

Last year his fellow coaches honored McCutchan after he came from behind to tie Butler for the 1954 basketball championship after the Aces had lost eight of their first 12 games.

This season was different. The Aces lost only two conference games, Valparaiso and Butler, the runners-up, and these were close "on the road" games. McCutchan's team represented Indiana at the NAIA tournament in Kansas City after compiling the best won-lost record in the state.

Clayton Stars

After a comparatively slow start in conference play, Clayton adjusted himself to college basketball. He pulled his scoring average up steadily, until he finished the season with a 21.2 points per game average. He hit .443 from the field to lead the Aces in that category and his 125 rebounds in 12 games is also tops. His 35 point record against Ball is second best individual performance of the year in the conference.

In gaining the top individual honor of 1954-55, Clayton received a total of 22 points out of a maximum possibility of 30. In the runner-up position for top honors was DePauw's Bob Schirer, who received 11 points in the balloting of the coaches.

Three Shows of 'Our Town' Scheduled for April 28, 29, 30

"Our Town," the final production by the Evansville College Theatre this season, will be presented for three consecutive performances April 28, 29 and 30 according to Robert Heater, assistant professor of drama.

Tryouts for the play were held March 14 and 15 and Mr. Heater and Tom Lukens, co-director, selected the cast. Jim Barney will portray the leading role of stage manager.

Large Cast

The unusually large cast includes Hal Burckhartt depicting George Gibbs; Carolyn Conoway, Emily Webb; Ron Porter, Dr. Gibbs; Sally Morris, Mrs. Gibbs; Gary Harmon, Mr. Webb; Phyllis Campbell, Mrs. Webb; Willie Yokel, Joe Crowell; Ken Curtin, Howie Newsome; Benita Horton, Rebecca Gibbs; Marvin Wallace, Wally Webb; Don Crawford, Simon Stimson; Gerriann Fraiser, Mrs. Soames; Eldon Katter, Constable Warren; Tom Cotton, Joe Stoddard; Jerry Schneider, Sam Craig and ladies in the audience, Mary Jane Nendal and Denny Crowder.

Neely Moman, Jerry Grey, Nancy Altheide, Selma Douglas and David Davies will play supporting roles.

No Scenery or Properties

This Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Thornton Wilder is a very unusual one in that no scenery or properties are used. Mr. Wilder reasoned that the play's message is of such importance that it can be told on a bare stage, the director explained.

The play dramatizes the common elements of life, familiar to all of us — growing up, marrying and finally dying — through the lives of two families. The action takes place in a small town in New Hampshire, Grover's Corners.

The first act pictures a typical day in the life of the two families, the Webbs and the Gibbs'. The second act tells the love story of George Gibbs and Emily Webb and is climaxed by their marriage. The final act is played in the town cemetery at Emily's funeral.

The auditorium as well as the stage will be used in the dramatization, Mr. Heater said, to create an audience participation. This unusual play which requires a great deal of pantomime is considered one of the best of the twentieth century American theatre, the director added.

Hassee Will Preside At Chi O State Meeting

Margie Hassee, president of the local chapter of the Chi Omega sorority, will officiate at the annual state-day convention of the organization on March 26.

The 60th anniversary meeting will be held in the Mirror Room of the Marott Hotel in Indianapolis where five chapers of the sorority will convene for lunch at 11 a.m., with a program following.

Miss Elizabeth Carmichael, national secretary of the sorority and parent and adult education expert, will be both the speaker and guest of honor at the meeting.

A musical program and dramatization of the growth of Chi Omega will be given by the five member chapters. In addition to Evansville College, Indiana university, Purdue, Indiana State and Ball State Teachers' colleges will be represented at the convention.

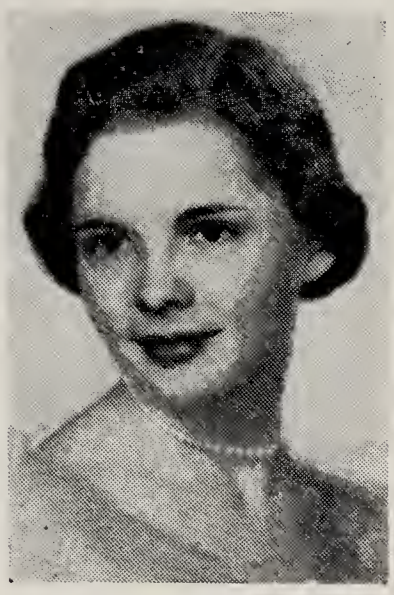
GUEST SPEAKER

Dr. R. T. Dufford, head of the physics department, was guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Men's Fellowship of the First Community Church Congregational on Wednesday.

He spoke on "Exploring the University."

'Colonel' Mohr Leads March At ROTC Ball

Rosemary Mohr was named honorary cadet colonel of the local AFROTC at the annual Military Ball on March 9. Dorothy Baggett and Jackie King were designated honorary lieutenant colonels.



Rosemary Mohr

Miss Mohr, who was chosen from all eligible junior girls by the ROTC cadets, received her cap and cape from Prof. Dean Long. Following the caping ceremony, Miss Mohr, escorted by George Dockery, wing commander, led the grand march.

Paintings, Sculpture Studies Displayed In Union Art Gallery Until April 6

Thirty-two paintings and 16 sculpture studies by contemporary American artists are now on display in the art gallery of the Union. The display will remain there until April 6.

The exhibition is on loan from the Department of Fine Arts permanent collection of the International Business Machines Corporation. The all-American collection includes works of artists from all 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Some of the better known paintings in the group include Henry Elis Mattson's "After the Hurricane," John Sloan's "Bleecker Street, Saturday Night" and Grant Wood's "Return From Bohemia." Other artists represented in the display include Frank Alston, Melvin Anderson, Romare Bearden, Julien Binford, Alexander Brook,

Perhaps the best-known sculpture in the group is Clarence Lawson's "Water Boy."

Beta Sig To Initiate Nine At Ceremony on March 31

Nine pledges will be formally initiated into the Beta Sigma Omicron sorority on Thursday evening, March 31.

Pledges who will be taken into the sorority include June Wedeking, Marlene Weber, Lois Donham, Shirley Dauble, Barbara Rundell, Mary McCreary, Shirley Ball, Carol Kerr and Benita Horton.

Officers of the sorority who will take part in the program include Miss Lockwood, president; Bobbie Cox, vice president; Margaret Broadhead, corresponding secretary; Susan Chenoweth, recording secretary; June Wallace, treasurer; Nancee Jo Land, pledge trainer; Marilyn Bartlett, rush captain; Alta Egli, editor, and Phyllis Warnke, warden.

Church Leader Schedules Talk For Holy Week

Holy Week will be observed on campus April 4, 5, 6 with religious services prepared under the auspices of Kappa Chi. They will be held each day at 10 a.m. in the Chapel.

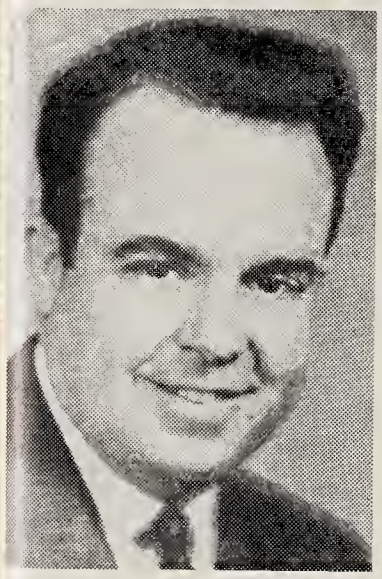
Special guest for the services will be Dr. Berlyn V. Farris, director of the department of evangelism for the National Council of Churches.

Students to Help

On Monday, David Lawson will serve as worship leader. Lowell Foster will read from the Scripture and Pat Gamble will deliver the prayer.

Monday's speaker will be the Rev. William Burton of Central Methodist Church, who will deliver an address entitled "Jesus the Man."

For Tuesday's program the Rev. J. R. Swasko of St. Mark's Lutheran Church will talk on "The World's Redeemer." Worship leader will be Bob Kettelhut, while Greta Shaw will deliver the Scripture reading and Hubert Crane will lead the prayer.



Dr. Farris

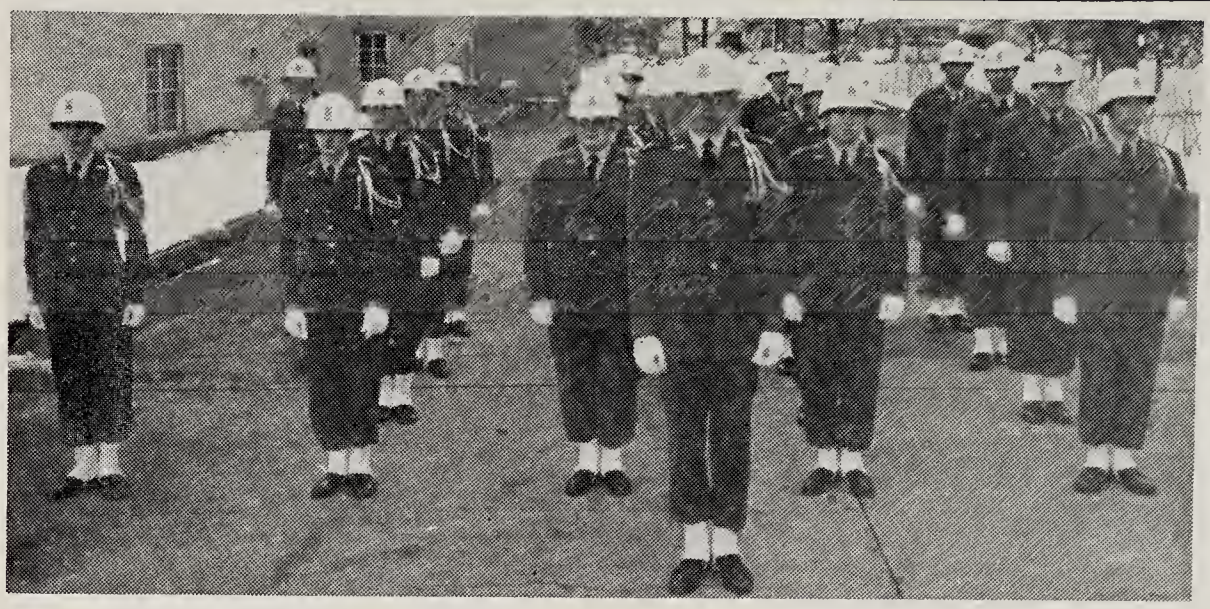
Students who will participate in the service on Wednesday are Gil Bumb, worship leader; Martha Powell, Scripture reader; and Tom Webb, prayer leader.

Dr. Farris will deliver the address for Wednesday.

Dr. Farris has been director of evangelism for the National Council of Churches since June, 1954. He was graduated from Southwestern college in Winfield, Kansas, and the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Illinois.

The religious leader was president of the Ministerial Association of Berkeley, California and Eugene, Oregon. Having served on the board of directors for the Berkeley Council of Churches, he was also chairman of an organizing committee and member of a committee on evangelism with the Oregon Council of Churches.

Dr. Farris has had experienee as a rural pastor, having been associated with a church of less than 100 parishioners in Holbrook, Arizona. He worked at Arizona State Teacher's college as director of its Wesley Foundation.



The AFROTC drill team sharpens up its marching style for the annual review and inspection which will take place April 18-19. The entire ROTC corps will parade in review before inspecting brass on the front campus April 18 at 10 a.m.

Highlight of the review will be the presentation of eight awards for outstanding cadets of the corps. These awards include: the Air Force Association Medal for outstanding achievement, demonstrated leadership ability, initiative in advanced air science and outstanding leadership ratings; the Reserve Officer's Association Medal for outstanding achievement in academic pursuits, devotion to duty, leadership, military bearing, cooperation and general progress during the 1954-55 academic year; Chicago Tribune Silver Medals awarded to an Air Science III and an Air Science IV cadet for outstanding achievement, class leadership and proficiency in drill and command; and Chicago Tribune Gold Medals to Air Science I and Air Science II cadets.

Other awards will be the The Republic Aviation Award consisting of a silver bracelet and scroll and the Convar Cadet Award which is a model aircraft and scroll. These awards are presented to cadets showing outstanding leadership and ability and who qualify for and deserve pilot training.

Visiting Army officials will be Col. Merwin E. Potter, Lt. Col. Joseph McDermott and Lt. Col. John D. O'Reagan.

Science Meet Will Feature Talks, Awards

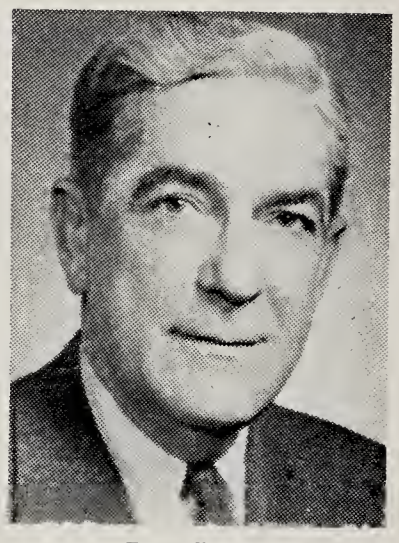
The sixth annual Science Fair, under the direction of Dr. R. T. Dufford, will take place at Evansville College Saturday, April 16. Dr. Norman Long is co-chairman of the Fair committee and therefore next in line to direct the event.

Guest speakers who have been scheduled to appear at the science meeting are Dr. Ford Lee Wilkinson, Jr., president of Rose Polytechnic Institute, and Dr. Llewllyn Heard, research chemist for the Standard Oil Company.

Features Exhibits

The Science Fair, which is sponsored by the college and the Evansville Press, features exhibits set up by students from the 7th to the 12th grades in the Tri-State schools. Grand prize for the best exhibit is a trip to the National Science Fair in Ohio.

All exhibits must be set up in the Engineering Building by 9 a.m. Saturday when the doors will be locked to everyone but the judges. Winners will be announced at a luncheon at 12:30 p.m.



Dr. Wilkinson

While judging is being done guests will be entertained with movies, campus tours and a demonstration on "Fire Magic" by Dr. Heard.

Fire Demonstration

Dr. Heard performed his wizardry with fire at a freshman convocation last fall and made quite a hit with his audience.

In his demonstration the chemist shows some of the scientific facts of fire. He uses entertaining experiments backed up by a clever and amusing explanation of what is happening to produce the smoke rings, bursts of flame and minor explosions which accompany his lecture. He makes playing with fire an exiciting business.

Dr. Heard, who holds some 30 patents on his work, does research for Standard Oil in fuels and combustion. He joined the company in 1936 after receiving a doctor's degree from Johns Hopkins university.

Luncheon Speaker

Dr. Wilkinson will speak at the luncheon, announcing the winners of the Fair's competition. He is a native of Elkton, Kentucky.

The college president was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis and served as a commissioned officer in the Navy for 10 years. For the past 22 years he has been in educational work, having accepted his present position in 1949.

The Science Fair will be open to the public from 2-9-30 p.m. Saturday. Admittance is free; everyone is invited.

Honors Day Group Lists Regulations For 'Mother' Award

Regulations for the nomination of a mother to compete for the Mother-of-the-Year award were set up at a meeting of the May Day Mothers Day committee this week.

To be eligible, the candidate must be the mother of a graduating senior, but nominations may be made by any Evansville College student. In other words, a student may nominate someone other than his or her mother.

No more than 50 words should be used to explain why the letter writer feels his nominee should be considered for the honor, and all entries should be sent to Dr. Virgil Logan before April 20.

The winner will be announced during the Honors program, following which she will "take the review" of the AFROTC and will be honor guest at the tea in the afternoon.

With the addition of this award, other program changes under consideration are the crowning of the May queen and the Maypole dance. These will precede the Honors program rather than taking place in the afternoon as in previous years. The luncheon, tea and sports contests will follow their usual order.

As in the past, the luncheon will be free to students on presentation of their student activity ticket.

Inca Plans Easter Event For Children

The Evansville College campus will again be the scene of the annual egg-rolling contest sponsored jointly by Inca and the East Side Kiwanis. The event will take place Easter Monday, April 11, from 1-4 p.m.

Nancy Altheide is in charge of Inca arrangements. Working with her are Yvonne McCutchan, Selma Douglas, Jerry Schneider, Richard Sexson and Frank Powers.

The two organizations are planning to use 120 dozen colored eggs for the event, and cash prizes will be awarded to lucky holders of specially-marked eggs.

Children from the kindergartens, first, second and third grades of the following schools are invited to the egg-rolling; Lodge, Washington, Dexter, Harper, Vogel, Howard Roosa, Stanley Hall, Hebron, Caze, St. Benedict's, Christ The King, Holy Rosary and Redeemer Lutheran.

EASTER VACATION

Easter vacation begins when classes end on Wednesday, April 6. Classes will get back on schedule Tuesday, April 12.

During the holiday break, business offices will be open as usual except on Saturday of Holy Week. The Union will operate each day except Saturday also, and a noon meal will be served in the Cafeteria on Easter Sunday.

Telethon To Feature Five College Acts

Evansville College talent will be on display tomorrow night when five campus acts take to the video circuits for the Easter Seal Telethon, sponsored by the Vanderburgh Society for Crippled Children.

The show, which is in its second year, will begin at 10 p.m. and continue until Sunday noon. Pledges for the campaign are taken during the 14-hour review of talent.

Tom Lukens will be on hand with his comedy rountine; Mary Giovanetti will perform a pantomime to recorded music.

Another college act will feature the "Shake, Rattle and Roll" dancers, Joan Hamel, Toni Reitz, Sue Hathaway and Mary Giovanetti. Sally Reece and her Chi Omega dancers, Carolyn Conaway and Dennison Crowder, will give a modern interpretation of the dance.

Ken Curtin and his accordian will also take to television tomorrow for the benefit of the Easter Seal fund.

The show will be emceed by movie, stage and television actor, James Dunn. Mr. Dunn is currently appearing on the Chrysler program, "It's a Great Life."

Outstanding Women To Be Honored At Council Dinner

Invitations for the annual Recognition Day dinner which honors outstanding women on campus will be issued early next week. The dinner will take place Monday, April 14, at 6 p.m. at Kokies.

The Women's Council, sponsors of the affair, will invite 37 students and five faculty members to the dinner. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, faculty advisor for the Council, said that the group includes two freshmen, six sophomores, seven juniors and ten seniors.

Names of the women to be honored will not be disclosed until invitations have been received.

Council hostesses will be Jackie King, Shirley Orth, Barbara Cox, Loretta Belden, Dorothy Baggett, Betty Norris and Mrs. Stephens.

Steier Receives Honor From Science Group

Bill Steier has received honorable mention from the National Science Foundation because of the high score he made on tests for a fellowship application. The tests were administered by Educational Services of Princeton, New Jersey.

Steier, who is a senior, has been granted an assistantship at the University of Illinois where he will work toward a master's degree in electrical engineering. He will enter the university next fall.

Selective Service Tests To Be Given April 21

Selective Service tests which help determine military deferments will be held Thursday, April 21, in O-105.

Mr. Gordon Stein said the tests will begin at 9 a.m., but students taking them will be required to report around 8:30. They will last approximately three and one-half hours and no one will be permitted to leave until examination time is up.

Persons taking the tests must bring with them the required entrance card, a No. 2 pencil or pen, and a selective service document giving classification, selective service number, board number and its address.

Union Board-Upper Classmen Sponsor Prom, Cruise Aboard Avalon April 25

The Union board, under the direction of Sam Laubscher president, decided recently to work with the junior and senior classes in the promotion of their prom aboard the Avalon on April 25. This co-sponsored dance will take the place of the formerly planned Union dance.

A South Sea Island theme will be carried out in favors and decorations for the cruise. The Dance committee, headed by Carolyn Lockwood, will be in charge of favors and decorations. Tables will be arranged in night club style.

The House committee, Margaret Broadhead, chairman, will handle all publicity for the dance and the Social committee, under the direction of Myra Kasey will appoint chaperones. The Games and Entertainment committees, headed by John Slyker and Chuck Calhoun respectively, will sell tickets in the Union.

The Rhythm Masters will provide music for dancing at the informal affair. The Avalon will dock at the foot of Main street and will leave at 7:30 and return at 11:00 p.m. All students, faculty, alumni and guests are invited to attend the dance.

Tickets may be obtained from any of the 145 Union committee members or from representatives of the junior and senior classes. The Finance committee, Jerry Neiswanger chairman, is in charge of all ticket sales.

Applications Deadline

Applications for editor and business manager of The Crescent and LinC for 1955-56 are being accepted by the Publications committee. All applications must be in by April 25. Jim Schreiber is chairman.

Easter, Time of Hope

Next week is Holy Week, the time which leads us into Easter. The beautiful liturgical ceremonies of the season, symbolizing Christ's triumph over death, serve to renew the hope of mankind at a time when hope has become a pretty shabby thing in many parts of the world. It is fitting that Easter comes in the spring when the earth is replenishing itself, preparing for another year of productiveness.

Easter is a time for prayer ,a time for asking and for thanking. We should thank God for the privilege of being Americans, for being able to live decent lives in freedom. We should ask him to unite the world in peace and understanding and to bring the blessing we enjoy to others.

Easter is a time to remember . . . to remember that Christ died for everyone. He showed no discrimination against or partiality for any nation or race. He did not point his finger at anyone and say, "You cannot be saved because of your color, your language or your culture." Thus it is a time to resolve to foster love and understanding of others in the world, so that the day will come when all people will be as equal in the eyes of their fellowmen as they are in the eyes of God.

Cafeteria Prices Slashed

Have you noticed lately that you have a few jitneys still jingling in your jeans after you've gone through the cafeteria line and paid the bill? You should if you've been taking advantage of the price slashes that went into effect recently. Several dishes have gone down 10 cents in cost, thanks to the efforts of the Progress Committee and the cooperation of cafeteria head, Mrs. Hill.

The Progress Committee, a group which airs students gripes and tries to do something about their sources, got wind that students thought meat prices in the cafeteria were too steep for their pocketbooks. Committeewoman Nancy Lai bearded Mrs. Hill in her office and explained the situation to her. Instead of giving out with a lot of talk about profits and losses, Mrs. Hill promised to do her best to cut prices.

And she did. She lowered the cost of cubed steak from 45 cents to 35, country sausage from 45 to 35, and weiners from 40 to 30. Fish is 35 cents now and a choice of beverage has been added to the student plate.

Mrs. Hill deserves a great big vote of thanks for her cooperation, and the best way students can show their gratitude is by patronizing the cafeteria. Prices could be reduced still more if the volume of business were increased. Another way food bills can be lowered for the student who cannot eat at home is through the purchase of meal tickets. A $4.50 ticket entitles the purchaser to $5 worth of food, the $9 ticket to $10 worth, entailing a saving of 10 percent.

The next time you're hungry, try the cafeteria for food.

By Bill Steier

The Athletics Committee of the Student Faculty Federation has recommended that the cheerleader awards be changed. They suggested a cheerleader be given a sweater at the end of the first year, a windbreaker jacket at the end of the third year, and a college blanket at the end of the fourth year. All of these awards would be on condition that the cheerleader attends all home games with the exception of some rare emergency. The matter has been sent to the Administrative Board and has been referred to a committee within the Board. The issue will probably come to a vote this Friday.

If the May Day Queen election is held in the traditional manner, the Student Council will nominate five senior girls who, they feel, are the most deserving and not according to their social affiliations. The senior men will then vote for the queen on the Friday before May Day. Unless the May Day Committee decides to make some changes, this will be the routine followed again this year.

The Administrative Board last week approved a special activity ticket available to co-op students during their work periods. The ticket would cost six dollars and would include the athletics fee, the LinC fee, and arrangements to have the Crescent mailed to them.

EC Delegates To Attend Public Affairs Conference

Mr. Edward Richards, assistant professor of history and political science, and students Ott Hyatt, Jim Jensen, Hal Burckhartt and Bill Bammer will attend the 17th annual Public Affairs Conference at Principia College in Elsah, Illinois, April 14-15-16.

Theme of this year's conference is "United States Security Policy in Terms of National Resources." The conference consists of an opening reception, panel discussions, speeches and informal get-togethers.

Speakers include such nationally known figures as Mr. Thomas Finletter, former Secretary or the Air Force; Morehead Patterson, American representative on the United Nations Disarmament Committee; and Col. Frank Higgins, assistant Secretary of the Army.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Change of pace. Thought I might try to build something up instead of run something down.

Total income — $118,723.02. Paid out in wages to an average of fifty people — $78,899.12.

The people — Baptists, Catholics, Assembly of God, Evangelical and Reformed, Holiness, Methodists, Presbyterians, Christian, Nazarenes, Adventists, Episcopalian, First Church of God, Interdenominational, Lutheran, Pentecostal, No Preference, Unknown.

The one thing they have in comman — they are handicapped — blind and defective vision, deaf, hard of hearing, impaired speech, orthopedic, organic disabilities, infirmities of age, mental and social disabilities.

They try to earn their own way. Money alone is not the motive. Keep busy, keep the mind occupied. No time to feel sorry for yourself, to feel bitter, when you are busy.

Helping others, Build, rebuild, so that those with a low income can buy, so they can have a few of the comforts of life. Help them to help themselves.

They in turn are helped by others. The Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the J.C.'s, you, when you give to the Community Chest.

They made 9,861 effective calls to homes. That number of people helped them. That number in a metropolitan area over twenty times that large. 14,692 bags of old clothing were collected. 5,592 pieces of old furniture were donated. 20,728 miles were rolled on their trucks. There were 17,167 contributors during the year of 1954.

It looks like a bunch of figures, doesn't it? Goodwill Industries, which opens each day with a half hour interdenominational service, can show that it helped people with these figures.

They have a waiting list of handicapped people wanting employment. Right now they are able to employ 45. They, too, are aware of the supply and demand curve. Only with them the demand curve is controlled by the supply curve. So far they have been able to sell about all that they can offer. The supply hasn't been good enough to furnish work for more than 45 people.

Goodwill industries utilize every thing that is given to them. If it is repairable, they can repair it. If it isn't repairable they sell it for scrap. The waste they have left after repair jobs is sold for scrap. As is said about modern meat packing companies — "They use everything but the squeal and they are working on that now."

These people don't want sympathy, they don't expect the Old Man with the Blue Coat and White Goatee to take care of them. As a matter of fact — they paid $6020.52 in withholding taxes last year. They contributed $1682.52 in F.I.C.A. taxes. They are extremely proud of having to pay these taxes.

You are probably thinking, "So what." Here's so what — these people at Goodwill depend on us to give them things that we are going to throw away. To us they're no good, to them they are.

This spring when spring cleaning time rolls around, how about calling Goodwill Industries? They will send a truck out to take those things you are throwing away and will put new life into them.

Help them to help themselves.

Mrs. Fehn Schedules Recital For April 19 In Great Hall

Mrs. Barbara Fehn, lyric soprano and a member of the music department, will give a recital in the Great Hall April 19 at 8:30 p.m.

The recital will include French and German art songs and thirteenth century folk songs, with contemporary accompaniment. Mrs. Fehn will open the program with "Lusinghe Piv edre" from "Alessandro," a lesser known oratoria by Handel.

French are songs by Faure, which she will sing, are "Noel," "Dans les Ruines D'une Abbaye," "Lydia," and "Toujours." Three German lieders by Brahms, "Standchen," "Wir Wandelten" and "Der Schmied," will also be on the program.

Selections from contemporary operas will be "Depuis le Jour" by Charpentier and "Mariettas Lied" by Korngold.

An unusual feature of the program will be Casella's thirteenth century folk songs with modern harmony. These old Italian selections include "Giovane Bella," "Fuor la Bella Gaiba" and "Amante Sono, Vaghiccia, di Voi."

Mr. Ralph Waterman, associate professor of organ and music theory, will accompany Mrs. Fehn.

Mrs. Fehn received both her bachelor's and master's degrees from Indiana university. She has taught voice, theory and harp at the College for the past five years. Mrs. Fehn has had lead roles in productions at the Mesker Memorial amphitheater for the past few summers.

English Faculty Members Attend Chicago Conference

Miss Wahnita DeLong and Mrs. Jane Olmsted, of the College English department, left last Thursday for the annual College Conference on Composition and Communication in Chicago.

The conference was designed for the discussion of teaching composition and the problems that arise in that area. It is within the National Council of Teachers of English, but is a group separate from the entire council. Teachers from all over the country participated in the meeting which was made up of a series of workshops designed to cope with specific problems.

All-Fool's Festivals Beginning Disputed

Though the actual origin of April Fool's Day or All Fool's Day is much disputed, it is, in some ways, a relic of those once universal festivities held at the vernal equinox, which, beginning on old New Year's day, March 25, ended on April 1.

It was then, and still remains, a day when any gullible person is run ragged with fruitless errands, wild tales and quests for the traditional left-handed monkey wrench or striped paint. It's a day when practical jokers go wild, and the things that their victims feel like doing to them all year long, materialize . . . in the name of fun and April Fool's day, of course.

Though this day seems to have been anciently observed in Great Britain as a general festival, it apparently wasn't until the beginning of the 18th century that All Fool's day became accepted as a common custom. In India, the Feast of Huli, on March 31, is an Indian equivalent of this quaint April custom, and France celebrates a "poisson d'arval" as their April Fool.

'Our Town' Stresses Message; Acting Replaces Props, Scenery

Closing the season of Evansville College theater, the Pulitzer prize-winner, Our Town," may well be the most unusual play presented in front of the College footlights.

Unlike the other two plays, "Harvey" and "Tartuffe," no props or scenery of any kind are to be used, to create an atmosphere essential in the captivation and hypnosis of the audience. The entire stage area and parts of the actual auditorium will be used to indicate shifts of scenes. Passage of time and mood changes are left to be created by the lighting men and the actors. The author believed that by eliminating the "usual" elements of plays, the full force of his message could reach the audience, aided only by the purity of dialogue.

Character make-up will be essential. Limited costuming will add a little to the air of make-believe present in a theater, but only talent, the actors' and the auhor's, will stand between the dull reality of the bare stage and stark reality.

Kurka's Serenade To Highlight Philharmonic Concert Monday

The final concert by the Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra this season will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the Coliseum, with Minas Christian conducting.

Highlighting the concert will be the performance of a new composition, "Serenade to Orchestra," after lines by Walt Whitman, by the young composer, Robert Kurka.

The "Serenade," which will be performed for only the second time in the nation, by the local orchestra, is now being prepared for publication by the Weintraub Music Co., New York City, which offered the score to Mr. Christian to use. The only other existing score is being held for Dimitri Mitropoulos, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Society.

The "Serenade," based on lines from poems in Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," includes four movements — "Song of Myself," "When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd," "Song for Occupations" and "A Song of Joys."

S. Hugh Dilloni known throughout this area for his roastmasting duties at the Evansville Gridiron show the past two years, will do the narration for "Peter and the Wolf," Prokifieff. Other selections by the orchestra include: "Introduction to Act III, Lohengrin," Wagner; "Adagio for Strings," Samuel Barber, and "Russian Easter Overture," Rimsky, Korsikoff."

GUEST SOLOISTS

Mr. Cecil Selfridge, associate professor of voice, will be baritone soloist at a scared Palm Sunday concert by the Princeton Massed Choir of 200 voices in the Princeton high school auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Sonia Boerke Padgett, contralto, Mr. Selfridge's student, will also be a featured soloist.

Sponsored by the Princeton Ministerial association, the concert will start at 3 p.m. Mr. Bradford Chaffin, director of the Trinity Methodist church choirs of Evansville, will be guest director.

SENIOR INTERVIEWS SET

Representatives from Aetna Life Insurance Company will visit Evansville College Wednesday, April 6, to interview business majors concerning positions with their company.

Children's Author to Speak At Faculty Dames Meeting

Mrs. Vardene B. Moore, former faculty member and author of children's books, will be guest speaker at the Faculty Dames meeting April 12, at 7:45 p.m. in the Club room of the Student Union.

The theme of the meeting, according to Mrs. F. Woody Werking, vice president of the organization, is reading with our children.

Mrs. Moore at one time taught creative writing here at the college. She has written several children's books, two of which are "Billy Between" and "The House Next Door."

Mrs. V. W. Maves is hostess chairman for this meeting. She will announce her assistants at a later date.

KASEY APPOINTED

Myra Kasey has been appointed treasurer of the Student Government Association to fill out the term. Former treasurer, Marilyn Randolph Bernhardt, completed work for graduation last quarter and is no longer in school.

Chance to Travel, Gain Credit Hours Now Being Offered

A chance to see Canada, New England and all points East and get five credit hours at the same time is now being offered to students, according to Dr. James E. Morlock.

The Sociology Department of Evansville College is sponsoring the tour which is limited to thirty-five persons. The group will travel by chartered bus, leaving the city August 6 and returning August 26.

Dr. and Mrs. Morlock will accompany the group. Reservations can be made in his office with an application and deposit of $20.00.

The cost of the trip is $159 and includes hotel expenses, transportation, transportation tax, guide service and tuition. This figure does not include food, refreshments, side excursions, or incidentals.

The entire tour is planned to be "visual education at its best." Five quarter hours of college credit will be granted to those who successfully complete the work.

Each day is carefully planned and the group has opportunities to stop at points of interest along the way. A day-by-day itinerary will be ready soon.

Gilbert Bumb, senior pretheology major, is president of Kappa Chi Fellowship of Christian Service.

I suppose you could say that this is the time of the year when we experience a feeling of mixed emotions. There is somewhat a feeling of joy and of sorrow within us as we approach the Easter holidays.

This is nothing new in Christian experience. The "Triumphal Entry" of Jesus into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday was one of great joy for the followers of Jesus. Slightly more than half a week later this joy had turned into deepest gloom and sadness, only to be replaced again with still greater joy on Easter Sunday.

It is sad indeed to recall the crucifixion of our Christ and the agony He had to endure not only on the Cross, but in the Garden of Gethsemane, in the court chamber, and up the path to Calvary. Remembrance of these events rightfully brings a sad and sobering effect upon us during each Lenten season.

On the other hand we must remember that there is more to the story than this. The meaning of the Death and Resurrection should bring us the greatest joy. It is indeed wonderful to live in the knowledge that Christ died for our sins and rose again, thereby giving us the hope that we, too, might eventually enter into eternal life.

I believe God wants us to be a joyful people. The fact that this season of the year tends to bring us closer to Him should, in itself, bring us great joy. Awareness of that suffering and sorrow, however, helps to make our present joy all the more meaningful.

Ping Men To Face Purdue April 6; Veterans on Hand To Bolster Team

By Chuck House

The Evansville College baseball team, under the mentorship of Don Ping, has been practicing for two weeks in preparation for its first game of the season with Purdue University on April 6 at the Aces' east side diamond.

Coach Ping's hopes for a good team this season will depend on last year's veterans and the freshmen. A considerable portion of the offensive and defensive punch of a year ago will be missing with th absence of such stalwarts as Jim Nichols, Norm Heard, Byron Brenton, and Jack Engleman. Returning from last year's team, which won 7 to 13 games, are Corky Thompson, Bud George, Bill Baumeyer, Willie Angermeier, Sam Hancock, Jim Merkley, Paul Kinny, and Dick Sinclair.

Corky Thompson, a .368 hitter in conference games last season, is a sure bet to start at second base again, while shortstop Dick Sinclair and catcher Bill Baumeyer are expected to repeat in their respective positions.

The other two infield spots are still wide open. At first base Clyde Cox and Sam Hancock are vieing for the starting berth. Hancock was the starter last year, while Cox played a year at Tulane before transferring here. Richie Thompson and Don Maulding are likely prospects for the third base spot since Byron Brenton, the returning third sacker, is out indefinitely with a knee injury.

The outfield has Willie Angermeier, Jim Mergley, and Paul Kinny back from last season. These are possible starters in the three outfield spots. In the pitching department the Aces lack depth as well as experience. Bud George, the Aces' most effective pitcher last season, is the only returning hurler and will probably handle the bulk of the mound duties again this season. Jim Pierce and Joe Van Winkle are also pitching prospects. Merkley may be moved to the hill from the outfield.

The Aces seem to have a good nucleus of veteran players from which Coach Ping can form the 1955 edition of the purple and white.

'Guest Writers' Wanted For Sports Columns

Ever wished you could write a byline sports column?

Since the Crescent is without a sports columnist this quarter, the editor has decided to invite "guest columnists" to try their hand. Anyone interested is asked to call at the Crescent lab to arrange the date.

Position of sports editor is also open. Anyone interested should contact Miss Freda Martin, faculty advisor.

Aces To Play Double Header Here Friday

Eight veterans will lead the way next Friday when the tennis and golf teams open here against Albion.

From a field of 11 reporting for golf, six have played previously with the college squad.

Ken Grall, with three years experience, and Jim Hartman and Jack Miller, with two each, head the list reporting to Coach Paul Beck. Jack Williams, Ronnie Katz and John Archer, all with one year of training, round out the old-timers.

Reporting for the first time this year are Tom Habbe, Jack McClug, Neil Norrick, Jerry Schenk and Wendell Bacon.

With only two lettermen returning, Coach Arad McCutchan will make no predictions about his tennis team and his probable starters.

Jack Combs, three-year letterman, and Bob Harman, are the only experienced players reporting this season. John Conaway, a two-year veteran, has not turned out for practice yet.

Filling out the group are newcomers Ralph Willis, Richard Korressel, Ed Pfafflin, Walt Hatcher, Al Stremming and W. Steele.

Four matches with Kentucky Wesleyan have been added to the original schedule listed last week. Two at home April 18 and May 9, and two at Owensboro, April 15 and May 23, round out the list.

aces high

by jack combs

WHILE THE "BIG leaguers" are basking in the Florida sun waiting for the official opening of the season, another group of athletes have been braving the cold Evansville weather for the past two weeks rounding into shape in the annual Spring football drills. Head mentor Paul Beck and his assistants have been running some 34 prospects for next year's squad through daily workouts when the weather has permitted and although the season is some six months away the climate has the feel of Fall in the air. As one player said, "It seems like we should be getting ready for a Thanksgiving day game rather than the closing of Spring practice."

According to Coach Beck the squad is weakest at the center, tackle and end posts, while backfield positions seem to be at least three deep at every spot. With a little help from the incoming freshmen in the line the Aces should improve their '54-'55 record of five wins and four losses.

ABOUT THIS TIME of the year all sports writers seem to get the urge to start making predictions of things to come and this writer is no exception. In the American league I'll still go with the old saying that you can't bet against the Yankees. Granted Cleveland has added power to its line-up with Ralph Kiner, and they have a promising addition on their pitching staff in Herb Score, but "Bullet Bob" Turley, Don Larsen and Ewell Blackwell will give the Yankee pitching staff the boost it needs to put the New Yorkers back on top. After reading this, only Yankee fans will think I'm not crazy, but after watching Cleveland in the World's Series I wouldn't bet on them if they took their pick of every ball player in the country.

Over in the National circuit it looks like a two-way race between the World's Champion New York Giants and the Milwaukee Braves, with the St. Louis Cardinals acting as a dangerous dark horse. The Giants have a staff of greats headed by such players as Willie Mays and Johnny Antonelli and they also have the confidence that goes with being champion. Milwaukee has perhaps the best infield in the league, and Hank Aaron, Del Crandall, Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock have been improving steadily. Stan Musial and Red Schoendenist will provide the strength for the Cards, along with the addition of Ken Boyer at third base and Bill Virdon in the outfield, but the loss of Vic Raschi for an indefinite period will hurt them in the early season. Aces High picks the Giants to repeat.

For the cellar position in the two leagues the most promising prospects are the Kansas City Athletics in the American and the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National. These two clubs would have a tough time finishing in the top bracket in the American Association. The Athletics lost 103 games last year, finished last in batting, fielding and standings and didn't complete a trade for this season. The Pirates' veterans are over the hill and their youngsters are at least a year away, although Dick Groat could be a big help and the young hopefuls could surprise everybody.

All - Sports Banquet Tomorrow To Honor 'E' Letter Winners

"E" letter winners will be honor at the second annual Evansville College All-Sports banquet tomorrow night in the Great Hall of the Union building. Phil Eskew, noted Indiana educator and humorist, will speak on "The Four F's" in athletics.

Emceed by Coach Don Ping, athletic director, the program will include presentation of the Bill Slyker Memorial award as well as presentation of letter winners. Given in memory of the former coach of the Purple Aces from 1930 through 1943, the Slyker award is based on the fundamental requirements of athletic accomplishment, leadership, citizenship and scholarship.

Bob Martin, a three-year letterman in football and baseball, received the award last year, the first year it was given. Mr. Ralph Coleman, chairman of the athletic board of control, will make the presentation.

Coach Arad McCutchan, head of the physical education department and basketball coach, will present the winners of the "E" for basketball and tennis. Coach Paul Beck, head football coach, golf and football winners; and Ping, baseball.

Two-Letter Winners

Six players have earned two or more letters in the current school year: Dick Sinclair, football, basketball and baseball; Robert George, Sam Hancock, Charles Thompson, Byron Brenton and James Merkley, football and baseball.

Other winners are Phillip Aramowicz, George Baxter, Robert Drone, James Horr, Charles House, William Huff, J. O. Jackson, William Kruchek, Kenneth Lutterbach, Richard Martin, Richard Matthews, Larry Myers, Theodore Niemeier, William Parish, Robert Scott.

Richard Thompson, Eugene Wallace, Ronald Whitaker, Francis Will, David Austill, Gary Critzer, Claude Chastain, David Davis, Charles Gabert, Walter Hatcher, Donald Henry, Eugene Lutterbach, William Mattingly, Stanley Nevill, Robert Payne, William Pfohl and Richard Whitaker, football.

Basketball award winners are Roscoe Bivin, Jerry and Joe Clayton, Clyde and Harold Cox, John Harrawood, Frank Healy, Archie Griggs, Jim Smallins, Bob Walker, Bob and John Wessel, Gene Wilm and Sinclair.

Kenneth Grall, Jim Hartman, Bill Scott and Ray Stein will receive awards for golf, and Don Baumeyer, Jack Combs, John Conaway and Joe Whitmore, tennis.

Willie Angermeier, William Baumeyer, Brenton, Don Deller, Jack Engleman, Norman Heard, Paul Kinney, James Nichols, George, Hancock, Merkley, Sinclair and Thompson, baseball.

Activities Tickets Available Now In Business Office

Student activities tickets for the Spring quarter are ready for distribution and may be picked up at the business office. Several events are posted this quarter for which students will need the tickets for admission.

A new policy on activities tickets for co-op students on the job has been adopted by the Administrative Board.

Working co-op students can purchase tickets for athletic events for $3.35 per quarter, the Crescent for $.95 and the LinC for $1.60. Mr. Edward Susat, assistant professor of engineering, will mail the Crescent to its subscribers each week.

Co-op students are subject to the regular student activities fee when they are attending classes.

Course Evaluation Adoption Studied By Student-Faculty

A student-faculty committee to study the adoption of course evaluation was formed last week. Mr. William Affölder, associate professor of management, and senior Gilbert Bumb were selected to serve as co-chairmen of the group.

Other faculty members named to the committee are: Dr. Donald Dunham, professor of biology; Mr. William Coates, director of town and country; Miss Agnes Tompkins, associate professor of secretarial science; and Miss Lucille Jones, head of the education department.

Student committeemen are Carroll Rickard, Dick Ettenhson, Sue Chenoweth and Rosemarie Wiseman.

The committee will study the pros and cons of course evaluation sheets and decide whether or not to adopt them. The sheets would give students an opportunity to rate course interest, teaching methods and many other aspects of classes which they have completed.

Spring Quarter Enrollment

Campus enrollment for the Spring quarter reached a total of 936 according to G. R. McCoy, registrar.

In addition to this total which includes all campus students, there are also 96 student nurses from Deaconness and St. Mary's hospitals enrolled in several classes.

The Spring quarter enrollment is higher than that of last year's final term total of 876. The Winter term registered 949 campus students.

Spring Music Recitals Planned Ay Juniors, Seniors, Faculty

Senior, junior and faculty recitals are being planned for the month of April according to Mrs. Irene Richards, secretary of the music department.

Pat Harris, contralto, will begin the series tonight at 8:30 in the Great Hall. A student of Mr. Cecil selfridge, she will feature abstract native songs.

Dwayne Scott's senior cornet recital is planned for April 13, at 8:30 p.m. in the Great Hall. He is the student of Mr. Everett Northcut.

Bill Parish on his baritone horn and Peggy Davenport, pianist, will present a combined junior recital April 15, at 4 p.m. in the Auditorium. Mr. Parish is also a student of Mr. Northcut and Miss Davenport is studying under Mrs. Margaret Shephard.

Mrs. Barbara Fehn, instructor of voice, will present a recital April 19, at 8:30 in the Great Hall. A lyric soprano, Mrs. Fehn will sing both French and German art songs.

Nancee Jo Land's piano recital is scheduled for April 17, at 4 p.m. in the Great Hall. She is studying under Mrs. Alberta Williams.

Shirley Lanman, contralto soprano, will bring the "recital series" to a close April 22, at 8:30 p.m. in the Auditorium. The feature of this program will be Miss Lanman and Mr. Selfridge, her instructor, singing a duet to "Tuttle le Feste al Tempio" from "Rigoletto."

Williams Resigns Post As Crescent Editor

Jack Williams, Crescent editor during the Winter quarter, resigned his post effective March 22. Mr. Williams said that lack of time made it necessary.

No one has been appointed to fill the vacancy. Action will be taken at the next meeting of the Publications committee.

In the meantime the paper is being written and edited by a staff of four, Betty Staser, Jane Chanley, Karen Spong, Benita Horton and Freda Martin, faculty advisor.

Any person wishing to write for the Crescent should apply at the Crescent office located in room 144 of the Office building. Enrollment in a journalism course is not required.

Prize Winning Play Will Be Presented By College Theater

"Our Town," Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winning play, will open a three-day run next Thursday. This will be the final production by the Evansville College Theater for the season.

No scenery or properties are employed for the performance, but the auditorium, as well as the stage, will be used in order to create a feeling of audience participation, according to Mr. Robert Heater, assistant professor of drama. This unusual play, requiring a great deal of pantomime, is considered one of the best of the twentieth century theatre, he added.

The play dramatizes the common elements of life, growing up, marrying, and finally dying, through the lives of two families in a small New Hampshire town. The story is narrated by a stage manager played by Jim Barney.

Those portraying leading roles include Carolyn Conaway, Sally Morris, Ron Poter, Phyllis Campbell and Gary Harmon. Supporting roles will be handled by Willie Yokel, Jerry Schneider, Gerriann Frasier, Benita Horton, Don Crawford, Marvin Wallace, Eldon Katter, Tom Cotton, Mary Jane Nendel and Denny Crowder. Mr. Heater and Tom Lukens are co-directors.

"I feel that this play has a message for every person," Mr. Heater said. " only hope the student body gives us its full support in executing this difficult drama."

Writing Competition Will Be Featured On Journalism Day

High school juniors and seniors of the Tri-State area will be guests on campus May 6, when Journalism Day will be observed. Sponsored jointly by Evansville College and the Evansville Courier, this annual event was started in 1951.

Planned to give high school students the opportunity to discuss journalism with those working in the field and advisers and students with problems the same as their own, the program revolves around a principal speaker, a specialist in his particular field.

The writing contest, for which scholarships are awarded to the two winners, is a feature of the day. Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism fraternity, sponsors this event.

This year's committee includes Miss Freda Ashley Martin, assitant professor of journalism, chairman; Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union; Miss Louise Moberly, assistant public relations director; Dr. Virgil Logan, associate professor of speech, and Mr. Frank Hunt, managing editor of the Evansville Courier.

Working with this group will be members of Pi Delta Epsilon, with Jack Combs, president, in charge.

Mother of the Year Award

Deadline for nominations for the Mother-of-the-Year award has been moved ahead to April 25, according to an announcement by the committee.

To be eligible for this award, the nominee must be the mother of a graduating senior, but nominations may be made by any student on campus. This gives underclassmen an opportunity to submit names of mothers they think worthy of this honor.

Not more than 50 words should be used to explain why the letter writer thinks his nominee should win, and all letters should be addressed to Dr. Virgil Logan, professor of speech.

Union Committee Heads To Be Elected

Student election of Union committee chairmen will be held next Friday in the lobby of the Union, according to Miss Kay Curtis, social director.

Six committee chairmen and six vice chairmen will be chosen from the 16 candidates picked by the Board from the group of persons who have served two years on a committee. At least two names for each committee will appear on the ballot; in four cases, three names will be given. The winner will be named chairman, the runner-up automatically becoming vice chairman.

Candidates for the offices are: Entertainment, Jack Miller, Phyllis Bunge and Mary Giovanetti; Games, Shirley Orth and Paul O'Dell; Finance, Gene Hollander and Margic Hassee; House, Anita Aders, Lois Ryon and Buddy Watkins; Social, Joanne Bailey, Carolyn Conaway and Sara Rupp, and Dance, Doug Barthlow, Sally Reece and Carol Schellhase.

Carolyn Lockwood, present chairman of the Dance committee, will remain on the Board as chairman of the newly formed Personnel committee. Each year the Board retains one hold-over member; Sam Laubscher, out-going president of the Board, was this year's hold-over. The winners of the election will take office next fall at the annual leadership conference during the first week of school.

Core committees will be chosen at a future date. In order to be eligible for election to a Core committee a student must have served faithfully on a Union committee for one year. Eighty-two persons are eligible for these posts.

Senior men will have an additional "chore" when they go to the polls next Friday to cast their votes for Union board chairmen. Choosing the May Day Queen will be their special duty as only senior men are given the opportunity to vote for her.

Walker Attends Meeting

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, was on the Registration Committee at a three-day meeting of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators at Purdue universiy last week.

Evansville College is a new member of he NASPA, having been accepted by the organization earlier this year.

College Trustee To Deliver Last Vesper Sermon

Dr. Harry Kisner, superintendent of the Rushville District of the Methodist Church, will be guest speaker at the Vesper service Sunday, April 24, at 4:30 p.m. in the Great Hall. Dr. Kisner is an Evansville College trustee and was formerly with the Methodist Temple here in Evansville.

Presiding over the Vespers, which will be the last of the season, will be Dr. Mearl Culver, with Dr. N. I. Schoolfield offering the prayer. Bill Steier will read the Scripture.

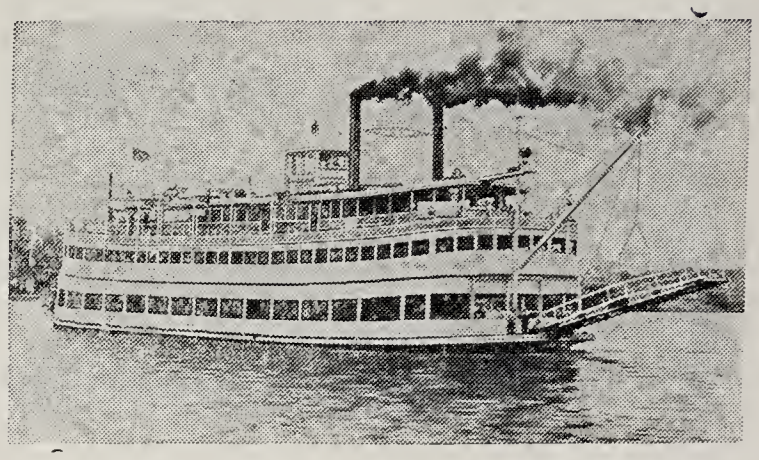
Music for the service will be furnished by the Vesper choir under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Shepard. A coffee hour in the lounge at 5 p.m. will follow the Vesper service.

Dr. Kisner, who is a native of Sullivan County, Indiana, has spent all his ministry in Indiana, except for five years when he attended college and seminary. He became a member of the Indiana Confcrence of the Methodist Church in 1914.

Having studied at Moore's Hill and Hanover colleges and Northwestern university, Dr. Kisner has degrees from Union Theological college, Garret Biblical Institute and Evansville College.

Appointed to his present position in 1952, he has served a number of churches in Indiana.

Dr. Kisner is president of the Indiana Annual Conference Corporation and has held positions on committees of the Indiana Conference, including the Board of Ministerial Training, World Service and Finance Commission and the Committee on Scholarship Funds.



Everything Set For All-Campus Prom, River Cruise on Monday

By Jane Powers

Plans are really moving ahead for the spring prom. Approximately 500 people are expected to attend the informal dance aboard the Avalon on April 25. The prom is being sponsored by the junior and senior classes and the Union board.

Work on the prom is under the direction of Sam Laubscher, president of the Union board, Sam Hancock and Wendell Long, presidents of the junior and senior classes.

Chairmen of the various committees are Carolyn Lockwood, dance committee; John Slyker, games; Charles Calhoun, entertainment; Jerry Neiswanger, finance; and Margaret Broadhead, house committee.

An exotic touch will be added by the South Sea Island theme carried out in the favors and decorations for the cruise. Tables will be arranged in night club style. Senior class president, Wendell Long, said there will be no prom queen this year.

Providing the floor show will be Carolyn Kohl and Hal Burkhartt, who will appear in a comedy skit, a take-off on Hawaii. Sally Reece and her dancers are planning a hula chorus line, and plenty of soft dance music will be provided by the Rhythm Masters. To complete the South Seas Island theme, each person will be presented a lei as he boards the boat.

The Avalon will dock at the foot of Main Street and will leave on the cruise at 7:30 and return at 11. Tickets are $1.25 and can be obtained from members of the Union board and from representatives of the junior and senior classes.

Any proceeds from the prom will be presented to the college as a gift from the senior class.

All-Campus Picnic Planned for May 15

Dig up that bottle of suntan lotion left over from last summer and shake the moths from your bathing suit, 'cause the big all-campus BAK picnic is just around the corner.

The picnic is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, May 15, at Pfafflin's Lake in Newburgh. In case ideal weather does not prevail, the outing will be postponed until the next Sunday.

BAK members, under the direction of Professor Richard Robinson, Glenn Norrick and Roscoe Bivin, are planning a round of recreation guaranteed to make the afternoon a lively one. As a special feature they've challenged the Engineering Club to a softball game.

In addition to planned entertainment, swimming and boating are also on the agenda. There'll be food and soft drinks, and ants will be supplied to the people who don't think a picnic is complete without them.

All students and faculty are invited to the picnic, and tickets will be sold in advance. Watch the Crescent for information on price and where to buy them.

Choir To Feature Sacred and Secular Music During Two-Day Spring Tour

The Evansville College choir will leave on a two-day spring tour Monday, April 25. This year, the tour will include concerts at high schools and churches in West Lafayette, Pine Village, Roachdale and Plainfield.

The choir will leave early Monday morning and return Tuesday evening. Members of the group will be overnight guests of Pine Village families Monday.

Included in the choir's repertoire will be both sacred and secular numbers. A solo quartet of Shirley Lanman, soprano; Patricia Harris, contralto; David Deeg, tenor, and Claud Hayes, bass, will interpret the "Advent Motet" by Gustave Sehreck.

Other soloists with the choir are Priscilla Vance, Marcia Madison and Stanley Hildreth who will be featured singing Negro spirituals.

Before leaving on tour, the choir will present a program of sacred music at St. John's Evangelical Church, Sunday, April 24, at 4 p.m. in celebration of the hundred and fifth anniversary of the church.

Last Sunday the choir gave the same program at the Methodist Temple under the sponsorship of the Evansville Council of Churches and the Evansville Ministers' Association.

Mrs. Margaret Shepard, director of the Evansville College choir, has chosen a wide selection of both sacred and secular numbers for the choir's repertoire this season.

The sacred music includes early religious music of the 15th and 16th centuries. One of the larger works is the "Advent Motet." Secular music which the group will render includes such works as "Song of the Halutzim" and "Johnny Has Gone For a Soldier," plus modern popular music including "Brigadoon" and "The Happy Wanderer."

Happy Birthday, Bill

Tomorrow is the birthday of William Shakespeare — the writer, not the fellow who played in the Notre Dame backfield a few years ago. If the Bard were alive today he would be 391 years old. "Heaven forbid!" cry students who, for compulsory literature courses, have lethargically plowed their way through what they called the barren wastes of a Shakespearian drama.

But to have to give up Shakspeare's works would be downright frustrating to many in this modern world. The publishers of Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations" would be left with a 77-page blank on their hands; for next to that chap, Anonymous, Shakespeare is probably the most widely-quoted writer who ever dangled a participle. And without Shakespearian witticisms where would novelists steal their titles? Even Nobel Prize winners are not averse to filching a phrase from the Bard here and there and christening their brain children with it.

How would innocent-eyed politicians voice their surprise at being elected without that sentence from "Twelfth Night" — the one that goes like this, "Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them." Ham actors and actresses would rather give up their toupees and pivot teeth than lose the Melancholy Dane and the fair Juliet.

What would quizmasters do without quotations from Shakespeare with which to stump a frightened contestant? If the Bard had never lived, some of our best musical comedies and epic tragedies would never have been written, for the ghost of Shakespeare has ghosted many a modern masterpiece. Present-day be-bopsters, who label Shakespeare a square, don't realize that he, with his "Hey Nonny No," was as cool a guy as ever twanged a lute.

Well, happy birthday, Bill, you poor plagiarized soul. May your writings live forever, and may you never be banned in Boston. And a pox upon those disagreeable characters who insist that you weren't William Shakespeare at all, but another fellow named Francis Bacon.

Cadets Receive ROTC Awards During Review

Last Monday the annual presentation of awards to outstanding cadets of the AFROTC Cadet Corps was made at a full military review on the front campus.

Cadet Colonel George Dockery received the Air Force Association Medal for outstanding achievement, demonstrated leadership ability, initiative in advanced air science and outstanding leadership rating while attending summer camp. President Melvin Hyde presented the award.

For recognition of outstanding achievement in academic pursuits, devotion to duty, leadership, military bearing, cooperation and general progress, Cadet Lt. Colonel Kenneth Will was awarded the Reserve Officer's Association Medal, presented by Lt. Commander Fletcher McKay.

The Republic Aviation Award, consisting of a silver bracelet and scroll, was given to Cadet First Lieutenant Donald Mills for effectiveness in presentation and acceptance of an Air Power theme. This award was given by Colonel Merwin Potter, Chief, Federal Inspection Team.

Receiving the Convair Cadet Award for 1955 was Cadet T/Sgt. William Palmer. The award was a model aircraft and scroll and was given for demonstrated ability in Air Force ROTC and for being an outstanding Air Science II Cadet. It was presented by Colonel Robert Leich, Commander of the 5938th United States Army Reserve School.

Cadet Lt. Colonel Robert Hawkins received the Chicago Tribune Silver Medal for outstanding academic achievement, class leadership and proficiency in drill and command. This is the fourth consecutive year Cadet Hawkins has received this recognition.

Presented to Cadet First Lieutenant Richard Kirkland was the Chicago Tribune Silver Medal for outstanding achievement, class leadership and proficiency in drill and command. Presentation was made by Honorary Wing Commander, Colonel Rosemary Mohr.

Chicago Tribune Gold Medals were given to Cadet M/Sgt. William Acker and Cadet 3rd Class Gayle Buroker for outstanding achievement, class leadership and proficieney in drill. These awards were made by Honorary Lt. Colonel Dorothy Baggett and Honorary Lt. Colonel Jacqueline King.

Council Recognizes Outstanding Women

Last week 27 students were honored at the annual Recognition Day dinner sponsored by the Women's Council to recognize outstanding women on campus.

Seniors who were honored at the dinner were: Myra Kasey, Norma Jean Robertson, Martha Powell, Rosemarie Wiseman, Margaret Broadhead, Marilyn Randolph Bernhardt, June Wallace, Nancee Jo Land, Suzette Spiegel and Diane Bentley.

Marilyn Bartlett, Dorothy Baggett, Carolyn Lockwood, Joanne Bailey, Nancy Lai, Joan Bosse and Rosemary Mohr were the juniors honored.

Sophomores attending the affair were Carol Schoolfield, Mary Giovanetti, Marjorie Hassee, Alice Christmas, Shirley Orth, Carolyn Conaway and Phyllis Bunge.

Judged outstanding freshmen were Carolyn Kohl and Lois Donham.

Hostesses for the dinner were members of the Women's Council: Jackie King, Shirley Orth, Bobby Cox, Loretta Beldon, Dorothy Baggett, Betty Norris and Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, faculty advisor.

Others invited to the dinner were faculty members Miss Betty Kanable, Miss Doris Kirk, Miss Agnes Tompkins and Miss Lucile Jones. Miss Jones as guest speaker, gave a talk entitled, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

On the entertainment roster were a reading by Carolyn Kohl and group singing under the direction of Alice Christmas.

Spring flowers and candles served as decorations for the dinner. As mementoes of being chosen outstanding women on campus, guests were given souvenir booklets, listing qualifications noted in the selection.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

There is little need to go into details concerning the recent capture of the "Murdering Man." It is up to the Grand Jury to indict him.

Many hours of work have been done by the police department in compiling the evidence and in grilling him. It took a lot of cooperation between the city police, the State Police and he Henderson Sheriff's office to succeed in getting all of the facts and assumptions in order.

I have spent many columns berating the local constabulary and I will probably spend more doing the same. Yet I feel that they deserve a lot of credit for the job they have done in this case.

It is very true that a group of youngsters, members of Junior Sheriff's Posse, gave the police their tip that brought the whole thing to a head. These alert young men deserve much credit. The reward money posted should be given to these boys.

From the tip given by these boys the police were able to break the case. Only the murderer knows what went on behind the elosed doors of the interrogation room. The police spent mueh time with him, asking questions and getting answers. There was a lot of time spent trying to weave an intelligent pattern from his answers.

What makes a man like the murderer? Does he kill from fear of identification? Is he a born murderer? If his desire to murder was acquired, why was it aequired? If he pleads insanity will he get off with life? Was he insane?

These questions are being asked in every group. It is difficult to understand why a man will kill, especially in wholesale lots. I doubt if anyone will ever know what went on his mind and why.

Should he get the maximum sentence — the electric chair? Because he took lives, should his be taken? That, too, is a matter of personal opinion. Personally, I feel that he should. There are people in prison today who, if the penalties for some crimes were more severe, would probably not have committed the crimes.

The common occurence of copping an "insanity" plea today and thereby getting "life" makes murder more tempting. Personally I feel that anyone who commits a murder, excepting during times of war or in self defense, is insane. Yet should all of these people get only life? I think not.

The workings of man's mind are very strange. Many things that occur to man during his very early years will shape his character later on. But who knows what things will tend to help him acquire a murdering complex? All men are individuals and must be treated differently. Are the people who associate with a person from birth to death to be blamed for all of man's actions? I don't know. I don't think anyone knows.

The murderer had been in trouble before. Should his second resort to crime be blamed on our penal institutions? On the guards? His associates? On the people with whom he associated after his parole? On his parents? Again I think not. If he was dangerous he wouldn't have been paroled.

Only one person will ever know the workings of the murderer's mind. He had only one witness who saw all of the killings.

A murderer is a sort of god, too. He can take life or he can leave it. He can be vengeful or he can be mereiful.

In the coming Library Fund drive, Evansville College will be asking the community for $400,000. The student body has the duty and responsibility of eontributing part of this amount. The people who contribute the major portion of the money will not have nearly as close ties with the college as do the students, nor will they receive as much benefit from the building as will the student body. It is fitting then, that the student body should carry part of the load in financing the building.

Everyone will agree that a college student is not the riehest person in the world, but if the contributions were spread out over a period of three years, nobody would feel the pinch too much. The amount given by the student body would then be large enough to be significant and could be used to furnish one of the rooms. A plaque would be placed in the room, stating that it was furnished by the student body.

This matter will be taken up at the next President's Roundtable meeting where the amount of the pledge will be decided. If the Roundtable agrees, petitions will be circulated in the student body in order to get your consent.

The library will be our building, and we eannot fail to do our part. The drive will be hard to sell to those outside the campus if those on the campus are not willing to help.

College Library Campaign Opens

The library fund drive was officially opened Wednesday with a dinner given for the personnel involved in the campaign. Approximately 300 guests attended the affair.

Mr. Leland Feigel, general chairman of the drive, was in charge of the dinner; plans were made from the campaign office in the Union Building.

The first major gift was presented to the library campaign last week before the drive was officially begun. The sum of $18,000 was donated by Ralph and Cliff Kleymeyer in memory of their father, Mr. Henry Charles Kleymeyer.

The elder Mr. Kleymeyer, who was a former Evansville College trustee and prominent Evansville businessman, died May 6, 1950.

The gift will be used for construction of the audio-visual auditorium in the library, which will be known as the Henry C. Kleymeyer Memorial Auditorium.

PHI MU

The Phi Mu's of Evansville College held their initiation for Mary Lou Heilman and Ida Mae Vaughn in the college Union building, followed that evening by an informal party at the home of Miss Mary Lou Taylor.

KAPPA CHI

Dean and Mrs. Edgar McKown entertained Kappa Chi for the nineteenth annual time last Monday night at Audubon Park.

It was the first time that the McKowns had made an outing of the annual affair. According to the Dean, the group was becoming too large to entertain in their home as they had done in the past.

As has been the custom, following the meal, all Kappa Chi members took part in the informal program. Only the movies shown in the McKown home were missing from this year's program.

BETA SIGMA OMICRON

Handed the reins of the Beta Theta chapter of the Beta Sigma Omicron sorority was Mrs. Alice Christmas, junior, an elementary education major. Carolyn Lockwood was installed as vice president; Susan Chenoweth, recording secretary; Phyllis Warnke, corresponding secretary; Joanne Bailey, treasurer; Marilyn Bartlett, rush captain; Marlene Weber, assistant rush captain; Carol Schoolfield, warden; June Wedeking, pledge trainer; and Jean Hurst, editor.

ACACIA

The annual spring formal, set for the 30th of April at the Shrine Mosque, promises to light up the entire Acacia year. There will be a formal dinner at Smitty's preceding the dance and an informal party at Audubon park afterwards. A trophy will be awarded to the outstanding aetive by this year's pledges, and also to the outstanding pledge, presented by the actives. The "Beauty" queen of the dance will be ehosen by the "Beast" alumni chapter.

Keeping an eye on the dark eorners will be chaperons Dr. and Mrs. Norman Long, Mr. John Kronsbein and Mr. and Mrs. Wade David. Honored guests at the danee will be President Melvin W. Hyde, Potentate of the Shrine and Prof. Edward Richards. Music for the affair will be contributed by the Phi Mu Alpha dance band.

Hayride

April 16th saw the Aeacia and their dates go "hay-wire" or so to speak. With two wagons, tons of hay and tractors in low gear, they left at 8 p.m., meandered through Elberfeld and returned to Al Walker's house for an informal party about 11.

"Invested" . . . defined as all Acacia members wearing the bright yellow vests with the black felt Acacia symbol on the front. These bright spots on a drab campus were obtained for the boys by the Acaeia Auxiliary, consisting of wives and mothers. Among the many projects designed to raise money to pay for the vests is a bake sale, April 20, at the Indiana Bell Telephone eompany lobby.

SPRING RUSH

Spring rush began last Wednesday with the Beta Sigma Omicron party at the home of Marilyn Bartlett. The girls played games and sang but were quite artistie, too, in the creation of their own calory-countless banana splits.

Thursday night, the Phi Mu sorority entertained the rushees at the home of an alumni, Mrs. Roger Becker of Arcadian Acres. Monday night marked the end of rush with the Alpha Omicron Pi party, a wiener roast Audubon Park. Silence started Tuesday.

The girls going through rush spring quarter are Bobbie Campbell, Margie Lampbert, Sylvia Neff, Charlotte Walters, Louise Hobgood and Maryanne Wahlsdorf.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Spring has sprung and the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity boys are right on hand to greet the season with an offering of fresh roses for the offices of Mrs. Stephens, Dr. McKown and Dr. Hyde, every week.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

Following the initiation of their pledges, the AOPi's installed Joan Bosse as their new president; Lois Ryon, vice president; Jackie King, recording secretary; Faye Forster, eorresponding secretary; Harolyn Brown Reynolds, treasurer; Irene Rechnic, door keeper; Mary Lou Born, fraternity education;

Polly Adcock, scholarship; Joan Hamel, public relations; Joan Luckett, historian; Mary Ciovanetti, rush eaptain; Jane Dreher, assistant rush captain; Liz Romine, social service; Mary Ann Simrell, song leader.

NEWMAN CLUB

Next year's officers for the Newman Club on eampus are Mary Ciovanetti, president; Margie Lampert, vice president; Jackie Nicholson, recording seeretary; Jim Casper, corresponding secretary; Norman Martin, treasurer; and Dick Wittgen, historian.

Alpha Chi Sigma Initiates Members

Juniors Jack Seott Miller and Royce Wilson Gipson have been pledged to Alpha Chi Sigma Fraternity, Epsilon Chapter of Indiana university, national professional ehemical fraternity.

Dr. Norman Long, head of the chemistry department, is district counselor for the fraternity. Professors Andrew Sherockman and Roy Halverson are also members of the soeiety.

As distriet counselor, Dr. Long visits and advises chapters in his distriet whieh ineludes collegiate groups at Indiana university, the University of Kentucky and the University of Cincinnati, and professional chapters at Dayton, Cincinnati and Louisville.

Dr. Long said that Evansville College has an arrangement with Epsilon Chapter to pledge a eertain number of Evansville students, a plan whieh he believes is being tried for the first time at any college.

SCA To Sponsor Swimming Party

The SCA will have a swimming party April 30 at 5:30 p.m. in the YMCA. After taking a few turns around the pool, guests will partake of a pot-luck supper and have a discussion. After-supper entertainment will be in the form of a square dance.

Bill Corpening and Marilyn Bartlett, co-chairmen of the SCA social committee, have appointed the following eommittees to arrange details of the party:

Tickets: June Wedeking, chairman; Ceorge Hogan, Mary McCreary, Lavel Foster and Carol Kerr.

Food eommittee: Phyllis Warnke, chairman; Sue Chenoweth, Paul Boeseke, Ruth Latham and Tony Matthews.

Clean-up committee: Carol Schoolfield, chairman; Bob O'Connor, Barbara Brakmeier and Harold Byers.

Table decorations: Barbara Rundell, chairman; Carolyn Reasor, Marlene Weber and Darlene Schillinger.

Campus Organizations Give To Children's-Society Fund

Professor Arthur Spence instigated the contribution of extra dollars to the Vanderburgh County Crippled Children's Fund on the recent all-night Telethon when he challenged other organizations on campus to match the initial Inca donation.

Not being oncs to let a dare go by, other campus groups dug into their jeans and came up with contributions also. Fraternities and sororities which gave to the drive were Phi Zeta, AOPi, Phi Mu, Chi Omega, Pi Epsilon Phi, Beta Sigma Omicron and Acacia.

Mr. Spenee was on the Production Committee for the Telethon, and he wrote script for the scenes explaining and demonstrating therapy used by the Crippled Children's Society.

Several Evansville College performers stayed up until the wee small hours to do their stuff for the crippled children. Professor Robert Heater acted as emcee for the show from 2:30 until 4 a.m.

Inca members are helping with the clean up, eollecting pledges that will bring the total contribution to $21,000 when they are all in.

Sunday Designated Church College Day

Next Sunday is Christian College Day as designated by the Commission on Higher Education of the National Council of Churches.

Cil Bumb, with Jim Schrieber assisting, is preparing an exhibit for the day.

Serving on a faculty committee for Christian College Day are Mr. William Coates, Dr. Harris Erickson, Dr. Orville Jaebker, Dr. Virgil Logan, Dr. Norman Long, Mr. G. R. McCoy, Miss Louise Moberly and Miss Corian Stambaugh.

Purpose of Christian College Day is to call the attention of all churehes to the place and service rendered by church schools. Ninety per eent of leadership in all Protestant churehes is provided by graduates of church colleges.

Evansville College will observe the day with a Vesper service and an exhibit set up in the rotunda of the Student Union.

College smokers know why

WINSTON

changed America's mind about filter cigarettes!

WINSTON brings flavor back to filter smoking!

■ It didn't take long for word to get around campus! Winston's got real flavor —the full, rich, tobacco flavor you want. No wonder so many college men and women are getting together on Winston!

Along with finer flavor, Winston also brings you a finer filter. The exclusive Winston filter works so effectively, yet lets the flavor come right through to you. Easy-drawing—that's Winston!

Smoke WINSTON the easy-drawing filter cigarette!

Greer, Chenweth Named Winners in Poetry Contest

Sophomore Bill Greer walked away with first place, Junior Sue Chenoweth with second, in the recent poetry contest sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Names of winners are being announced today by Miss Wahnita DeLong, acting as spokesman for the AAUW.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners during the May Day program May 4.

The Poctry Section of the AAUW conducts an annual contest which was open this year only to college students. Members of the organization judged the poems submitted.

Here are the poems, composed by Mr. Greer and Miss Chenoweth, which were judged the most original and clever in this year's competition:

The Opportunist

The case of Sagacious DeWembleton Brown
Was sad and too bad, for he was the clown
Who thought he had fought his way up to renown
Though he was a plain old ragpicker.

Conniving and striving to keep up his fame
He carted and sorted the rags without shame
Till one day on Monday he tired of the game
And tanked up on homemade corn liquor.

Then Tuesday was booze day — the next days were too,
Old Saggy grew Shaggy, his business was through.
He switched to a niche as a peddler of brew
And wealth came his way all the quicker.

—Bill Greer

Contrast

The dawn
Rose grumpily
Stretching its tawny hide,
Pushing the sun up with huge paws Quickly.

But night
Was soft and quiet
Like a contented cat
With deep black fur and a moon-bib,
Purring.

—Sue Chenoweth

Senior Interviews

The Reynolds Metals Company will have representatives at Evansville College next Tuesday, April 26, to interview accounting and engineering majors for positions in their organization.

The company is interested only in men who are veterans or draft exempt.

Interviews will begin at 9 a.m. Interested persons may make appointments at the Placement Bureau.

SGA FILING DEADLINE

Today is the last day for candidates to file for the forthcoming Student Government election. Anyone interested in running for an SGA office must register his name no later than today with SGA president Bill Steier.

Elections will be held in May toward the end of the school year.

Feinburg To Speak On Whitman Exhibit In Union Gallery

Charles E. Feinburg, owner of the Walt Whitman collection which is now on display in the gallery of the Student Union, will present a lecture at 2:30 Sunday, May 1, in the Great Hall.

Mr. Feinburg will speak on "Walt Whitman, American Poet of Democracy." Besides the lecture, a tape recording of the Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra playing selections composed for the Whitman Centenary, will be heard. The public is invited.

The exhibit, co-sponsored locally by the Evansville Public Library and Evansville College, commemorates the centenary of the publication of Whitman's most important work, "Leaves of Grass."

Mr. Feinberg has been collecting rare Whitman manuscripts and editions for more than 30 years. His collection has been termed "the most magnificent collection of Whitman materials in existence."

The exhibit shown here includes 50 panels of photographic reproductions of title pages, copies of Whitman's contracts with publishers and sample illustrations. The exhibit was also planned to include manuscripts of every period of Whitman's literary creative life.

Business Department Lists AIA Test Dates, May 4-6

The testing program offered by the American Institute of Accountants is being made available to EC students by the department of business administration and economics, Dr. Harvey Donley announced this week.

Tests will be given May 4 and May 6, he said, and students may select either date. Tests include both the orientation and achievement tests. Application should be made with Dr. Donley before April 25 so that the required number of tests may be ordered.

The orientation test requires 50 minutes, the achievement two hours. A charge of 50 cents each is payable in advance at the business office.

Evansville College, one of 55 colleges participating in a similar program during the winter quarter, placed in the middle of the group on the basis of school medians. Seventy-two students were tested on campus.

APPLICATION DEADLINE

Next Monday, April 25, is the last day to apply for the positions of editor and business manager of the Crescent and LinC. Application blanks may be obtained from Jim Schrieber, chairman of the publications committee.

Faculty Committee Lists Reading Room As Library Project

The faculty committee of the college library building campaign has selected an $18,700 faculty and staff reading room with kitchenette and cloak room as the faculty project.

This decision was made at a 10 o'clock faculty coffee April 14, when Leland M. Feigel, general chairman of the campaign, talked to the group. The meeting was for the purpose of giving information on the project and giving the faculty an opportunity to ask questions.

On the faculty committee are Dr. F. P. Buller, chairman; Prof. Ralph Coleman, Dr. D. W. Dunham, Dr. W. D. David, Prof. Wesley Shepard, Lt. Colonel J. A. Brantner, Prof. Lucile Jones, Mr. Arad McCutchan and Mr. T. S. Harding.

Dr. James E. Morlock is faculty-student campus division chairman.

Netters Lose Opener, Take Second Match

By Paul Kinney

With sunshine ushering in the 1955 Spring Sports schedules, Evansville College's tennis team has already tasted the sweetness of victory and the bitter dregs of defeat of intercollegiate competition.

The tennis team opened its schedule April 8, bowing to Albion College of Albion, Mich., 5-4. Coach Arad McCutchan's men won only two of the six singles matches but bounced back to take two of the three doubles matches. The singles action, however, proved to be the winning margin for Albion.

Evansville's victories in singles play included Allen Stremming's 7-5, 6-3 win over Bill Johnson, and Dick Koressel's 6-3, 7-5 victory over Dick Patterson.

In other singles matches, Gary Riley, Albion, downed Jack Combs, 6-4, 6-3; Bob Brubaker, Albion topped Ralph Willis, 6-3, 6-1; Cal Reed, Albion, defeated Bob Harmon, 6-3, 6-3, and Don Worcester, Albion, bested Walt Hetcher, 6-1, 6-1.

Stremming and Combs defeated Johnson and Riley, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6 in the top doubles match. Koressel and Willis downed Patterson and Brubaker, 6-2, 6-2. EC's only defeat in doubles action came from Reed and Worcester, who trimmed Harmon and Hatcher, 6-1, 6-4.

April 15 the racketeers traveled to Owensboro, to play Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers and returned victorious, 5-4. A feature of the match was between Dick Koressel, Evansville, and Ed Johnson. Johnson needed more than two hours to defeat Koressel, 6-3, 12-10.

In other singles action, Stremming, the Aces' No. 1 man, defeated Jack Simpson, 10-8, 6-8, 6-4. Logan Gipe, Wesleyan, topped Combs, 6-3, 6-4; Willis, EC, stopped Jack Hamilton, 6-0, 6-4; Adrian Moody, Wesleyan, defeated Harmon, 6-4,6-4. Hatcher, EC, turned back Tim Haley, 6-3, 6-0 and Jerry Schneider dropped Grif Roberts, 6-2, 6-2.

In doubles competition, Stremming and Combs turned back Wesleyan's No. 1 doubles team, Simpson and Moody, 7-5 and 6-1. Koressel and Willis lost their matches to Hamilton and Gipe, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5.

Singles players in the order of seeding are Stremming, Combs, Koressel, Willis and Hatcher.

EVANSVILLE COLLEGE'S spring sportsmen will face a full schedule of activity next week with two games scheduled in baseball, three in tennis and one in golf.

Coach Don Ping's diamond crew, losers of their first two games of the season to Purdue university and Southern Illinois, will travel to Kentucky Wesleyan on Tuesday and will play host to the Pumas from St. Joseph next Saturday afternoon on the Eastside diamond. Tomorrow afternoon the hardballers will play their second ICC game of the season against Valparaiso's Crusaders at Eastside at 1 p.m. The Aces have shown a definite need for tightening their defense in their first two encounters, and last year's power at the plate seems to have faded considerably, but the long hours of practice put in during the last week may begin to show up tomorrow.

The Evansville racket squad will play DePauw at home on Tuesday afternoon and will travel to Butler and Indiana State over Friday and Saturday. Number one man, Allen Stremming, has been the most consistent winner for Coach Arad McCutchan, winning all of his matches in both singles and doubles in his first two matches.

Coach Paul Beck's golf squad will play Louisville in its only scheduled match next week. The golfers were the only squad to start their season off with a win, defeating Albion of Michigan in their first showing of the season. Ken Grall, Tom Habbe, Wendel Bacon and Jack McClurg form the nucleus of the squad.

ON THE NATIONAL SCENE the surprising Boston Red Sox have taken over the lead in the American League with Cleveland, New York and Chicago making a determined bid for the top spot. A red hot race for the rookie of the year award seems to be developing between Cleveland's Herb Score and the Yankees' Bill Skowron. Score came through in good style for the Indians in his first outing, and Skowron has hit safely in his first six ball games, including two home runs for the Yanks. The Orioles seem to be having the most trouble winning ball games in the American League.

Habbe Leads Golfers As Aces Take Opener

On the golf links, Coach Paul Beck has the accent on new faces this year. Only Jim Hartman and Ken Grall returned from last year's lettermen. New members of the team include Wendell Bacon, Tom Habbe, Jack McClurg and Jack Williams. Williams saw some action last year.

In their first match, April 8, the golfers defeated Albion college, 16½-10½, with freshman Tom Habbe leading the way with medalist's honors, shooting a 76. Other scores included McClurg, 77; Grall, 80; Bacon, 82; Hartman, 86, and Williams, 87. Albion's Lewis also posted a low of 77. In best ball play, Albion outscored the Aces, 5½-3½.

The golfers were scheduled to entertain Southern Illinois at Helfrich Field last Tuesday. Tomorrow they will travel to Terre Haute to play in a meet that includes Valparaiso, Butler and Indiana State.

The Aces will definitely use Grall, Habbe, Bacon and McClurg, Coach Beck said, and reserves will be ready to play.

Brenton Second Winner Of Bill Slyker Award

Byron Brenton was the second winner of the Bill Slyker Memorial All-Sports Award. Named at the annual All-Sports Banquet, Brenton is a two-letter winner in two sports, football and baseball.

Recuperating from an operation on an injured knee, Brenton was sidelined from football last fall and will be unable to participate in baseball this spring. Previously he played shortstop on the college baseball team and end on the football team.

He earned recognition as an all-Poeket Athletic Conference guard and received the American Legion Medal while in Petersburg high school. A transfer from DePauw university, Brenton came to EC in the Winter quarter of 1952.

Cochran's Cockies Take First Place In League Bowling

Thirty-nine members of the Student-Faculty Bowling League wound up the season at the Homestead last Thursday, April 14, to eat chicken and give out trophies.

Cochran's Cockies, first-round winners, captained by Sgt. Wilbur Cochran, took the team prize after defeating the second-round winners, the Yankees, an independent student group led by Tom Marshall, in the play-off.

Other trophies went to John Archer and Ida Stieler, male and female high game; Tom Marshall, high series, and Bonnie Schlegel, high average. Second place winners were John Archer, high series, Richard Sexson, high game, and Cochran, high average.

Cochran's team includes Capt. Nedry Burris, Capt. Loren Langfeld and Prof. Max Casler. Dave Darden, John Archer and George Dockery complete the Marshall team.

Today Dockery, Archer, Darden, John Conaway, Don Tevault and Don Diekhoff, paced by the faculty team, will roll on the local alleys.

Baseball Team Meets Indiana, Seeks Victory

Scheduled to open conference play Tuesday, EC's baseball team traveled to Terre Haute, seeking its first victory of the year, against Indiana State.

With two non-conference defeats chalked up against them, the Ping men faced a team opening its season after being twice rained out last week against Wabash College.

The Aces have lost two home games, Purdue, 20-1, and Southern Illinois, 13-0.

Purdue's Boilermakers lost no time in the opening game, April 6, going ahead, 2-0, in the second. By the end of seven innings they had a lead of 9-1. Eleven runs were added in the eighth, four brought in when Jack Reichert, shortstop, connected for a home run with the bases loaded. Ron Jeccha, first baseman, and Randy Hunter, catcher, each made three hits for Purdue.

Evansville was limited to only six hits by pitchers Danny Blind and Ed Rhodes. Clyde Cox connected for a single and a double for Evansville's top performance at the plate. Tom Pearee and Jim Merkley pitched for the Aces.

In the second game of the season, April 16, Southern Illinois' Salukis were in complete command, although no seore was made until the third inning.

Zapocty, centerfielder, led off with the first hit. Tony Atwell walked and a safe bunt by Gene Tobacchi loaded the bases. Two fielder's choices and two infield errors brought in three runs.

Two more runs were scored in the sixth, three each in the seventh and eighth and two in the ninth.

Atwell, Southern's southpaw hurler, limited the Aees to three hits, all in the first five innings. He struck out six, walked four and hit one batter.

Bud George pitched for the Aces.

Lanman To Present Senior Recital Tonight In Auditorium

Shirley Lanman, coloratura soprano, will present her senior recital tonight at 8:30 in the Auditorium. She is the student of Cecil Selfridge, associate professor of voice.

Miss Lanman will present a varied program, consisting of lesser known arias, recently published selections and a number from "Rigoletto." Marilyn Grayson will accompany her on the piano, and the Evansville College Little Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Norman Heim, will play.

A group of Schubert's songs on the program includes "Auf dem Wasser zu Singen" ("To Be Sung on the Water"), "Du bist die Ruh" ("Thou Art Repose") and "Rastlose Leebe" ("Restless Love").

"Three Impressionistic Songs" by Debussy are "Harmonie du Soir," "Mandeline" and "C'est l'ertose Langoureuse." Mozart's aria, "Aer Tranquillo" will open the program.

The recently published selections by Haussman are called the "Fine Singing Miniatures." They are "Perhaps I'll Come," "Death," "The Water Lily," "Black Moon" and "Oread."

Miss Lanman will also sing the well-known coloratura aria "Caro Nome" from Verdi's opera "Rigoletto" and will be joined by Mr. Selfridge in a duet from the same opera. The Little Symphony will accompany these numbers.

Music School Plans Memorial to Dasch

A special shelf in the library of the music department will become a memorial to Dr. George Dasch, former member of the Evansville College music faculty and conductor of the Evansville Philharmonic orchestra, who died suddenly at his home in Glenview, Ill., April 12.

Conductor of the orchestra from September 1943 through April 1953, he ended his duties at the College at the end of the spring term of that same year.

Long recognized for his conribution to the development of music in public schools and the development of amateur orchestras, in 1945 Dr. Dasch received the honorary doctor of music degree from the College of Music of Cincinnati, Ohio.

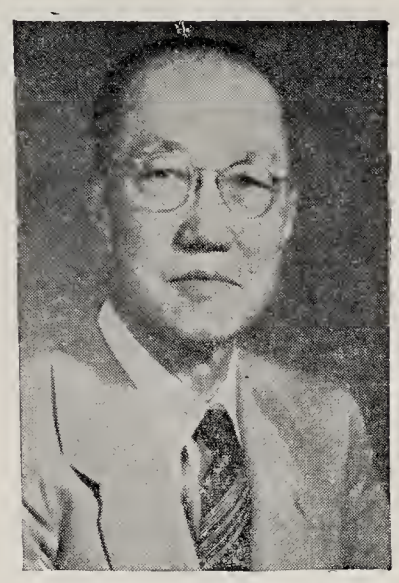
Because of his interest and work in this field, books on the origin and development of the orchestra and orchestra scores will make up the memorial. Members of Dr. Dasch's family have indicated that they will give some of his personal scores for the shelf.

Contributions have already been received from Phi Mu Alpha, the College Band, the College Choir, and members of the faculty.

Wong-Quincy To Speak At Convocation On 'Confucianism and Christianity'

John Wong-Quincy, member of the special diplomatic mission in London, will speak on "Confucianism and Christianity" at next Tuesday's convocation, according to Dr. Wade David, head of the history department.

Mr. Wong-Quincy has chosen this topic in order to urge Americans to acquire a sound knowledge of Confucian culture. "In shaping Chinese outlook, Confuciansim has a role parallel to that of the Bible in the Western world," he stated.



Mr. Wong-Quincy

In addition to the talk at 10:00, the Chinese speaker will also address two speech classes under the direction of Mr. Robert Heater and a literature class taught by Mr. Arthur Spence. The speaker will be on campus for two days, April 25 and 26.

Born in Hong Kong of Chinese parents, he is a graduate in English literature of the University of London. He has also studied drama and playwriting at Berlin and Yale universities.

Mr. Wong-Quiney founded and edited "The East in the West" and "The Chinese Review." For 20 years he served as professor, dean and acting president of Tsing Hua university at Peking. He also taught for eight years at St. John's university at Shanghai and is currently teaching at Spelman college.

Graduate Gets Post

Mr. Frederick Elmer Wittman, Evansville College graduate, is one of five new members added to the staff of the University of California's Los Alamos scientific laboratory recently.

Mr. Wittman, who received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, is serving as research assistant in K division.

Little Symphony To Give First Concert Wednesday

The Little Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Norman W. Heim, instructor in the music department, will give a concert in the auditorium of the Administration building Wednesday evening, May 4, at 8 p.m.

Included on the program will be "Overture to Iphigenia in Aulis," by C. W. Gluck; "Sinfonietta Opus 137," Franz Schubert; two entre 'acte pieces from "Thamos, King of Egypt," by Mozart; a suite by Belo Bartok, and Village Music by Douglas Moore.

Dwayne Scott will play a trumpet solo, "Trumpet Tune and Air," by Henry Purcell.

Absent from campus activties for about three years, the Little Symphony was reorganized last fall by Mr. Heim, who pointed out that its main purpose is "to give members of the music department the experience of playing in an orchestra."

The orchestra has accompanied Dwayne Scott, Duane Pemberton and Shirley Lanman in their recitals this year.

Members are Nancy Lai, Ruth Ann Smith, Bill Willis, Jerry Jones and Paula Tromp, violins; Mr. William Nation, viola; William Parish, Francis Thompson and Peggy Atkinson, cello; Ethel Hamilton, bass.

Student Government Candidates Selected

The slate of candidates for the forthcoming election of Student Government executives has been drawn up.

Running for the office of president are Joseph W. Kirk, Acacia; Sam Hancock, Pi Epsilon Phi; Tom Lukens, Phi Zeta; and John Challman, Inca.

Candidates for vice president are Jim Schrieber, Pi Epsilon Phi; Don Griffith, Sigma Phi Epsilon; and Everette Winters, Inca.

For secretary: Jackie King, AOPi; Shirley Orth, Chi Omega; and Pat Gamble, Inca.

For treasurer: Phyllis Bunge, Phi Mu; Carol Schoolfield, Beta Sigma Omicron; and Joyce Becker, Inca.

Elections will be held Friday, May 13, in the Union Building. All students are eligible to vote for SGA officers.

Mothers Will Be Honored May Day

Evansville College coeds tackle the job of sending out invitations to the Honors Day program which will take place next Wednesday. Mothers of students will be the honored guests.

Honors Assembly, Crowning of Queen To Be Highlighted

Honors will be the theme of the day next Wednesday when mothers watch and students participate in the annual Mother's Day-May Day Spring Festival on the front campus.

Opening the honors assembly at 10 o'clock will be the May Queen and her court, followed by the May-pole dance, formerly part of the afternoon program. Senior men will have a chance to cast their votes for the queen today, but her identity will be kept secret until next Wednesday. Vying for the honor are Margaret Broadhead, June Wallace, Myra Kasey, Rosemarie Wiseman and Mary Nell Plane.

Traditional events, such as the presentation of honors, emceed by Jack Miller and Tom Lukens; musical numbers by the band, under the direction of Mr. Norman Heim; open house at Acacia, Pi Epsilon Phi and Phi Zeta; a tea in the lounge, a luncheon for mothers and students, and the AFROTC review, are all scheduled.

In place of the usual WAA, women students, vs. factulty men sports event, however, will be a regular baseball game, the Aces vs. Louisville, at which mothers will be guests of the college.

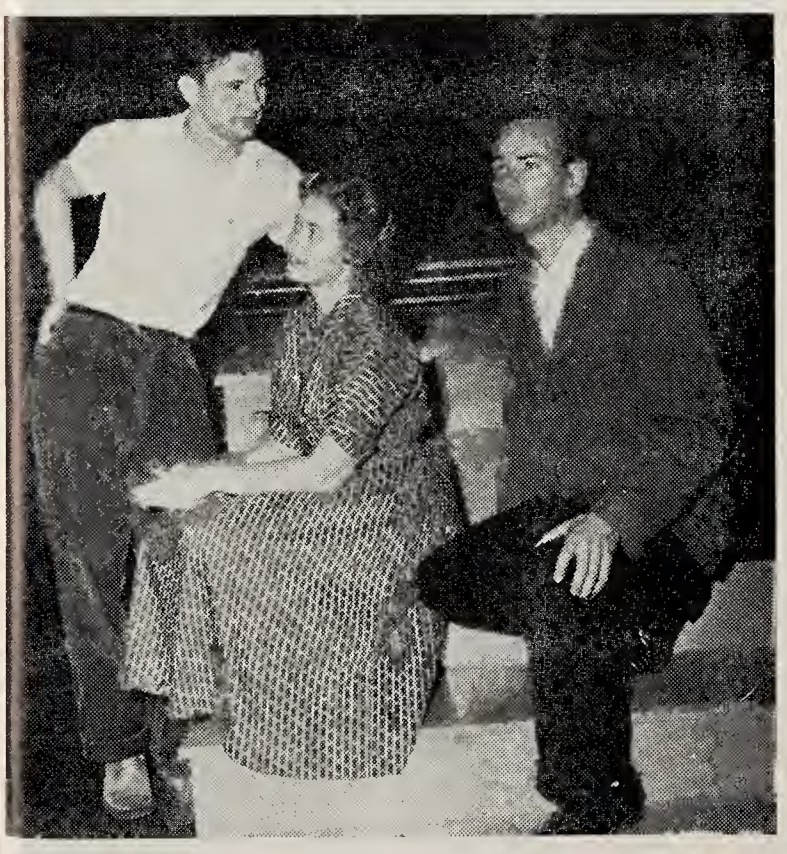
An innovation on this year's program will be the presentation of the Mother-of-the-Year Award. Chosen from a list of nominees presented by the students, "The Mother" will be announced during the Honors program, after which she will "review" the AFROTC, and she will be honor guest at the tea in the afternoon.

In case of rain, the morning portion of the program will be given in the auditorium, with the review, the tea and the baseball game cancelled. Arrangements for the luncheon will be announced during the program. Students are reminded that they will be admitted to the luncheon on presentation of their student activities card.

All classes will be dismissed at the close of the 9 o'clock period.

Working with Major Evan Bruner and Jim Jensen, co-chairmen of the committee are Miss Betty Kanable and Mr. Norman Heim, music; Mr. Arad McCutchan, the Rev. William E. Coates, Arthur Griggs and William Kohlmeyer, grounds; Miss Virginia Weigel, Dell Patterson, Eldon Katter and Charles Oxley, invitations.

Final Performances of 'Our Town' Scheduled for Friday, Saturday Night



Jim Barney, left, who portrays the stage manager and narrator of the drama, listens to a discussion between Phyllis Campbell, playing Mrs. Webb, and Don Crawford, who is Simon Stimson, choir director and village drunk.

By Benita Horton

Make-up applied perfectly, lights focused accurately, actors in position and it's time for the curtain to rise on the last Evansville College Theater presentation of the season, "Our Town." Performances will be given tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 p.m.

Jim Barney, portraying the stage manager, strides confidently on stage, pipe in hand, to set the scene. The almost totally bare stage (there are two tables and a few plain chairs) becomes the Main street of Grovers Corners, N.H., with the homes of the two families we are to visit, the Gibbs' and the Webbs, directly in front. Throughout the play Mr. Barney is present to give explanations and to draw scenes for those members of the audience who lack sufficient imagination to visualize the missing properties.

"Yes, Sally, you look fine. Now don't worry, Phyllis, you'll knock 'em dead." With these words of confidence ringing in their ears, Sally Morris and Phyllis Campbell appear on stage as the two mothers of the families. They immediately busy themselves preparing a breakfast with imaginary food, dishes and furniture.

Ron Porter, appearing as Dr. Gibbs, arrives on the scene after having delivered twins to a mother in Polishtown. Tom Lukens as Mr. Webb, editor of the town paper, gives a good performance as the kindly father who has a special spot in his heart for his daughter, Emily.

After a great deal of calling by their respective mothers, the children, who are to grow up during the play,

Two Scholarships To Be Presented Journalism Day

A noted newspaperman to discuss the professional angle of journalism, movies showing how news stories are gathered and newspapers put together and a critique of student publications will all be included in the program for the sixth annual Journalism Day on campus May 6.

Junior and senior journalism students and their sponsors from high schools in the Tri-State area will be the guests of Evansville College and The Evansville Courier again this year.

Two scholarships, sponsored by Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary, will be awarded. One for $200 and the other for $100, these tuition scholarships will go to the two students writing the best news stories covering the morning session at which the guest speaker discussed professional journalism. Contestants will be given approximately one hour to write the story.

Mr. John Hillman, executive editor of The Courier, and Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, president of Evansville College, will welcome the students. Dr. Virgil Logan, associate professor of speech, and Mr. Franklin Hunt, managing editor of the paper, will also participate in the program.

Registration will start the program at 9 a.m. in the lobby of the Union, with the program running through the early afternoon.

WEVC will present the second in a series of Democracy in Action programs May 4 on the Voice of the College at 4:30 p.m. At that time candidates for SGA offices will be introduced.

Bob Kettelhut will be in the Union, at the entrance to the Wooden Indian, Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. to take orders for class rings. Anyone in school is eligible to buy the rings which are priced at $29.25. A $5 deposit is required with each order.

Bookstore To Take Orders For Graduation Togs Rental

The College Bookstore is now taking orders for cap and gown rentals for graduation. Candidates for degrees this June may go in at any time and make arrangements with Mrs. Emma Schrieber or Mrs. Maxine Crocker.

Rental fee is $3.10 and it must be paid at the time an order is made. Graduates may keep the tassels from their caps.

Union Elections Will Determine Chairmanships

Evansville College students will go to the polls today to select Union committee chairmen. The election will be held from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. in the lobby of the Union building. Every regularly enrolled student is qualified to vote.

Sixteen candidates, picked by the Board from committeemen who have served two years on a committee, are vying for the top places. Candidates receiving the most votes will be given chairmanships; the runners-up automatically become vice chairmen.

Dance Committee

Doug Barthlow, Sally Reece and Carol Schellhase are contending for the chairmanship of the Dance committee. This group is in charge of the Get Acquainted dance, the Homecoming dance and Kampus Kapers.

Candidates for the Entertainment committee, which supervises the Transfer Students party, the All Campus Christmas party and High School Senior nights, are Jack Miller, Phyllis Bunge and Mary Giovanetti.

Games Committee

Games committee aspirants are Shirley Orth and Paul O'Dell. The Games committee arranges sports exhibitions and tournaments for the Union.

Running for the office of head of the Finance committee, a group which takes charge of ticket sales for the Homecoming dance, Kampus Kapers and the Mum sale, are Gene Hollander and Margie Hassee.

House committee candidates are Anita Aders, Lois Ryon and Buddy Watkins. Carolyn Lockwood, this year's Dance committee chairman, has been appointed head of the newly-formed Personnel committee.

Core Committee

Committeemen elected this spring will take office next fall during the first week of school.

Core committee members, selected from among students who have served on a Union committee for a year, will be announced next week.

Last Day To Drop Class

Today is the last day to drop a course without receiving a W/P or W/F grade. W/P (withdrew-passing) grades are not figured into a student's point average, but W/F (withdrew-failing) grades are equivalent to receiving an F in a subject.

Bishop, Educator Scheduled To Speak For Commencement

Speakers for the 1955 Graduation ceremonies will be Bishop Francis Gerald Ensley and Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright.

Dr. Ensley, who is resident Bishop for the Des Moines, Iowa, area of the Methodist church, will deliver the Baccalaureate address on Sunday, June 5. Mrs. Wright will be the commencement speaker.

Bishop Ensley, a native of Chesterville, Ohio, was ordained in 1932. He has since served mostly in the East, having been consecrated Bishop in 1952.

He holds degrees from Ohio Wesleyan university, Boston university and the University of Berlin. He was also the recipient of an honorary degree from Iowa Wesleyan university.

Mrs. Wright, who is affiliated with the Institute of International Education, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. She has an honorary LL.D. from Valparaiso university.

A former editorial staff member of Vanity Fair, Mrs. Wright was secretary of the National League of Women Voters for two years.

Goodwill Wants Your Discards

The first week in May has been designated as Goodwill Week.

Goodwill Week has two objectives: to call attention to the need for good will toward handicapped people in the community who need opportunity and to encourage greater public recognition for the Goodwill Industries program of service to the handicapped.

During the week of May 1 through 7 the people of Evansville are asked to help the local Goodwill. This organization is not asking you to dig into your pockets for a cash contribution; it wants discarded clothing and household articles. The handicapped workers of Goodwill Industries repair and recondition household discards and sell them in the two Goodwill Retail stores. This work provides training and employment for more than 60 disabled men and women every year.

Since this is spring housecleaning time, why not attack those closets first? Don't keep saving those things that have no value to you but may be just the thing for someone else. And don't put usable discards on the junk heap or start a fire with them in the back yard. Get those things together, put them in a pile and call the Goodwill — 3-4457.

Dial 3-4457 and the Goodwill will send a truck to pick up your discards. Just by giving the things you no longer want, you can help provide training and employment for the handicapped. That's not asking much, it is? So help the Goodwill; it doesn't cost a cent.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Read an article recently about two Chinese Nationalist soldiers. When the Chinese Communists began their greedy gobbling of China, there two young men enlisted on the Nationalist side.

They know nothing of their families. They think that possibly the Commies purged all of the members of the two families. They have no way of getting information even if they knew where some of their relatives were.

One of the soldiers comes from a fair to middling wealthy family. His father owned a lot of ground and also a winery. He suspects that, since the father is a "capitalist," his father has been killed and his ownings divided up — a la Communism.

These two soldiers do not know if they are killing their relatives, their friends, whenever they engage in a battle. They do know that they are killing fellow Chinese, gullible Chinese, ignorant Chinese. They hate the Chinese Communists.

They have seen their homeland stripped of wealth in the name of the People. But who are the people? Are they the little people who have lived a starvation diet all their memories? Are they the needy? Or are they the people who are true to the Communist bulloctrine?

With the aid of the Chinese birth rate the Communists are gaining new soldiers every day. Certainly a few follow the flag of the Chinese Nationalists, but they are in the minority.

The United States has given the Nationalists both financial aid and technical aid. We have sent effective soldiers to help train troops for the Nationalist cause. We have supplied them with some weapons. We are helping them as much as our leaders feel we can safely. We have made entangling alliances with them.

There are two sides to the issue. There are those who say that we should not worry about China. Let them fight it out and let the best man win. What good can China do for us? They say that we will let China drag us into a war that doesn't concern us.

Doesn't concern us? Are we interested in peace? Do we feel that all men should have freedom? Do we think that all men should have a voice in the government that they must submit to? Do we feel that everything should be used for the State? That the building of a huge and powerful army that can rule the world is more important than the comfort and lives of the people?

Are we interested in these things for other people or for only ourselves? Should we take a "hands-off" attitude and not trouble ourselves with the Chinese Nationalists' attempt to free the Chinese mainland from Red domination?

Personally, I think we should worry a little about China. If we can't have a humanitarian feeling for them we can be concerned for our own safety. There are millions of people in China. Many of them have known nothing but soldiering — first the Japanese and now the Reds. With control of these millions Russia would be closer to her objective of world domination. She would gain many warriors who are used to living on only a few handfuls of rice and are used to fighting with the crudest of weapons.

It is true that we would have little to worry about in relation to China herself. In the hands of a few Russian brains, China could possibly cause much trouble.

We must realize that the day of one country being able to live by itself is over. The world can be rounded in a matter of hours. Transoceanic crossings are of little consequence. We must realize that the rest of the world is here to stay.

Santa Claus Picked For SCA Retreat

"Christianity can be fun," the well-known philosophy of the late Peter Marshall, has been chosen as the theme for the Student Christian Association's annual retreat at Camp Santa Claus May 6, 7, and 8.

The retreat will begin at 6:30 Friday, but students may "come and go as they like" according to Lowell Foster, general chairman. Transportation will be provided for those who want it, and the total cost for the weekend will be $3:50.

Discussion groups, worship services, recreation, including square dancing, swimming and outdoor games, make up the program. Dr. V. W. Maves, professor of psychology, is faculty sponsor.

On the registration and finance committee are Mary McCreary, Doyle Ellis and Gayle Buroeker. Phyllis Warnke, chairman, Benita Horton and Billy Rayburn are the recreation committee.

The program committee is composed of Gil Bumb, chairman; June Wedeking, Tony Mathews and Barbara Brakmeier. On the food committee are Mrs. Maves, Mrs. S. E. Morgan and Martha Powell.

Dr. Hyde Addresses Church Conference

President Melvin Hyde attended three out-of-town meetings this week.

On Monday Dr. Hyde was in Indianapolis for a meeting with the commission on World Service and Finance, the Indiana Conference.

Tuesday he went to Anderson for a gathering of the Indiana Association of Independent and Church-Related Colleges at Anderson college. Later in the day, the President met with the Board of Directors of the Associated Colleges of Indiana.

Yesterday, Dr. Hyde was guest speaker at a District Conference of the Methodist Church of the Indianapolis area. Subject of his address was "Our Concern in Christian Education."

The Administrative Board approved the breakdown of the student activity fee. The allotments for next year are as follows:

Student Association	.07
The Crescent	.95
The LinC	1.59
Dramatics	.15
Social Committee	.15
Fine Arts Committee	.07
Welfare Committee	.05
Debate	.03
Athletics	3.35
Union Building	5.35
Choir	.09
Band	.10
Student Directory	.05
	12.50

Most students on campus don't understand where this money goes and how it is used. For example few students realize that the 50 cents for the Welfare Committee is used to maintain the campus infirmary and the campus nurse. Also any person who is enrolled as a full time student can receive up to $100 from the committee for payment of medical expenses for injuries he incurred while a full time student. The 15 cents paid to the Social committee finances the annual Icebreaker Dance and pays for the May Day picnic lunch, both of which are free to all students.

Another gripe heard on campus is that our activity fee is high compared to other schools. The persons who are complaining have no idea how we compare to other schools, and if they would take the time to investigate, they would find that we are generally in line or lower than other schools. Here are some examples of the fees at other schools: Dennison university, $37.50/sem.; Hanover college, $21/sem.; Purdue university, $10/sem. and $10/sem. medical fee; Indiana State, $9/qu.; and Depauw university, $50/sem.

WEVC Spins Discs Classical, Modern

By Karen Spong

In March 1951, Evansville College gave birth to a brand new brainchild, christened WEVC. This radio station was to become as important an organ to the students as the school paper, and the year book.

The technical end of the station was handled by Prof. James Sears, physics department, and the program planning was under the watchful eye of Prof. A. C. Spence of the English department. Don Roth was student announcer. The operating hours were 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in those days.

WEVC of 1955 is quite different. It possesses a record collection consisting of 300 classical records, at least a thousand popular discs, an extensive transcription library and two turntables. Under the direction of Mr. Ollin Drennan, professor of physics, and students Dave Harold and Jim Dunn, the station broadcasts six days a week from 2:55 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Shows vary from public service programs to classical concerts. The station is off the air on Saturday.

Completing the WEVC staff are Ray King and Charlie Levell, traffic "cops;" Joan McGraw, record librarian; Jim Dunn, sports and special events announcer; Duane Pemberton, music director; Harold Stovall, chief engineer, and announcers Gayle Burocker, Bruce Roth, Bob Kincaid, Larry Jones, Don Crawford, Doyle Ellis and Bill Himmelbauer.

Dave Harold is the oldest member of the crew from point of service; he has been on the staff ever since he came to EC, four years ago.

May Day Festivals Feature Sacrifices, Pole Decorating

May, the fifth month of our modern calendar and the third month of the ancient Roman year, is here at last. The April showers are behind us.

Our May day festivities are a reasonable facsimile of a custom started according to the records of the Encyclopedia Britannica, in the early Roman days when the women gathered for the procession to the grotto of Egeria. This month was considered extremely unlucky for weddings owing to the celebration of the Lemuria, festival of the unhappy dead.

Medieval England

In medieval and Tudor England, May day was a great public holiday. All classes of people forgot their worries and rose with the dawn to go "a-maying" in the surrounding fields. Flowers and branches were brought back to decorate the square with a huge, birch Maypole, covered with ribbons and flowers in the center. These May day celebrations were special eye-sores to the Puritans. John Stubens, in his "Anatomy of Abuses," printed in 1583, speaks of the maypole as a "stinckyng idol" about which the people "leape and daunce, as the heathens did."

This celebration was forbidden by Parliament with the assession of Cromwell in 1644, but on the restoration of Charles II, a 134 foot pool graced the Strand.

Superstitions

The most widespread superstition in England held that washing the face in May morning dew beautified the complexion. In his diary, Samuel Pepy commented that the women woke at dawn, and rushed out to bath their face in the early morning dew "with the hopes of becoming beautiful." Even the Robin Hood legend related to May day and its festivities, especially in the character of Maid Marian and the Morris dance.

Symbolic of the return of life or defeat of winter and the hope of good harvest, early Celtic May Day was asociated with human sacrifices. Customs of leaping over flames or driving cattle between fires remained until the late 18th century in Scotland and Ireland as vestiges of the Drudical feast, a feast and ceremony held by an ancient order of religious and philosophic officials.

New Policy on Poster Removal Promulgated

To keep outdated posters off the walls of the Administration building, Marilyn Bartlett, chairman of the Fine Arts committee, is announcing a new ruling to go into effect immediately.

From now on, all posters will be removed from the walls two days after an event has taken place. Therefore, any group wishing to save its posters or pictures must remove them from the walls within the two-day period.

The Fine Arts committee will not save any posters unless specifically requested to do so.

Payne Commissioned

Robert Payne, who recently completed his studies at Evansville College, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air National Guard. The oath was administered by Lt. Col. James A. Brantner, professor of air science. Lt. Payne will soon be called to active duty with the United States Air Force.

A member of Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity, Lt. Payne majored in industrial engineering and was a member of the football and golf teams.

Group To Make Revisions On Faculty Institution Book

A faculty committee has been chosen to work with the Board of Trustees on revision of the Faculty Institution Booklet.

Elected to serve on the committee were Dr. Daniel Boughner, Dr. Wade David and Dr. Donald Dunham. President Melvin Hyde appointed Dean Edgar McKown and Mr. Dean Long to the group.

Mr. Ralph Becker, Mr. Fred Atkinson and Mr. Nathan Schoolfield were elected by the Trustees to work with the faculty.

The Faculty Institution Booklet qualifies relations of faculty members to the college. Dean McKown stated that the present edition is five years old and that revisions are in order.

Informal Reading Room Chosen As Student Project for Library

Evansville College students have chosen as their goal in the current library drive a $21,000 informal reading room.

This decision was made at the President's Roundtable meeting April 21. The Roundtable and SGA will back the student drive.

A petition with the names of 600-700 students who will co-operate in the drive is due today, according to Bill Steier, SGA president. If the majority of students agree to the project, the administration will act on it.

The plan for the students providing the money is that tuition will be raised $2.50 per quarter as a library fee. This will go into effect next fall and will continue for three years.

Payment Plan

With this plan $22.50 is the most any one student would give, and this student would have access to the library for two years. Since payments are spread out over three years, no student would be hit hard at one time.

With every student paying this library fee, the $21,000 goal could be met easily in three years. The fee would then be taken off tuition.

According to Mr. Ralph Olmsted, business manager, this is not the first time such a plan has been used. When the Student Union was built, students were assessed $5.00, which became a part of the activities fee, for the big lounge.

Informal Reading Room

The informal reading room will be located on the first floor of the library and will be furnished with lounge furniture. It will also be located on the north side of the building for excellent lighting conditions. A plaque will be hung on the wall saying that it was a student project.

It is hoped by the library committee that the student project will actually be worth more than the $21,000, for it should create more outside enthusiasm. A student drive might be an example to outsiders.

Mrs. Stephens Honored

Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, was an honor guest at the seventh district convention of Phi Mu last Saturday.

Mary Lou Taylor, president of the local chapter, was co-manager of the convention with Mrs. Kent Wiseman.

Miss Alma Southard, president of the seventh district and a member of the alumnae chapter, presided over the meetings.

Fascinating relationships frequently develope out of the most casual contacts of life. Recently, while waiting for my turn to have some minor automobile repairs made, I became involved in a conversation with the young man whose car preceded mine. I am sure that both of us anticipated that our pleasantries would get no further than passing the time of day. Yet, well over an hour later, we were still going strong in earnest discussion.

Do not labor under the illusion that our conversation was idle in nature, or light in content. To my delight, I found myself talking to a practical idealist of the sort I was ready to concede had disappeared from the American scene. A World War II veteran and an Evening College student here, this man was earning his living at a local plant and fighting valiantly on the home front for the democracy so many boys gave their all for.

Here was one modern young man who felt a sense of responsibility for the sort of world in which he lives. He has found certain labor conditions contrary to the best interests of the workers and has set himself to work in behalf of a change.

Curiously, he has to hide the fact of his educational background and aspirations to maintain his present position of leadership in the ranks of labor, even though he is very much a part of labor, both as to occupation and inclination. I wonder if there isn't a challenge for all college students just at this point? Why should Labor look askance at the man with an education?

Pat Harris Named Out of 200 To Sing With St. Louis Opera

Pat Harris, senior music major, was chosen out of 200 who tried out to sing during the 1955 season with the St. Louis Municipal Opera Company.

She will be a member of the singing chorus which is made up of people from all over the nation. The opera company brings in Broadway stars for all of the leads.

Miss Harris will appear in such productions as "The King and I," "South Pacific" and "Guys and Dolls." Others are "Wonderful Town," "The Merry Widow" and 'Vagabond King."

Richard Rogers and Oscar Hammerstein II will be in St. Louis three days for the concert of their compositions. "Brigadoon," "Allegero" and other shows are also scheduled for this summer.

Miss Harris sang solo parts last summer with the Memorial Amphitheater. She has also done solo work with the Evansville a capella choir. A contralto, she is the student of Cecil Selfridge, associate professor of voice and theory.

Miss Harris will complete her college work and leave for St. Louis May 13. She is a member of both Chi Omega sorority and Sigma Alpha Iota, national music fraternity for women.

Feinburg to Speak On His Collection Of Walt Whitman

"Walt Whitman, American Poet of Democracy" will be the subject of Charles Feinburg's lecture this Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Great Hall in connection with the Walt Whitman collection now on display in the gallery.

Mr. Feinberg has collected Whitman material over the past thirty years and has the most extensive collection in existence. He is also considered one of the foremost Whitman authorities.

A large part of the material is being shown to the public for the first time. The collection on display contains photographs of Mr. Feinburg's original one, which is valued at $100,000.

Evansville College and Central Library are co-sponsoring the collection in celebration of Whitman's Centenary. The Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra has also tape-recorded a selection composed for the Whitman celebration and this will be heard at the Sunday lecture.

According to Miss Florence Keve, professor of art, a collection or original oil paintings will go on display following the Whitman exhibit. These

THE ANNUAL "RUN FOR THE ROSES" on May 7 seems to be shaping up into a two horse race between Nashua and Summer Tan, with the combination of Nashua and Eddie Arcaro looking like the probable winning combination.

Jockey Ted Atkinson, who was up on Nashua last week in the Wood Memorial says about Nashua, "If he can spot Summer Tan the lead he did in the Wood last Saturday and catch him over a mile and an eighth, then he's bound to run off and leave him in a mile and a quarter." Atkinson filled in for Arcaro in the Wood due to a suspension but Eddie will travel to Louisville early next week to begin workouts in preparation for the Derby run.

According to Sherrill Ward, Summer Tan's trainer, and Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the eighty-year-old trainer of Nashua, neither horse will run in the Derby Trial on May 3. Fitzsimmons, who received congratulations from many people for Nashua's win Saturday, in turn praised Ward for his job on Summer Tan. After winning the world's richest race, the $269,965 Garden State Stakes on October 30, Summer Tan almost died a few days later because of a blood clot in one of his main arteries, but Ward pulled the horse through to come within a head of winning the Wood last week. According to Fitzsimmons, it was one of the finest pieces of work he had ever seen around a race track, and Fitzsimmons has been around the tracks for quite a while.

Nashua seems to be a headstrong horse, if the term can be applied to horses as it is to people. When he's in front he likes to pull up and tease his pursuers and when he is behind he will wait until the last minute to spurt ahead in the nick of time. Atkinson describes him as "ungenerous," "unresponsive" and "unnerving."

Saratoga, another possible Derby hopeful, will probably stay in the East rather than travel all the way to Louisville to race against the two favorites. Trainer Frank Bonsal prefers to keep the winner of last Saturday's Chesapeake Stakes around Maryland because he feels that "it is foolish" to keep running against Nashua and Summer Tan. "We ran against Nashua twice in Florida and couldn't beat him," he points out. "I'm not sure Saratoga belongs in a race with Nashua and Summer Tan."

ON THE LOCAL SCENE Baseball Coach Don Ping's diamond crew will play a double header tomorrow afternoon against the St. Joseph Pumas on the East Side diamond. Bud George will hurl the nine inning game with either Jim Merkley or Tom "Catfish" Pearce starting the short game.

The tennis team left this morning for a match with the Butler Bulldogs and will play Indiana State tomorrow at the State courts. Their only scheduled match for next week will be against Western Kentucky at Western. The Hilltoppers topped the Aces last week here, 5-2.

Coach Paul Beck's golf squad will also play Western Kentucky next week on Tuesday at home.

'55 Football Schedule Released Nine Games Listed, Four Home

EC's football team will play four home games during its 1955 season; all are evening games except the University of Louisville, October 15, Homecoming weekend. As always on this celebration week end, the game will be played in the afternoon.

One new team has been added to the roster, Eastern Illinois State, which will play here October 1, the second home game.

Coach Paul Beck will lose only three men through graduation, Capt. Bob Scott, center; and Dick Martin and Bob Payne, both ends. Ron Whitaker, another end, "deflected" to the Army earlier this year.

With the rest of the squad returning and the probable addition of good freshman material, Coach Beck can look forward to another good year for the Purple Aces.

The complete schedule is:

September
17—DePauw university	Home
24—Butler university	There
October
1—Eastern Illinois State	Home
8—Valparaiso university	There
15—University of Louisville	Home
22—St. Joseph's college	Home
29—Indiana State Teachers	There
November
5—Ball State Teachers	There
12—Western Kentucky State	There

Fourteen games have been scheduled for the basketball team, with six dates left to fill. The schedule will be released in the near future.

Ace Netters Bow To DePauw Tigers

EC's tennis team took its worst drubbing of the season Tuesday afternoon, when it bowed to DePauw Tigers, 9-0, its third loss in five contests.

Ron Liechty, Jerry Pontius and Jack Buckner, all of DePauw, won their matches in love sets, 6-0, 6-0.

Today the Aces will travel to Butler to play the Bulldogs in a match, and tomorrow they will be at Terre Haute to meet Indiana State.

In last week's matches, the Aces took one, 5-3, from Kentucky-Wesleyan Tuesday, but dropped one to Western Kentucky, 5-2, Thursday; both played here.

In Tuesday's matches, EC took five out of six singles, but lost both doubles.

Jack Combs made the Aces' only singles win, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, Thursday, and Dick Koressell and Ralph Willis were winners in their doubles, 6-8, 6-2, 6-4. Al Stremming, EC's No. 1 man lost his first match of the season, 9-7, 6-1, to Lynn Stanton.

Today the racketeers take on Butler at the College courts; tomorrow they travel to Terre Haute, to play Indiana State Sycamores in the Aces' third ICC encounter of the week.

Next Thursday, May 5, the net squad travels to Western-Kentucky State Teachers college at Bowling Creen.

Six Matches Left On Golf Schedule

The four-team golf match at Terre Haute Saturday ended up with Indiana State in the lead, Butler, second; Valpo, third, and Evansville trailing. This leaves the Aces with one win, two losses, having played only two other matches to date. EC won its opener against Albion 16½-10½.

The Aces came out on the small end of the score April 19, when they played Southern Illinois, 11-10. The teams finished in a 3-3 deadlock in best ball play.

Low man for the winners was Andy Barnett, who was out in 38, back in 33 for a 71. Tom Habbe again paced the Evansville squad scoring a 38-37, for a 75.

Six more matches are on schedule for the golfers, three at home, three away. Home games include Western Kentucky, May 3; Louisville, May 24, and Indiana State, May 27. Tomorrow the Aces will play Louisville there, May 11, Southern Illinois, and the ICC Conference at Valparaiso, May. 13.

Bunge, Massey, Griffin Winners in Ping Pong

Phyllis Bunge has been named winner of the women's singles and John Massey and Lucian Griffin the men's doubles, in the ping pong tournament sponsored by the Union Cames committee. These are the only two divisions that completed their matches.

The tournament, under the chairmanship of Sarah Rupp, was closed by John Slyker, chairman of the committee, when the other two divisions, men's singles and women's doubles were forfeited.

TRA To Give Scholarship In Memory of Sportswriter

The first TRA-Grantland Rice Journalism scholarship will be awarded this fall, according to an announcement by the board of directors of the Thoroughbred Racing association this week.

The scholarship, which will be awarded annually, has been established at Rice's alma mater, Vanderbilt university.

"Grantland Rice was loved and respected by everyone who read his work or was fortunate enough to know him," Amory L. Haskell, president of TRA said, "and we feel that a scholarship in journalism, bearing his name, will be an inspiration to the student to whom it is granted."

The TRA directors also voted to establish an annual award for the best newspaper story, column or magazine piece on racing written each year.

Baseball Nine Wins First ICC Tilt, Loses to Kentucky Team

By Willie Yokel

Evansville College traveled to Indiana State and won its first conference game 6-3. Bud George was the winning pitcher, while Jim Cundiff was charged with the loss. While State was playing a sloppy ball game, Evansville College came out of the sticks and played good ball. A three run error by State provided the winning margin for Evansville College.

On April 23, Evansville College was scheduled to play Valpo. This contest was rained out. This makes the fifth year that Evansville and Valpo have been rained or snowed out of playing baseball.

On Tuesday, April 26, Evansville traveled to Owensboro and played Kentucky Wesleyan. It was a wide open ball game with Evansville College getting 14 hits and Wesleyan getting 11. On a shaky first inning, Wesleyan got five runs while shuting out Evansville. The first inning was the biggest for either team. Evansville committed several costly errors, two in particular. A booted ground ball by the second baseman and an overthrow by the pitcher on an attempted pickoff at second base. There were, however, several bright spots in the Evansville cause.

The Thompson brothers showed particular power at the plate, along witb Red Maulding. Corky Thompson got 3 hits for 5 times at bat, while Ricgy hit a long triple in the ninth inning. Red Maulding hit safely twice, and Clyde Cox hit well and also stole two bases. After things were tallied up, Evansville was behind 8-6. Jim "Catfish" Pearce started the game and was relieved by Jim Merkley in the fifth. Pearce was credited with the loss while Johnson got credit for the victory.

Although Evansville lost, the game was played under protest. It seems Kentucky Wesleyan was using a center fielder who played in the Kitty League last year. It seems that everytime we play over there, we encounter some sort of professional or another.

WAA To Sponsor Tennis Tournament

The Women's Athletic Association will sponsor a tennis tournament during the month of May. It is open to all women students, according to Connie Miller, president of the organization.

Both singles and doubles matches will be included in the tournament, and a trophy will be awarded to the winner in each division. The contest will be carried out strictly on an elimination basis.

Matches will be played on the campus courts at times convenient for the contestants.

Women wishing to participate are asked to sign up either on sheets posted in the Women's gym or those at the entrance to the Patio, downstairs in the Union. Players should indicate the hours during which they will be available for games.

NAIA Names Clayton To All-American Team

Jerry Clayton, Aces' basketball player, has been named to the first squad of the All-American basketball team, according to a letter received by Rolland Eckels, athletics business manager.

Named by the Special Awards committee of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, 30 players were selected from more than 3,000 recommendations from 450 schools.

Clayton, 6-6 freshman who ended the season with a 21.2 points per game average, set a new record for EC this year with his score of 35 points in one game. He was named the most valuable player in the ICC this year, first freshman ever to be given this honor. Previously he was named to the All-Conference team.

College, City Panhellenics To Hostess State Meeting

Evansville College Panhellenic and tht city Panhellenic associations will serve as official hostesses at the annual state convention tomorrow in the Union, according to Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor.

Mrs. William Knopsnyder, Alpha Omicron Pi alumna, is in charge of all arrangements for the conclave. Mrs. Richard Becker, president of the city Panhellenic, will be the official hostess.

College students will assist by arranging and serving at a coffee hour from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. and by making name tags for the delegates. Reba Hardison and Marilyn Bartlett, from Phi Mu and Beta Sigma Omicron sororities respectively, will attend the meetings as the official delegates from the local association.

Fourteen other students will be present at the meetings serving in various capacities. They include Benita Horton, Alice Christmas, Phyllis Bunge, Mary Lou Taylor, Shirley Orth, Sally Reece, Myra Kasey, Joan Bosse, Jane Dreher, Faye Forster, Marilyn Kemp, Carolyn Lockwood, Phyllis Hachmeister and Dell Patterson.

Mrs. Roger K. Brown, state president from Indianapolis, will preside over the meetings. Mrs. Edith Crabtree will give the noon address and the afternoon meeting will feature a panel discussion. After the regular business meeting, a $100 scholarship will be awarded to a college represented. Evansville College received the award last year.

Colleges which will be represented at the meeting include DePauw, Hanover, Earlham, Butler, Indiana University, Franklin, Indiana State and Ball State teachers colleges.

Smith To Present Recital Tuesday In Great Hall

Ruth Ann Smith will present her senior recital Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Great Hall of the Union. Her violin numbers will be accompanied by Nancy Lai, Marilyn Grayson and Mr. William Nation, her instructor.

Her first number will be "Romance" by Milhaud, followed by "Vif," a violin duet played by Miss Smith and Miss Lai. "Sonatina" by Dvorak will include "Allegro," "Andante," and "Scherzo," by Miss Smith and Miss Grayson. Other selections included on the program are "Prelude" by Gliere, "Cradle Song," "Berceuse" by Aulin and "Gavitte" featuring Mr. Nation on the viola. Miss Smith will close her performance with "Leibselied" by Kreisler. A reception in the Lounge of the Union will follow the program.

Miss Smith, a member of Phi Mu social sorority, has also served as secretary of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music society for women. She is also a member of the symphonic band, a capella choir and the Little Symphony.

ADDITIONS TO DEAN'S LIST

Two more names have been added to the Dean's List, according to an announcement from the office of Dean McKown today.

Ida Mary McCutchan and George Lamb, both freshmen and both named for the second consecutive time, bring the total to 91 named for the Winter quarter.

More About Play

come bounding down the stairs for breakfast. Carolyn Conaway, as Emily Webb, and Gary Harmon, as George Gibbs, are the two older children, and Benita Horton, as Rebecca Gibbs, and Marvin Wallace as Wally Webb, are the younger.

In the second act, George and Emily have just graduated from high school and are to be married. The wedding scene is both touching and amusing. The hesitation of two who know they love each other deeply is accomplished excellently by Miss Conaway and Mr. Harmon. Gerriann Fraiser, as the gossipy Mrs. Soames, injects a touch of humor in the otherwise serious ceremony with an extraordinarily good characterization of the town gossip.

Act three takes the audience up the hill to the cemetery. George and Emily had been married for several years when Emily died. Miss Conaway does her best acting in this particularly dramatic and touching scene. Mr. Harmon, as the bereaved husband, gives an excellent performance, both here and throughout the play.

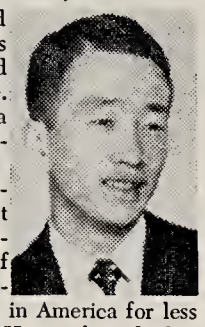
The large number of characters in the cast are not just characters, but real people. Don Crawford, as the choir director and town drunk; Jerry Schneider as Howie Newsome, the milkman; Eldon Katter as the town constable; Willie Yokel as the newsboy; Bob Rundell as Sam Craig, who returns to his small home town for his cousin's funeral; and Tom Cotton as the sympathetic grave digger are all real people like those we meet every day.

Mr. Robert Heater, faculty director of the play, can well be proud of his players.

In Chang Kim Given Award To Washington Medical School

In Chang Kim, exchange student from Seoul, Korea, has been awarded a scholarship to the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis.

Kim came to the United States in November 1953 to begin his pre-med studies at Evansville College. He and former Evansville College President Lincoln B. Hale have a mutual friend in New York City, and it was through this friend that Dr. Hale learned of Kim and arranged to have him come to this country.



Born and reared in Seoul, Kim has two brothers and two sisters there. His father is a high school principal.

The young pre-med student speaks an unusually good brand of English for someone who has been in America for less than two years. He explained that English is taught in Korean schools, beginning in the seventh grade, and that it is a compulsory subject.

By carrying extra hours and attending summer school, Kim is finishing three years' work in two. He will enter Washington university in the fall.

"I hope I find as many nice people in St. Louis as I have at Evansville College," Kim said. "The fellows here have made me feel at home right from the beginning."

Two other pre-med students from Evansville College have been accepted to medical school. Henry Craig and James Dimmet will enter the Indiana University School of Medicine in September.

Selective Service Test

Selective Service System College Qualification tests will be given one more time this school year, May 19, according to Mr. Gordon R. Stien, director of testing and counseling service.

May 9 is the closing date for registration for this test and all male college students, eligible for the draft and wishing deferment, should register. Results of these tests are used to determine military deferments, Mr. Stien pointed out.

All-Campus Picnic Slated; To Feature Softball Game

The all-campus picnic, planned for May 15, picked up another backer last week when the Engineering Club announced it will co-sponsor the outing in collaboration with BAK.

Everyone on campus, faculty and students, is invited to the picnic at Pfafflin's lake in Newburgh. Tickets are on sale now and may be purchased from members of BAK or the Engineering Club. Price is 75 cents for adults, 40 cents for children under 12.

Things are scheduled to start happening at 1 p.m. when members of the two clubs square off for a softball game. Players selected to represent BAK in the fracas are Dick Kirkland, Ralph Deffendahl, Glenn Norrick, George Krauss, Ed Marting, Glenn Siria, Roscoe Bivin, Gabriel Betit, Fred Sickman, Bernie Hartman, Jim Miller, Jack Pitts, Charles Hollander and Roy Griffin.

Manager for the BAK sluggers is Prof. Lawrence Anderson whose services are being donated courtesy of "Andy's Apple Juice."

Engineering Club players will take to the field under the direction of their manager, George Rumford, who doubles as a member of the team. Other engineers abandoning their slide-rules for a baseball bat are Elmer Travis, Norman Ladd, Gerald Hempfling, Bob Payne, Ben Brightman, Gordon Ralph, William Agnew, Jack Posey, Robert Laubscher, Ronald Cornell, Don Stratman, Sam Woohull, Jim Holt, William Rust and John Webster.

The BAK-Engineering Club game is set to go for seven innings, but it will be called after one and a half hours of play.

At 2:30 coeds will have a chance to show off their athletic prowess when they take to the diamond for a softball game which is scheduled for seven innings, limited to an hour in time.

Later in the afternoon a picnic supper, including barbecue, potato salad, baked beans, soft drinks and the trimmings, will be served.

In addition to the planned entertainment, swimming and boating are on the program. The price of admission covers all activities.

Deadline on Cap, Gown Rental Set for May 10

Tuesday, May 10, is the deadline to sign up for cap and gown rental for graduation. This apparel is absolutely necessary to those who are candidates for degrees in June, and no orders will be taken after that date.

Students requiring caps and gowns are asked to make arrangements with the College Bookstore staff. Rental fee is $3.10 which must be paid at the time the order is given. Measurements will be taken in the Bookstore.

Graduation Requirements Announced by Registrar

Requirements for graduation have been issued from the office of Mr. G. R. McCoy. Failure to meet the requirements will make it impossible for college authorities to recommend candidates for degrees or to grant recognition on Commencement Day, Mr. McCoy said.

The graduation fee of $10 and other financial obligations must be paid not later than the closing of the Business office at 12 noon on Saturday, May 21. All deficiencies must be removed before that date also.

Before a degree will be issued all work for which the student is registered must be reported as completed with a satisfactory grade. Incompletes or conditions in this work will not be accepted.

All candidates for degrees are required to be present, unless excused, at the Baccalaureate Service.

Seniors who will complete requirements for a degree in August must have their summer program approved by May 21, as well as meet the other requirements for graduation.

AIA Testing Today

The American Institute of Accounting Tests will be given from 11:35 a.m. to 1:35 p.m. today in C-103.

The tests will be repeated next Monday, May 9, at 2:45 p.m. Students may select either date for the testing.

Hyde's Inauguration Scheduled for Fall Committee Named

The inauguration of Dr. Melvin W. Hyde to the presidency of Evansville College has been scheduled for early fall. A definite date for the two-day program will be announced later.

A faculty committee to represent the college in planning for the event has been appointed to work in cooperation with the Executive committee of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Donald W. Dunham was chosen chairman of the group, Mr. Ralph Coleman, vice-chairman.

In charge of sub-committees are Miss Mildred Boeke, hospitality and entertainment; Mr. Marvin Hartig, corresponding secretary; Miss Lucile Jones, reception and banquet; Dr. Virgil Logan, academic procession; Mr. Dean Long, program; Dean Edgar McKown, invitations; Mr. Wesley Shepard, music; and Maj. Robert Taylor, registration.

Each sub-committee chairman will form his own committee from among the faculty.

Special Meeting Called For Alpha Phi Omega

Dr. Norman Long, in an effort to reactivate Alpha Phi Omega, has called a special meeting of interested persons for 10 a.m. today in committee rooms 1 and 2 in the Union building.

Open to all interested males, the fraternity is national in scope, is a service fraternity and welcomes all former Boy Scouts of America into its membership.

Saunders, Continuity Editor, To Speak On High School Journalism Program

Mr. Allen Saunders, continuity editor for Publishers Syndicate of Chicago, will be principal speaker for the Journalism Day program, sponsored jointly by The Evansville Courier and the College today, starting at 9:30 in the Union.

Junior and senior journalism students from high schools in the Tri-State area have been invited to hear the writer and consultant for story strips such as "Kerry Drake," "Rex Morgan," "Steve Roper" and "Mary Worth" explain why "Comics are a Serious Business."

Two EC professors, A. C. Spence and Edward B. Richards, will conduct a critique of newspapers published by the high schools represented at today's session.

Jack Combs, former president of Pi Delta Epsilon, will be moderator when the high school students argue for and against the idea, "Let's Do Away With Gossip Columns," at a luncheon given by The Courier.

Other speakers on the program include Dr. Melvin W. Hyde, president of the College, and Mr. John Hillman, executive editor of The Courier. Dr. Virgil Logan, associate professor of speech, will preside at the morning session, and Dr. James Morlock, dean of men, at the lunch program.

The committee planning the program includes Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union; Miss Louise Moberly, assistant public relations director; Mr. Franklin Hunt, managing editor of the paper; Miss Freda Martin, assistant professor of English and chairman of the committee, and Dr. Logan.

SGA Elections May 13, Three Slates Competing

Climaxing the vigorous campaigns which candidates for Student Government offices are now waging, elections will be held next Friday in the Union from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

At the same time, Women's Council officers will be elected. All students on campus are eligible to vote.

In previous years only two slates of candidates have tossed their hats into the ring, but this year three slates, plus an unaffiliated candidate for president, are running.

Philo Slate

The Philo slate consists of Sam Hancock, for president; Jim Schreiber, for vice president; Jackie King, for secretary; and Phyllis Bunge, for treasurer.

Sam Hancock is a junior and business administration major. An Air Force veteran, he is president of Pi Epsilon Phi. He is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, the SGA Occasions committee, and the football and baseball teams.

Jim Schreiber is a junior and a member of Pi Epsilon Phi. He is president of Pi Delta Epsilon and SCA, chairman of the Union Board, Yearbook editor and Student Council chairman.

Jackie King is a junior and an Alpha Omicron Pi. She was basketball queen, vice president of her sorority, Union Social Committee member, and is this year's president of the Women's Council.

Phyllis Bunge is a sophomore affiliated with Phi Mu. Her activities include being secretary of WAA, BAK Publicity chairman, secretary of Panhellenic, and Union Games committee chairman.

Phi Zeta Slate

Running on the Phi Zeta ticket are Tom Lukens, for president; Don Griffith, for vice president; Shirley Orth, for secretary; and Carol Schoolfield, for treasurer.

A business administration and accounting major, Tom Lukens is a junior. He is a member of the Union Entertainment and Dance committees.

Don Griffith, a junior, is a pretheological major and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, SCA, Kappa Chi and Alpha Psi Omega.

A Chi Omega, Shirley Orth is active on the Union Board, in Panhellenic, Women's Council and the Athletic committee of Student-Faculty.

Carol Schoolfield is a music major, a member of the choir, the Dance committee, SCA and Sigma Alpha Iota.

INCA Slate

On the INCA roster of SGA candidates are John Challman, for presi-

Union Board Heads Named To Offices In Student Election

By Jane Powers

Last Friday Evansville College students went to the polls to elect a new Union board. As a result the Dance committee will be headed by Doug Barthlow, with Sally Reece as vice chairman. Mary Giovanetti is chairman of the Entertainment committee and Jack Miller, vice chairman.

Finance committee is under the leadership of Margie Hassee with Gene Hollander, vice chairman; Games, Shirley Orth and Paul O'Dell; House committee, Buddy Watkins and Lois Ryon, and Social committee Joanne Bailey and Carolyn Conaway. Carolyn Lockwood has been appointed head of the newly formed Personnel Committee.

The new Union Board members will be given a dinner by the retiring members in the private dining room of the Union building next Tuesday evening.

Appointed by the retiring Union Board, core committee members were selected on the basis of activity and participation in campus affairs and service on a Union committee for at least a year.

The new members and their committees include Hal Burckhartt, Linda Graf, Mary Lou Heilman, Marilyn Kemp and Carol Schellhase, Dance; Bobbie Campbell, Ruth Edgerton, Eldon Katter, Greta Shaw and Phyllis Bunge, entertainment.

Joan Bosse, Archie Griggs, Joan Luckett, Sara Moman and Mary Jane Mendel, Finance; Bill Bosecker, Dodie Martin, Bob O'Connor, Frank Powers and Everette Winters, Games; Marilyn Bartlett, Connie Miller, Jerry Newton, Karen Spong and Anita Adams, House.

Jane Chanley, Nealie Moman, Mary McCreary, Liz Romine and Sara Rupp, Social; Shirley Ball, Gerriann Frasier, Julia Gentry and Dell Patterson, Personnel.

Know Your Candidates!

Get The Complete Facts Before You Cast Your Vote Next Friday

Pictured above are the candidates for Student Government Association offices. First row, left to right, are: Carol Schoolfield, treasurer, Phi Zeta; Jackie King, secretary, Philo; Phyllis Bunge, treasurer, Philo; Pat Gamble, INCA, secretary; Everett Winters, vice president, INCA; and Shirley Orth, secretary, Phi Zeta.

I'm Supporting Sam

The office of Student Government Association president calls for the election of a man who has proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that he is a qualified leader, experienced administrator and sincerely interested in bettering the life of students at Evansville College.

Sam Hancock is the only candidate for SGA president who fills these qualifications, or can approach filling them.

He is a leader in campus athletics, social and fraternal life, and widely respected for his friendliness, mature judgment and ability to organize anything he does into a smoothly functioning activity.

Sam is a major in business administration, president of Pi Epsilon Phi Fraternity and the Junior class. He is a member of Pi Gamma Mu Social Science Fraternity and has been an active member of the SGA Public Occasions Committee.

A man who takes his studies seriously, he has been repeatedly named to the Dean's List.

The slate of candidates which Sam heads is campaigning on a platform of constructive progress in college regulations and activities. It feels that the coming year is one of great potential for this school, and that only a group of hardworking and sincere leaders can realize that potential fully.

The platform is headed by these constructive planks:

(1) A student discount service. This would be a working arrangement with one or more retail stores in Evansville to allow Evansville College students special discounts on purchases, controllable by the presentation of Student Activities Tickets.

(2) Development of parking facilities to their full potential and the creation of a new parking area adjacent to the football practice field on Weinbach Avenue.

(3) Regular monthly meetings of the student body with the Student Government. Only by fully understanding all the rights and privileges of the student voting power can real progress be accomplished.

(4) A rating system whereby students would rate their instructors and courses for the college president's consideration.

(5) Continuation and extension of the President's Round Table program.

Furthermore, I consider Jim Schreiber an excellent choice for vice president. Now head of the Student Christian Association, he is another man who is well qualified for office and is an experienced administrator.

Jackie King and Phyllis Bunge, respective candidates for secretary and treasurer, are both outstanding campus leaders and students.

Jackie is an AOPi, president of the Women's Council and an honorary ROTC lieutenant colonel.

Phyllis Bunge is secretary of Panhellenic Association, active in Union activities and a willing worker in a host of other activities in which she takes part.

Seen together, these four friendly and capable people are, in my opinion, not only the logical choice for SGA officers but the only possible choice.

The facts are clear, the record is straight.

It remains only for the sincere students of this college to vote next Friday for the Hancock-Schreiber-King-Bunge slate to assure great forward strides during the coming year.

—Jack Combs

I'm Backing The Independents

I am supporting the INCA slate because it represents the voice of the independent student. Since the formation of INCA, it has affiliated with other groups in the Student Government Association election, but this year INCA feels strong enough to present its own slate.

Independents were polled to determine their choice; therefore, the final candidates reflect the opinions of all independents on our campus. John Challman is seeking the presidency on the INCA ballot; while Everett Winters is the contender for vice president. Hopefuls for secretary and treasurer, respectively, are Pat Gamble and Joyce Becker.

John, sophomore, is a pre-med student and a member of R.O.T.C. He is extremely interested in SGA affairs and the future of Evansville College. Prexy hopeful is sincere in his platform promises and vows to carry them out to the best of his ability. With the others on his slate, I am confident that SGA can be governed honestly and impartially.

INCA's platform has eight main points. They are:

1. Teacher evaluation;
2. Meal ticket in grill similar to that in the cafeteria;
3. More Union building support of students;
4. Union building open weekends;
5. Availability of Great Hall one night per quarter per organization;
6. Reorganization of Kampus Kapers;
7. Organize track teams;
8. More all-campus activities.

With these eight points, I feel sure that our slate is the best and can be depended upon to fulfill more political promises. All the candidates are sincere in their hopes to help Evansville College.

INCA's platform is intended to better the college and aid the student. For a better E.C., vote the day I do — vote INCA!

I'm Backing Tom

RESPONSIBILITY, SINCERITY, AND PROGRESS — these three words sum up the ideas and ideals of our slate. The Student Government elections affect each and every student and we feel in order to understand the needs of a campus, its leaders must be representative of all walks of college life.

Tom Lukens, Don Griffith, Shirley Orth, and Carol Schoolfield, our candidates, are students interested and involved in numerous and varied fields of study and extra-curricular activities. Therefore they are representative of the student body and realize the needs and problems existing on our campus today. They're not "rubber stamps" or "yes men" — they're looking out for the benefit of Evansville College students.

Tom Lukens, an organized man and an independent thinker, is our slate's candidate for the presidency. Tom is a member of the Phi Zeta Fraternity, a business administration student and an accounting major. Active in the Evansville College Theatre, Tom was student co-director with Mr. Robert Heater for the last production, "Our Town."

Tom has served as master of ceremonies at the high school parties and is a member of the Entertainment and Dance committees at the Student Union Building. Tom has also shown his interest in the city of Evansville by working on the Public Museum Drive in which he solicited the highest donation collected by any individual on this drive. That being $10,000.

Again he has shown interest by being the first person, along with three other students, to donate to the Evansville College Library fund.

Don Griffith, a Junior, is our candidate for the office of vice-president and is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. Don is a pre-theological major, a member of Student Christian Association and Kappa Chi. Active in the Evansville College Theatre, he is a member of Alpha Psi Omega. At present Don is president of the Methodist Student Movement in the State of Indiana.

Shirley Orth, a Chi Omega sorority member, is our candidate for secretary, and Carol Schoolfield, a Beta Sigma Omicron member, is our candidate for treasurer. A secondary education major, Shirley is active on the Union Board, Panhellenic, Women's Council, and the Athletic Committee of Student Faculty. Carol is a music major, a member of the choir, dance committee, Student Christian Association, and Sigma Alpha Iota.

Much more could be said about these candidates but now you see why I'm backing "The Big Four."

—Wendy Long

SGA News

By Bill Steier

Last Friday Bill Greer presented an idea to the Administrative Board concerning an all-campus scholastic honorary fraternity. Mr. Greer felt, and the Board agreed, that there is a definite need here on campus for such an organization. Each department has an honorary of its own but there is none which includes the whole campus.

The proposed plan would base membership mainly on scholarship but also to some degree on other activities. Possibly being placed on the Dean's List five or six times would automatically nominate you for membership. A screening committee made up of students in the honorary and faculty would then pick members from those nominated according to their other activities.

It was also suggested that the society not be given a Greek letter name but some other that would be significant of its purpose.

A committee of students and faculty has been selected to discuss the establishment of this soeiety. If they find that this society should be set up, they will try to have the details worked out so that charter members ean be presented at commencement. When Evansville becomes eligible for a Phi Beta Kappa chapter or some other national honorary, this fraternity could easily become the colony.

Students Asked To Raise Activity Fee for Library

Students are currently being asked to sign petitions agreeing to add $2.50 to the activity fee to be used on the library fund drive, according to Bill Steier, Student Association president.

The fee will be added each quarter, exeepting the Summer quarter, for three years. This will mean that the maximum amount any one student will contribute is $22.50. The total amount given by students is supposed to reach $21,000.

Leland Feigal, library drive chairman, announced at the last luncheon meeting on April 30 that $23,757 had been appropriated toward the goal of $450,000. If the goal is realized, Lilly Endowment, Inc., will contribute $200,000 to make a total of $650,000 which will cover the cost of the building. Another luncheon report meeting will be held at noon today to report the latest figures.

Library Adopts New Bookplate, Adds Former Students' Books

The College library has adopted a new bookplate showing the architect's drawing of the proposed new library. Since 1949 the bookplate containing a picture of the Administration buiding has belen used. The plate was designed by Miss Florence Keve, head of the art department, and inaugurated for use in the library by Mr. Thomas Harding.

The library also announced that it has a copy of James L. Clifford's new book, "Young Sam Johnson." Mr. Clifford, a student at Evansville College during the second year of its existence here, is the son of George S. Clifford who is called "the father of Evansville College."

It was the elder Mr. Clifford who instigated the removal of the College from Moore's Hill to Evansville. He was on the first board of trustees and remained a member until his death.

On the library shelves is another former Evansville College student's work, "Revolution in American Foreign Policy, 1945-1954," by William Graves Carleton.

Thanks to the cooperation of Dr. Orville Jaebker, professor of history and political science, the library has obtained the 1954 edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Since it has the 1954 edition of the Encyclopaedia Americana, both of its major reference works are now up to date.

Bishop Frederick D. Leete, former member of the board of trustees and president of the board from 1924 to 1926, has presented four of his books to the library. All are books on the church and include "Methodist Bishops;" "Skyward, A Book of Horizons;" "The Church in the City," and Adventures of a Traveling Preacher."

Bishop Leete is now living in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he is president of the Methodist Historical library.

Painting by College Visitor To Be Included in Exhibit

Among the ten paintings included in the Aetna Oil Co. Purchase Prize Awards 1945-55 exhibit now on display in the art gallery of the Union Building is the 1951 award winner which was painted by a recent college visitor.

A lacquer, "Harlequin," was painted by Ulfert Wilke, who visited Evansville College in 1951. During his few days' stay here, he painted an abstract, "Horse from Leonardo." That painting is now a part of the college's art collection and is hanging in the Engineering Building.

Nine artists are represented in the Actna collection. Most of them are American-born.

Mary Spencer Nay, another artist known in Evansville, also has her work on display. She was the winner of the Tri-State Regional in 1952.

Other artists whose paintings are on display are Sylvia Wald, Carl M. Brown, Leo W. Zimmerman, Jack B. Keliam, Edward Hewett, Constance Clark Willis and Arthur Deshaies.

Seven oils and three lacquers are included in the collection. The exhibit will remain in the gallery throughout May.

Bartlett Appointed

Marilyn Bartlett was appointed State Commission chairman, representing all College Panhellenics, at the Panhellenic convention held in Evansville last week.

Appointment to the office was made by State Panhellenic president Mrs. Royer K. Brown. Miss Bartlett will serve as Evansville College Panhellenic president next year.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Mud slinging time is here again. Some people get a type of spring fever that is satisfied by fishing, others by traveling, or swimming. Politicians get a type of spring fever that is satisfied by mud slinging.

Mud slinging is achieved by a specific formula. First you must have two candidates, making sure they are running for the same office. Take a universal problem and divide it into segments. Slowly stir the two politicians in. After they begin to boil, throw in a Roget's "Thesaurus." Allow the two politicians to soak in the mixture for a while.

Next blend in a Women for Honesty in High and Exalted Grafting Positions. Divide this blend into several differences of opinion.

Now add to the politician mixture a few pinches of Old Garlic Breath-Refresher. Blindfold the politicoes. Back them up to a wall and let them kiss all of the women.

Upon completion of this operation, get two soap boxes. Hire professional clackers. Cue them. Place the politicians on the soap boxes and wind them up. In their orations it will be evident that they failed to absorb much from the "Thesaurus." When they tend to resort to their natural, gutter-like language, cue the clackers to clap, cheer, whistle and show enthusiasm.

Next check into the pedigree records of aforementioned minions. Undoubtedly it will be seen that one of them had a great uncle by marriage who was in a brawl in the Black Fedora on Highway 41 S. Capitalize on it. Bring out the implications.

Next introduce the candidates (separately, of course) to a labor union group. It will be noticed that the candidate is in favor of more power for the unions, down with management. Next place him before a management group. In this case he will mention that he is against labor unions. When he speaks to a farmers' organization he will be for crop support. In front of a general group, he loves everybody, wants to put a television set in every bathroom and two in every parlor.

Undoubtedly, one of his campaign platform planks will be a new sewer system for Old Water Works Road. This is needed. He will desire to take credit for any structure over $50,000.

You will notice signs on Washington Avenue (after the State takes over the maintenance thereof) that proclaim him to be responsible.

Feed him plenty of tough, raw steak. He needs enough bull to snow his poor old gray-haired mother who is a Desk Sergeant at the you know what. His uncle had something to do with a Board of Health (the rotten board).

Any similarity between any living people and the above-mentioned things is strictly one hundred per cent accidental. Any similarity between these politicians herein described and real politicians is coincidental.

That's one of the many wonderful things about this U. S. and A. Every man is able to choose his profession. Some are able to be crooks and get away with it. Others don't.

Student Scholastic Standing Revealed

Statistics on student scholastic standings for the Fall quarter of the 1954-55 school year were drawn up recently and results were released this week from the office of Dean Edgar McKown.

The study shows that the entire student body made an average grade of 1.57. Men students showed a level of 1.43, while women averaged 1.83.

Taken according to class standing the results were as follows: seniors, 1.83; juniors, 1.65; sophomores, 1.55; freshmen, 1.34.

Sorority grades averaged out like this: Alpha Omicron Pi. 1.70; Beta Sigma Omicron, 2.13; Chi Omega, 2.13; and Phi Mu, 1.85. Fraternities: Acacia, 1.39; Phi Zeta, 1.47; Pi Epsilon Phi, 1.46; and Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1.79.

According to major subjects, grades averaged thus: business administration, 1.39; education, 1.67; engineering, 1.32; medical technology, 1.35; music, 1.94; pre-dent, 1.40; pre-med, 2.15; pre-law, 1.37; and pre-theological, 1.72.

Dean McKown said that liberal arts majors were figured into the pre-professional group.

WHAT'S THIS?
For solution see paragraph below.

A WONDERFUL SLANT on smoking! You'll find it in the Droodle above, titled: Tourist enjoying better-tasting Lucky Strike while leaning against tower of Pisa. If your own inclination is toward better taste, join the many college smokers who prefer Luckies. From any angle, Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Little wonder that Luckies tower above all other brands in college popularity!

What Do You Know!

An Open Letter

We thought we had discovered a rather humorous misprint in last week's Crescent. Something about somebody called BLT or BTO or BAK or whatever it was, challenging the Engineering Club to a softball game.

Since we had never heard of such an organization we decided the article was supposed to refer to a CIO labor meeting or something. But the very next day some character with a head shaped like an adding machine astounded the whole engineering department with the announcement that some bookkeepers from the business department had been weight lifting with pencils (one on each end) all winter and were simply bursting with energy and must engage in some physical activity in order to release this pent-up energy. (All this in one breath, mind you.)

We suggested crushing grapes but he wasn't to be deterred.

So we finally accepted the challenge on condition that accounting professors would be used for bases. And since it is going to be a picnic anyway, we decided to include all the picnic essentials and call it the ENGINEERING CLUB - BAK - ALL CAMPUS PICNIC.

So on May 15 come out to Pfafflin's lake and laugh yourself to death at the spectacle of BAK trying to play softball.

Views

Carolyn Lockwood is a junior, history major, and secretary of the Student Government Association.

Petitions are now being circulated among the student body asking us to agree to a $2.50 Library Building Fee per student, per quarter, for three years. In that length of time approximately $21,000 will be gathered to be used for the Informal Reading Room of Current Periodicals on the first floor of our new library. This room will be marked as the gift of the student body.

It is obvious that our present library facilities are inadequate, and it is necessary that they be drastically improved in order that Evansville College can retain its proper accreditation. I know we want to do our part to further the cultural development and growth of Evansville College.

The administration and Board of Trustees refuses to impose this fee upon us without our consent and promises that it will not be continued after the proposed three year period.

You may ask — of what value will the library be to me? Present freshmen and possibly sophomores will have the use of its fine facilities during their college years. It will be constructed on the open stack principle, and students can pick out the books they want. The building will also include an audio-visual auditorium for films, slides, etcetera. The library will also provide extensive research and specialized materials.

Juniors and seniors, who will not have access to the library while they are students here, can use its facilities after graduation for research work and study.

Mother's Day Tradition Started From Ceremony In Ancient Religions

Mothers' Day, as the Americans know it, is a comparatively modern celebration, although it is actually a festival derived from the custom of mother-worship in ancient Greeee. Formal mother-worship usually took place during the Ides of Mareh, with ceremonies to Rhea, the "Great Mother of the Gods." These services were performed throughout Asia Minor.

With the birth and practice of Christianity, the purpose of the ceremonies turned from worshipping gods to the worshipping of the "Mother Church." These took place on a mid-Lent Sunday, when children returned home with gifts for their parents, especially their mothers.

It wasn't until May 8, 1914 that Congress gave official recognition to the day. They set aside the second Sunday in May as the nationally recognized holiday for "Mom."

The white carnation, a symbol of sweetness, purity and endurance, is the floral symbol.

Aces, St. Joe Split Double Header Games

Willie Yokel

Evansville College Purple Aces split a double header with St. Joe last Saturday at East Side Park. This result gives the Aces a 2 and 1 record in Conference play.

In the first ball game, which went nine innings, the Aces won 8-4. Bud George went the distance for the Aces, giving up 7 hits, 8 bases on balls, while striking out five. The Pumas' starting pitched, Dick Dwinell, was knocked off the mound in the second inning, and Mike Gatza finished, getting credit for the loss. Willie Angermeier led the Aces' offensive, getting three hits for five trips to the plate.

In the second game, which went only 7 innings, St. Joe won, 4-2. The Aces had the ball game won until the top half of the seventh, when the roof fell in. The Pumas combined a home run, a double, and two crucial errors to produce four runs. The long home run was hit by Bob Wasni. Jim Merkley was the losing pitcher, while Dick Dwinell got revenge.

The Aces meet Ball State next Saturday in a double header at East Side Park. The first game starts at 1 p.m., C.D.T.

Eight Singles, Two Doubles Sign Up for Tennis Match

Eight women have signed up for the tennis tournament sponsored by the women's Athletic Association. Open to all women students, the tournament will include both singles and doubles and will run on a schedule convenient to the players.

The contest will be carried out strictly on an elimination basis, according to Connie Miller, president of the organization.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner in each division.

Singles players signed up are Mary Giovanetti, Janice Marsh, Joam Hamel, Lois Ryon, Jean Gioleto, Sara Rupp, Carolyn Conaway and Joan Dreher.

Teaming up for doubles are Hamel-Dreher and Giovanetti-Ryon.

SOME FIFTY-SEVEN cars will form the official entry list in the 39th annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway on Memorial Day.

Practice started last Sunday over the two and a half mile track. It was originally scheduled to start on May 1 but with the work on the track being completed at an earlier date than was expected, the AAA officials gave the go ahead on the earlier starting date. Practice hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. (CST) daily.

Many different types of power plants will be making a bid for stardom on the track this year, with the conventional four-cylinder non-supercharged racing engines in the majority. Also entered is a four-cylinder supercharged engine; two six-cylinder non-supercharged engines; two eight-cylinder non-supercharged engines; an eight-cylinder engine; and the Planacircle Special which is described as a new engine of radical design with no cylinders.

Walter Strader of Los Angeles, Cal., who entered the car says the fuel mixture is compressed in two combustion chambers through a system of rotors, and the engine is capable of developing 800 horsepower.

Another interesting entry is the Chapman Root car from Terre Haute. It features a conventional four-cylinder Meyer-Drake engine in an ultra-streamlined body that features an enclosed cockpit. The car is designed to lessen wind resistance.

BILL VUKOVICH, two-time winner of the nation's No. 1 auto race, will be trying to make history this year when he tries for win number three in the classic. The 36-year-old "lead foot" will be aiming for the first three-in-a-row victory at Indianapolis, and his fellow drivers have labeled "Wild Bill" as "the man to beat."

Vukovich's optimism over his chances stems from the fact that he will have mechanics Frank Cooney and Jim Travis back in the pit for him. According to Vukovich, "These boys are the best in the business, and if I can't win with them, I never will." But the other drivers don't feel that the only reason Vukovich wins is because of his mechanics. Vukovich hasn't had his usual "side races" this year, and he is going to the track with only one thought in mind, to win.

Louisville Golfers Take Evansville Aces, 11-7

Coach Beck's golf team lost out to the University of Louisville, 11-7, in a four-match contest played in Louisville last Friday.

Jewett Brown, Louisville, won medalists honors with a 74, scoring 2½ points. Ken Grall, with a 78, turned in the best effort for EC, making 2 points. The teams finished even, with a 3-3, in best ball play.

Results were Jack McClurg, EC, 40-39, 79; Brown, 35-39, 74; Grall, 38-40, 78; Bob Borney, Louisville, 42-39, 81; Tom Habbe, EC, 43-41, 84; Conrad Dow, Louisville, 42-37, 79; Wendell Bacon, EC, 44-38, 82; Lou Smithers, Louisville, 43-38, 81.

Scheduled to play Western Kentucky State college here last Tuesday, EC's next match will be May 11 at Southern Illinois University, with the Conference Meet at Valparaiso next Friday.

Netters Lose To Bulldogs, Indiana State

By Paul Kinney

Evansville College's tennis team dropped identical 5-2 decisions to Butler and Indiana State in a two-day road trip which wound up at Terre Haute last Saturday.

All four victories by the Aces were marked up by the same combination. Dick Korcssel won both of his singles matches on the trip. Dick also teamed up with Ralph Willis to win both doubles competition.

Other results of the Indiana State match were: Bob Needham, Indiana State, defeated Allen Stremming, Evansville, 6-4, 7-5; Len Zwerner, Indiana State, defeated Jack Combs, 8-6, 6-1; Bill Welch, Indiana State, defeated Ralph Willis, 7-5, 11-9; Tom Frew, Indiana State, defeated Walt Hatcher, 6-1, 6-0, and Koressel defeated Charles Buckalew, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

In the doubles competition, Needham and Zwerner defeated Combs and Stremming, 6-2 and 6-2. Willis and Koressel defeated Frew and Buckalew, 6-4 and 6-4.

At Indianapolis last Friday, Koressel won over Joe Wollfel of Butler, 7-5 and 6-2. In other singles action, Jack Frayman defeated Stremming of Evansville, 6-4, 7-5; Clinton Parsons, Butler, defeated Jack Combs, 6-3, 6-4; Dave Gentry defeated Willis, 8-6, 6-0, and Tom Rohrabaugh downed Walt Hateher, 6-4, 6-4.

In the doubles competition Frayman and Parsons teamed up to defeat Combs and Stremming, 6-2 and 6-3. Koressel and Willis scored the Aces' other point by defeating Gentry and Rohrabaugh, 6-3 and 6-3.

The ICC Conference meet is the next stop for the Aces on May 14 at DePauw University at Greencastle, Ind.

DEADLINE TO REGISTER

Next Monday, May 9, is the deadline for registering for the Selective Service System College Qualification Test which will be given at Evansville college on Thursday, May 19, to men who missed the two testings this year.

Test applications may be obtained from the Student Personnel office or from the Selective Service Board headquarters in the post office.

AFROTC Lists Summer Plans

Thirty-one advanced AFROTC cadets will attend summer training units this year, according to information released from AFROTC headquarters.

Five sites have been selected for the training, and contingents of cadets will leave on separate dates for the various camps.

Cadets reporting to Bergstrom Air Force Base are John Conaway, Donald Groeninger, James Hartman, Frank Healy, Arthur Kasey, Jr., Donald Kinney, Joe Kirk, Raymond Lohrer, Charles Oxley, William Parish, John Powell, Robert Small, Harold Stovall and Charles Wheeler.

Cadets scheduled for Vance Air Force Base are Jesse Hughes, Jr., Jack Miller and George Parker.

Eight cadets twill report to Ellsworth Air Force Base, Rapid City, South Dakota, and the Minneapolis-St. Paul Municipal Airport, Minneapolis, Minnesota, on July 24.

Cadets to report to Ellsworth are John Deig, Royce Gipson, Bernard Hartman, Jerry Neiswanger and William Wells.

Don Thomas, Floyd Ferrell, Jr., and Arthur Griggs will report for training at Minneapolis.

Cadets who will report for duty to Eglin Air Force Base, Crestview, Florida, on August 7 are James Cook, Lester Menchhofer, Lewis Plane, Joe Schapker, Gene Wilm and William Zopf.

SGA Election Today in Union Building

Polls Open from 9 a. m. - 3 p. m.; Three Slates Competing for Official Positions

Today is election day. When the polls close at 3 p.m. Evansville College students will have selected their Student Government officers and Women's Council executives for the 1955-56 school term.

Voting began at 9 a.m. and will continue through the day. All regularly-enrolled students have suffrage privileges.

Running in this year's election are three endorsed slates, plus an unaffiliated candidate for president.

Three Slates

Candidates on the Phi Zeta slate are Tom Lukens, president; Don Griffith, vice president; Shirley Orth, secretary; and Carol Scboolfield, treasurer.

Philos are endorsing Sam Hancock, president; Jim Schreiber, vice president; Jackie King, secretary; and Phyllis Bunge, treasurer.

On the INCA ticket are John Challman, president; Everett Winters, vice president; Pat Gamble, secretary; and Joyce Becker, treasurer.

Joe W. Kirk is an unaffiliated candidate for president.

Women's Council candidates are Dorothy Baggett, Lois Ryon and Nancy Lai, president; Mary Giovanetti, Phyllis Hachmeister and Joanne Bailey, secretary; Faye Forster, Sandra Egli and Shirley Orth, treasurer.

SGA Duties

The four SGA officers serve on the Administrative Board and the Student Council, working with the faculty in the direction and control of the life and work of the College. They are the representatives of the student body in these matters.

Student executives meet with the deans and the president of the College once a week to discuss and decide general administrative and disciplinary matters.

Another duty of Student Government officials is to preside over the Federation committees which cover Assemblies, Athletics, Fine Arts, Public Speech, Public Occasions, Publications, Religious Life, Social Life and Welfare.

Council's Work

The Women's Council takes part in things of interest to all women on campus, their specific duties being: the organization of Gamma Delta, the sorority for new girls on campus; participation in Dad's Day; direction and sponsoring of the Recognition Dinner; and arrangements for the crowning of the May Queen.

Nurses' Convention Planned for May 20

The Indiana Association of Student Nurses will hold its annual convention on the College campus May 20 and 21. This will be the first time the convention has ever met in southern Indiana. Registration will start at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the Lobby of the Union.

Highlighting the convention will be a tour of the Mead-Johnson plant Friday. Following the tour a banquet is scheduled in the College Union cafeteria. The president and director of I.S.N.A. will be honored guests. Entertainment after dinner will be provided by the student nurses in a talent-show form.

Another important part of the convention will be the election of officers for the Indiana Association of Student Nursing for the coming year.

"We expect over 100 girls from all over Indiana to come to the convention," said Pat Jordan, general chairman of the convention committee and a student nurse in the Evansville College-Baptist hospital nursing program. Helping with the planning are Sharon White, Deaconess, and Nancy Wilson, St. Mary's.

College ROTC Drill Team Will Participate in Meet

Sixteen members of the Evansville College AFROTC Drill Team will take part in a drill meet tomorrow at DePauw university .

Tomorrow's meet will mark the first time an Evansville unit will compete with other ROTC drill units.

Mrs. Edward Wessel, EC's first mother-of-the-year, tried out the throne and crown of the May Queen, officially assigned to Rosemary Wiseman, at the May day-Mother's Day program last week. Miss Wiseman is "checking" Mrs. Wessel's "official identification," a silver pin, inscribed with the title and year and bearing the Evansville College seal.

1955 Edition of LinC Will Be Ready For Distribution to Students Thursday

Jim Schreiber, editor of the LinC, has announced that the 1955 yearbooks may be picked up next Thursday, May 19. They will be distributed in the LinC office (O-142) starting at 9 a.m. This is the same plan as was followed last year.

Over 590 students are pictured in this year's book, an increase of about 115 over previous years. One hundred twenty-six members of the faculty, administration and staff are also pictured. There are approximately 275 pictures, plus those of the seniors.

Emphasizing the colors black and white, the '55 LinC is tailored and semi-formal in balance. The overall objective has been that of simplicity and dignity; this is evident in style, typography and layout. Identification has been simplified in that only last names have been used in group pictures.

One of the improvements, over yearbooks of previous years, is that the staff has cropped from negatives, thereby bringing out faces in pictures. Tommy Mueller, local photographer, did this work. Schear's Studio took the senior pictures while Bob Koch, commercial photographer, was responsible for the beauty section.

Boasting the largest personnel in many years, seventeen students formed the 1955 LinC staff. Assisting the editor were Connie Miller, art editor; Jerry Grey, photographer; Barbara Corson, royalty; Hal Burekhartt, government; Shirley Orth, administration; Duane Pemberton, arts; Myra Kasey, organizations; Doug Barthlow and Alta Egli, Greeks; Carol Schellhase and Alice Christmas, seniors; Chuck House and Willie Yokel, sports; Karen Spong, calendar; and Carroll Rickard and Gloria Watson, advertising. Barbara Moore acted as the co-ordinator and Miss Freda Martin was the advisor.

Students should check the LinC list posted in the bulletin board in the main hall of the Administration Building to see if they owe any money. The student activity fee includes the price of a yearbook.

Dr. Hyde To Speak To Students Tuesday

Dr. Melvin Hyde, president of the College, will speak before an all-campus convocation next Tuesday, May 17, at 10 a.m. Subject of his address will be "Names."

Although Dr. Hyde has been entertained at several school functions, Tuesday's convocation will offer the first opportunity for all students to hear the president speak.

For the past few weeks Dr. Hyde has been visiting freshman convocations so he may become familiar with student programs at the College.

Next Wednesday, President Hyde will give a talk at a dinner meeting of the American Institute of Business.

NAMED TO COMMISSION

Dr. Orville Jaebker, professor of history, has been officially appointed to the Mayor's Commission on Human Relations. He will fill the unexpired term of Mr. Lowell F. Turner, which ends March 1, 1957.

Dr. Jaebker will serve as secretary for the group.

Registration To Continue Through Next Friday

Registration for the Summer session and pre-registration for the Fall quarter will continue through next week. Advisers are now making appointments to help work out schedules with students.

Classwork for the Summer term begins Thursday, June 9, and ends Friday, August 5. Intersession will be held from August 8-26.

Upperclass registration for the Fall quarter will be held September 14, with classes beginning the next day. Freshmen will be required to register on the 13th.

Richards To Speak

Next Wednesday, May 18, Mr. Edward Richards, professor of history and political science, will talk to the men of Trinity Methodist Church. He will discuss American-Russian relations.

Last week Mr. Richards addressed the Presbyterian men of Newburgh and the Evansville Civitan Club.

On June 7, he will speak at a luncheon meeting of the Exchange Club.

Fun, Food, Frolic Will Be Featured At Sunday's Outing

Everything is set for the all-campus picnic at Pfafflin's Lake in Newburgh next Sunday. The outing is being sponsored jointly by the Engineering Club and BAK.

Tickets for the picnic are now on sale and may be purchased from members of either club. Price of admission is 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for children under 12 years of age.

Eleven o'clock has been set as the official starting time for the picnic, but planned entertainment will not begin until 1 p.m. when the much publicized BAK - Engineering Club softball game gets under way. Both clubs have been tossing vituperations at each other for the past two or three weeks, each advertising its team as potential champ material.

The game is scheduled for an hour and a half or seven innings. Prof. Lawrence Anderson is manager for the BAK nine, George Rumford for the Engineers.

After the men's slugfest, the gals will have a go at exhibiting their skills on the diamond. Their softball game is limited to one hour or seven innings.

Following the ball games, boat races are on the agenda. According to Roscoe Bivin, BAK committeeman for the picnic, the boat races are something unique; in fact, they are probably a form of aquatic sport that has never been tried before, anywhere. All picnickers are eligible to enter the competition.

Swimming and boating will also be featured at the picnic. Late in the afternoon supper will be served. The meal will include barbecue, potato salad, baked beans and drinks.

The original price of admission covers all expenses. Nothing is a la carte.

Club Breakfast

The Newman Club will have a communion breakfast next Sunday, May 15, at St. Benedict's after the 9 o'clock Mass. Bishop Henry Grimmelsman will be the guest speaker.

Reservations for the breakfast must be in by Saturday. Newman Club members who wish to attend may make arrangements by calling 2-9998.

A Time For Action

Today's the day to get in your two cents' worth on student administration. In case you haven't guessed from all the hullabaloo on campus, today is election day, and it's up to you to choose the people you want representing you on next year's Student Council.

Sometime before three o'clock you should amble over to the Union to cast your vote for the candidates of your choice, if only for the reason of qualifying yourself to gripe about the administration next year. Remember when everyone was giving a certain U.S. president — a guy named Henry or something — the devil a few yars ago? You know the fellow; he played piano off-key and spoke of tweaking noses. Well, the only ones really eligible to gripe about him in good conscience were those folks who went to the polls in 1948 to cast a protest against him.

The guys who usually complain the loudest are those who are too lazy to do something about the situation. Now is the time for action. Pick yourself a slate of candidates, get them elected and keep after them to fulfill their campaign promises. If you're not interested enough to try to put intelligent, hard-working officers into Student Government positions, then you will have only yourself to blame when conditions don't suit you.

So put yourself above that sluggish Tom, Dick or Harry — hey, that was that president's name, Harry — who doesn't care to vote. Go to the polls either to secure good government for Evansville College or griping privileges for yourself for the coming school term.

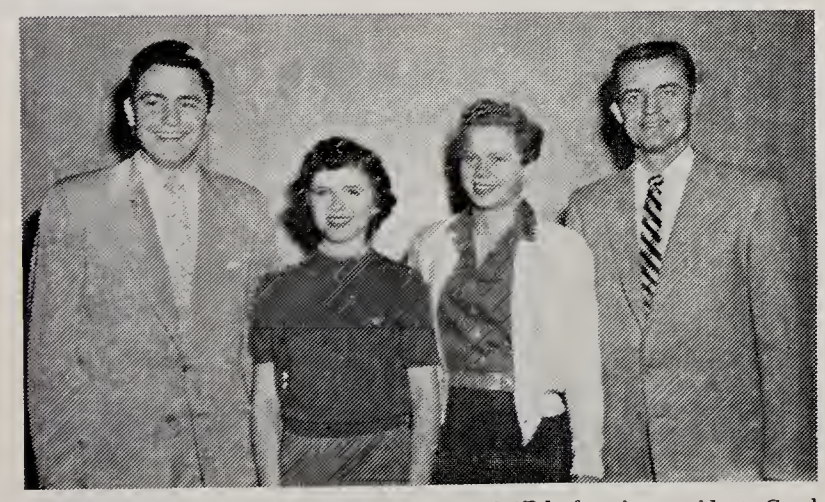
Running on the Philo ticket are, left to right, Sam Hancock, for president; Phyllis Bunge, for treasurer; Jackie King, for secretary; and Jim Schreiber, for vice president.



Phi Zeta candidates, left to right, are: Don Griffith, for vice president; Carol Schoolfield, for treasurer; Shirley Orth, for secretary; and Tom Lukens, for president.

I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it. — Voltaire.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

As if everyone doesn't know, it's election time again. Every student on campus should take the time to vote because it is his right and privilege. It will take only five minutes for any student to get over to the Union and cast his ballot, and everybody can spare five minutes.

The student officers who are elected today will represent you students to the faculty, administration, and the community. As Student Association officers, they will have powers and plan activities that will affect every student on campus. Every student should, therefore, take a good look at all the candidates and then vote for the one he feels will do the best job next year.

The new officers will sit in on the next administrative Board meeting and President's Roundtable with the present officers still presiding. After that the present officers will turn the reins over to the new ones and hope for graduation.

Bob, Carolyn, Marilyn, Myra, and I all agree that being a part of student government is a great experience and we would like to thank all the students and faculty who helped us. We hope the new slate enjoys its term as much as we have, and we wish them luck in making student government a bigger and better thing at Evansville College.

Pictured on the right is Joe W. Kirk, unaffiliated candidate for the office of president of the Student Government Association. He is a member of Acacia fraternity.

English Faculty Attend State Meet at Butler

Miss Wahnita DeLong, Miss Freda Ashley Martin, Mr. Arthur Spence and Dr. Daniel Boughner of the Evansville College English department, are at Butler university for a meeting of the Indiana College English Association today and tomorrow.

Dr. Boughner will participate in a panel discussion, speaking on the introduction method of teaching literature in college. The panel will discuss the pros and cons of different types of literature courses, with Evansville College taking the introduction; Indiana university, world literature; and Hanover college, survey of English literature.

Magazine Lauds EC Choir, Band

The Evansville College Band made news this week in a magazine called "The School Musician." The May issue of the publication carries a picture of the band with cutlines telling of the wide variety of music programmed by Mr. Wesley Shepard, director.

The magazine also commends Mrs. Shepard for her work with the choir and mentions that the choir and band present frequent joint concerts.

The feature ended with these words of praise for the co-heads of the music department, "We congratulate Evansville College and the Shepards for what they are doing to bring the best in music to Evansville."

Long, Tompkins To Speak At NOMA 'Honors' Dinner

Professor Dean Long, vice president of the College, and Miss Agnes Tompkins, head of the secretarial science department, will be guest speakers next Thursday evening at a dinner honoring recipients of the National Office Management association scholarships.

Twenty-six secretarial students from high schools and colleges in the Tri-State area have been chosen to receive this award, which is based on scholarship, attitude, character and service.

Dorothy Marie Brannon and Janis Pattie Montgomery, EC students, are among those chosen.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Some of the best reading in newspapers is in the letters to the editor column. In all of us there is the feeling that we have the solution to everything. "Letters to the Editor" give us a medium by which we are able to convey our solution to the public.

Quite often there are letters proclaiming that television is ruining the morals of the youngsters; they neglect their studies to watch a "sexy" siren display her wares.

Another subject often found is the comic books and how they will be the downfall of the younger generation. They learn new, hideous ways to polish off their enemies, they see babes with a bit of bosom showing.

Then some people write in saying that if card playing was abolished, there would be less gambling; if all guns were destroyed there would be no killings; if prohibition was enforced there would be no drinking. And many other topics are covered in this space allotted to the general public.

A favorite saying of a favorite character I know is that "Sin is what you like to do that the other fellow doesn't like to do." Personally, this makes a lot of sense to me.

Take television (you'll have to — I can't afford one). People rant and rave if Junior doesn't learn anything in school. These stupid teachers they have now, the text books aren't as good as they used to be, "and the teachers say they are underpaid." No sir, they can't understand it. Junior does watch TV until all hours of the night. No doubt about it.

Seems to me that Home Folks just seem to think that you send a kid to school several hours a day, five days a week and he gets educated.

Sunday morning rolls around and they send Junior to church. Now, this is all it takes to get Junior acquainted with religion.

Kinda looks like, to me at least, that it's the older generation that we have to worry about. Now every time Junior has a date the Home Folks worry. Trouble is, they place themselves in Junior's place, they think of what they would have done or tried to do if they were in the same place and then they really worry.

Yes, this younger generation does have a hard time. They face military service on one side and often an assuming, neglecting, suspicious parentage on the other.

If the younger generation goes bad, it's because they had an additional push from the older generation. In our age of mass production and machine thought, we take for granted the functioning of the molds and machines and don't worry about the theory behind it. We are living in a wonderful age; yet we louse it up for our children.

If more people would be concerned with their own family and less concerned with the neighbors, then there would be less juvenile delinquency.

Recently I saw a sight that to some would be funny, to others pathetic, to still others, heart-warming. A whole family, Maw, Paw, and the kids were playing baseball. Funny — Maw was smoking a cigar; pathetic — they live in a shack, the kids were dirty; heart-warming — the whole family was functioning as a unit. They were happy, enjoying themselves. They were together.

Union Board Officers

Members of the Union Board elected officers at a special meeting last Monday. Buddy Watkins was named president; Carolyn Lockwood, vice president; and Margie Hassee, secretary.

A picnic for outgoing members will be given by the Board on Saturday, June 4.

Alpha Omicron Pi And Phi Mu

Bedecked in swirls of pastel spring finery, wrought iron birdcages and carts, pink tablecloths and zillions of flowers, the Great Hall of the McCurdy Union building will be transformed into a temple of Aphrodite or the garden in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," for the annual Sweetheart Waltz sponsored by Alpha O's and Phi Mu's, May 14.

Danny Stiles and his combo will set the mood with dreamy music, punctuated occasionally by a fugitive from deep, dark New Orleans, or a dope addict's excuse for music people laughingly call modern jazz.

General chairmen for the affair are Phyllis Bunge, Phi Mu, and Lois Ryon, Alpha Omicron Pi.

Chaperones in the "flower bower" are Major and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Everette Walker and Major and Mrs. Evan Bruner. Dr. Melvin Hyde, Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, Dr. Norman Long, Dr. Edgar McKown and Dr. James Morlock will be honor guests of the evening.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Everybody be sure and contact a Sip Ep for tickets to their style show and card party in the cafeteria of St. Benedict's, May 16.

Alpha Psi Omega

Susie Chenoweth was installed as Grand Director; Barbara Moore, stage manager; Carolyn Conaway, secretary and business manager, and Tom Lukens, pledge trainer, of the Evansville College chapter of the national dramatics fraternity last week.

Phi Mu Alpha

Sunday, Epsilon Upsilon chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, will initiate four men into the order of Sinfonia, Phi Mu Alpha fraternity.

Being initiated are Bill Scott, Wilfred Thielman, Ronald Alley and Bill Huff. Initiation will begin at 2 p.m. in the Club room of the Union building. Jerry C. Jones, local vice president, is pledgemaster. The initiation is under the direction of Warden Mike Cavin, with John Koehler, dramatic director.

Following the initiation, a banquet will be held at the Homestead at 6 p.m. Guest speaker will be Professor Dean Long, vice president of the College.

Emeritus awards will be given to John Koehler, former president; Claud Hayes, former vice president; and William Puckett, former treasurer. Mr. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department and the chapter's second honorary member, will receive an honorary key. Mr. Leroy Offerman will accept the charter for the newly formed Evansville College Alumni chapter. Duane Pemberton, president, will officiate.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu sorority held a week-end retreat last week at the farm of Miss Doris Finke near Newburgh.

Dorothy Baggett, pledge director, was in charge of the house party honoring the sorority's new pledges, Marianne Walsdorf and Charlotte Walter.

The girls spent the week-end eating, swimming, hiking and scaring away a few wandering hunters.

Graduate Publishing Course Is Offered

This summer Radcliffe college in Cambridge, Mass., will conduct an intensive course in publishing procedures to prepare college graduates for jobs in magazine and book publishing.

To be accepted for the course a student must have reasonable ability to express himself in writing and show critical judgment. Typing ability is essential for both course work and placement, and shorthand is desirable.

The six-weeks course, which begins June 22 and ends August 2, surveys job opportunities and requirements in the field and provides a basic training for such jobs. Primarily concerned with the magazine and the trade book, the course also deals with special forms of publishing like the reference book and house organ.

Training is built around two major projects; the development of a book-length manuscript from submission to the printer; and preparation of a magazine dummy.

The course's instructors are editors and executives who direct and staff today's publishing enterprises. In the book section are personnel from such well-known publishing houses as Doubleday, Random House, Houghton Mifflin and Harcourt, Brace. Some of the magazines represented are Esquire, Ladies' Home Journal, Newsweek and the Atlantic Monthly.

Tuition for the course is $175. Charge for room and meals in a dormitory is $168 single or $138 double.

At the end of the course each student is interviewed individually by a publishing personnel expert to determine special job interests and aptitudes.

While there is no guarantee of placement, students may call on the course office for advice and references. They may also use the facilities of Radcliffe's Placement Bureau for one year after the course is completed.

Application blanks may be obtained by writing to Publishing Procedures Course, Radcliffe College, 10 Garden Street, Cambridge, 38, Mass. Applications close May 15.

SCA

The new SCA slate for next year includes President Doyle Ellis; Vice President, June Wedeking; Secretary, Mary McCreary; Treasurer, Bill Corpening; district representatives, Joanne Bailey and Tony Mathews.

Watch Out, Engineers!

AN OPEN ANSWER

It is still rather evident that the Engineers love to blow their own whistle! We can all remember pulling our little train down the walk, as a child, screaming "Toot, toot, here I come." We are glad to find that EC has its own toy-master club even here in the big college life.

And so, to you fine lads in the blue denim caps, toot, toot, to you, for you can begin sidetracking those steam engines while out at Pfafflin's lake this Sunday and watch a modern BAK team take you for a ride on the rails, down to the depths of softball defeat.

The weeping and wailing will be long and loud out at Pfafflins this Sunday, and broken-hearted engineers will be selling "slip sticks" a dime a dozen to raise bus fare home. This will be Evansville's only business and railroad feud to be settled so quickly and decisively and shamefully against the "Boys' Town Train Club." So, students, come early and stay late after the Engineering Club's softball team's sidetracking.

Remember the grand all-campus picnic will be this Sunday at Pfafflins, with swimming, boating and the finest picnic food you ever ate.

So, until we all gather there for the BAK's blowing up of the Engineers' softball dreams forever, toot! toot! to you.

Serves On Committee

Miss Agnes Tompkins served on the Woman's Rotary Club committee sponsoring the scholarship fund benefit card party at the Vendome last Tuesday.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Orville Jaebker, assistant professor of history, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Women's Guild of Redeemer Lutheran church last Wednesday evening.

Committe Chosen To Plan Honorary Scholastic Group

A Student-Faculty committee has been appointed to work out a local honorary scholastic society.

Selected were Dr. Daniel Boughner, Dr. Wade David, Dr. R. T. Dufford, Dean Edgar McKown, Dr. James Morlock, Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, students Bill Greer, Bill Steier and June Wallace.

Membership in the society would be limited to students with high scholastic averages. A stipulation would require persons to be named to the Dean's List a specified number of times before they would be pledged to the organization.

Committee members hope to complete plans in time to announce charter members at this year's graduation exercises.

Pat Parrish, freshman, and Carolyn Conaway, sophomore, discuss the bulletin board by the library door. Perhaps they are telling what their organizations are doing to raise the funds on which the new EC Library "shall rise." Progress reports will be made at the weekly campaign luncheon in the Union today.

Student Library Project Results Announced At Luncheon Today

Results of the student petitions to raise $21,000 as the student project for the library will be announced today at the weekly Library Drive luncheon in the Union, according to Bill Steier, SGA president. These petitions which must have the names of 600-700 students who will co-operate in the student drive are currently being circulated on campus.

Members of the President's Roundtable, which includes the heads of each organization on campus, have been invited to the luncheon, where they will make reports on the progress made by their individual groups. If the report on the petitions is favorable, the administration will act on the bill this afternoon.

The administration board would then present the plan, whereby a library fee of $2.50 per term would be added to the students' tuition for the next three years, to the trustees. This money would go toward the informal reading room, which is the student project.

It was reported at last Friday's meeting that the pledged sum has reached $202,403. The campus division's drive has reached $20,403.

The immediate goal of the committee is to raise $450,000. If this amount is pledged by June 30, the Lilly Endowment of Indianapolis will add its $200,000, the challenge gift that sparked the drive.

If the campaign is to stay on schedule, the amount of $300,000 should have been reached today, according to Leland M. Feigel, chairman of the drive. He will make a financial report at the meeting again today.

Yesterday Mr. Wilbur Shook of McGuire-Shook Company was on campus for a conference concerning architectural services on the library. With him were two engineers and another architect.

Alumni Scholarship Winners Announced For Tri-State Area

Alumni fund scholarships have this year replaced the regular centennial scholarships which have been given for the past few years to graduating high school seniors. Fifteen have been awarded.

These scholarships, made available by funds provided by the alumni of Evansville College, are for $300 in tuition for the freshman year and $150 in tuition for each of the next three years at Evansville College.

To qualify, a student must rank in the upper one-fourth of his or her graduating class, be recommended by the principal of his or her high school and spend a day on the Evansville College campus for tests and conference.

Ten local high school students will receive the awards. They are Michael Wayne Acker, Ruth Elaine Ahrens, Phyllis E. Brothers, Marie Gail Fisher, Paula Ann Sherrod and Carol Jane Yokel, Reitz; Susanne Louise Bell, Bosse; Sharon Farmer, Mary Ann Hutti and Anne M. Randolph, Central.

Five out-of-town students include Julia A. Puffenbarger, Columbus; Tommy W. Chandler, Dixon; Colin Wallace Cooke, French Lick; Donna Jeanne Goodwin, Boonville, and Ellen Jeanette Porter, Richland.

The centennial scholarships, which have been replaced this year, were started with contributions made to the college by the Eli Lily Foundation.

Pre, Re, Inter

David J. Lawson is a senior in Pre-theology.

Strange as it may seem, the code of Christian ethics around which most of our American way of life is built, has not really found its place in the world of the automobile and its use. Those who have been beyond the limits of the influence of our Western civilization are impressed with the rather complete way in which the American ideals and standards of judgment follow the Christian teachings right down the line.

True as this obviously is, those of us who regularly drive in Evansville have become very much aware of the fact that, at least in this one area of life, Christian ethics have not been put into practice. Such basic ideas of human conduct as fair play, honesty, concern for the safety and welfare of all others, or the value of human life somehow seem absent from the mind of the nut behind the wheel.

Walk through the Evansville College parking lot with your eyes open one of these days. The parking situation here is serious, and a late arrival any school day might well park several blocks from the campus. You would think, even if you were not aware of our problem, that everyone would do all possible to park and drive properly to help as many people as possible park near the college buildings.

Not so! Look at them. There is one car parked across two spaces in such a manner that it takes up at least 50 per cent more space than it needs. Another has left helf the width of a car between his car and the car next to it. Well, you go ahead and supply the rest of the examples. The point is that the morally honest person is the one who takes his integrity with him even when he is driving an automobile.

Faculty Dames Schedule Election, Luncheon Saturday

Faculty Dames will hold their final meeting of this year tomorrow in the college dining room at 12:30. The meeting will feature election of officers for the new year and a program of original poems read by Leah Bodine Drake, Henderson poet.

The present officers are in charge of the program, with Mrs. F. Woody Werking, vice president and program chairman, heading the committee. Other officers who are assisting her include Mrs. Ralph Olmsted, president; Mrs. Harvey Donley, secretary and Mrs. Ollie Drennan, treasurer. Mrs. Edgar McKown is chairman of the nominating committee.

YOU GET MORE deep-down smoking enjoyment from Luckies than any other brand. The reason, plain and simple, is that Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. You'll enjoy the Droodle above, too; it's titled: Three on a match—Luckies, of course. Whenever smokers put their heads together, they agree you can't match a Lucky for flavor. Tennis Tournament Matches Scheduled For This Week

With four more women signed up for singles, making a total of twelve, and two more doubles teams added to the list, drawings for the Women's Athletic Association tennis tourney were announced this week by Joan Hamel, chairman of the event.

Newly signed singles players include Phyllis Bunge, Diane Bentley, Bette Sharp and Connie Miller. Added doubles combinations are Rupp and Miller and Carter and Vogel.

In first round play, top bracket, Mary Giovanetti will play Janice Marsh; Sara Rupp drew a bye; Joan Hamel, a bye; and Carolyn Conaway will play Lois Ryon.

In the bottom bracket, Joan Dreher drew a bye, Bette Sharp will play Phyllis Bunge, and Jean Gioleti will play Diane Bentley. Connie Miller drew a bye.

In doubles, Dreher-Hamel will face Giovanetti-Ryan and the Rupp-Miller team will take on Carter-Vogel.

First rounds were scheduled to start this week, with the tournament to be completed in two weeks. Since the play is to be at the convenience of the players, in order to work it into their schedules, any delays or conflicts should be reported to Joan Hamel, chairman of the tournament, Miss Miller said.

Men's Round-Up Set For Thursday

Catfish, grilled hamburgers and softball are all scheduled for the activities-filled annual Men's Round-up next Thursday afternoon.

All male students and faculty members, too, are urged to gather on the back campus for an evening of "lots of food and fun," according to Dr. James Morlock.

Activities will start at 4 p.m. The faculty and senior men will have their traditional softball game, with other games, such as horseshoes, washers and volleyball for anyone interested.

On the menu, besides fish and charcoaled hamburgers, are potato salad and baked beans. Dr. D. W. Dunham will be wearing the "high hat" as main chef and will be in charge of all food.

Price of the tickets is 60 cents.

THIS MORNING AT NINE o'clock the polls opened on the most important election held on the Evansville College campus all year. The offices of the Student Government Association are the main voice of the student on campus and it is through these offices that all matters of student concern must pass. It is easy to see, therefore, why all of the students should cast their votes in the election.

The student body not only has the privilege and the right to vote but they also have the obligation to take five minutes of their time to see that they have had a voice in the affairs of the school that they attend. As a senior who has lived through three of these elections already, I believe I can safely say that it is usually the students who don't take time to vote who do the most complaining during the year.

The matter of you who vote for is your business, but I urge you to find out something about all of the candidates before you vote and then vote for the one whom you think will do the best job, don't be led up to the polls by the hand and told who to vote for.

The Crescent has been running platforms, histories of the candidates, and their pictures so you would know who they are and what they stand for, so take a few minutes and study these points and then vote. The polls will be open from nine to three and the number of students who can't take five minutes to vote can be counted on one hand, so after the final tabulation let's see if the students who didn't vote can't be counted on the same hand.

THE FIRST RELEASE from the ICC conference lists the averages for all top players in the conference and Willie Angermeier, Evansville left fielder, is sixth in the batting list hitting .417 for all conference games up to April 30. Clyde Cox, first baseman, is second in runs batted in with four and Corky Thompson leads all competitors in runs scored with five. Bud George, coach Don Ping's fireballing pitcher, is tied for the league lead with two wins and no losses to his credit. In the team averages, Evansville wound up in fourth place for team batting, hitting only .194, which is 15 points behind third place DePauw. They weren't mentioned in the fielding averages.

ICC Baseball Picture May Clear This Week

When the eight Indiana Collegiate Conference baseball games scheduled for this week have been played, standings should take on more definite proportions. Those released Monday, showed four teams tied for first place. DePauw, Evansville, Indiana State and Valparaiso, each had a 2-1 score. St. Joseph's, 1-2; Ball State, 1-3; and Butler, 0-1, completed the lists.

St. Joe, last year's champion, Valparaiso, DePauw and Butler were all scheduled to play three conference games. St. Joe hosted Valparaiso Tuesday, visits DePauw today, and will play at home tomorrow, when it faces Indiana State. Valparaiso returns to action tomorrow when it meets Coach Tony Hinkle's Butler Bulldogs in a twin bill. The Bulldogs also saw action Tuesday when they played Ball State at Indianapolis. The third game on Tuesday's docket featured Indiana State at DePauw.

Evansville's only conference game is tomorrow, at home, with DePauw the opponent.

May Next week's schedule follows:
16—Ball State at Wabash.
17—Indiana at Butler.
17—St. Joseph's at Chicago (2).
18—Ball State at St. Joseph's.
18—DePauw at Valparaiso.
18—Indiana State at Evansville.
19—Butler at Wabash.
20—Evansville at DePauw
21—Evansville at Butler (2).
21—DePauw at Ball State.

Ace Golfers Travel To Valpo for ICC Conference Meet

After a layoff of more than a week, EC's golf team left Wednesday morning for Carbondale, Ill., to play a match with Southern Illinois university.

From Carbondale the team was scheduled to travel to Valparaiso for the ICC tourney this afternoon. Playing in the tourney are Indiana State, Valparaiso, Butler, DePauw, St. Joe's, Ball State and EC.

The Aces will have two more matches following the conference meet, the University of Louisville May 24, and Indiana State Teachers College May 27. Both are home games.

Beck's golfers chalked up their fourth defeat of the season last Wednesday when they lost to Western Kentucky, 11½-6½.

Although three of EC's players, Wendell Bacon, Jack McClurg and Ken Grall, all shot 77's, they didn't pick up the points when they needed them to win. The best Western score, another 77, was turned in by William Goldsmith.

Aces Divide Two With Ball State

By Corky Thompson

Evansville College gained a split with Ball State Saturday as "Pinkie" Maulding singled home the winning runs in the bottom of the seventh to turn apparent defeat into victory. The Aces had lost the nine inning opener by the score of 4-0.

With two on and one out, Maulding lined a sharp single into left field to score Clyde Cox and Jim Merkley. Cox had singled to open the bottom half of the last inning and Merkley followed with another sharp hit. Both runners advanced on Bud George's long fly. This set the stage for Maulding's winning blow.

Ball State got of to an early lead, running the score to 6-0 before Evansville could muster a scoring threat. But in the fifth, the Aces bounced back to score five runs on two hits, two walks and three errors. The Aces tied the score in the bottom of the sixth when Vern Peerman walked and Ken Lutterbach followed with a tremendous triple to right center. Bud George was the winning pitcher.

In the first game, Dick Peterson, a southpaw, was too tough for the Aces as he held them to four scattered hits as Ball State won 4-0.

In a non-conference affair on May Day, the Aces came up on the short end of a slugfest with University of Louisville. The Aces collected eight hits off the offerings of the Louisville pitcher, Cheppo. Willie Angermeier, Cox and Maulding collected two hits apiece in the losing effort.

The Aces play a Conference tilt with DePauw tomorrow and must win if they expect to stay in the running for the Conference title. They now own a 3-won, 2-lost record in Conference play.

ROTC To Participate in Annual Armed Forces Day Observance

The Evansville College unit of Air Force ROTC will march in the Armed Forces Day parade scheduled for Friday, May 20, according to Lt. Col. James Brantner, project officer for the community observance, which will last from May 15 through 21.

Local ROTC cadets will be marching with some 5000 other members of the armed forces. The ROTC band and drill team will participate as well as the full force marching of cadets. Trophies will be given to the best marching unit, band and float in the parade.

Col. Brantner is marking his second term as project officer for the celebration. He served in this capacity in 1953 and in 1954 he was a cooperative project officer. The theme for this year is "Power for Peace" and the entire program has been enlarged from the original community participation to that of the Tri-State.

In addition to the parade the Armed Forces will also sponsor open houses at the various headquarters, window displays in downtown stores, an airplane model contest and a Miss Armed Forces Day queen contest. Saturday there will be a demonstration of various types of aircraft which will fly over Evansville between 2:00 and 4:00. That evening the celebration will end with the Armed Forces Day dance in the Armory; the queen will be crowned at that time before a group of about 1200 to 1500 people.

College European Tour To Leave NYC June 8

The annual Evansville College sponsored European tour will leave June 8, from New York City on the Queen Mary, according to Dr. Mearl P. Culver, sponsor of this year's tour.

Thirty-seven persons from all over the nation have signed up for the tour, which is worth eight college credit hours. The travel group will visit eight countries and points of interest historically and culturally.

A part of the group will fly via TWA on June 13 and will join the travel party in London. There are still a few spaces available for this arrangement. The cost of the trip for the ship is $850 and for the plane $967.70.

The group will visit England, Scotland, The Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France. The tour will come to an end July 21, and the group will arrive in New York City July 26.

Speaks At Meeting

Mr. Robert Heater, professor of speech and drama, will speak on "Creative Expression for Children" at the breakfast for the Association for Childhood Education tomorrow morning in the Vendome Empire room.

Chemical Society To Have Meeting

The American Chemical Society Indiana-Kentucky Border Section will have a meeting next Thursday, May 19, at the General Electric Plant at Owensboro, Ky.

The meeting will feature two plant tours and a dinner. All student affiliates have been invited to participate. Dr. Norman Long is chairman of the local section; Mr. Andrew Sherockman is secretary.

Thursday's meeting will be the last of the season for the organizations. They will resume in the fall.

More About SGA

Statistics on Women's Council candidates read like this:

Nancy Lai is president and editor for SAI, vice president of the choir and IRC; she is a member of the Little Symphony and the Evansville Philharmonic. She has been named to the Dean's List a number of times.

Dorothy Baggett is a junior and a member of Phi Mu.

Lois Ryon is vice president of AOPi, vice chairman of the House committee, and a member of the Social Life committee of SGA. She was Homecoming queen candidate and served as chairman for the Pledge dance.

Mary Giovanetti is president of the Newman Club, rush chairman of AOPi, chairman of the Entertainment committee, and a member of the Welfare committee and of WAA.

Phyllis Hachmeister serves as Rush chairman for Phi Mu. She is a member of A.C.E. and of Panhellenic.

Joanne Bailey is treasurer of the Sophomore class and of Beta Sigma Omicron, and is chairman-elect of the Union Social committee. A member of Alpha Phi Mu, SCA and MSM, she has made the Dean's List six times.

Faye Forster is corresponding secretary and Panhellenic delegate of AOPi sorority, and is a member of Alpha Phi Mu and of the Welfare committee.

Sandra Egli is a business administration major, a member of Phi Mu sorority and of the Social committee.

Shirley Orth is secretary of the Athletic committee, Panhellenic delegate and chapter correspondent of Chi Omega, and a member of the Dance committee.

Committee Revises Elementary Science Class Requirements

Dean Edgar McKown, chairman of the curriculum committee, recently released a statement to the faculty concerning enrollment in the science 100 courses.

Under the new ruling, students whose math entrance test scores were above 50 are not eligible for the Math 100 course, but those who averaged below 50 must take the math course before enrolling in either Chemistry 100 or Physics 100. The committee also recommended that the math course be taken first, followed by chemistry and then by physics. Biology 100 and Home Economics 100 may be taken at any point in the sequence.

The committe studied the problems connected with the sequence of science 100 courses and their effectiveness in serving the non-science majors. They found that students who take the courses in a random order often are subjected to the repetition of some topics in two or more of the courses.

Students may also meet the science requirement for graduation by taking 15 hours of a science in the same sequence required of science majors.

ACP Awards Crescent Second Class Rating

The Evansville College Crescent recently received second class honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press for the paper during the first half of the school year. Second class is considered good to very good.

The Crescent was given excellent rating on news coverage and content. The judge stated that the news stories were handled in good newspaper style.

Sports page and editorials were given especially high recognition. The sports coverage was rated as very good and the editorial page features were given excellent. Page make-up, headline schedule and typography were all given "very high" rating.

The ACP rates the member papers twice each year by professional newspapermen. The Honor Rating is a report on how well the paper compared with others across the nation for the year.

Lukens, Schreiber, Orth, Schoolfield Elected to SGA

Bishop, Educator to Talk At Graduation Exercises

Evansville College Commencement exercises will take place June 5-6.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, June 5, at 7 p.m. (CDT) in the Methodist Temple. Speaker will be Bishop Francis Gerald Ensley of the Des Moines, Iowa, area of the Methodist Church. His sermon will concern "On Living in a Time of Danger."

Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright, Midwest Director of the Institute of International Education, will speak on the commencement program at 7:30 p.m. (CDT) Monday, June 6, on the campus front lawn. In case of rain, services will be moved to the Great Hall of the Union.

Mrs. Wright's address will be entitled "Open Doors — Open Minds."

On Sunday afternoon capping ceremonies for the students of the Baptist Hospital - Evansville College School of Nursing will be held at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

Girls who will be capped are LaNova Cook, Fayetta Crane, JoAnn Franz, Ruthalee Gilliam, Jeanette Liggett, Virginia Morris, Janice Paris, JoAnn Rafferty, Florajane Rupe, Lois Somers, Ozinia Snaden, Norma Strickland, Jane Taylor and Margie Warren.

Dr. Melvin Hyde has appointed a faculty committee to take charge of commencement arrangements, with Prof. V. C. Bailey as chairman. Other members are Dr. Leland Moon, receptions and luncheon Prof. Claude Slusher, tickets; Prof. Ralph Waterman, programs; Maj. Robert Taylor, house arrangements; and Prof. Guy Marchant, academic profession.

Graduation rehearsal will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 2, in the Great Hall. All candidates for degrees are required to attend.

At the rehearsal, tickets for the ceremony will be distributed. Prof. Bailey said that this is the only time they will be given out. If the services are held outside, seniors may have all the tickets in the reserved section they desire. In the event of rain, each person being graduated will receive two tickets each.

The bookstore reports that caps and gowns will probably be ready on June 2 in time for rehearsal, and they will positively be on hand by the 3rd. The graduation apparel may be picked up at any time until 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 4.

Invitations Ready

Seniors may pick up graduation invitations and calling cards next week from 9:30-11 a.m. each day in the Union.

Class president Wendell Long said that plenty of extra invitations are available and they may be purchased by persons who have not ordered them. Price is 13 cents each.

EC Student Chosen To Reign as Queen Of Armed Forces

Carolyn Conaway is reigning as queen of Armed Forces Week. The Evansville College sophomore was chosen by judges to the royal post last Friday, and her duties began Saturday when Mayor H. O. Roberts issued the proclamation of Armed Forces Day.

As an award for being selected queen Miss Conaway received an entire ensemble from Evansville merchants and a trophy from the Armed Forces Week Committee.

Tonight at 8:30 p.m. Miss Conaway and her two attendants, Phyllis Railey and Suzanne Lohrer, will ride in the Armed Forces Day parade.

The Evansville College AFROTC unit will march in the parade along with troops from all services, Civil Defense, Red Cross, mounted Corps, and patriotic, civic and fraternal marching units. Trophies will be given to the best marching unit, band and float in the parade.

Tomorrow night the celebration will end with a dance in the Armory at which Miss Conaway and her attendants will be formally presented. The queen will be crowned by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, head of the National Selective Service. The dance begins at 9 p.m.

Lt. Col. James Branter, of the College AFROTC, is project officer for this year's Armed Forces Week. This is the second time he has served in this capacity, and he was a cooperative project officer last year for the celebration.

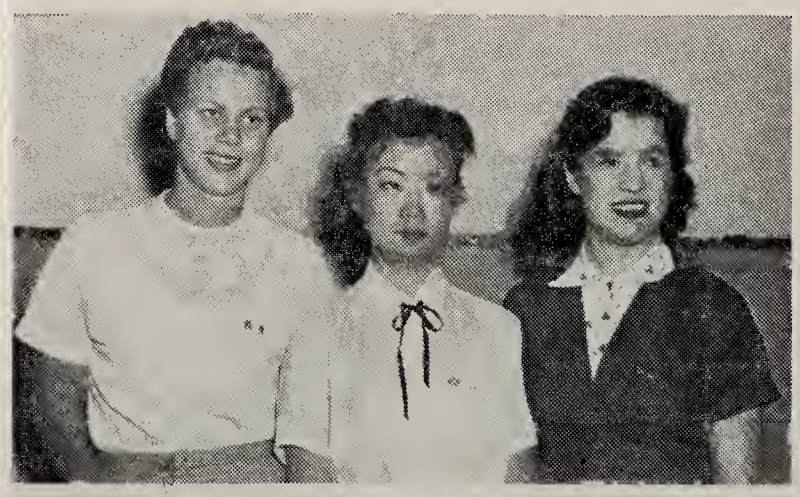
Theme of the event is "Power for Peace." It has been observed throughout the week by prayer, window displays, open houses by the various services and discussions in schools.

Tonight from 4 to 7:30 p.m. troops from Ft. Campbell, Ky., will bivouac in Sunset Park. The public is invited to watch the demonstration.

As a grand climax tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock combat aircraft will stage a flyover.

No Classes

There will be no classes on Memorial Day, May 30. The following day, the 31st, will be the last day of school since final exams begin Wednesday.



Shown above are the winners in the election of Women's Council officers held last Friday. Left to right are: Shirley Orth, treasurer; Nancy Lai, president, and Joanne Bailey, secretary.

Library Fund Adds $21,000 as Students Promise Support

The outstanding report of last Friday's weekly Library Drive Luncheon was the $21,000 student pledge, Mr. Ralph Olmsted, business manager, stated.

Petitions containing the names of 600 or 700 students agreeing to the project were brought in, giving the members of the President's Roundtable the "go sign" to present the plan to the administration.

With the approval of the trustees, the $2.50 library fee will be added to the student activities cost beginning next fall. This extra charge will continue for three years and will then be removed from the bill. With the present enrollment, the $21,000 pledge will be met by that time.

Pledges to the drive reported last week brought the total to $291,563. For the campaign to be on schedule $300,000 should have been reached at that time.

According to Mr. Leland M. Feigel, chairman of the drive, every possible pledge will have to be brought in so that the goal can be reached before the Victory Dinner on May 24. The committee's immediate goal is $450,000, and if it is reached by June 30, the Lilly Endowment Foundation of Indianapolis will contribute $200,000, the original challenge gift.

The campus division reported at last Friday's luncheon that with the students' pledge it had reached a total of $41,914. This is more than double their original quota of $20,000.

SGA candidates were introduced at the luncheon and a political parade marched through the Great Hall. Roundtable members were special guests at the meeting and their reports were given.

Kapers Committee Buys Lights for Campus Sign

The brightest thing on campus right now is the newly illuminated Evansville College sign on the front campus.

The new sign-lights were purchased with the proceeds from the "foot-light antics" of the 1955 "Kampus Kapers" show. A committee made up of a member from each of the campus organizations chose this project before plans for the "all campus show" were completed. Elizabeth Inkenbrandt, sophomore, was in charge of the project's final purchase.

Cost of the lights was $197.80. This amount was taken from the $169 made by the '55 show and the $160 balance left from the '54 show, a total of $329.08. The remainder of the money will be used toward next year's campus gift.

Last Day To Register

Today is the last day to register for the Summer term or to pre-register for the Fall quarter. Pre-registration entails only the making out of a tentative schedule and having it filed in the Registrar's office. Cards do not have to be filled out until the Fall quarter begins.

Pre-registering assures the student of getting into the classes he desires in September. Freshman registration is held the day before that of upperclassmen.

Want A Job?

Want a job? Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, reports that full and part time jobs are available for the summer for students.

Anyone interested may sign up or obtain information on the positions at the Placement Bureau.

Lai, Bailey, Orth Chosen to Executive Posts on Women's Council for 1955-56

Tom Lukens, president; Jim Schreiber, vice president; Shirley Orth, secretary; and Carol Schoolfield, treasurer — that's the line-up of new Student Government officers chosen in last Friday's election to serve during the 1955-56 term.

Next year's Women's Council officials will be Nancy Lai, president; Shirley Orth, treasurer; and Joanne Bailey, secretary; as decided by student vote. Vice presidents of the organization are appointed.

Heavy Rains

Rain deluged the campus during the election but failed to dampen the spirits of the voters. Loudspeakers blared the usual election ballyhoo, banners waved and candidates shook hands with all the aplomb of seasoned political campaigners.

The rains began before the polls opened at 9 a.m., but voting remained heavy throughout the day. This year's SGA president, Bill Steier, reported that as many people voted this year as last year. Approximately 700 ballots were cast for SGA candidates, around 400 for the Women's Council.

Three Zetas Win

Tom Lukens, Phi Zeta's choice for the presidency, won over opponents Sam Hancock, Philo; John Challman, INCA; and Joe W. Kirk, unaffiliated.

New vice president, Jim Schreiber, was endorsed by the Philos. He was victorious over INCA's candidate, Everett Winters, and Phi Zeta's Don Griffith.

Shirley Orth, in winning the race for the office of secretary, defeated Jackie King, Philo; and Pat Gamble, INCA.

Successful candidate for the office of treasurer, Carol Schoolfield, was also backed by Phi Zeta. Defeated candidates for the post were Phyllis Bunge, Philo; and Joyce Becker, INCA.

In the Women's Council officers' race, Nancy Lai, president-elect, ran against Dorothy Baggett and Lois Ryon. Joanne Bailey, new secretary, won out over Mary Giovanetti and Phyllis Hachmeister. Secretary, Shirley Orth, defeated Faye Forster and Sandra Egli.

The final score racks up three wins for the Phi Zeta slate, the offices of president, secretary and treasurer; one victory for the Philos, the vice president's post.

LinC Available

Copies of the LinC are available in O-142 and students may pick them up there until 2:45 this afternoon. A list of persons owing money on the yearbook is posted in the Administration building.

IASN To Discuss Role of Students At Today's Meeting

The annual convention of the Indiana Association of Student Nurses begins this morning at 10 with registration in the Lobby of the Union. Pat Jordan is general chairman of the convention committee.

Theme of this year's convention is "Understanding Student Associations." Officers for the coming season will be elected this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Tonight, a dinner meeting will be held at which Margaret Jones, president of the Indiana League of Nursing, and Lucille Wall, president of the Indiana Student Nurses Association, will speak on the "Student's Role in Professional Organization."

Later tonight a talent show will be given. Pat Jordan will emcee.

Tomorrow morning after registration a business meeting will be held.

At 2 p.m. panel members, Carol Allsmiller, Carol Miller and Harriett Pichet, will discuss "Understanding the Indiana Association of Student Nurses." Dorothy Beumes will be moderator.

Hyde Fetes Officers

President of the College, Melvin Hyde, entertained newly elected SGA officers Tom Lukens, Jim Schreiber, Shirley Orth and Carol Schoolfield, at breakfast last Tuesday. New Women's Council officers Nancy Lai, Joanne Bailey and Miss Orth were also invited.

Special guests were Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the College, and Dr. James Morlock, dean of men.

Scholarships Given

Mike Morita and Hiroshi Kise, students from Okinawa, have been granted study grants for the coming school term. These scholarships are given on a year by year basis.

Mr. Morita is a junior; Mr. Kise a sophomore.

Like A Change?

The Crescent is a student newspaper, written and edited by students and financed with student money. Therefore it is the desire of the Crescent staff to give the students what they want in news. Perhaps readers would like new features or columns, would like to see some things eliminated or others added. For this reason, we are asking students to express their opinion on the matter and to put forth any ideas they may have on planning next year's paper.

How about filling in the questionnaire below and putting it in the Crescent mailbox or giving it to one of the Crescent staff?

What features and columns did you like in this year's Crescent?

.....

Which did you dislike?.....

.....

What type of columns or features would you like to see added?....

.....

What, in your opinion, should be removed?.....

.....

Other changes suggested.....

.....

.....

The Crescent will welcome any suggestions you have to offer. Remember this is your paper, and if you don't like the way it is being edited and written at the present time, this is your chance to see that changes are made.

In the Crescent office are copies of student newspapers from all over the country. Anyone of you is welcome to come in to read and study these publications for ideas or features you may like. And if you think you'd like to write a feature column or articles for the paper, just drop around and talk it over with the editor or Miss Freda Martin, the faculty adviser.

Come on, students, help us make the Crescent the best student publication in the United States.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

Couple of mornings a while back, around 6:45 in the a.m., I saw a couple of cowboys herding their iron steeds down Weinbach. The actual spot was at the intersection of Covert and W.

Now these boys were really living it up. I thinks to myself, an almost impossible feat at that time of the day, "These jokers are going to get tagged for dragging that way." About then they hit those chasms (comparable to some of the freeway of the campus) and I mean to tell you, those steeds really bucked. This didn't slow those menaces to sheepherders down one fraction of a mile per hour.

After they passed right in front of me, I realized that these characters I had assumed were juveniles headed toward delinquency were actually two of the "city's finest." They were two of those men in blue with the badge of authority and the package of .32 caliber courage.

Somewhere along the line I have picked up the idea that all laws apply to all people. Apparently the elite police force isn't aware of this fact. Besides creating a nuisance they didn't add any miles to those cycles by trying to bounce over the badlands at the aforementioned intersection of C. and W.

Unfortunately, had those two Yahoos (for diteral definition consult Gulliver's Travels or enroll in Dr. Boughner's Spring Quarter Survey of English Lit. class) been a couple of gay, young, uninformed juveniles, and had two of the policemen been hiding behind the tavern on the corner, there would have been an arrest. Not so, in this case.

Something else I haven't been able to figure — now Chief of Police says that he needs more men to police the city properly. (If one wanted to be sarcastic, he might say at this point—"The same number of men, only more brains.") Yet in those patrol buggies you will almost always see at least two patrolmen (? ? ?), and usually there are two cowboys either riding their iron steeds in formation or holding drag races.

I presume this feeling of a need for help comes from the time a year or so ago that a little fellow locked a couple of the brave blue men in a coal shed with a concrete block. They were so brave and so strong they couldn't get out without help.

One of the candidates for mayor in the forthcoming primary has announced that one of the ridge-poles in his campaign shed will be a revamping of the police department. He feels that with brains the police can accomplish much more than they can with might. He proposes to, if elected, kick the filthy dog, Politics, out of the Law Enforcement Emporium. He proposes a complete overhaul job. Further, he proposes to make a scientific instead of stumbling organization .

Naturally, I can't state the name of this hopeful. This is unfortunate. I would like to encourage all the people on the campus to talk him up. Personally I think he is the best in the whole grab bag. I will furnish his name on request. I feel that he is serious in his plan to overhaul the police department.

Beyond a doubt it is impossible for a police department to solve every crime, every murder. The odds are that they will solve some though. I don't want to run them down on everything. The Police Department is very efficient in tagging speeders — now that they have the new mechanical brain, radar, to do it for them.

Boost for The Library

AN OPEN LETTER

Recently it was my honor, along with other organizational presidents, to ask my fellow students to sign a petition which would add $2.50 on to our tuition bill each quarter for three years, but permit the students to donate a $21,000 reading room for the new library.

In less than two days my organization, Phi Mu Alpha Fraternity, had the signature of 100% of all its members currently enrolled at Evansville College. This was not only a great boost for the student drive, athough I certainly was proud of them, but my answer to some of the criticism last fall that there was no school spirit.

I saw several students who almost had to drop out of college this year because of insufficient funds sign as fast as I could get my fountain pen out. Several remarked, "Let's give more!" Another said, "It'll be fine for my kids, too."

And we have no school spirit? Nonsense. Double nonsense.

I am quite sure the people who last fall complained of no school spirit have never seen some of the more beautiful spots on our campus (which is one of the most beautiful in the country). Have they seen the old sun dial, the grove, the small house? I think not. Likewise, I am sure they have never taken time to watch the football team work out, been in Radio Station WEVC, admired the hard work of the Crescent and LinC Staff, or saw some of the band members when they came off the field with dust all over their bodies and sweat running down their backs.

No, I guess it's just too easy to be an armchair quarterback.

—Duane Pemberton

Alumni to Elect Four Directors

Ballots have been sent out to all Evansville College graduates in order that they might vote on the eight alums nominated for election to four positions on the Alumni Association Board of Directors.

Nominated are Arthur T. Acker '48, William O. Bell '49, Mrs. Harold Buck '45, Robert W. Eberhart '43, Mrs. Max Hartley '46, Mrs. Arthur Owen '51, Lloyd Roessler '47 and Mrs. Richard Small '53.

All ballots must be returned to the Alumni office by Friday noon, June 3. A special committee, headed by Miss Carolyn Nuecks '54, will tabulate the vote, and the results will be announced at the annual Alumni picnic that night. Those elected will take office on July 1 and serve a three-year term.

Outing directors are James Buthod '46, Stanley G. Cubbison '25, Jack Slade '36 and Mrs. D. W. Vaughn '34. Mr. Slade also served as chairman of the nominating committee, which included Dr. Edgar McKown, '22, Eloise Frieberg '45, James Fowler '50 and Mrs. Clyde Parker '40.

Placement Tests

Dates for the placement and advisory tests for students entering college in the summer and fall of 1955 have been set by the testing and counseling service, according to Gordon R. Stien, director.

Tests will be conducted on May 21, June 4, June 15, August 16, August 25 and September 12. The number of testing days has been reduced so that a larger number of counselors and department representatives can be present at the social hour following the tests.

Music Scholarships Given To Graduates In Tri-State

Evansville College has awarded music scholarships to 18 high school seniors from the Tri-State area. Sixteen of these are major scholarships which include half the academic tuition for the four years, and full tuition for the major instrument.

The other two are minor scholarships including one-half of the academic tuition.

Seven of the winners are residents of Evansville. They are: Dolly McGowan, piano major; Gary Aherns, clarinet major; and Patricia Farley, flute major, all from Bosse high school.

Central high school students awarded scholarships are: Chalmen W. West, voice major; Ronald Attinger, saxophone; and Barbara Scott, voice.

June Winternheimer, cornet major from Reitz, was also a winner.

Winners from the Tri-State area are James Hudson, trombone, and Marvin Hicks, cornet, from Tell City; Juanita Booth, piano, and Edward Kingsley, clarinet, from Mount Vernon; and Billie Sue Galloway, piano, and Myron Westfall, tuba, from Poseyville.

Scholarships were awarded to Mary Irvin, piano, and Norman Herzog, cornet, from Cannelton; Sandra Bartlett, voice, Ft. Branch; Bruce Thompson, cornet, Washington; and Fay Egbert, piano, Huntingburg.

Walker Speaks

Dr. Everett Walker, director of student personnel, delivered the commencement address last night at the Dixon, Ky., high school graduation exercises.

On Thursday evening Dr. Walker addressed the graduating class of Uniontown, Ky.

SGA News

By Bill Steier

Congratulations to the new Student Government officers. Although the rain put the damper on the 10 o'clock activities, there was a lot of spirit shown in the election. The fact that the students are interested enough in Student Government to campaign and work hard for their candidates is the main reason that Student Government is a big thing on this campus. If the student body will really get behind the new officers, I know we can look forward to a lot of accomplishments next year.

The Student-Faculty Federation Committees did an outstanding job this year and they deserve a pat on the back from the students. The student chairmen, Dave Lawson, Joan Bosse, Jim Schreiber, June Wallace, Jerry Neiswanger, Marilyn Bartlett and Bob Porro, put a lot of time in, and the federation's success can in a large part be attributed to them.

I hope our new president, Tom Lukens, will be able to attend the National Student Association Congress this summer. It will be held at the University of Minnesota this year. A lot of good programs and ideas can be obtained from the congress, and it is a great experience in learning the scope of student government.

Outstanding Senior

June Wallace, graduating senior, was presented the Beta Sigma Omicron alumnae award, given to the outstanding senior each year, at the sorority's tea Sunday afternoon.

The tea, honoring active members and their mothers, was arranged by Mrs. Lewis Plane, Miss Ethel Hamilton and Mrs. Leroy Smith.

Craft Tour Covers Southern Highlands Traveling Dates Announced, June 14-24

The traveling date set for the art department's craft tour is June 14. The group will make a wide loop through Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina, returning to Evansville June 24 .

The object of the trip is the study and style and form of the art of the highland craftsmen and a general tour of the country.

The first stop out of Evansville will be the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson, just outside Nashville. Stops will also be made at the Dollmaker's in Ozone, Tenn., and Craft Center at Pleasant Hill.

Resting for several days in Gatlinburg, Tenn., the "tourers" will have time to visit the many shops and to play in the mountains. On the list of "musts" in Gatlinburg are the Phi Beta Phi craft school, the Arrowcraft shop, MacDonald Pottery, Pigeon Forge, the Wood-whittlers, Jane Class' jewelry shop, Dorothy McLean gift shop and the Trading Post. For a look backwards into the past of a true mountain home and family, with no glory or modernizing, a trip to the Walker sisters' would be recommended to the travelers.

Indian Reservation

Leaving Gatlinburg, the bus will cross the mountain ridge into North Carolina to Cherokee and the Indian reservation. In the shops are examples of Indian basket-weaving, pottery and the wood-sculpture of Amanda Crowe, one of the finest in the area. A high point, not to be missed while visiting the reservation, is the annual Cherokee drama, "Unto These Hills."

Next on the list is Brasstown, North Carolina, a visit to the John C. Campbell Folk School, noted for the fine weaving and other mountain crafts, also the potter, Lynn Gault. From Brasstown, the group will go to Asheville to visit the famous Stuart Nye jewelry shop, actually a small factory, and Alanstand, one of the official shops of the Southern Highland Handicraft Guild, an organization that covers eight mountain states.

From Asheville, the tour will follow the incomparable Blue Ridge Parkway to Little Switzerland, and will go from there to Penland, one of the best-known craft schools in this country. They will also visit the art colony, Seecelo, at Brunsville, North Carolina.

Return Trip

Coming north again, through the Cumberland Gap, the group will make its last craft stop at Berea, Ky., to see the Churchill weavers, and at Bybee, Ky., to visit the Corneilson pottery.

Conductors of the tour are Bernice A. Stevens and Alice E. Zimmerman, craft teachers at the Evening College and at Reitz high school. Reservations may be made with Dr. James Morlock at Evansville College. Three quarter hours credit may be earned, but it is not necessary to take the trip for that purpose. The cost is $92, covering transportation, lodging and admission fees.

Maidenly Prayers Ignored by Males

Evansville College's "Pig Alley" is in full regalia as the spring quarter draws to a close. That little cork bulletin board in the main hall of the Administration building advertises a multitude of things up to and including books, Henry J. grills, 16 mm. silent films, an electric train, a '46 Plymouth or a tennis racket. Any type of ad can appear on the board, but the funniest one, and the one the whole male student body seems to have overlooked is the unwed maiden's little prayer . . . WANTED: A Man of Property.

ENGINEERS' CLUB

Elected at the annual Engineers' picnic were the officers for next year. President is Jim Holt; vice president, Jud Rumford; secretary, Bill Greer and treasurer, Bill Woodall.

INCA

Brand new INCA officers are president, John Bennett; vice president, Frank Powers and secretary-treasurer, Don Hillyard.

Kappa Pi

Recently initiated into the national art fraternity were Ron Alley, Roger Garrett, Elizabeth Inkenbrandt, Eldon Katter, Mary Jane Nedel and Clotilda Scheele. The ceremonies took place in the Club Room of the Union building May 8, at 2 p.m.

Featured in the new issue of "Sketch Book," the fraternity's magazine, was a four-page spread of the College campus, charter members and an article on the recent exhibit by Nanene Engle.

Beta Sigma Omicron - Chi Omega

To soften the hard, realistic world for a few hours, the Chi O's and Beta Sigs will spread an aura of "Blue Mist" for their annual spring formal this Saturday night. The combined efforts of the sororities will result in a haven of blue and silver with silver stars dangling from the Great Hall's imitation sky-ceiling.

"Come in world" could well be the password for all comers to this mystic supernatural scene, with dreamy music floating in from outer space, compliments of Charlie Kroener and his band.

Intermission will be interspersed with refreshments and songs and topped off by the presentation of copper mugs to the lucky lads that are "livin'" in this operation dreamworld.

Planning the affair are Dell Patterson, Phyllis Campbell, Bobbie Cox and Carolyn Lockwood.

Chi Omega

Chi O actives and pledges were guests of Miss Lucile Jones at a buffet supper and porch party Wednesday evening.

Assisting Miss Jones were Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, and Mrs. Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department. Miss Jones, head of the education department, and Mrs. Shepard are faculty sponsors.

Meet Cancelled

The AFROTC drill meet which was scheduled for last Saturday at DePauw, was called off because of rain. The Evansville College drill team was to have competed in the meet.

Werking Adds Lab, Changes Textbook

Two new texts will be added to the German 122 curriculum starting in the Fall quarter, according to Dr. F. Woody Werking, head of the modern language department.

A German biography of Albert Einstein and a text telling the story of the rebellion of German students and professors against Hitler and the Gestapo in 1922 causing the death of 15 students are being added in an effort to keep the curriculum up to date. The account of the rebellion, called "Die Wiebe Rosa" (The White Rose), was written by Inge Scholl, the sister of two of the students, Hans and Sophie Scholl.

The German course will offer another innovation in the form of a laboratory. Students enrolling in German 122 will earn three credit hours, but will attend two hours of class work and two hours of laboratory. During the lab period the students will be given an opportunity to listen to recordings in German and also to make records of their work in the field.

Three EC Students Discuss Homeland for Women's Club

Three EC students, Nancy Lai, Masahiko Morita and Hiroshi Kise, took part in the program, "Notes from the Orient," Tuesday evening for the Women's Rotary Club annual scholarship fund benefit card party.

Miss Lai presented a violin solo, accompanied by Carol Schoolfield, and Mr. Morita and Mr. Kise gave "Illustrated Notes from Okinawa."

Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, introduced the performers.

Beta Sigma Omicron

The Beta Sig alums sponsored a tea in honor of June Wallace, outstanding Beta of the year, May 15, in the lounge of the Union building. All actives and their mothers were invited to attend.

WAA

Officers for the coming year were elected Monday morning for the Women's Athletic Association. President is Lois Ryon; secretary, Jane Dreher; treasurer, Nancy Chreste.

The girls have planned a potluck picnic at Audubon park to chose their 1954-55 sports season. Nancy Chreste is general chairman.

McCoy Announces Dates, Data, Plans For Summer Term

Summer Session classwork will begin June 8 and continue for eight and one-half weeks, and an Intersession of three weeks will begin August 8, according to a bulletin released by G. R. McCoy, registrar.

Students may complete a full quarter of college study during the summer by carrying a full load during both the Summer Session and Intersession. Thirteen hours of summer work may be compared to 17 credit hours during the regular quarter. Students may receive permission to carry 14 or 15 hours, however, if they have earned average or above grades during the preceding quarter.

A variety of courses taught by members of the regular faculty in most departments of the college are offered each summer. There will be a number of college classes offered by Evening College during the Summer Session, also.

In addition to the regular academic courses, several educational tours are available to students during the summer. An Arts and Crafts tour into Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina earns three hours credit, a seminar trip to study the patterns of urban culture in eastern Canada and New England is worth five quarter hours' credit in sociology and a tour through several European countries earns eight hours credit in sociology.

ACE

The Association of Childhood Education elected new officers last Tuesday during a regular meeting. Dale Sauer will act as president; Dorothy Baggett, vice president; Don Kinney, secretary-treasurer and Leslie Childs, publicity chairman.

In CP Production

Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union, will play the role of Emilie Ducotel in the Community Players production of "My Three Angels."

Their last play of the season, the Broadway hit will be given May 23 and 24 at Bosse high school.

Dorothy Marie Brannon is being presented a National Office Management association scholarship by Mr. Lynn Waller, representative of the Education committee for the organization. Looking on are Miss Agnes Tompkins, head of the secretarial science department, on the left, and Janis Pattie Montgomery, another recipient of the award. Twenty-six students from high schools and colleges in the TriState area were presented these awards last night at a recognition dinner at Kokies. The award is based on scholarship, attitude, character and service.

Panhellenic To Give Skit at June Party

Sue Chenoweth, Karen Spong, Sandra Egli and Carol Schellhase were appointed at the last meeting of Panhellenic to write and produce a skit for the "Go To College Party" which City Panhellenic will sponsor.

The party is being planned to entertain high school seniors. It will be held Saturday, June 11, at the Community Center. Also at the meeting, dates for formal and informal rush and the annual Pledge dance were set.

Plans for a Panhellenic workshop, to be conducted the last of October, were initiated. The meetings will be held at Evansville College and will be in conjunction with organizations from Franklin, Hanover and Indiana State colleges.

Theme of the workshop will be "Rushing Techniques and Rush Ethics."

EC Students Initiated Into National Fraternity

Royce Gipson and Jack Miller were at Indiana university last Sunday to be initiated into the Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma. The organization is a national professional chemical fraternity.

Dr. Norman Long, head of the chemistry department, and Profs. Roy Halveren and Andrew Sherockman also attended the initiation. They are members of the fraternity.

Dr. Long is district counselor for the society, a duty which requires his visiting and counseling chapters in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio.

Mesker Program Includes Bands, Musicals, Soloists

Sammy Kaye, his orchestra and supporting acts, will open the summer season at Mesker Memorial Amphitheater June 7 and 8 for a varied and entertaining program to add "spice to your life," according to program plans released this week.

Two popular dance bands, two musical productions, two "spectaculars" and two semi-classical programs with the Evansville Philharmonic orchestra will be included in the 1955 series.

Dramatic soprano Eileen Farrell and pianist Mario Braggiotti will solo with the Philharmonic June 25-26; Lily Pons will be here July 19 and Indiana University School of Music will present "Oklahoma" July 16 and 17 and "Wonderful Town" August 6 and 7.

The second popular dance band to appear will be that of Les Brown playing in the outdoor theater July 7.

Presentations previously announced include Sam Snyder's Water Follies of 1955, which will be here July 24-26; and "Holiday on Ice," closing the program with a five-day run August 21 through 25.

Miss Farrell, rated as "one of the greatest dramatic sopranos of our time," has appeared as soloist with the NBC Symphony, under the baton as Arturo Toscanini.

Mr. Braggiotti, noted for his musical caricatures and improvisations, plays everything from Beethoven to DeBussy to little-known composers, often arranged in his own manner.

The semi-classical soloist, Miss Pons, often billed as "the world's greatest coloratura soprano," divided last season between operas in this country and abroad. A recent international poll showed that she is one of the 10 best-known women of the world.

Well-known for a different reason, Les Brown and his band are popular wherever people dance and listen to records. Voted the No. 1 dance band by numerous magazines, the aggregation has played for radio, college dances, service camps and local ballrooms, as well as making records.

The two I.U. musicals will be handled by a cast of approximately 100, including the symphony orchestra, singers and dancers. Marvin Phillips is stage director, and Wolfgang Vocano and Ernst Hoffman have charge of musical preparation and conducting.

Season tickets for the six shows will be offered to last year's season ticket holders first. They will have until May 23 to get the same seats. After that tickets will be sold on first come, first served basis.

Prices are $17 for boxes and loges, $14 for lower reserved and 10 for upper reserved.

Persons who didn't have season tickets in 1954 but want them this year can call 3-4131. Out-of-towners can write to Box 55, Evansville, to reserve seats.

WAC Offers Free First-Hand Look For Junior Girls

Attention junior girls! A six-weeks vacation with pay and no strings attached can be yours.

Who's paying for it? The United States Army is picking up the check so that female college juniors can get acquainted with the WACs. To give these students an opportunity to determine "first hand" whether they want to become WAC officers, arrangements have been completed for them to attend a six-weeks Officer-Training Course at the new WAC Center at Fort McClellan, Ala., beginning July 1.

The college junior is under no obligation, but she may decide during her senior year if she wants to become a WAC officer. The Army, however, reserves the right to determine whether a student should apply or not.

YOU GET A GOOD CLOSE-UP of college smokers' preference for Luckies in the Droodle at right, captioned: Lucky Strike column in a college cigarette-vending machine. On campuses all over America, college students automatically get Luckies. Why? Simply because Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. Next time it's light-up time, why don't you pull for Luckies?

BAK - Engineers Open, Close Season In One Softball Game at Annual Picnic

Varying reports of the BAK-Engineers softball game have been circulating on campus; no two agree. When pinned down, Jim Holt and Roscoe Bivin gave forth with the following reports, "completely authentic and absolutely unbiased."

Bak Suffers First Loss

The BAK pencil lifters ushered in the softball season against the Engineers; then hurriedly ushered it out again.

Before the game started, the ground rules were explained to the BAK players; what the bat was for, which way to run and other little details peculiar to the game.

The first inning was normal enough; BAK struck out and the Engineers scored several runs. This situation kept repeating itself as the game wore on, despite the efforts of the Engineers to hold down the score. About midway in the game Manager Rumford of the Engineers was heard to say, "This is awful; I feel like a criminal."

But he needn't have, for although it was readily apparent even to staunch BAK supporters that these mighty paper-weights were doomed to defeat, they could still be heard during the lulls in the slight breeze that was blowing, squeaking encouragement to one another. They are to be admired.

In fact, the Engineers were so overwhelmed with admiration for those indomitable souls that upon termination of the game, they presented BAK with a fur-lined receptacle in appreciation of their valiant, if unproductive, efforts.

A Hard Fight, But

Who could win but the slide happy slip-stickers, when the umpire, Don Hempfling, was the brother of Jerry Hempfling, the Engineers' pitcher?

Don, the "ump" stayed on the ball for the first three innings, calling in a very unbiased manner. At this point in the game, the BAK sluggers were leading, 5-2. Time was growing short; death was near for the slip-stickers, and they knew it. So the pitcher and the ump got together. The wildest pitches on record anywhere were matched in the next few pitches.

The Engineers unharnessed wild pitches that sent everyone at the picnic chasing the ball. Yet, the umpire called out distinctly, strike one; strike two; strike three!

The BAK sluggers didn't have a chance to hit the ball; it just wasn't within reach. This was so disheartening, the BAK's gave up; what they did made no difference; the umpire already had his mind made up . . . Final score, 12-6.

Two Golf Matches On Ace's Schedule To Close Season

With no matches scheduled for this week, the Purple Ace golfers will round out the season with two home matches, next Tuesday and Friday. The opening game of the week will be against University of Louisville, who took EC, 11-7, in an earlier game this year.

Friday the linkmen will face Indiana State Teachers college, whom they met in a four-team match, when Indiana State came out on top.

At the Indiana Collegiate conference meet last Friday, Beck's boys came out about in the middle, with Butler beating second-place Indiana State by 10 strokes.

Charles Butler of Butler and Robert Arnett of Indiana State tied for the individual medal with 36-hole scores of 156. Phil Hoag of DePauw, and Robert Clark and Merle Effing of St. Joseph's were next at 158.

Team scores: Butler 645; Indiana State, 655; Ball State, 662; Evansville, 663; St. Joseph's, 664; Valparaiso, 668, and DePauw, 670.

Cox Scores Two, EC's Only Points In Track Meet

Harold Cox placed third in the high jump at the Indiana Collegiate Conference track meet at Butler university in Indianapolis to score Evansville's only points. A six-man squad from EC participated in the annual event last Saturday, the first time since 1950 that the Purple Aces have been represented in a track meet.

Charlie Stearns, Frank Healy, Walt Tucker, Ken Lutterbach, Doug Barthlow and Cox made up Coach Forest Page's entry. All six men had worked out on their own time for the past month.

Ball State, favored from the start to take its fourth straight team crown, shattered five ICC records to score a decisive victory. Four other marks fell as Ball State piled up 78 points to 54½ for DePauw, its nearest competitor.

Finishing behind the top two, in order, were Valparaiso, 38 points; Butler, 32; St. Joseph, 4; Indiana State, 3½, and Evansville, 2.

Stearns, a high school trackman, ran the quarter; Healy, a standout guard in basketball, was in the half mile run. Lutterbach, a fullback during the fall, ran the 100-yard dash, entered the shot put, along with Tucker, and tried the broad jump. Barthlow ran the 880 and the broad jump. Lutterbach, Barthlow, Stearns and Cox all tried for honors in the mile relay.

St. Joe To Honor Walker, Ace's Basketball Player

Bob Walker, junior and guard on the Purple Aces basketball team, will receive the St. Joseph's Student Union trophy given annually to the Most Valuable Indiana Collegiate Conference basketball opponent to perform at Collegeville.

Walker, receiving the award for the 1954-55 season, led the Evansville team to a 105-91 victory over the Pumas last December 14 by scoring 28 points.

Game Cancelled

Kentucky Wesleyan has cancelled its baseball game scheduled for May 24 due to a conflict with the players final exam schedule, according to Rolland Eckels, business manager of athletics. The game will not be rescheduled.

The DePauw game, called off last Saturday because of the poor condition of the field following heavy rains, will not be rescheduled either, he said.

DON COCKELL, the so-called "Battersea Blimp" from England, gave heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano quite a fight last Monday night and proved to a great many sports writers that he was a little underrated by the American Press. Although he could last for only nine rounds against the battering champion, he was a lot better than the three-round-knockout that was anticipated for him. After taking everything but the ring post in the eighth round, the British Empire champion just ran out of gas in the early part of the ninth round, and a quick succession of punches had him too dazed to continue.

It was the 48th straight victory for the "Brockton Blockbuster" and his fifth successful defense of the title he won from Jersey Joe Walcott in 1952. The Rock has now won 42 of his 48 fights by a knockout, to be the first heavyweight champion with a perfect record in his professional career.

THE ICC TENNIS TOURNAMENT, which was held over the weekend at DePauw, turned out to be quite an affair. After the matches had to be moved indoors due to a downpour of rain, the pace of the tourney slowed down considerably. DePauw has only one indoor court, and some of the players were taken to Butler where they have two indoor courts. The original plan of the tourney was to get the singles into the final round and play all of the doubles on Saturday. The tourney officials were determined to carry out the plan; one singles match was still going on at 2:30 a.m. Saturday morning. Play was scheduled to resume at nine o'clock Saturday morning and where the rain left off the wind took over, but the tourney was finally run off, and Evansville finished in fifth place, three points out of the third position.

PHOG ALLEN seems to have again come up with a giant to play basketball for his Kansas University squad in the person of "Wilt the Stilt" Chamberlain, a 7-foot, 2-inch center from Overbrook high school in Philadelphia, who broke almost every record around in scoring 2,252 points during his four-year career. Allen had previously coached Clyde Lovelette at Kansas.

Aces, State Tie for Second In ICC League

The Purple Aces baseball team was tied with Indiana State for second place in the Indiana Collegiate Conference, both with a 2-2 record, when standings were released this week. Topping the list was Valparaiso with a 3-1 record.

Next in order were Butler, 1-1; DePauw, 2-3; St. Joseph's, 2-3, and Ball State, 3-4.

Evansville and DePauw face a busy weekend before they call it quits. The two teams meet at Greencastle today; then both teams continue their action tomorrow. The Aces will travel to Indianapolis for a double-header with Butler, and DePauw will visit Ball State for the last conference games for both schools.

The schedule for the rest of the season follows:

May
20—Evansville at DePauw.
21—Evansville at Butler.
21—DePauw at Ball State.
22—St. Joseph's at Lockport, Ill.
23—Indiana State at Ball State.
24—Butler at Ball State.
24—Indiana State at Charleston, Ill.
28—Butler at Indiana State (2).

Sorority Dinner Honoring Seniors Girls Scheduled for May 25 in Great Hall

The annual all sorority dinner will be held on Wednesday, May 25 at 6:00 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Union to honor the seniors in each sorority.

Special guests at the meeting include Mrs. Richard Becker, president of the City Panhellenic Association and speaker for the program; Miss Doris Kirk, Union director; Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Student Union; Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, and the faculty advisors from the various sororities. Mrs. Becker will deliver the after-dinner talk on relations between sororities within the college.

Carolyn Lockwood will act as toastmistress for the program which will include sorority songs and the senior prophecy and wills. Bobbie Cox will read the Beta Sigma Omicron will and prophecy; Carol White, Alpha Omicron Pi; Myra Kasey, Chi Omega and Reba Hardison, Phi Mu.

Myra Kasey served as general chairman to plan the event. Assisting her were members of Beta Sig, Mary McCreary and Jo Frohbeiter, planning the program. AOPi's Lois Ryon and Jackie King planned and executed the decorations. Menu planning was the duty of Chi O's Dodie Martin and Margie Hassee and the favors were made by Phi Mu's Sandra Egli and Joan McGraw.

Song leaders for the program include Peg Atkinson, Beta Sig; Mary Ann Simrell, AOPi; Carol Schellhase, Chi O and Ruth Smith, Phi Mu.

Students Go All-Out For BAK-Engineers All-Campus Picnic

BAK and Engineering Club members scanned the skies anxiously last week and prayed the rains would end in time for their picnic last Sunday. The heavens cooperated, the faucets were turned off and the picnic came off as planned.

BAK president Glenn Norrick said that a call to the weatherman Saturday afternoon was the clincher in deciding to hold the outing on schedule. The weatherman predicted sunshine for Sunday, and, as it turned out, he was partly right. It was a half fair, half foul day.

Around 150 persons braved the slight chill to attend the picnic which was held at Pfafflin's Lake in Newburgh. A few courageous souls took a swim in the lake, but the majority of the revelers confined themselves to fishing, boating or viewing the two baseball games.

The Engineering Club was victorious in the hotly-contested BAK-Engineering Club game, 12-6. The losers were awarded a booby prize which they will hold until next year when the losers will take it over.

The trophy, which is an article of equipment used in infant training, was presented to BAK member Ralph Deffendahl by Engineering Club president Jack Posey.

BAK members claim that the reason their team lost the game was nepotism — the umpire was the Engineering Club's pitcher's brother.

Food was served in the evening. The supper included barbecue, potato salad, baked beans and all the usual picnic goodies. There was enough to go around, with seconds and thirds for some of the picnickers.

Dr. Hyde was one of those taking advantage of the surplus. Faculty on hand included Professors Susat, Hartsaw, Anderson and Robinson.

Plans are already being formed for next year's picnic which BAK and the Engineering Club will again sponsor jointly.

Sig Eps To Host Frats, Sororities At Party Tonight

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity will be host to a party for all sororities and fraternities on campus tonight at Brenner's Party House at 8:00.

Bill Spradley, chairman of the Sig Ep social committee, served as general chairman in planning the informal affair. He was assisted by Jim Casper, Tedd Keller and Don Dieckhoff.

Entertainment will be provided by Carol Schoolfield who will play selections on the piano; Carolyn Kohl and Hal Burckhartt performing a musical comedy number; Mary Giovanetti pantomiming and Gary Harmon giving impersonations. Jim Barney, Lloyd Schmitz, Ronnie Cornell and Ed Campbell served on the entertainment committee.

Food was planned by Bill Miller, Bob O'Connor, Mike Harris, Carl Powers and Maury Rohleder and decorations were the responsibility of Bob Ubelhor, Rich Egerton, George Hagan and Courtney Erwin.

AAUW Chairman

Miss Wahnita DeLong will serve as co-chairman of the Creative Poetry section of the AAUW for the 1955-56 program.

Final Exam

The final exam for Sociology 103 will be given next Tuesday, May 24, at 10 a.m. in the Auditorium.

Alumni Plans Annual Reunion June 3, Picnic, Program Listed

The fourteenth annual alumni picnic will be held on Friday, June 3, according to Clifford Kraft, alumni director.

Registration will begin at 4 p.m. with the class reunions following at 4:30. Dr. Melvin W. Hyde will be present at the informal gatherings for his first introduction to the alums.

A picnic supper served in Headen Retreat is scheduled for 6 p.m. In case of bad weather the dinner will be held in the Union.

The program following the dinner has been planned by the Alumni Social committee headed by Mrs. Charles Nenneker, chairman. Carl Bosecker will serve as master of ceremonies for the short program at which time Dr. Hyde will speak. Mrs. George Blood will present the customary recognition program for members of the classes having reunions. Carolyn Kohl, a freshman drama major, will entertain the gathering with a comedy skit.

Miss Ida Stieler will arrange for sitters to care for children of the alums during the various activities. Invitations for the annual affair were mailed on May 11 followed by personal telephone invitations by each class chairman.

The Alumni Fund drive, headed by Gus Doerner, chairman of the Finance committee, reported a total of $4850 donated toward the Alumni Scholarship. The committee anticipates a total of $7000 by the June 30 deadline. Solicitation has been by direct mail only. Last year the drive netted $5002 during the entire campaign.

Sig Eps Clear $100

Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity reported a net profit of $102 on the card party and style show held in St. Benedict's cafeteria last Monday night.

Jim Barney, president, stated that the money will be applied to the house fund. The fraternity's alumni association is helping the students to obtain a house which they expect to have to begin the 1955-56 school year.

19 AFROTC Seniors To Get Commissions

Nineteen AFROTC seniors will be commissioned second lieutenants, United States Air Force Reserve, Lt. Col. James A. Brantner, professor of air science, announced this week.

Nine of this group receiving gold bars are scheduled for pilot training, five for observer training and five for administrative service assignments.

New lieutenants to receive pilot training are Charles M. Calhoun, Jr., Jack L. Combs, Van A. DePriest, George E. Dockery, Thomas D. Scott, Ronald G. Statz, John F. Taylor, Jarrell R. Wallace and Kenneth J. Will.

Scheduled for observer training are Roderick W. Clutter, Wendell R. Long, William A. Puckett, Richard J. Wirth and William H. Yokel.

William A. Agnew, Dodson J. Campbell, Gayle D. Heekel, Grant W. Hollis, Jr., and John M. Massey, Jr., will receive administrative service assignments.

Commissions will be awarded at commencement exereises on June 6. New officers will be called to extended active duty in the near future.

Matthews Wins Danforth Grant for Summer Camp

Larry A. Matthews has been awarded a Danforth Scholarship at the American Youth Foundation Leadership Training Camp, according to Prof. Claude Slusher, head of the scholarship committee.

The grant entitles Matthews to two weeks at camp on Lake Michigan this summer. The Danforth Foundation sponsors two such camps, one for boys and one for girls, and each year it chooses 300 college freshmen of each sex who have demonstrated outstanding leadership and ability for the training.

Evansville Collge has had the honor of having an application for the Scholarship approved for the past six years. Mr. Slusher said the policy of the College has been to alternate applications, thereby sending a girl one year and a boy the next.

Hyde's Inauguration Set For November

The inauguration of Dr. Melvin W. Hyde as president of Evansville College has been set for November 21 and 22.

Dr. D. W. Dunham, chairman of the college faculty committee in charge of planning the event, announced the date for the inaugural this week. The executive committee of the college board of trustees is working with the faculty committee.

Major inauguration activities, including "full dress" academic ceremonies will be held Tuesday, November 22. Evening events will precede the ceremonies on Monday the 21st.

Members of the faculty inauguration committee are Dr. Dunham, chairman; Mr. Ralph Coleman, vice chairman; Miss Mildred Boeke, hospitality and entertainment; Mr. Marvin Hartig, corresponding secretary; Miss Lucile Jones, receptions and banquets;

Also Dr. Virgil Logan, academic processions; Mr. Dean Long, program; Dr. Edgar McKown, invitations; Mr. Wesley Shepard, music; and Maj. Robert Taylor, registration.

Cap And Gown Pickup

Mrs. Emma Schreiber, head of the bookstore, reports that seniors may pick up caps and gowns from Thursday, June 2, until 11:30 a.m. Saturday, the 3rd.

Mrs. Schreiber said that graduates need not come in person to obtain the apparel; they may send someone to do it for them.

College Will Award Honorary Degree To Former Trustee

Mr. Richard McGinnis, former local attorney who served as president of the Board of Trustees of the College from 1939 to Mareh of this year, will be awarded an honorary degree, Doctor of Laws, from Evansville College at the 1955 Commencement exercises, June 7.

Mr. McGinnis, who resigned from the board in January when he announced his plans to move to Laurel, Miss., had served on the board since 1930. He was appointed to the post by the Indiana Conference.

Born in Evansville, he was educated at Central high school, DePauw university and Harvard Law School. He practiced law here both before and after serving in the United States Navy during World War II. He was discharged in 1945 with the rank of Commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Honored at the annual faculty-trustee dinner March 14, Mr. McGinnis was presented with a watch by the members of the board for his many years of service to the College. He married Lucy Babcock Walker; they have two children.

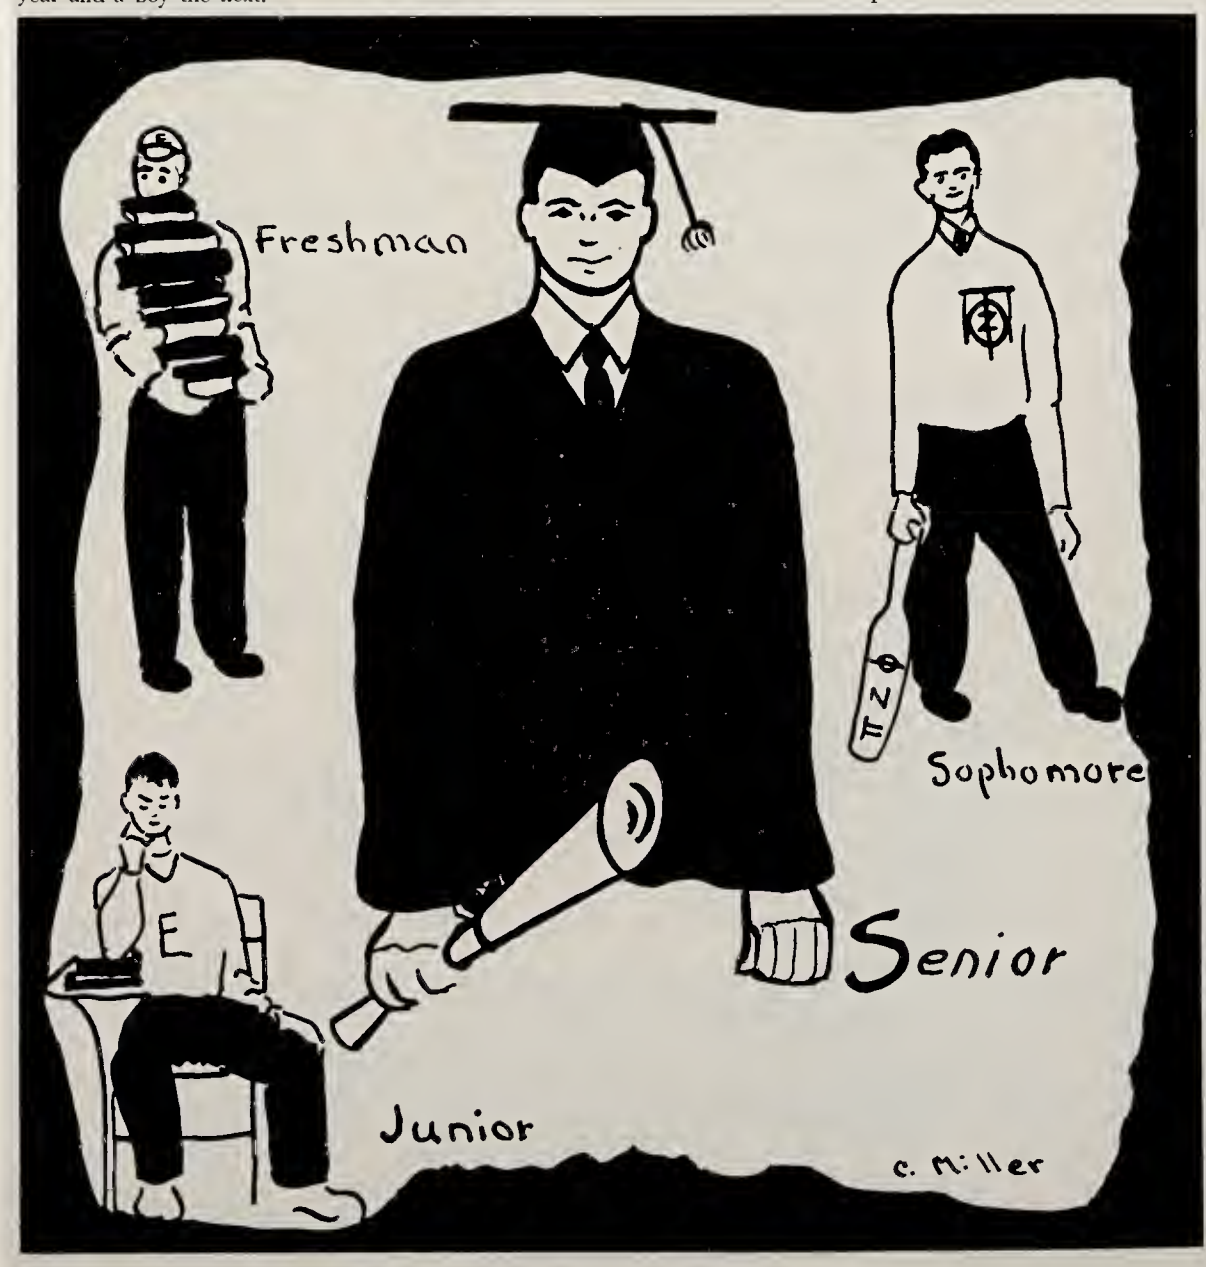
Faculty Has Picnic Today At Audubon

Faculty members and their families will get together in Audubon Park this afternoon for a picnie. The whole thing is informal, according to Dr. Charles W. Robertson, chairman of the affair.

The group will gather about 4 p.m., at the north shelter house, with supper planned for 6 o'clock. No recreational program has been planned, but facilities for informal games will be available, the chairman said.

A short business meeting with election of officers will precede the meal.

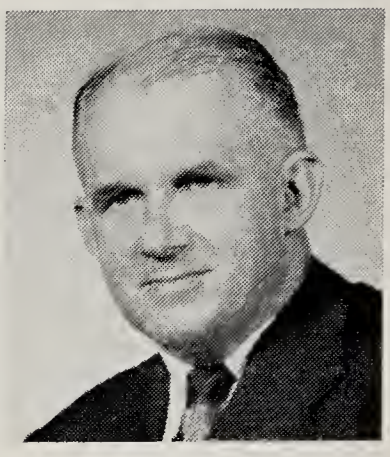
Assisting him on the committee are Miss Virginia Weigel and Miss Agnes Tompkins.



Zero Hour For Seniors Looms, Graduation Set

Seniors crammed for final finals this week, hoping their wits wouldn't fail them at the zero hour and keep their names from the roster of 1955 Evansville College graduates. Results won't be announced until next week after faculty members vote on candidates for degrees.

Mrs. Wright



Bishop Ensley

On Thursday, June 2, at 2 p.m., potential graduates will rehearse for the real thing in the Great Hall. Tickets for commencement will be distributed at the rehearsal, the only time they will be given out. Seniors may have as many tickets in the reserved section as they wish, if inclement weather does not spoil plans for holding the ceremony on the lawn.

Five Plays Planned For 1955-56 Season Of College Theater

In its continued efforts to present the best possible dramatics to college students, the College theater has selected three plays for next year and two possible substitutions.

The fall season will open with the traditional comedy, this year's choice being Moss Hart's "Three Men on a Horse," the amusing tale of a greeting card poet and his abilities to pick winners, just as a hobby, according to Mr. Robert D. Heater, assistant professor of speech and drama.

Next on the agenda, consistent with the policy of giving a foreign play, will be Shaw's "Pygmalion." As a substitute, in case of a shortage of operating funds, the 18th century social comedy by Richard B. Sheridan, "School for Scandal," has been selected.

To complete the season's bill, the committee chose "The Corn Is Green," by the Welsh playwright, Emlyn Williams. The last play is a strong drama and has never before been given in this area. It's a difficult production and will either make or break the theater, Mr. Heater said. All the selections have extremely large casts, each calling for 12 or more actors.

To replace the old stand-by, "Eager Heart," the committee has written for the rights to "Caine Mutiny Court Martial," an adaptation of the novel by Herman Woulk. However, the program is being planned with 'Eager Heart' in mind. "It's served its purpose," said Robert Heater, director of the College theater. "We've got to look forward, not backward, but in case we don't have the money for 'Mutiny,' or if anything goes wrong, we'll have something to fall back on."

DeLong Wins Awards

Miss Wahnita DeLong, head of the English department, was awarded two first prizes by the Women's Press Club last week in their annual recognition for work done in the field of poetry, articles and the short story.

In the poetry section, Miss DeLong was named to top place for her work, "A Note to One Dead." She also won first award in the short story contest for "A Yard of Green Veiling."

Awards were announced at a dinner at the Homestead.

Graduation Services

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, June 5, at 7 p.m. in the Methodist Temple. Speaker for the evening will be Bishop Francis Gerald Ensley of the Des Moines, Iowa, area of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright, Midwest Director of the Institute of International Education, will deliver the address at the commencement program at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, June 6. Graduation exercises will be held on the front campus.

Bishop Ensley was ordained to the ministry of the Methodist church in 1932 and has been resident bishop of the Des Moines area since 1952. He has a Ph.D. from Boston university and a D.D. from Ohio Wesleyan.

Since his ordination he has served in churches in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Ohio.

Subject of Bishop Ensley's baccalaureate sermon will be "On Living in a Time of Danger."

Mrs. Wright will use as her topic, "Open Doors — Open Minds."

The prominent educator was a representative of the U.S. Government in UNESCO conferences in Paris, Mexico City and Beirut. She served as U.S. Delegate to the World Health Assembly in Rome in 1949.

Mrs. Wright has bachelor and master degrees from the University of Minnesota and honorary degrees from Valparaiso and Hamline universities.

Other Activities

On Sunday, June 5, at 3 p.m. nurses of the Baptist Hospital-Evansville College School of Nursing will be capped in the Auditorium.

Also as part of the commencement week activities will be the annual Alumni Day which will take place next Friday, June 3. Included on the program are class reunions, a picnic and a reeeption.

Prof. V. C. Bailey is chairman of the committee in charge of commencement arrangements. Others on the committee are Dr. Leland Moon, Prof. Claude Slusher, Prof. Ralph Waterman, Maj. Robert Taylor and Prof. Guy Marchant.

Named To Committee

Dr. F. Woody Werking, head of the modern language department, and Marvin W. Hartig, director of the Evening College, are members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the American Symphony Orchestra League's 10th annual convention to be held at the McCurdy June 16-18.

President's Letter

Dear Evansville College Students:

It has been a very real privilege for me to have been associated with you at Evansville College during the present quarter. You have made me feel welcome and you have demonstrated often through your many activities the qualities of leadership that I early sensed in our student group.

I am proud of the part that the student body has taken in the library campaign. I am glad to report that the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees has already authorized the architectural firm of McGuire and Shook of Indianapolis to proceed with working drawings for the library. It is our hope that bids for building may be let in the late summer or early fall and that construction will then start at once.

To the seniors, we wish you much success in your new program of activity. You are a member of the growing Evansville College family and we hope that we may always keep in touch with you as you assume your responsibilities in the life of this great country of ours.

To the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, we are looking forward with enthusiasm to the privilege of working with you during the rest of your college training. Your degree from Evansville College is one in which you have every right of being very proud.

The door to my office is open to you whenever you wish to come. I covet your counsel.

When you visit with high school seniors who are planning to come to Evansville College or when you talk with those who are undetermined about college, I hope you will be a good salesman for your Alma Mater.

MELVIN W. HYDE
President

Adios, Seniors; Cheers, Profs!

Adios, Seniors! To you graduates who took this education business seriously, good luck and well done. As for the rest of you, the playboys of the campus, congratulations are extended to the professors for putting up with you for four years. It's about time someone tossed a bouquet to the faculty who have had the next to impossible job of getting blood from turnips. Sometimes it just isn't there.

If you're gnashing your teeth and saying to yourself, "What have the Profs to complain about?" come with me to review, not the highlights, but the low moments of the 1954-55 term.

I remember a certain nine o'clock class in which a scuffle occurred every morning without fail. Several of the fellows — they were the mature, collegiate type — pushed, poked and giggled at each other like cub scouts at a den meeting. Old "Vitamin" was in that class, too. He rushed in with great enthusiasm each day, plopped into his seat and immediately gave himself up to the arms of Morpheus, thus disrupting the rest of the class who were too preoccuiped speculating on the moment when "Vitey" would fall out of his chair and break his neck to concentrate on what the instructor was saying.

I remember the time a student raised his hand during a lecture, looked at the professor in the manner of a subnormal cow and asked him how to spell "sultan." And there was the fellow who voiced his opposition to taking composition courses with, "I ain't got no use fer English, I'm gonna be a coach." That's English?

I recall incidents of unspeakable rudeness and insolence toward instructors. Seven-year-olds would be thoroughly spanked for pulling some of the pranks that supposedly grown-up college students get away with. Just a few weeks ago a bunch of sulky, spoiled brats got the idea that they could disrupt a whole department by dropping certain classes. The plan backfired, of course, but a lot of antagonism was created because college students couldn't act their age.

There's one in every class — I mean the smart alecks who make the professor's life miserable by taking the "what-do-you-know-about-it,-I-read-it-in-Reader's-Digest" attitude. How many gum poppers and candy paper rattlers have passed through the portals of Evansville College this year? What about the jokers who shoot out of the door the minute the bell rings leaving the professor with a sentence dangling in mid-air? Finally there are those guys who don't pay any attention at all in class; they regard college as a poor man's country club where the chief goal is the pursuit of pleasure.

So you think a professor's life is a bed of roses? Oh well, cheer up, Profs. Your revenge will come. Think of the awful smacking down some of those egotistical punks are going to get when they run into life full force. Betcha they'll wish they hadn't taken things so easy in college.

So long, Seniors. I'd wager you're wishing you were going to my funeral instead of a commencement exercise.

As I See It

by Lemoine "Lee" Barr

For my swan song I think I'll do a piece about one of the things that made Indiana known. Comes next Monday and over 200,000 people will be flocking into the Indianapolis Speedway. They will have come from every state in the Union, from many countries in the world.

One of the greatest of racing men, Wilbur Shaw, will not be there. Wilbur was one of the few three-time winners. After he retired from active racing he became president of the Giant Oval. When the words, "Gentlemen, start your engines," are heard at 9:55 CDT, there will be lumps in many throats. It was his honor to order the motors started to prepare for the takeoff. It was his honor to ride in the pace car.

There will be other great names in the racing role recalled. Manny Ayulo, who died a day after his car hit the retaining wall in a practice session last week, will be missed. The men in the pits will remember other drivers, other pit men, who were there in past years .

Bill Vukovich will be trying to establish a new record of three consecutive wins. He will be fighting the jinx that has kept anyone from ever doing this feat.

To finish off this column I am going to revise somewhat the last column I did last year.

Memorial Day 1955, Monday, May 30 . . . Indianapolis . . . a crowd upwards of 200,000 . . . meals cooked in a camp-like manner . . . odd arrangements of scaffolding in the infield . . . the elaborate tree house with its excellent seeability on the Northwest turn.

Central Standard Time . . . 8:30 a parade by some university and the State American Legion band . . . The Star Spangled Banner . . . Salute to ous soldier dead . . . "Back Home Again In Indiana" . . .

. . . Hustle and bustle in the pits . . . crews checking their supplies and making last minute adjustments, wiping imaginary dust and grease from their "Iron" . . . nervous tension . . . the Official Pace Car, a Chevvy convert, on the ramp in front of the Pagoda, going to the winner of the Classic . . . "No scaffolding higher than the top of your car" . . . builders still building . . . hundreds of balloons in the air . . . loud speakers outside advertising stock car races, midget races . . . planes circling the track, pulling advertising streamers . . . commercial airliners circling, showing their passengers the thronging mass . . . music . . . cameramen, officials, wreckers, ambulances on each of the four turns and on the straightaways . . . caution and warning lights being checked . . . the Lap board being cleared . . . the drivers in the pits, Hoyt, Bettenhausen, McGrath with his speedy 142.580 qualifying speed, Agabashian, Vukovich, Hanks, Faulkner, Linden, Niday, Daviesfi Bryan, Flaherty, Russo, Sweikert, Reece, Herman, Daywalt, Carter, O'Connor, Rathmann and others . . .

. . . 9:35, cars lining up for the start . . . taking of the Official Photograph of the lineup . . . eleven rows of three cars abreast . . . 9:45 Salute Bomb . . . '50 Salute Bomb . . . '55 Salute Bomb . . . "Gentlemen, start your cars" . . . the purr of the electric starters . . . the beautiful, rhythmical roar of thirty-three high compression engines . . . odors of the mysterious, secret, powerful fuel mixtures . . . memories . . . conscious or unconscious prayers in the minds of the drivers, their families, the spectators, the pit crews and those at home . . . the sweat on the hands of the drivers . . . the nerves twitching in their arms . . . shoulders aching from gripping the wheel . . . "56 Salute Bomb . . . '57 Salute Bomb . . . '58 Salute Bomb . . . '59 Salute Bomb . . . 10, THE START BOMB.

The Pace Car slowly pulling out . . . the drivers racing their motors, carbon collecting rapidly at slow speeds . . . half-way down the first big chute . . . the southwest turn . . . picking up speed . . . the eleven rows of three each moving as if one . . . the short south straightaway . . . entering the southeast turn . . . now into the long, 3300 feet long, backfield chute . . . picking up speed . . . the northeast turn . . . picking up speed . . . the short north straightaway . . . still picking up speed . . . the northwest turn . . . the main west chute . . . the Pace Car veering into the pits . . . the Green flag signalling the start of the famed Indianapolis 500 Mile Race .

The cars staying bunched the first few laps . . . the leader getting $150 for each lap he outpaces the others, 200 laps, $30,000 in lap money . . . the cars spreading out . . . the fast drivers lapping the slower ones . . . the "Oil Irons" dropping out, a thrown rod, burned out bearing . . . pit stops for tires, fuel, adjustments . . . a quick drink and a bite to eat for the driver and gone again . . . time elapsed for tires, fuel, lunch — 47 seconds . . . drivers asking for relief . . . the strain and heat taking victims . . . the leaders lapping the slow men by 3, 4, 10 laps . . . the Lap Board showing the positions . . . the announcing of old records broken, new ones established . . . the Yellow Flag, someone spinning out, the drivers driving with caution and holding their positions . . . the White Flag, someone entering his last and final lap . . . the Checkered Flag . . . THE WINNER.

God willing, there will be no deaths, no injuries in the 1955 Indianapolis 500 Mile Classic. With an extra hand on the wheel there will be no deaths on the highways leading out from Indianapolis as the spectators return to their homes.

So long, good luck, have fun.

The committee on course evaluation is meeting regularly and is doing a fine job on preparing a program for Evansville College. With Gil Bumb as chairman and Mr. Affolder as secretary, the committee has made real progress on getting the system ready. The committee hopes to have a program ready for approval by next fall or as soon thereafter as possible.

The scholastic honorary fraternity planning committee had hoped to have its work completed in time for commencement, but that does not appear possible now. The committee is studying the establishment of an all-campus scholastic honorary.

This is my final column as S.G.A. president, and I would like to say it has been an honor to work with all the students and faculty during this past year. All the students and faculty who have served on the federation committees or any special committee deserve a commendation from the student body. I am sure our new president, Tom Lukens, will receive as much, if not more, cooperation from the students and faculty as I have in the past year. Tom has already shown his interest in the college and his belief in student government, so I am sure we can look forward to next year as being bigger and better.

Phi Zeta

Under the watchful eye of general chairman, Charlie Oxley, the Phi Zeta fraternity are planning and executing their scheme to make this year's dinner dance the best yet.

The site of the fete is the Empire room of the Hotel Vendome, where the alums and actives will dine on roast beef, the fatted calf or so to speak, green beans, potatoes, combination salad, applie pie and tea or coffee. After the food comes the "fun," and Tom Lukens will take over as master of ceremonies. Mr. Vance Hartke will be guest speaker. Bob Harmon, this year's president, is scheduled to give a brief summary of the fraternity's activities for '54-55. Presentations of the Outstanding Senior award and the Robert Diekmann award to the outstanding alum will be made at that time.

Following the dinner, from 9-12, Glen Gregory and his band are to fill the hall with music and give the diners a chance to work off all the calories gained, by tripping the not-so-light fantastic.

Chaperoning the annual affair are Major and Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hartig and Dr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Hyde.

Spring Charity Dance

Ralph Flanagan will make a return trip for the Lady Lions of Evansville to play for their annual charity dance. The affair will be held in the Armory, June 1, from 8:30-12 p.m. Dress is optional.

Proceeds from the dance will go to the Evansville Association for Retarded Children. See Dr. Walker for tickets.

All-Sorority Dinner

An all-sorority dinner was held in the Union cafeteria Wednesday evening.

Girls from each sorority presented a medley of their songs to entertain the guests. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, was the honored guest.

Phi Mu

Phi Mu initiation will take place May 29 in the lounge of the Union building. One new member, Bonnie Schlegel, will be welcomed into the sorority.

Union Board

All old and new chairmen and vice-chairmen will be honored at the annual Union Board picnic, June 4 at Audubon Park. The fiesta will last from 10 in the morning until 3 o'clock that afternoon, with swimming and a ball game to furnish diversion. The menu is made up mostly of fried chicken, or so Kay Curtis, social director of the Union, said. Joanne Bailey, the new social chairman, is in charge, with able assistance from the new president of the Union Board, Bud Watkins.

INCA

Independently speaking there's a big event planned for June 7 and 8 — the INCA's are taking a trip to St. Louis. They'll leave early Tuesday morning and arrive at Hotel Lennox in time for funcheon. From there they plan to go to Shaw's Shakespearian Gardens, Highland and Forrest Parks, the Botanical Gardens, see a cineramie picture and take a cruise on the Admiral, an all-steel boat.

Kappa Chi

Installed May 20 were the new officers for Kappa Chi, the religious fraternity on campus. Tom Webb is president; Conrad Higdon, vice president; Mary Tevis, secretary; Clyde Wake, treasurer, and Hubert Crane, marshal.

English Proficiency Results Announced; 61 Juniors Pass

Sixty-one juniors have passed the English Proficiency requirement, as announced this week by Miss Wahnita DeLong, chairman of the Faculty Committee on English Proficiency.

Miss DeLong said that the committee has not been able to get papers with sufficient writing on them in a number of cases to properly judge the student's English ability. In other cases papers reached the committee too late to publish results this year. An additional list will be published in the fall.

Juniors who passed the requirements are: Dorothy Baggett, Marilyn Bartlett, Loretta Beldon, William Bengert, Gabriel Betit, Ronald Browning, Stanley Bump, Hal Burckhartt, Charles Chapman, Susan Chenoweth Esley Clanton, John Conaway, James Cox, Harry L. Craig, Hubert Crane, Charles Cullom.

John Deig, Thomas Ethridge, James Fulkerson, Royce Gipson, Jerry Grey, Howard Happe, Roy Happel, Reba Hardison, Bernard Hartman, Douglas Holleman, Jesse Hughes, Ott H. Hyatt, Jerry Jones, Arthur Kasey, Rodney Katz,

Gloria Keil, Donald Kinney, Carolyn Lockwood, Thomas Marshall, Jack Miller, Jim Moers, Wayne Mueller, Mary Jane Nendel, Neil Norrick, William Parish, Willis Pauley, Joseph Paulin, Peyton Peebles, John Pursley, George Ryan, Dale Sauer,

Tompkins Honored

Miss Agnes Tompkins, associate professor of secretarial science, was awarded a desk pen and pencil set with her name inscribed on it as recognition of her work with National Business Entrance Tests. The gift was given to her by members of NOMA.

The tests are a joint project of the National Office Managers Association and the National Business Education Association, and are given to establish proficiency standards in business skills.

McCutchanville Honors EC Graduate's Book

By Karen Spong

Carlyle says "in a certain sense, all men are historians," and an Evansville College graduate has certainly proved it by compiling a history of his home town. The graduate is Ken McCutchan and has book "From Then 'Til Now."

This book relates the history of McCutchanville, an exclusive suburb of Evansville. Though much of the early history of the village was lost, the author has combed through old newspapers, clippings and stories handed down from father to son to acquire enough material for this book.

Much of the story centers around the church and schoolhouse, but there is a brief summary of the town and wilderness beginning with the earliest settler, Charles McJohnstone, in 1819.

Amusing and colorful incidents of village history tend to relieve the genealogical byways that mgiht bore the average reader. There are also accounts of the origin of names of roads, some of which were Indian trails, an account of McCutchanville's part in the Civil War, the first fire truck, Benefit Club and the introduction of TV to the "Mac-ville" natives.

Mr. McCutchan graduated from Central high school, as well as Evansville College, and served in the 335th Engineer Regiment in World War II. He has been employed as an announcer, dise jockey and music director at WIKY for eight years. He lives in a house built by his grandfather in 1900, replacing the original house which burned. The property was purchased by his great-grandfather, William McCutchan in 1835.

His book is being distributed by the Youth Fellowship group of the McCutchanville Church, and an informal publie reception was planned to honor the author last Saturday evening.

English Department Plans 'Coffee Klatches' for Fall

The English department has devised a plan for a series of "coffee klatches" for faculty and students, starting with the fall quarter. They are to be the first Thursday of every month, making the opening official meeting of the group October 6 at 4 p.m. in the lounge.

Planning the programs are Dr. Virgil Logan, Mrs. Jane Olmsted and Dr. Daniel Boughner, all members of the English faculty.

Each program will include a brief talk by a member of the department on his particular topic of interest or field, with time for discussion and socializing.

The group hopes to interest majors in each department in serving as hosts and hostesses at the affairs.

Curtis Resigns Job As Social Director

Miss Kay Curtis, social director of the Union, has resigned her position effective September 1. She is considering a job as recreational director for the U.S. Army in Europe, but her plans are not definite yet.

"Kay" has been at Evensville College since September, 1953, when she joined the Union staff after having been graduated from college. She plans to visit her family in Mason, Mich., in July.

"I've certainly enjoyed working at Evansville College," she said, "and I'll miss all the people here after I've gone."

Big Sisters

Freshman girls are signing up to act as big sisters to the new "greenies" who come to Evansville College next fall. Shirley Orth passed out cards at last Tuesday's convocation, and a number of coeds have volunteered to show the ropes to the gals of the class of '59.

A meeting of big sisters will be held during the first week of school in September.

Summer School

Classes for summer school begin Thursday, June 9. Registration of new students will be held Wednesday, the 8th.

Boughner Completes Study on Jonson

Dr. Daniel Boughner, professor of English, has turned author for the second time with his latest work entitled "Ben Jonson and the Italian Renaissance."

Evansville College's professor-author spent last summer as a Fellow of the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C. doing research for his work. His research disproved three established facts about Jonson. First of all, that Jonson understood neither French nor Italian; that the origins of his comedies are wholly native and that the Roman plays are dramas composed of direct borrowings from the classics.

Dr. Boughner's research results were discussed in the American Philosophical Society's 1954 Year Book. It also gave a classification of the subjects handled in the book.

Italian humanism and Jonson's Roman plays open the book. For this section, Dr. Boughner got his supporting material from reading Jonson's Latin text. The second section deals with Machiavelli and Jonson.

The third section deals with Italian local color in Jonson's plays. The final section takes care of John Florio and Ben Jonson. Florio's list of material made up most of Dr. Boughner's investigations last summer.

The American Philosophical Society's 1954 Year Book brought out that Dr. Bougher's paper would challenge our present knowledge of Jonson and the Italian Renaissance.

"The Braggart in Renaissance Comedy," a book by Professor Boughner, was published last year.

Conrad Lee Higdon, pre-theology major, is a junior.

The students of Evansville College have a wonderful opportunity to advance in their educational maturity. However in observing the convocation series that has been carried out through this year, one wonders just why some people have come to college.

Each of these convocation serics has been brought to us that we might become a mature person. As we think of maturity, we should think not only of physical maturity, but maturity also in our social, mental, emotional, and educational life. As students of Evansville College we have a wonderful opportunity to succeed in this field.

Yet so many refuse to see and receive this opportunity. During a number of the convocation sessions many of the students are very disrespectful. During the talk by Mr. John Wong-Quincy many students were engaged in a running conversation. These "students" not only did not learn about Chinese Culture and the Chinese mind but those around them could not hear the speaker. This disrespect reflects not only on the person, but on the training one has had in one's early life and upon the college.

Pre, Re, Inter

I have noticed that the pupils in the convocation class are very disrespectful of Dr. Walker. Dr. Walker, a number of times, has had to fill in when an expected speaker has not arrived. From the actions of many of the young mean and women as Dr. Walker was speaking on Courtship and Marriage, I received the impression that they were not socially, emotionally, or mentally mature enough to engage in courtship and marriage.

We are all known as college students. Let's act like mature grown-up people. Let's be proud of our school, and may the school be proud of us.

Drowned out during the first week of its schedule, the Women's Athletic Association's annual tennis tourney is still trying to catch up with itself. Supposed to end this week, the tourney was so far behind schedule that the singles semi-finals were still in the future. Semi-finals for the doubles, however, were listed for Jane Dreher and Connie Miller, left above, and Joan Hamel and Sara Ann Rupp.

Aces Beat Butler, Ending Season with 6-8 Record

By Corky Thompson

Evansville College swept a double header from Butler university last Saturday to close out their short baseball season in fine fashion. The scores were 5-4 and 5-2.

In the first game, Bud George hed off a Butler rally to receive credit for his fourth win of the year. George got great support from Clyde Cox, the hard-hitting first baseman, when he hit two triples and drove in three runs. The Aces also gave their pitchers great support in the field, as they committed only one error all day.

The last game was another pitchers' duel between Jim Merkley and the Butler hurler. The Aces again got off to an early lead, but Butler rallied to tie the score in the late innings on a home run by the Butler catcher. The game was all tied up at the end of regulation play, but the Aces soon untied the score in the top of the eighth as they scored three runs on four hits, plus two errors by the Butler outfield. The big hits of the inning were Bud George's and Richie Thompson's run-scoring singles.

The Aces ended up the season with a 6 won, 8 lost record. Their conference standings were 5 won 4 lost. It was an unusual year for the Aces as they lost only two games on the road while winning five. They also won at least one game from every team they played except DePauw and Kentucky Wesleyan, whom they played only once.

Five Racketeers Named Tennis Letter Winners

Five members of the 1955 intercollegiate Evansville College tennis team have been recommended for the athletic "E," honor badge given by the College to those excelling in athletics.

Two, Jack Combs and Richard Korressel, were given the letter last year. The three new members qualifying are Walter Hatcher, Allen Stremming and Ralph Willis.

Golfers Meet State To Close Season

The EC golf team broke its jinx Tuesday when it defeated the University of Louisville, 9½-8½. Tom Habbe led the Evansville group with a 37-34—71.

The only Evansville player to win all three points in his match, Habbe was topped by Jewett Brown's 32-28, giving medalists honors to the Cardinals.

Scheduled to meet the University of Louisville here on Tuesday, the EC golfers were left with one more match to round out the season, Indiana State Teachers College. Another home match, it will be played this afternoon.

With the five regulars who have represented the College all season, Coach Paul Beck listed five other possible players for these two matches.

Regulars are Wendell Bacon, Kenneth Grall, Tom Habbe, Jack McClurg and John Miller. Added to the roster are John Archer, James Hartman, Rodney Katz and Jack Williams.

With two chances to redeem themselves — Tuesday's match was too late for coverage in this issue — Beck's boys hoped to better their average that stood five-two for the season.

State Takes Aces In Tennis Match

Paul Kinney

The Indiana State Sycamores defeated the Evansville racket squad, 9-0, last Thursday on the College courts, when the Aces lost all but one set in the entire match.

Walt Hatcher stopped Norm Smith, 6-4, in the second set, but Smith came back to win the final round, 6-0, and keep State's slate clean.

Other results:

In singles action, Needham defeated Jack Combs, 6-1, 6-2; Lennie Zwerner took Allen Stremming, 9-7, 6-4; Tom Frew defeated Dick Koressel, 6-3, 6-1; Charles Buckaloo defeated Ralph Willis, 6-4, 6-2, and Smith won over Hatcher, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-0.

In the doubles competition, Needham and Zwerner defeated Combs and Stremming, 6-4, 7-5; Frew and Buckaloo defeated Koressel and Willis, 6-2, 7-5; Welch and Smith defeated Schneider and Hatcher, 6-2, 6-1.

This was the final match for the Aces since Kentucky-Wesleyan cancelled its May 23 date here at Evansville.

The count for the season shows the Aces won 2, lost 7 and placed fifth in the ICC meet.

Class Survey

Dr. Everette Walker's sociology-103 class has been making a survey of housing and economic conditions on the west side of town. The students surveyed the area covered between Columbia and Franklin streets to Fulton and Baker.

Results of the investigation have not been announced yet.

Dr. Walker's extension class in sociology journeyed to Angel Mounds last week to get a first hand look at relics of Indian civilization of this area.

aces high

by jack combs

WITH THIS LAST paper of the school year and my last column of my undergraduate career (Attention To My Present Instructors: Please) Aces High would like to give a quick review of the past athletic year.

FOOTBALL: The 1954 season saw Coach Paul Beck take over the reins of the gridders and lead them to five wins and four losses in total play. The season was closed with an upset 21-13 win over the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers and Coach Beck on the players' shoulders. Four seniors turned in an excellent performance in the game to finish their collegiate careers, Richard "Dutch" Martin, Bob Payne, Ted Niemeier and captain Bob Scott. Scott was later named All-American.

BASKETBALL: Coach Arad McCutchan's hardwood crew finished 109 in the nation in the final Dunkel ratings and fourth in the state of Indiana, behind the big three. The Aces, who finished with a 20-6 record, were ahead in all statistical departments but one at the close of the season and McCutchan and Jerry Clayton won ICC honors. The squad finished the season as ICC champions and the regional NAIA winner from this section.

SPRING SPORTS: The baseball squad ended their season with a five and nine record with the climax of the season coming in the final double header with the Butler Bulldogs. The Aces blasted four Butler pitchers for a double win on the Bulldogs' diamond.

The golf squad under Coach Beck had a 1-4 mark with two matches yet to play. The golfers finished fourth in the conference meet. Coach McCutchan's tennis squad ended its season play with two wins and eight losses. The racketeers finished fifth in the conference meet, beating out Valparaiso and St. Joseph.

Final Examinations Begin Wednesday

Final examinations for the Spring quarter will begin next Wednesday and continue through Friday according to a statement released by Dean E. M. McKown. Regularly scheduled classes will meet on Tuesday preceding the tests, but there will be no classes on Monday in observance of Memorial Day.

The examinations have been set up in such a way that there should be no conflicts, but those students who find work conflicts or a clash with another exam should contact their instructor. All class work including notebooks, special examinations, term papers, etc., should be completed at the close of the quarter according to a college ruling.

Students are requested not to ask instructors for grades. Grades will be issued from the Registrar's office at the earliest possible date, but if a report is desired sooner, the student may obtain them by supplying the instructor with a self-addressed post card before the test.

All financial obligations of students must have been met before they will be allowed to take the examinations. Paper will be furnished for the exams which must be written in ink except in "special cases to be decided by the instructor."

Classes on the examination schedule are listed in alphabetical order by departments. Section numbers are indicated in parentheses following the course number. The day of the test is signified by W, Wednesday; Th, Thursday and F, Friday.

AAUP Elects Officers Dufford Heads Group

Dr. Ray T. Dufford, professor of physics, was named president of the EC chapter of the American Association of University Professors at the group's last meeting of the season last Friday.

Elected to serve with Dr. Dufford were Mr. Ralph H. Coleman, associate professor of mathematics, as vice president; and Dr. Harvey E. Donley, professor of economics, as secretary-treasurer.

Representing the group on the Executive committee for the 1955-56 school year will be Dr. Wade D. David, professor of history, and Miss Virginia Weigel, associate professor of biology.

The nominating committee included Mr. Lawrence Anderson, associate professor of economics, chairman; Dr. Norman Long, professor of chemistry, and Dr. Orville Jaebker, assistant professor of history.

Walker Resigns To Accept Position At Lambuth College

Dr. Everette Walker, director of student personnel, has accepted the position of Dean Registrar of Lambuth College in Jackson, Tennessee. His resignation, effective June 30, ends a nine-year association with Evansville College.

Dr. Walker came to the College in 1946 in the capacity of assistant to Dean McKown and assistant professor of sociology. He was appointed to his present post in 1948. He will take over his new job July 1.

Appointed to fill the position left vacant by Dr. Walker's resignation is Dr. Robert V. Thompson, a faculty member of the School of Education and an undergraduate counselor at Indiana university. He will begin his duties at Evansville College July 1.

In addition to his work in student personnel, Dr. Thompson will also be an assistant professor of education on the faculty.

The new dean of students received his Ph.D. in 1954 from Indiana university and a master's degree in 1952. He was graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan university also.

Dr. Thompson began his teaching career in Nebraska public schools and college as instructor of music education and vocal music. He is a World War II veteran.

Prior to taking his present position with Indiana university he served one year as instructor of remedial reading and study courses and a year as dean of student activities and counselor at that institution.

Dr. Thompson is a member of Theta Alpha Phi, national speech fraternity; Phi Delta Kappa, national men's educational fraternity; the American Personnel and Guidance association, Masonic lodge, Kiwanis club and Theta Chi, social fraternity.

Mrs. Thompson is a physician and surgeon. She is on the staff of the Indiana University Health Center.

Library Dinner

The Evansville College Library Fund committee has rescheduled its victory dinner for June 7. Originally scheduled for May 24, the dinner meeting was postponed because the goal had not been reached, and the committee hopes to reach its goal of $450,000 by the new date.
